Distrainers are empowered to force open any stable, cow-house, barn, golah, granary, or other building, and to enter any dwelling-house, the outer door of which may be open (excepting the apartments in such dwelling-house which may be appropriated for the zenana or residence of women,) and to break open the door of any room in such dwelling-house, for the purpose of attaching any property belonging to a defaulter which may be lodged therein. But nothing contained in this Regulation shall be construed to authorize persons vested with the power of distraint, or their servants, or agents, to enter the zenana or apartments of women, whether the doors or passages leading thereto be open or not; nor to force open and enter any dwelling-house the outer door of which may be locked or barred. Persons entering the apartments of women, or forcing open the outer door of any dwelling-house, shall be imprisoned for six months, the distrainer shall not recover the arrear for which the attachment may have been issued, and he shall be compelled to restore to the defaulter, any property that may have been attached, or the value of it, if it shall have been sold, damaged, injured, or destroyed, or shall not be forthcoming, and the court shall further award against such distrainer heavy damages, with all costs of suit. 28. The restrictions contained in Section 21 of Regulation 17, 1793, which prohibit distrainers from forcing open the outer door of any dwelling-house, and from entering the zenana or apartments of women, having been found liable to abuse, such restrictions are hereby modified as follows. When a distrainer may have reason to suppose that the property of a defaulter is lodged within a dwelling-house, the outer door of which may be shut, or within any apartments appropriated to women, which by the usage of the country are considered private, he is at liberty to represent the same to the Police darogah within whose jurisdiction the house may be situated, and on such representation the Police darogah is to send a Police officer to the spot, in the presence of whom the distrainer is authorized to force open the outer door of the dwelling-house in which he may have reason to suppose the defaulter's property to have been lodged, in like manner as he is already authorized to break open the door of any room within a dwelling-house except the zenana. He may also, in the presence of the Police officer, after due notice given for the removal of any women within the zenana, and after furnishing means for their removal in a suitable manner, if they be women of rank, who according to the customs of the country cannot appear in public, enter the zenana apartments for the purpose of attaching any of the defaulter's property deposited therein. But such property, if found, shall be immediately removed from such apartments, after which they are to be left free to the former occupants; and nothing in this Regulation is to be understood to authorize any distrainer or his agent to force open the door of a dwelling-house, or to enter the apartments of women which by the usage of the country are considered private, in any other mode than is herein prescribed; a wilful deviation from which will subject the offender to heavy damages, besides forfeiture of the arrear of rent on account of which the distress may be levied.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 10.

He shall also give due attention to the whole conduct and proceedings of the distrainer, so as to be able to give evidence thereupon if afterwards required, either before the Judge or Magistrate.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

But no claim to crops upon the ground or to any gathered product of the ground attached in the possession of the defaulter, whether founded upon a previous sale, mortgage, or otherwise, shall bar the prior claim of rent due for the ground upon which such crop or product may have been grown, it being the undoubted right of the owner of the land, or his representative, to consider the produce of it mortgaged to him, for the rent of the land in the first instance, and in default of his rent being paid as engaged for (or determinable by local rates and usage where there may be no specific engagement) to distrain and sell such part of the product as may be necessary to make good the arrear due to him.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 9.

In case of any dispute arising respecting the expences of the attachment, it shall be determined by the cazee of the purgunnah in which the distress may have been levied. The Courts of Dewanny adawlut are upon complaint made to them to punish any distrainer who may act contrary to this Regulation by awarding against him in favour of the party injured, damages according to the circumstances of the case, with all costs of suit.—*Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 11.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 9.—Ced. and Cong. But no such commission shall be drawn, nor any charge made to the defaulter beyond expences actually and necessarily incurred, in the event of the sale being stopped by his discharge of the arrear due from him, or otherwise. It is expected that this allowance to the officers entrusted with the sale of distrained property, will ensure the faithful discharge of the trust reposed in them; and any collusion with the defaulter, distrainer, or purchaser, or other misconduct in the execution of the duty committed to them, will render them liable to immediate dismissal from their offices in the mode provided by the Regulations, besides subjecting them to the other penalties therein specified, and full damages to the party injured.—*Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 5. Defaulters not to bid for or purchase their property.

55. Neither the defaulter, nor any person on his behalf, shall be permitted to bid for or purchase the property.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 25.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 23.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 23.

New rule regarding the payment of the purchase money for distrained property.

56. The property shall be paid for in ready money at the time of the sale, and the purchaser shall not be permitted to carry away any part of the property which shall not have been paid for. Should the purchaser fail in the payment of the whole or part of the purchase money within five days, calculating from the day following the sale, the whole of the property, or the part of it which may be unpaid for, shall be resold by the cazee on such day as he shall fix, for the best price that may be offered for it. The defaulting purchaser shall forfeit to the distrainer, ten per cent. on the amount of the price at which he shall have purchased the property so resold, and make good to him any loss that may arise, as well as the expences that may be incurred, on the resale. If any profit shall accrue on the resale, it shall be carried to the credit of the defaulter.—Reg. 35, 1795, Sect. 7.

Punishment for cazees conniving at unfair practices in the appraisement or sale of property.

57. The cazee is to be careful to prevent any unfair practices either in the appraisement or sale of property. Upon proof being made before the Court of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah of his conniving at any such practices, the court shall cause him to make good any loss or injury that the defaulter may have thereby sustained, with costs of suit; and shall immediately report the circumstances of the case to the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the information of the Governor General in Council, who, provided there shall appear to him sufficient reason for so doing, shall dismiss such cazee from his office.—Reg. 17, 1793, Sect. 23.—Benares Reg. 45, 1795, Sect. 21.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 28, 1803, Sect. 21.

SECTION IX.

Summary Suits against Distraint—Rules regarding these Suits.

Attachment to be drawn, and distrained property to be restored, should a tenant who may not have given security, dispute the demand and enter into a bond with security, binding himself to institute a suit within fifteen days.

58. If an attachment for arrears shall have been issued against the property of any tenant of any description, whether denominated under-farmer, ryot, or dependant talookdar, who may not have given security for the payment of his rent or revenue, and such tenant shall dispute the justness of the demand, and shall within five days, reckoning from the day following the attachment, or if the property attached consist of crops, or other ungathered products of the earth, within five days, calculating from the day following the date on which such crops or products may be stored, enter into a bond before the Judge or Collector of the zillah, the cazee of the purgunnah, the Commissioner, or other person vested with power to sell distrained property, or before the distrainer himself, with good security, binding himself to institute a suit in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah within fifteen days from the date of such bond, for the trial of the demand, and to pay whatever sum may be adjudged to be due from him, with interest upon it at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, to be calculated from the date on which the arrear that may be awarded became payable to the date of the decree, with all costs of suit, the distrainer shall immediately withdraw the attachment, and restore the property to the defaulter.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 15.

59. If the stated defaulter shall fail to execute the bond within the period prescribed, the distrainer shall be at liberty to keep the property under attachment, and to cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed, unless the arrear, with the expences of the attachment, shall be discharged previously to the day of sale. If the defaulter shall execute the bond, but omit to institute the suit in the Dewanny adawlut within the time prescribed, the distrainer shall demand payment of the arrear from the surety; and in the event of his not discharging the amount immediately, the distrainer shall be at liberty to issue an attachment against the personal property both of the surety and the defaulter, or the personal property of either of them excepting always the articles specified in Section 14 of this Regulation, and to cause it to be sold, unless the arrear and the expences of the attachment shall be discharged previously to the day of sale.—Ibid.

Attachment shall continue and the property be sold, should the tenant fail to execute such bond or pay the arrears.

Should he execute the bond but fail to institute a suit his security may be proceeded against.

60. If an attachment for arrears shall have been issued against any tenant, who may have given security for the payment of his rent or revenue, and such tenant shall dispute the justness of the demand, and the surety within five days, reckoning from the day following the day of the attachment, or if the property attached shall consist of crops or other ungathered products of the earth, within five days, calculating from the day following the date on which such crops or products may be stored, shall deliver a writing, attested by two witnesses, to the Judge of the Dewanny adawlut, the Collector of the district, the cazeo, of the purgunnah, the Commissioner or other person vested with power to sell distrained property, or to the distrainer himself, engaging that either he or the stated defaulter will institute a suit in the Dewanny adawlut within fifteen days from the date of such writing, to try the demand, and to pay the amount that may be adjudged against them, with interest upon it at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, to be calculated from the date on which the arrear that may be awarded became payable, to the date of the decree, with all costs of suit, the distrainer shall immediately withdraw the attachment.—Ibid, Sect. 16.

Under what rules attachment shall be withdrawn in the case of tenants who have given security disputing the justness of the demand.

61. If the surety shall fail to execute such writing within the prescribed period the distrainer shall continue the property under attachment, and cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed, unless the arrear and the expences attending the attachment shall be discharged previously to the day of sale. If the surety shall execute the writing, but fail to have the suit instituted either in his own name, or that of the defaulter, within the abovementioned period of fifteen days, the distrainer shall demand payment of the arrears from the surety, and in the event of his omitting to discharge the amount immediately, the distrainer shall be at liberty to issue an attachment against the Property to continue under attachment should the surety fail to execute the necessary writing.

Should the surety fail to have a suit instituted, the distrainer may attach both his and the defaulter's property.

personal property both of the surety and the defaulter, or the personal property of either of them, excepting always the articles specified in Section 14 of this Regulation, and to cause it to be sold in the manner hereafter directed; unless the arrears and the expence attending the attachment shall be discharged before the day of sale. If the surety of the stated defaulter shall refuse or omit to enter into the writing required, or if he shall happen to be at a distance, so as to render it impossible for him to execute such writing within the prescribed time, and such defaulter in either of these cases shall give the security required from the defaulters specified in Section 15 of this Regulation, the distrainer shall withdraw the attachment; and the rules contained in the foregoing section shall in every respect be considered applicable to the parties concerned.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 16.

The rules contained in sec. 16, declared to be applicable, should the required writing not be executed by the surety, and the defaulter himself give the required security.

Failure to institute a suit within the period subjects the property to re-attachment, but does not deprive the tenant of the benefit of a summary suit.

62. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that although the omission on the part of the tenant and his surety to institute a suit, within the period named in the bond, subjects his property to re-attachment and sale, according to the ordinary process, yet it does not deprive him or his surety of the benefit of a summary suit, for the recovery of damages on account of injury sustained by the illicit sale of the property.—Con. 421, 2d June 1826, par. 2.

The power to receive security under the above enactment no longer belongs to moonsiffs.

63. Held on a reference from the Judge of Tirhoot, that as the power to receive security, in cases of distraint for arrears of rent, was conferred on Moonsiffs under Section 16, Regulation 5, 1812, in virtue of their office as Commissioners for the sale of distrained property, that power necessarily ceases with the withdrawal of the commission under the operation of Act I. of 1839.—Con. 1255, Cal. C. 18th Oct., West. C. 22d Nov. 1839.

Secs. 15 & 16, reg. 5, 1812, modified.

64. In modification of the rules contained in Sections 15 and 16, Regulation 5, 1812, which prescribe that the individual whose property is distrained should give security for instituting a suit to contest the demand, it is hereby provided that if a part only, and not the whole of the demand be contested, it shall be competent to the individual whose property is distrained, to release it from distraint, on paying a part of the demand and giving security to contest the remainder.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 12.

The whole of the above rules are applicable to tehseeldars, sezawuls, and others employed in making khaus collections.

65. A reference having been made to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, with a view to ascertain whether the provisions of Sections 15 and 16, Regulation 5, 1812, are applicable to tehseeldars, sezawuls, and other revenue officers employed in making khaus collections on the part of Government, and exercising the powers vested in them by Section 36, Regulation 28, 1803; I am directed to communicate for your information the following opinion delivered by the Court on the subject.—The Court, on due consideration of the sections above cited, are of opinion, that whenever the public officers referred to in Section 36, Regulation 28, 1803, may be desirous of exercising the authority vested in them by that section, for recovering arrears of rent by a distress and sale of property, under the rules prescribed for empowering landholders and farmers of land to recover arrears of rent from their under-tenants, the whole of the rules in force, including the modifications of former rules enacted in Regulation 5, 1812, must be considered equally applicable to the officers of Government, as to individual landholders, or farmers of lands and their agents.—Cir. Ord. 28th April 1818.

Persons unable to give sufficient security may institute a suit

66. Should any ryot, farmer, or dependant talookdar, whose property may have been distrained, be unable to give security to the amount of the demand, together with interest upon it, at the rate of one rupee per mensem, with costs of suit and expenses of attachment, he will of course be at liberty to institute a suit against the distrainer in the Dewanny adawlut, to try the demand, and for the recovery of damages on account of any injury which he may have sustained by the illicit sale of his property.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect 17.

67. Suits which may be instituted under the present Regulation, shall be decided on a summary enquiry, under the provisions contained in Regulation 7, 1799.—Ibid, Sect. 20.

68. I am directed to inform you, that in pursuance of Section 20, Regulation 5, 1812, (which expressly directs, that suits instituted under that Regulation shall be decided on a summary enquiry,) all suits instituted in the Zillah or City court under the sections above noticed, (Sections 15, 16 and 17, Regulation 5, 1812,) should in the judgment of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, be received, tried, and decided as summary suits, unless the plaintiff should in any instance prefer the institution of a regular suit, which is, of course, open to him under the general Regulations in force.—Cir. Ord. 12th Dec. 1816.

69. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 17th instant, requesting their opinion as to the period in which it is incumbent on a ryot's farmer, or dependant talookdar, to institute a suit under the provisions of Section 17, Regulation 5, 1812.—In reply, I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that a suit of the nature in question should be instituted within one year from the date of the injury alleged to have been sustained by the illegal sale, conformably to the rules contained in Section 20 of the above cited Regulation, and Clause 1, Section 4, Regulation 2, 1805.—Con. 467, 25th Jan. 1828.

70. The Court having had before them your letter of the 3d ultimo, I am directed to state in reply, that the rule of Section 6, Regulation 17, 1803, which provides, that in cases of illegal distraint, there should be adjudged to the injured tenant restitution of the value lost to him by the distraint, and as much again as damages, is considered by the Court to be equally intended by Section 17, Regulation 5, 1812; which latter rule provides, that the tenant may have his remedy by a summary suit, which was before confined to a regular one. The quantum of the remedy allowed him is not considered to be altered.—Con. 327, 1st Sept. 1820.

SECTION X.

Summary Suits for Arrears or Exactions of Rent—Rates and Contents of Pottahs—Enhancement of Rent.

71. The approbation of the Collector required to be obtained to pottahs by Section 58, Regulation 8, 1793, is to be considered to extend to the form only. If a dispute shall arise between the ryots and the persons from whom they may be entitled to demand pottahs, regarding the rates of the pottahs (whether the rent be payable in money or kind) it shall be determined in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah in which the lands may be situated, according to the rates established in the purgunnahs for lands of the in the court to try the demand or recover damages.

Suits under this regulation to be decided on summary enquiry under reg. 7, 1799.

Suits under sec. 15, 16 & 17, reg. 5, 1812, must be received and decided as summary suits, unless the plaintiff prefers a regular suit.

Suits under sec. 17, reg. 5, 1812, must be instituted within one year from the date of the alleged injury.

Under sec. 17, reg. 5, 1812, the value lost, and as much again as damages, must be adjudged to the injured tenant.

Rules for determining disputes regarding the rates of pottahs to be granted under reg. 8, 1793.

same description and quality as those respecting which the dispute may arise.—Reg. 4, 1794, Sect. 6.

Rules in the preceding sec. applied to the renewal of pottahs that may expire or become cancelled under reg. 44, 1793.

72. The rules in the preceding section are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance under Regulation 8, 1793, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled under Regulation 44, 1793. And to remove all doubt regarding the rates at which the ryots shall be entitled to have such pottahs renewed, it is declared that no proprietor or farmer of land, or any other person, shall require ryots whose pottahs may expire or become cancelled under the last mentioned Regulation, to take out new pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the purgunnah for lands of the same quality and description, but that ryots shall be entitled to have such pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom their pottahs are to be granted, in the same manner as they are entitled to demand pottahs in the first instance, by Regulation 8, 1793.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Rule applied to the renewal of pottahs that may expire or become cancelled.

73. The rules in the preceding section, are to be considered applicable not only to the pottahs which the ryots are entitled to demand in the first instance, but also to the renewal of pottahs which may expire or become cancelled ; and it is declared that no proprietor or farmer of land, nor any other person, shall require ryots, whose pottahs may expire or become cancelled, to take out new pottahs at higher rates than the established rates of the purgunnah, for lands of the same quality and description ; due consideration being had, as far as may be required by the custom of the district, to the alteration of the species of culture, and the caste of the cultivator. Under this rule, khoodkhast or chupperbund ryots will be entitled to have their pottahs renewed at the established rates, upon making application for that purpose to the person by whom the pottahs are to be granted, as are also paykhast ryots, provided the proprietor or farmer chooses to permit them to continue to cultivate the land, which they have the option to do or not as they may think proper on the expiration of all paykhast leases ; whereas khoodkhast ryots cannot be dispossessed as long as they continue to pay the stipulated rent.—Reg. 51, 1795, Sect. 10. [This rule applies only to Benares.]

What the pottahs to be delivered to the ryots are to contain.

74. The rents to be paid by the ryots, by whatever rule or custom they may be regulated, shall be specifically stated in the pottah, which, in every possible case, shall contain the exact sum to be paid by them.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 57, Cl. 1.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 7, Cl. 1.

Actual proprietors to let their remaining lands under the prescribed restrictions in whatever manner they may think proper.

75. The zemindar or other actual proprietor of land is to let the remaining lands of his zemindary or estate, under the prescribed restrictions, in whatever manner he may think proper ; but every engagement contracted with under-farmers shall be specific as to the amount and conditions of it ; and all sums received by any actual proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, of whatever description, over and above what is specified in the engagements of the persons paying the same, shall be considered as extorted, and be repaid with a penalty of double the amount.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 52.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 2.

76. The Court are of opinion, that the penalties prescribed in the cases of exaction by zemindars or other actual proprietors of land, mentioned in these sections, [viz. Regulation 8, 1793, Section 51, Clause 2, Section 52, and Section 54,] must be considered exclusive of the refund of the sums proved to have been illegally levied.—Con. 125, 22d April 1813.

The penalties are exclusive of the sums proved to have been illegally levied.

77. In cases, where the rate only can be specified, such as where the rents are adjusted upon a measurement of the lands after cultivation, or on a survey of the crop; or where they are made payable in kind, the rate and terms of payment and proportion of the crop to be delivered, with every condition, shall be clearly specified.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 7, Cl. 2.

Rule where the rate only can be specified, and for payments in kind.

78. It is expected, that in time, the proprietors of land, dependant talookdars, and farmers of land, and the ryots, will find it for their mutual advantage to enter into agreements in every instance for a specific sum, for a certain quantity of land, leaving it to the option of the latter to cultivate whatever species of produce may appear to them likely to yield the largest profit; where however it is the established custom to vary the pottah for lands according to the articles produced thereon, and while the actual proprietors of land, dependant talookdars, or farmers of land, and ryots in such places, shall prefer an adherence to this custom, the engagements entered into between them are to specify the quantity of land, species of produce, rate of rent, and amount thereof, with the term of the lease, and a stipulation, that in the event of the species of produce being changed, a new engagement shall be executed for the remaining term of the first lease, or for a longer period, if agreed on; and in the event of any new species being cultivated, a new engagement, with the like specification and clause, is to be executed accordingly.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 56.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 6.

Variations of pottah according to articles of produce admitted under certain restrictions.

79. Such parts of Regulation 8, 1793, and of Regulation 4, 1794, as require that the proprietors of land shall prepare forms of pottahs, and that such forms shall be revised by the Collectors, and which declare that engagements for rent contracted in any other mode than that prescribed by the Regulations in question, shall be deemed to be invalid, are likewise hereby rescinded. And the proprietors of land shall henceforward be considered competent to grant leases to their dependant talookdars, under-farmers and ryots, and to receive correspondent engagements for the payment of rent from each of those classes, or any other classes of tenants, according to such form as the contracting parties may deem most convenient and most conducive to their respective interests. Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to sanction or legalize the imposition of arbitrary or indefinite cesses, whether under the denomination of abwaub, mahtoot, or any other denomination. All stipulations or reservations of that nature shall be adjudged by the Courts of judicature to be null and void. But the courts shall notwithstanding maintain and give effect to the definite clauses of the engagements contracted between the parties, or in other words, enforce payment of such sums as may have been specifically agreed upon between them.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 3.

Certain parts of reg. 8, 1793, and reg. 4, 1794, respecting forms of pottahs and engagements for rent rescinded; & proprietors declared competent to grant leases and receive engagements in such forms as may be convenient to the parties.

Such rule not to legalize stipulations for arbitrary or indefinite cesses, which are to be adjudged null and void, but without vitiating the definite clauses of the engagements.

80. In cases, in which no established rates of the purgunnah, or local division of the country may be known, pottahs shall be granted, and the collections made, according to the rate payable for land of a similar description in the places adjacent ; but if the leases and pottahs of the tenants of an estate generally which may consist of an entire village or other local division, be liable to be cancelled under the rules above noticed, new pottahs shall be granted, and the collections made at rates not exceeding the highest rate paid for the same land in any one year within the period of the three last years antecedent to the period at which the leases may be cancelled.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 7.

No cultivator or tenant liable to pay enhanced rent unless under written engagements or notice served upon him at the season of cultivation.

81. By the former and present Regulations, persons purchasing land at the public sales, are competent under certain restrictions to annul engagements contracted between the late proprietor of the lands and his under-tenants. But it is hereby declared, that no cultivator or tenant of land shall be liable to pay an enhanced rent, though subject to enhancement under subsisting Regulations, unless written engagements for such enhanced rent have been entered into by the parties, or a formal written notice have been served on such cultivator or tenant at the season of cultivation : viz. on or before the month of Jeth, notifying the specific rent, under the landholder's right of enhancing it, to which he will be subject for the ensuing Fussily, or for the current Bengal year.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Cultivator not served with such notice, entitled to a refund of any excess beyond the amount of his previous engagements.

82. Unless such notification be duly served, no greater rent shall be exigible by process of distress or confinement of person, nor recoverable by suit in court, than the cultivator or tenant was bound to pay under his previous engagements ; and if more be levied from him, he shall be entitled to a refund of the excess with damages, on proof of the circumstances before a Court of justice. In all practicable cases the required notification shall be served personally on the tenant ; but if he shall abscond or conceal himself, so that it cannot be served personally upon him, it shall be affixed at his usual place of residence ; which latter process shall in such case be deemed and taken to be a sufficient service of the notification in question.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

How such notices are to be served.

The preceding provisions applicable to sequestrators, managers & farmers holding under the authority of the board of revenue or board of commissioners.

83. The provisions contained in the preceding sections shall be considered equally applicable to sequestrators on the part of Government, to managers on the part of the Court of Wards, and to farmers, whenever estates or portions of estates may be let to farm under the authority of the Board of Revenue or Board of Commissioners.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

What particulars the notice, under sec. 9, as above, must contain.

84. Held, that a notice issued under Section 9, Regulation 5, 1812, must specify the rent to which the parties served with it are to be made liable, and must intimate how the landholder has acquired the right of enhancing the demand.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Feb. 1844, vol. 7, p. 156.

The notice not vitiated by omitting the quantity of land and the names of the parties in possession.

85. Held that a notice issued under Section 9, Regulation 5, 1812, is not vitiated by an omission to specify the quantity of land in the possession of the parties served with it, or of the names of all the parties in possession, it being sufficient to specify the names of those recorded as such in the zemindar's office.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th April 1846, vol. 7, p. 261.

A farmer holding a lease from the manager of an estate, is competent to enforce : sec. 9 and 10, reg. 5, 1812.

86. A manager of an estate, appointed under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, and Regulation 5, 1827, is competent to grant a farming lease of any part of the property under his charge. A farmer holding his lease from such manager is competent to enforce the provisions of Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 5, 1812, in regard to the enhancement of rent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Aug. 1846, vol. 7, p. 277.

87. It is hereby enacted, in modification of the provisions of Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 of Regulation 5, 1812 of the Bengal code, that if any ryot or tenant of land, upon whom such notice or demand as is specified in the said sections is to be served, shall have no place of usual residence in the zillah where the land to which such notice or demand has reference is situate, the mode of serving such notice or demand with a jumma wassil bauksee shall be by affixing it at the maal cutcherry of such land, or other conspicuous place thereon, or at the village chouree, choupal, or other conspicuous place in the village.—Act VIII. 1848.

The notice may be served by affixing it at the maal cutcherry of the land, or on some conspicuous place thereon, or in the village.

88. On the first view of Section 10, Regulation 5, 1812, it might be inferred that the zemindars or their representatives possess the power of exacting in the first instance by distraint or by a summary process, whatever amount they may have thought proper to insert in the notification required to be conveyed to their tenant, the latter having only the option of resigning his land, or continuing to hold it subject to pay the enhanced rent, until he can prove the injustice of the demand by a regular suit. Such an interpretation, however, does not seem to be easily reconcilable with that part of Section 7, Regulation 4, 1794, which, being declaratory of the rates at which the ryots were entitled to demand pottahs, and of course, to continue in possession of their lands, cannot be considered as abrogated by Section 3, Regulation 5, 1812, and I have hitherto deemed it necessary to require zemindars and farmers prosecuting summarily for enhanced rent, or defending suits instituted against them under Section 15, Regulation 5, 1812, to show that the amount demanded in the notification served on their tenants was conformable to the purgunnah rates, and the actual extent of land.—The Court entirely concur in the construction of Section 10, Regulation 5, 1812, stated in the sixth paragraph of Mr. Scott's letter, dated the 28th July, 1815, and resolve, that he be informed accordingly. The Court observe, that the written notice, required by Section 9 of that Regulation, when no written engagement may have been entered into, expressly refers to tenants subject to an enhancement of rent "under subsisting Regulations," including, of course, the unrepealed provisions in Section 7, Regulation 4, 1794, relative to the renewal of pottahs at the established rates of the purgunnah.—Con. 234, 3d Feb. 1816.

It is necessary for zemindars & farmers prosecuting for enhanced rent, or defending suits instituted against them under sec. 15, reg. 5, 1812, to shew that the amount demanded in the notice is conformable to the purgunnah rate, and the extent of land.

89. 1. I beg to be informed whether, in the opinion of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the provisions of Section 15, Regulation 5, 1812, can be considered as applicable to cases in which the zemindars, and their representatives attach the jotes of their tenants, or oust them at the end of the year for disputed arrears of rent, accruing on notices served on the cultivators in the manner described in Sections 9 and 10 of the the above Regulation. 2. I make this reference in consequence of frequent applications being made to me by the ryots, for injunctions upon farmers and others to refrain from ousting them from their jotes, the petitioners being ready to pay the amount of such part of the demand against them as they admit to be legal into court, and to give security, and contest the justice of the remaining part of it, in the manner provided for in Section 15, Regulation 5, 1812.—Reply of the Sudder.—I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 11th instant, requesting the opinion of the Court, whether the provisions of Section 15, Regulation 5, 1812, can be considered applicable to cases, in which a landholder may

The provisions of sec. 15, reg. 5, 1812, apply to cases in which a ryot may wish to give security and contest the zemindar's claim to enhanced rent, under sec. 9 and 10 of that reg. and to attach his jote and oust him at the end of the year.

attach the job of his tenant, or oust him at the end of the year for a disputed arrear of rent. In reply, I am directed to state, that although the provisions of the section cited apply directly to the case only of an attachment of property for an alleged arrear of rent, the spirit and equity of the rule must, in the judgment of the Court, be considered applicable to the case put by you, supposing the requisite conditions, as specified in the section above mentioned, to be performed by the tenant for bringing the question of rent in dispute to a speedy determination in the Civil court.—Con. 255, 21st Aug. 1816.

No proprietor of land, or dependant talookdar, or farmer of land, shall cancel the pottahs of khloodkhaast ryots except in certain specified cases.

90. No actual proprietor of land or farmer, or persons acting under their authority shall cancel the pottahs of the khloodkhaast ryots, except upon proof that they have been obtained by collusion; or that the rents paid by them within the last three years, have been reduced below the rate of the nirkbundy of the purgunnah; or that they have obtained collusive deduction; or upon a general measurement of the purgunnah for the purpose of equalizing and correcting the assessment. The rule contained in this clause is not to be considered applicable to Behar.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 60, Cl. 2.

Proprietors & farmers of lands how to be proceeded against in case they attempt to increase the rents of the poppy lands.

91. If any zemindar or other proprietor of land, or any farmer of land, or their representatives, should exact more from the ryots on account of their poppy lands than the established rates, the agent or the ryot from whom such exactions may be made is to be at liberty to prosecute the person guilty of such exactions in the Zillah or City dewanry adawlut, the Judge of which shall forthwith enquire into the same, and, on proof of the exaction, shall adjudge the person guilty of the offence to restore the amount levied in excess of the established rate, with a further penalty of treble the amount.—Reg. 13, 1816, Sect. 17.

SECTION XI.

Rules regarding Pottahs—Illegal Impositions on the Ryots.

Process to be observed to prevent imposition on the ryots under the denomination of abwaub, mhatoot, &c.

92. The impositions upon the ryots, under the denomination of abwaub, mhatoot, and other appellations, from their number and uncertainty, having become intricate to adjust, and a source of oppression to the ryots; all proprietors of land and dependant talookdars shall revise the same, in concert with the ryots, and consolidate the whole with the assul, into one specific sum. In large zemindaries, or estates, the proprietors are to commence this simplification of the rents of their ryots, in the purgunnahs where the impositions are most numerous, and to proceed in it gradually, till completed, but so that it be effected for the whole of their lands by the end of the Bengal year 1198, in the Bengal districts, and of the Fussely and Willaity year 1198, in the Behar and Orissa districts, these being the periods fixed for the delivery of pottahs as hereafter specified.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 54.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 27, 1803, Sect. 53, and Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 4.

Proprietors, and farmers of land, prohibited imposing any

93. No actual proprietor of land, or dependant talookdar, or farmer of land, of whatever description, shall impose any new abwaub or mhatoot upon the ryots, under any pretence whatever. Every exaction of this nature shall be punished by a penalty equal to three times the amount imposed; and if, at any future period, it be discovered, that new abwaub or mhatoot have been imposed, the person imposing the same shall be liable to this penalty, for the entire period of such impositions.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 55.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 5.

new abwaub or mhatoot on the ryots, & penalty in case of disobedience.

94. A claim by a zemindar against his farmer, for a sum of money alleged to have been realized by the latter from the tenantry under the head of zabita batta, or customary levy of an excess of half anna in the rupee, and stipulated to be payable to the zemindar, dismissed as illegal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Dec. 1843, vol. 7, p. 142.

A claim under the head of zabita batta declared illegal.

SECTION XII.

Summary Suits for Arrears or Exactions of Rent—Demand of Pottahs and of Receipts by Ryots—Discharge of Rents.

95. A ryot, when his rent has been ascertained and settled, may demand a pottah from the actual proprietor of land, dependant talookdar, or farmer, of whom he holds his lands, or from the person acting for him; and any refusal to deliver the pottahs, upon being proved in the Court of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, shall be punished by the court, by a fine proportioned to the expence and trouble of the ryot in consequence of such refusal. Actual proprietors of land, dependant talookdars, and farmers, are also required to cause a pottah for the adjusted rent to be prepared and tendered to the ryot; either granting the same themselves, or intrusting their agents to grant the same. No farmer however, without special permission from the proprietor of the lands, or (if the lands form part of a dependant talook) the dependant talookdar shall grant a pottah extending beyond the period of his own lease; nor shall any agent grant a pottah without authority from the proprietor, or dependant talookdar, or the manager of disqualified proprietors.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 59.—Benares Reg. 51, 1795, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 30, 1803, Sect. 11.

Ryots may demand pottahs of proprietors of lands, and farmers, who are also required to grant them.

Penalty in case of refusal.

Restrictions on farmers and agents in granting pottahs.

96. The Regulations do not authorize any summary process in cases of complaints by ryots and other under-tenants against landholders or farmers for refusing to grant pottahs or receipts. But on the ryots establishing their claim to receipts or pottahs by regular suit, they would be entitled to receive them as well as damages—Con. 67, 16th Aug. 1810.

A claim to receipts or pottahs must be established by regular suits.

97. The ryots in the different parts of the country frequently omitting or refusing to take out or receive pottahs, although the persons from whom they are entitled to demand them are ready to grant them, in the form and on the terms prescribed by the Regulations, it is declared, that if a proprietor or farmer of land, or a dependant talookdar, after the approbation of the Collector to the form of the pottah or pottahs for the lands in his estate or farm shall have been obtained, as prescribed in Section 58, Regulation 8, 1793, shall fix up in the principal cutcherry or cutcherries of his estate or farm, a notification in writing under his seal and signature, specifying that pottahs according to the form approved, and at the established rates, will be immediately granted to all ryots who may apply for them, and stating where and when and by whom the pottahs will be delivered, the notification shall be considered as a legal tender of a pottah, and the proprietor of land, the farmer, or the dependant talookdar shall be deemed to have complied with the orders in Section 59, Regulation 8, 1793, and the persons so tendering pottahs shall be entitled to recover the rents due to them from such ryots, either by the process of distraint laid down in Regulation 17, 1793, or by suit in the Dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 4, 1794, Sect. 5.

Ryots cannot be compelled to take pottahs and give kubooliyuts by a summary suit.

98. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 29th ultimo, and to observe in reply, that Regulation 5, 1812, contains no provisions for a summary suit to compel ryots to take pottahs and give kubooliyuts; but that landholders may proceed in conformity with Section 5, Regulation 4, 1794, and Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 5, 1812.—Con. 257, 4th Sept. 1816.

Proprietors of land, dependant talookdars, farmers, and their agents, to give receipts for all sums received as rent or revenue, under the penalty herein specified.

99. Every proprietor of land, dependant talookdar, or farmer of land, of whatever description, and their agents of every gradation, receiving rents or revenues from dependant talookdars, under-farmers, ryots, or others, are to give receipts for all sums received by them; and a receipt in full on the complete discharge of every obligation. Any person to whom a receipt may be refused, on his establishing the same in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, shall be entitled to damages from the party who received his rent or revenue, and refused the receipt, equal to double the amount paid by him.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 63, Cl. 1.

Case in which the plaintiff's demand for receipts was rejected by the S. D. A.

100. In a suit by a dependant talookdar against a zemindar, for having refused him receipts (dakhilehs) on his payment of several years' rent, the Zillah court, under Section 63, Regulation 8, 1793, adjudged to the plaintiff damages equal to double the amount paid. This judgment was reversed, on the ground that the plaintiff demanded receipts for a fixed rent, without any title on his part being proved or appearing probable.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st July 1810, vol. 1, p. 304.

When the dispute is whether the receipts should be given to the parties as ijaradars, or talookdars, sec. 63, as above, is not applicable.

101. The plaintiffs sued, as dependant talookdars, to obtain from the zemindar receipts for rent paid by them. The zemindar was willing to grant plaintiffs receipts as ijaradars, but not as talookdars. The Court, on proof that they were talookdars, decreed that the zemindar should grant them receipts as such. The cause of refusal to grant receipts being a dispute concerning the tenure, the provisions of Section 63, Regulation 8, 1793, were not considered applicable to the case.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Jan'y. 1817, vol. 2, p. 221.

A suit for receipts brought more than a year after the cause of action arose, dismissed.

102. Under Section 63, Regulation 8, 1793, A. brought an action against B. for having refused to give him receipts [dakhilehs] for rent paid. The suit was dismissed with costs, because no dishonest intention was proved against B., and because A. had not brought the suit within one year from the date on which the action originated.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th April 1835, vol. 6, p. 26.

Prohibition, under penalties, to landholders, farmers, and their tenants, to receive or pay the rents by anticipation.

103. The landholders and farmers are forbidden to demand or receive, and the ryots and other under-tenants are forbidden to pay, any part of the rents receivable by the former and payable by the latter, before the stipulated or usual period of payment, according to the kistbundy or other engagement, or established local usage; and no person hereafter making anticipated payments against this prohibition, or producing receipts for such, whether collusive or otherwise, shall be entitled to credit for the amount from the officers of Government who may attach the lands or farm; or from the landholder or farmer making the attachment, if it be made for arrears due from an under-tenant, under the provisions contained in this Regulation.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 23, Cl. 3.

104. The proprietors of land, dependant talookdars, and farmers of land, of every description, are to adjust the instalments of the rents receivable by them from their under-renters and ryots, according to the time of reaping and selling the produce, and they shall be liable to be sued for damages for not conforming to this rule.—Reg. 8, 1793, Sect. 64.

SECTION XIII.

Summary Suits for Arrears or Exactions of Rent—Period of Leases.

105. Section 2, Regulation 44, 1793; Section 2, Regulation 50, 1795; and Clause second, Section 2, Regulation 47, 1803, by which the proprietors of land, paying revenue to Government, are precluded from granting leases for a period exceeding ten years, are hereby rescinded; and proprietors of lands are declared competent to grant leases for any period which they may deem most convenient to themselves and tenants, and most conducive to the improvement of their estates.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 2.

Rules contained in sec. 2, reg. 44, 1793; sec. 2, reg. 50, 1795, & cl. 2, sec. 2, reg. 47, 1803, precluding proprietors of lands paying revenue to govt. from granting leases for a longer period than 10 years, rescinded.

106. Doubts having arisen on the construction of Section 2, Regulation 5, 1812, it is hereby explained, that the true intent of the said section was to declare proprietors of land competent to grant leases for any period, even to perpetuity, and at any rent, which they might deem conducive to their interests. Provided however, that nothing contained in the former or present Regulation, shall be construed to empower persons holding a restricted interest in estates, whether for life or for other limited period, or subject to control or restriction in the use or disposal of the property, to grant leases extending beyond the term of their own interest in the property, or exceeding their power or authority over it.—Reg. 18, 1812, Sect. 2.

Explanation of the intent of sec. 2, reg. 5, 1812, as to granting leases in perpetuity or otherwise.

107. (Ceded and Conquered Provinces.) No zemindar or other proprietor of land in the ceded and conquered provinces shall grant leases or fix the rent of any land tenure for a term exceeding ten years; or if the term of his own engagement with Government be less than ten years, extending beyond such less terms.—Reg. 14, 1812, Sect. 2.

No zemindar or proprietor shall grant leases for a term extending beyond the term of his own engagements with govt.

108. (Idem.) Any evasion of this prohibition by entering into separate engagements or leases to take effect successively, or by dating an engagement or lease on a day other than that on which it was actually executed, or by any other device, shall be considered as an infringement of it. And every lease or engagement fixing the rent, which has been or shall be concluded or granted in opposition to this prohibition, is declared to be null and void.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Every evasion of this prohibition to be considered as an infringement of this rule, and leases so granted to be null & void.

109. It is hereby enacted, in modification of Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 14, 1812, of the Bengal code, that zemindars or other proprietors of land may grant leases,

Leases may be given for any period not exceeding the term of the engagement with government.

On what principle a lease for a longer period will be cancelled.

or fix the rent, of any land tenure, for any period not exceeding the terms of their own respective engagements with Government. Provided always, that in case any lease shall be granted, or the rent of the land be fixed for any longer period, the lease or engagement fixing the rent shall be null and void only for the excess beyond such terms respectively.—Act XVI. 1842.

Rule for apportioning assessment on shares of estates when divided.

110. When a division of a joint estate shall be made on the application of the proprietors, or pursuant to the decree of a Court of justice, the fixed public revenue assessed upon the whole estate shall be apportioned on the several shares agreeably to the principles prescribed in Section 10, Regulation 1, 1793, and Section 7, Regulation 27, 1795, without regard to any engagements that may subsist between the proprietors and their dependant talookdars, (excepting the dependant talookdars described in Section 7, Regulation 44, 1793,) under-farmers, or ryots. But all leases made in conformity to Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 5, 1812, and Section 2 of this Regulation, shall remain in full force, notwithstanding the division of a joint estate among the sharers, or the sale of the whole or a portion of any estate in satisfaction of a decree of court, or the devolving of the same by inheritance, or the private transfer thereof by sale, gift, or otherwise.—Reg. 18, 1812, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

SECTION XIV.

Summary Suits for Arrears or Exactions of Rent—Constructions and Decisions of the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut on the subject of Leases.

A tenant on a perpetual lease may resign his lease at the close of the year.

111. Held that a tenant on a perpetual lease has the power, even although in balance, of resigning his lease, if he do it formally and at a proper season, i. e. at the close of the year.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th June 1844, vol. 7, p. 174.

A lease granted by the court of wards, as guardians of an alleged adopted son, upheld, though the adoption was judicially set aside.

112. The Sudder dewanny adawlut held that a Judge might uphold a lease granted by the Court of Wards as guardians of the estate of an alleged adopted son, though the adoption had been set aside by a decree of court, supposing there to be no collusion.—Con. 540, 26th Feb. 1830.

* Leases of the court of wards antecedent to reg. 6, 1822.

113. Regulation 6, 1822, has retrospective as well as prospective effect; and leases granted by the Court of Wards though antecedent to the promulgation of that enactment, have the same effect and are subject to the same rules and regulations as are applicable to the other persons holding farms under the Collector of land revenue.—Con. 943, West. C. 6th Feb., Cal. C. 6th March 1835.

A zemindar can cancel the leases granted by an ijaradar, who had obtained a farm for 5 years, and became a defaulter at the end of 2 yrs.

114. An ijaradar obtains a farm for five years, and enters into engagements with the ryots; but becoming a defaulter at the end of two years, is ousted by the zemindar under Clause 7, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799. The Judge having asked if a new ijaradar, obtaining a lease for the remaining three years, can cancel the leases granted by the first ijaradar, was referred to Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 8, 1819, which empowers the zemindar to cancel all leases, &c. intermediate between himself and the actual cultivators.—Con. 502, 24th April 1829.

115. Courts executing decrees are competent, on a summary investigation, to cancel any lease granted by the party against whom the decree has been given, which may be satisfactorily proved to be fraudulent leaving the parties dissatisfied to appeal summarily, or institute a regular suit to recover possession of their alleged rights.—Con. 1059, 2d Dec. 1836.

Courts can cancel leases granted by a party against whom a decree has been given, if proved to have been fraudulent. Remedy of the lessees.

116. A lessee for life was, by the terms of the lease restricted to the cultivation of indigo. Held, on a liberal construction, that it was not vitiated by the growth of grain necessary for the support of the cultivators.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th May 1832, vol. 5, p. 205.

A lease restricted to the cultivation of indigo not vitiated by the growth of grain necessary for the support of the cultivators.

117. A tenant not having given up possession of two houses after having received warning according to the conditions specified in the lease, it was decided that he should pay the increased rent specified in the notice to quit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Jan. 1835, vol. 6, p. 15.

A tenant who retained two houses after having received notice to quit, was required to pay the enhanced rent specified in the notice.

118. In a case of life lease, it was held that repeated transfers of the rights of the lessee, and length of possession, form no bar to the recovery of possession of the lands by the lessor or his representative, on the death of the lessee.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st April 1842, vol. 7, p. 94.

In case of a life lease, nothing can bar the recovery of the lands on the death of the lessee.

119. A lease for life to A. may be assigned and transferred, and will continue during A.'s life.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th May 1832, vol. 5, p. 205.

A lease for life continues during the lessee's life.

120. Pottahs granted by the ostensible auction purchaser of lands, and conditioning that at the end of ten years the lease should continue on the same terms [it being then by Regulation 44, 1793, not legal to grant a longer lease than ten years] held to be binding against the real purchaser, and good against his claim to enhanced rent at the end of that term, without, however, affecting the rights of Government, or of any future auction purchaser of the whole pargannah, in case of a public sale for arrears.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Jan. 1827, vol. 4, p. 193.

Rule in a case of pottahs granted by the ostensible auction purchaser of lands, that the lease should continue on the same terms at the end of ten years.

121. A limited lease containing a stipulation of renewal, without any further limitation or phrase which could be so construed as to confer perpetual or hereditary right on the lessees, was limited by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to the term of the natural lives of such lessees.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th Jan. 1836, vol. 6, p. 49.

A limited lease, with a general stipulation of renewal, limited by the S. D. A. to the natural lives of the lessees.

122. A planter, lessee of certain lands for the cultivation of indigo, selling his factory to another and transferring his lease, is nevertheless responsible to the lessor for the rents due, under the engagement executed by him as lessee; but has his remedy against the transferee.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th May 1836, vol. 6, p. 67.

An indigo planter, taking a lease of lands, and transferring the lease to another is still responsible to the lessor. His remedy.

123. A. received an advance from B. on executing a lease of certain lands for a specified period, with a further condition that, if the debt was not repaid in full on the expiry of the terms of the lease, the lease should be continued to B. till the loan was paid. Two years before the lease expired, B. was ejected in execution of a decree of a Provincial court, for the same lands, obtained by C. against A., which decree was reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut and the lands restored to A. as proprietor. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that under such circumstances B. the lessee, was entitled to recover and hold possession under the terms of the lease until the payment of the debt due to him by A., notwithstanding the expiration of the term of the original lease mentioned in the engagements.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th June 1837, vol. 6, p. 175.

SECTION XV.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Cognizance of these Suits by the Collector—their Nature.

Rules which authorize judges to take cognizance of summary suits, rescinded.

124. Such parts of Regulations 7, 1799; 5, 1800; 18, 1803; 5, 1812; 7, 1813; 19, 1817; 14, 1824, or of any other Regulations in force, as authorize the Judges of the Zillah or City courts, to take cognizance of summary suits or claims relating to arrears or exactions of rent, and to refer the same to the Collector for investigation and decision, are hereby rescinded.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 2.

Judicial authorities declared incompetent receive any claim the above nature, less preferred as a regular suit.

125. From and after the date of the promulgation of this Regulation, it shall not be competent to the judicial authorities to receive any claims of the nature above adverted to, unless the complaint be preferred as a regular suit in the mode prescribed by Regulation 4, 1793, and the corresponding enactments.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Summary suits declared cognizable by collectors of land revenue and their decisions to be final, subject to a regular suit.

126. Summary claims connected with arrears or exactions of rent, shall be preferred in the first instance to the several Collectors of land revenue, whose decisions in such cases shall be final, subject to a regular suit, unless the ground of appeal be the irrelevancy of the Regulation to the case appealed, on which ground only the Commissioner of Revenue for the division is authorized to receive an appeal, if preferred to him within one month of the date of the summary decision. The Commissioner of Revenue after receiving the appeal, and calling for the proceedings in the case shall dismiss the same with costs, if the stated ground of irrelevancy shall not appear to be established. If on the other hand the case should appear to be of a nature not properly cognizable as a summary suit under the provisions of this Regulation, the Commissioner of Revenue shall reverse the irregular judgment given by the Collector, and pass such further orders thereupon as he may think just and proper in pursuance of the Regulations in force, which may be applicable to the circumstances of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

cases depending on the Zillah and City courts, referred to the Collector.

127. All summary cases of the above nature which may be depending in the Zillah and City courts, at the date of the promulgation of this Regulation, shall be transferred to the Collectors of the several districts for investigation and decision.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Summary suits for rent instituted by holders of rent-free lands against their tenants should be tried by the Collectors under the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, the Civil-courts being incompetent to receive them.—Con. 837, West. C. 11th Oct., Cal. C. 8th Nov. 1833.

128. Summary suits for rent instituted by holders of rent-free land against their tenants should be tried by the Collectors under the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, the Civil-courts being incompetent to receive them.—Con. 837, West. C. 11th Oct., Cal. C. 8th Nov. 1833.

129. Claims for the rent of rent-free lands are summarily cognizable by the Collector, equally with those for the rent of land paying revenue to Government.—Con. 599, 12th Aug. 1831.

130. With reference to the spirit of the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, the Court are of opinion that it was the intention of the Legislature to render suits of the nature described by the Collector of Banda, viz. summary suits instituted by malgoozars, against putwarees and other Native agents employed by them in the management of their estates, under Section 37, Regulation 28 of 1803, cognizable by the revenue authorities ; and this course appears the more advisable mode of proceeding from the nature of the points which would come under investigation before the officer entrusted with the duty of deciding them.—Con. 946, West. C. 24th April, Cal. C. 22d May 1835.

131. On the subject of suits for damages connected with exactions of rent, the Court have already been in communication with the Presidency Sudder. Former Regulations and Circular orders have already determined that such suits were cognizable by the Judges under a summary process ; and the courts have therefore ruled, on the principle by which they have throughout been guided, that they are consequently, in the same manner and with the same restrictions, now cognizable by the Collectors under Regulation 8, 1831.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 15th Nov. 1833, par. 3.

132. On a summary suit under Regulation 7, 1799, by a zemindar against a dependant talookdar, for arrears of rent calculated according to a survey and measurement, to which the defendant pleaded a right to hold his tenure at a fixed rent, held that the Zillah court is competent to pass a summary order ; with a regular suit at the option of the party cast.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Aug. 1807, vol. 1, p. 208.

133. In a summary suit by the purchaser of a zemindary, against a tenant, for rent at the purgunnah rates, the tenant, who pleaded a fixed jumma, not having shown cause why the rent demanded should not be paid, such rent adjudged to the plaintiff, under Regulation 7, 1799, with the option to the defendant to bring a regular suit, the summary decision of the zillah Judge, in such case, not appealable, (except on special grounds,) under the 18th section of the Regulation cited.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Sept. 1808, vol. 1, p. 255.

134. As the whole of the jurisdiction in cases of summary suits for arrears of rent, formerly vested in the Civil courts, has been, by the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, transferred to the Collectors of revenue, the Court are of opinion, particularly with reference to the provisions of Section 4 of that Regulation, that the Collector is competent to try all cases of resistance of his process of attachment connected with such summary suits, except when actual breaches of the peace may occur, in which event the case must be tried by the Magistrate.—Con. 615, 23d Dec. 1831.

135. The provisions contained in Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799 ; Section 14, Regulation 5, 1800 ; and Section 32, Regulation 28, 1803, for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants, and their sureties, from whom arrears of rent may be due to proprietors and farmers of land, and for a summary enquiry to be made by the Judges of the Zillah and City courts when the parties so arrested for arrears of rent may be brought before them, are from the terms and objects of such provisions evidently intended to be applicable only to recent arrears of rent, due in the course of the current year, or immediately after the close of it ; and it is hereby declared, that the summary enquiry and process authorized by the above Regulations shall not be applied to any arrear of rent, or other demand which may have been due more than a complete year, before the delivery of the petition of arrest, and application for such summary enquiry and process, as directed by the Regulations above cited. Provided however, that this restriction shall not be cognizable by the collector.

Summary suits for damages connected with exactions of rent are cognizable by the collector.

A suit by a zemindar against a dependant talookdar for arrears of rent, calculated on survey & measurement, may be tried summarily by the collector.

A suit by the purchaser of an estate against a tenant for rent at the purgunnah rate, may be tried summarily by the collector under reg. 7, 1799.

The collector may try all cases of resistance of his process of attachment connected with summary suits, except when actual breaches of the peace occur.

Explanation of provisions in existing regulations for summary process to recover arrears of rent

Applicable to recent arrears of rent only.

And not to be applied to any demands due for more than a complete year before the application for such process.

* But judges, registers, and collectors, in the adjustment of arrears, in such cases, may include arrears due for more than one year, if it appear equitable.

Collectors shall not take cognizance of complaints specified in preceding clauses, unless preferred within one year.

140. No complaint or application of the nature specified in the preceding clauses, [regarding arrears or exactions of rent] shall be received by a Collector under the rules of this Regulation, unless the plaint or application shall have been preferred within the period of one year after the cause of action shall have arisen.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 20, Cl. 3.

Such suits may be heard and decided at all times when the office of the collector is open; but he will exercise a sound discretion regarding the dismissal of them for non-attendance when the civil courts are shut.

141. I am directed by the Sudder Board of Revenue to acquaint you, for the information and guidance of the Collectors of your division, that a reference having been made to the board relative to the propriety of Collectors deciding summary suits under Regulation 8 of 1831, at periods when the Civil courts are closed, the board have held that such suits may be heard and decided at all times when the office of the Collector is open for the despatch of general business, but that it is incumbent on the revenue officers to exercise a sound discretion in regard to the dismissal of suits for non-attendance of the parties at seasons when the regular courts are closed and the transaction of civil business is in a great measure suspended.—Cir. Ord. 14th Dec. 1842.

lectors to be guided by instructions from revenue commissioners and sudder board.

143. In modification of Clause three, Section 8, Regulation 4, 1821, it is hereby declared that assistants to Collectors are not competent to exercise the powers vested in Collectors by this Regulation, unless specially empowered by the Governor General in Council. When thus empowered, they shall be competent to decide suits referred to them by the Collector, subject always to such revision or control on his part as he may see fit to exercise, and subject ultimately to an appeal to the Commissioner of Revenue under the provisions of Section 4 of this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 21.

Assistants to collectors not competent to decide suits under this regulation, unless specially empowered by the G. G. in C.

144. For the information and guidance of the several revenue officers in your division, I am desired by the Sudder Board of Revenue to acquaint you, that it has been ruled by Government, that decrees under Regulation 8 of 1831, passed by uncovenanted Deputy Collectors, are liable, in common with all other decisions of such officers, to be revised and altered by their covenanted principals. This judicial discretion, however, his Lordship observes, "should be exercised with due regard to circumstances—sometimes the revision will be largely, sometimes sparingly, effected. In the case of suits under Regulation 8 of 1831, a judicious officer will, for the most part, use his power of revision very sparingly."—Sud. Bd. Rev. Cir. Ord. 28th Aug. 1840.

Revision of the decisions of uncov. deputy collectors by the collector.

145. With reference to Circular order, dated 28th August, 1840, No. 33, and in order to secure uniformity of practice in regard to the revision exercised by Collectors over the proceedings of their uncovenanted deputies in summary suits for rent, the Sudder Board of Revenue, in accordance with a suggestion made by Government, request that you will direct the attention of the Collectors in your division to the following rule:—The Circular of the 28th August, 1840, does not render it necessary for Collectors "to admit, as a matter of course, all petitions of appeal that may be presented to them against summary decisions by their deputies. A Collector, looking to the monthly returns of his deputies, will occasionally call for cases and revise them, and though he may sometimes be induced by the statements of a petition to call for the case to which it relates, he will never consider himself obliged to proceed in the appeal, merely because a petition is presented. He will take care to watch attentively the proceedings of his subordinates, and he will be guided in the extent of his revisions chiefly by the degree of confidence which he may repose in their probity and discretion."—Sud. Bd. Rev. Cir. Ord. 29th April 1842.

Mode in which the collector will exercise his power of revising the decisions of his uncov. assistants.

146. It shall be competent to the Collectors to hear and determine such suits in whatever part of the district they may occasionally be, or reside, provided that every hearing and decision be in public cutcherry, or in some other place open to the public, and in the presence of the parties, or of their constituted agents or vakeels, if in attendance.—Reg. 14, 1824, Sect. 9.

Collectors competent to determine such suits in any part of the district provided the proceedings be held in public.

147. A Collector is not personally amenable to the Civil court for acts done by him under Regulation 8, 1831.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th June 1847.

A collector is not personally amenable to the civil courts for acts done under reg. 8, 1831.

Summary suits not cognizable by S. A. or moonsiffs.

The collector is not at liberty to reject summary suits, under reg. 7, 1799, however small the amount sued for.

149. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 10th August, 1829 requesting to be informed whether the present practice of receiving summary petitions, and issuing process against defaulting cultivators for arrears of rent, however small the amount, is to be permitted to continue, and whether you are at liberty to dismiss the whole of such summary suits now pending.—In reply I am desired to acquaint you that, under the existing Regulations, a person to whom arrears of rent may be due is authorized to proceed against the defaulter, either by distraint of his property or attachment of his person ; and he may exercise the option allowed him in such mode as he may conceive most convenient to himself. You are consequently not at liberty to reject summary suits instituted under Regulation 7, 1799, whatever may be the amount sued for, and you will be pleased to proceed in due course to the adjudication of those now pending.—Con. 519, 21st Aug. 1829.

Collectors declared competent to reject a summary suit by a Persian order on the back of the petition, and judicial authorities authorized to receive such petition as a plaint in a regular suit.

150. . It is further hereby declared competent to a Collector to whom a summary suit may be preferred under the provisions of this Regulation, to reject the same by a Persian order to be written on the back of the petition, to be returned to the party, referring him to a regular suit ; and the said petition shall be received by the judicial authorities as a petition of plaint in like manner as if the claim had been originally preferred to them in the form of a regular suit.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 9, Cl. 1.

Proviso.

151. Provided however, that it shall be competent to a Commissioner of Revenue on summary appeal to direct the Collector to receive and decide such suits, as well as to give such general instructions relative to the admission or rejection of suits referring to the matters in question, as local or other circumstances may in his judgment render necessary.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The collector exceeds his authority in referring summary suits to moonsiffs to be tried as regular.

152. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant, and in reply to inform you, that they entirely concur with you in opinion that the Collector exceeded his competency under Section 9, Regulation 8, 1831, in referring summary suits to Moonsiffs to be tried as regular.—Con. 879, Cal. C. 11th April, West. C. 2d May 1834.

The collector will conform strictly to the rules above (150) and when rejecting a summary suit will do so by a Persian order on the back of the petition, and return it to the party.

153. The Court have observed that some Collectors have transferred to the Zillah courts a large number of summary suits for arrears of rent pending on their files, and that the zillah and city Judges have received those suits contrary to the evident intent of Clause 1, Section 9, Regulation 8, 1831. They beg to recommend that the Collectors be enjoined strictly to follow the rule laid down in that clause ; which prescribes that when they reject a summary suit they shall do so by a Persian order written on the back of the petition, and return the petition to the party, referring him to a regular suit, when he will be able at once to present the petition to the Moonsiff, in the event of its being cognizable by that officer ; otherwise to the Judge, who will immediately refer it to the Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen by whom it may be cognizable. The Governor of Bengal sanctioned the recommendation.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 27th Feb. 1835.

SECTION XVI.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Institution of Regular Suits in the first Instance.

154. By Section 20, Regulation 5, 1812, it is provided, that suits instituted under that Regulation for the recovery of arrears of rent may be decided by the zillah and city Judges on summary enquiry; it was not, however, intended by that provision to preclude individuals from instituting a regular suit in the first instance for the more formal investigation of the merits of the case, either before the Moonsiffs or in the Zillah and City or Provincial courts, according to the amount at issue, and the zillah and city Judges are hereby enjoined to encourage, as much as possible, that mode of procedure, as well in the suits above adverted to, as in all other claims for arrears of rent, which may be cognizable by summary process under the existing rules, whenever it may in their opinion lead to a more prompt and satisfactory determination of the points at issue—Reg. 2, 1821, Sect. 4.

City and zillah judges to encourage the institution of regular, instead of summary suits, in certain cases.

155. With a view to give additional encouragement to parties having claims to arrears of rent, to prefer regular suits on account of the same, it is hereby declared that the plaint in all such regular suits, if under the existing Regulations they would have been cognizable as summary suits, may be written on paper bearing a stamp of one-fourth the prescribed value. Provided however, that this rule shall not be considered applicable to a suit instituted with a view to set aside a previous summary decision, which suit shall be subject to the ordinary provisions for the payment of stamp duty.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 8.

Plaints in regular suits for arrears of revenue, if cognizable as summary suits, may be preferred on paper of one-fourth the prescribed value.

156. I am directed to inform you, that the cases therein alluded to, if connected with arrears or exaction of rent, are cognizable as summary suits by the Collector under the provisions of Regulation 8, 1831, and (except where summarily tried by the Collector,) as regular suits by the Moonsiffs on stamped paper of a quarter the full value, if within the amount cognizable by those officers, under Sections 8 and 11 of that Regulation.—Con. 714, Cal. C. 31st Aug., West. C. 5th Oct. 1832, par. 2.

Cases of arrears or exactions of rent may be tried by the moonsiffs on stamped paper of a quarter the full value, if within the limit of their cognizance.

157. In reply to your third question, the Court direct me to state that they consider the above rules [Rule 156] applicable both to ryots and under-tenants resisting undue demands, and to zemindars and others claiming their just dues.—Ibid, par. 3.

These rules apply equally to ryots and others resisting undue demands as to zemindars and others claiming their just dues.

158. Diversity of practice having been found to prevail in respect to the applicability, or otherwise, of Section 8, Regulation 8 of 1831, to claims regarding exactions as well as arrears of rent, the Court notify that, on a late reconsideration of the subject, it has been determined by a majority of the Courts at Calcutta and Allahabad, that Construction No. 714, declaring the applicability of Section 8, Regulation 8, 1831, to claims regarding exactions as well as arrears of rent, and consequently making such claims cognizable by Moonsiffs as regular suits on one-fourth stamp ought to be adhered to. Should, therefore, the practice obtain in any district of requiring claims regarding exactions to be brought on stamped paper of the full value, it must be forthwith altered.—Cir. Ord. 18th Feb. 1842.

Claims regarding exactions of rent are cognizable by moonsiffs as regular suits on one-fourth stamp.

Civil courts may receive suits for rent on quarter stamp, though they have not been instituted in the first instance before the collector.

The only difference between suits under sec. 8, reg. 8, 1831, and other regular suits is, the relinquishment of one-fourth stamp by govt. to encourage parties to sue regularly, instead of summarily.

Pleadings and all other papers in suits under sec. 8, reg. 8, 1831, must be written on stamped or plain paper, according to the circumstances of the case.

Moonsiffs appointed under reg. 5, 1831, declared competent to award damages in cases of illegal distraint or attachment.

Rules prohibiting award of damages by moonsiffs, declared inapplicable to such cases.

159. The Civil courts are competent to receive suits for rent on quarter stamp ; it is not necessary that they should first be instituted before the Collector as summary suits, and by him transferred to the Civil court.—Con. 867, Cal. C. 14th Feb., West. C. 26th March 1834.

160. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 3d instant and in reply to inform you, that in suits instituted under Section 8, Regulation 8, 1831, the full fees of the pleaders must be deposited, the pleadings must be filed, and all the forms enjoined for the conduct of regular suits must be observed. The only exemption contemplated by the section in question is the relinquishment, on the part of Government, of three-fourths of the stamp duty levied in lieu of the institution fee, with a view of inducing parties to institute regular instead of summary suits.—Con. 930, Cal. C. 23d Jan., West. C. 27th Feb. 1835.

161. It has been ruled that suits instituted under Section 8, Regulation 8, 1831, are to be considered in all respects as regular civil suits ; consequently the pleadings and all other papers should be written on stamped or plain paper, according to the circumstances of the case, in the same manner as if the suit had been instituted on full stamp.—Con. 1001, Cal. C. 12th Feb., West. C. 4th March 1836.

162. In those districts in which Moonsiffs may be appointed under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, those Moonsiffs shall be competent, in addition to the authority now possessed by Moonsiffs generally, of receiving, trying, and deciding claims to arrears of rent preferred by regular suit, in like manner to dispose of all claims preferred by under-tenants or others, who may be desirous of resisting the distraint of their property or the attachment of their persons ; or who may prefer a claim for damages on account of such acts.—The rule contained in Section 13, Regulation 23, 1814, or any other Regulation, prohibiting the award of damages by Moonsiffs, shall not be considered applicable to such claims.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 11.

SECTION XVII.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Dustuk—Process of Arrest, and Proceedings thereupon.

Any landholder or farmer to whom an arrear of rent may be due from an under-tenant which cannot be realized by distress may cause the arrest of the defaulter and his surety in the manner following.

163. Any zemindar, talookdar or proprietor or farmer of land, to whom an arrear of rent may be due from a dependant talookdar, kutkenadar, jotedar, or other under-tenant of whatever denomination, which cannot be realized by distraining the personal property of such under-tenant, and his surety (if he shall have given security) is at liberty, after demanding such arrear from the defaulter, and from his surety if forthcoming, or without any express demand if he have reason to believe that the defaulter or his surety is prepared to abscond, to cause the immediate arrest of such defaulter and his surety in the manner following.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 1.

Petition to be presented to judge of the dewanny adawlut.

164. The proprietor or farmer to whom the arrear may be due or his authorized agent, is at liberty to present a petition to the Judge of the Zillah dewanny adawlut [now to the Collector].—Ibid, Cl. 2.

165. It appears to the Court, that the term "farmer of land" in the fourth clause of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, is used in a general sense, and includes the description of under-farmers described in your letter, [that is, duryardars or under-farmers of every description].—Con. 278, 9th July 1817.

Definition of the term "farmer of land," as above.

166. In reply to a reference from the acting Judge of zillah Juanpore, the Court determined on the 26th March, 1808, that the provisions of Section 14, Regulation 5, 1800, [corresponding with Regulation 7, 1799, Section 15.] are equally applicable to persons in possession of estates under deeds of mortgage, as to regular proprietors and farmers of land.—Con. 35, 26th March 1808.

Sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799 applies equally to persons holding estates under deeds of mortgage.

167. The Court are of opinion, that the whole of the provisions of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, are equally applicable to defaulting tenants and their malzamin; but they cannot be applied to the hazirzamins, unless the defaulters for whose appearance they are responsible abscond, in which case, the hazirzamin, as well as the malzamin, is answerable for what may be due from the defaulter, and may be proceeded against accordingly.—Con. 41, 13th Sept. 1808.

The provisions in sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799, apply to defaulting tenants & their malzamin; but not to hazirzamins, unless the defaulter absconds.

168. The Court request that you will prohibit the Moonsiffs of your district, from receiving and acting upon petitions for the arrest of defaulters, presented by zemindars under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th July 1832.

Moonsiffs cannot receive and act on petitions under cl. 2, sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799.

169. The petition of arrest, to be presented under the above clause, as well as any petitions for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants or their sureties, which may be hereafter presented under the Regulations abovementioned, shall specify, besides the name and residence of the defaulter and surety, and the mehal for which the balance of rent is claimed, the annual jumma of such mehal; the amount demandable for the kists of the current year which may have become payable, the amount received from the tenant or his surety, and the balance actually due for the payment of which the arrest is desired. The petition shall also state whether the arrear claimed has been demanded from the defaulter or his surety, and the result.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 15, Cl. 2.

What such petition is to contain.

170. Plaintiffs in summary suits may prefer their claims in person or by vakeel, and are not required to prefer them on oath or solemn declaration.—Con. 110, 3rd Sept. 1812.

Plaintiffs in summary suits may prefer their claims in person or by vakeels. No oath, or declaration is required.

171. The rules in the whole of the preceding sections for the recovery of arrears of rent due to proprietors and farmers of land, are to be considered equally applicable to the managers of the estates of disqualified landholders, and of joint undivided estates; as well as to Collectors or other public officers holding lands in attachment for the purpose of adjusting the public assessment on them, or for any other purpose; or making a khaus collection on the part of Government, where no settlement has been made with any proprietor or farmer; and the authorized agents of such managers, Collectors, or other public officers, provided they be so commissioned and instructed, are to exercise the same authority as is vested in the agents of proprietors and farmers of land by Section 2 of this Regulation.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 19.

Rules in preceding sections applicable to managers of estates of disqualified landholders, and of joint undivided estates, as well as to the officers of govt. holding lands in attachment, or under a khaus collection.

A summary suit will not lie against all the defaulters of a village collectively, they not being connected with each other except by living in the same village.

172. I am directed to inform you that the practice described in the latter part of your 2d paragraph, of allowing a single suit to be instituted against a large portion of the inhabitants of a village for arrears of rent, when such inhabitants are not otherwise connected than as dwelling in the same village, and do not jointly cultivate any piece of land, is irregular and objectionable; nor does it appear to the Court a sufficient reason that the original summary suit was admitted in that shape. The limit laid down in the first part of the same paragraph, with regard to including several ryots in one suit, [that is, only those who conjointly cultivated any parcel of land and were conjointly answerable for the rent,] is in the Court's opinion judicious, and should be invariably observed.—Con. 860, West. C. 7th, Cal. C. 28th Feb. 1834.

Judge how to proceed if the petition of arrest be presented to him in the first instance.

Dustuk for arrest issued by the judge how to be executed.

Dustuk when to be withdrawn.

Number of officers to be charged with dustuk.

Rate of tulubanaah to be allowed them.

The notice directed by sec. 2, reg. 2, 1806, is not applicable to the summary process provided for by sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799.

Optional for zemindars to take out arrest from the court having jurisdiction over the tenure.

Or from that of the place of residence.

173. If the petition of arrest stated in the preceding clause, be presented in the first instance to the zillah Judge (and to save time, it is allowed to be presented either in or out of court, and by any authorized agent, whether one of the established vakeels of the court or otherwise) the Judge, if the defaulter or surety be within his jurisdiction, is immediately to issue a dustuk for the arrest of such party and to bring him before the court, unless he pay the arrear demanded, and if such payment be not made on the service of the dustuk, or within twenty-four hours afterwards (which time is to be allowed to the party arrested to adjust the demand) the officer charged with the dustuk is to complete the execution thereof by conveying the party to the Zillah court. Provided however, that if the party arrested shall by a written application, request a longer period than twenty-four hours to adjust the demand against him, and the party causing the arrest shall, by a written superscription or endorsement on such application, acquiesce therein, the officers charged with the dustuk shall delay the execution accordingly; and whenever the party at whose instance the dustuk may have been issued shall, by a written durkhast, declare himself satisfied, and desire the arrest to be withdrawn, it shall be immediately withdrawn accordingly, the officers charged with the dustuk, (who are never to exceed two in number, unless in any particular cause a greater number be considered necessary to prevent escape,) being at the same time paid the tulubanaah due to them according to the rate established by Section 3 of Regulation 14, 1793, viz. two annas per diem, or any lower rate that may have been the customary allowance to persons deputed with revenue processes.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 3.

174. On a reference to the Sudder dewanny, the Register of the Dewanny adawlut, zillah Purnea, was informed on the 18th July, 1807, that the Court were of opinion, that the notice directed by Section 2, Regulation 2, 1806 is not applicable to cases of summary process provided for by Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799.—Con. 30, 18th July 1807.

175. In addition to the rules contained in Section 15, Regulation 19, 1817, it is hereby provided that any zemindar, talookdar, farmer, or other person entitled to receive rent, who may desire to take out summary process against the person of a defaulter, shall be at liberty to make application for the purpose either to the Judge of the district within which the land may be situated, or of the district wherein the defaulter may be at the time resident, at his option. In the event of his applying to the Judge of the district, within which the defaulter may not be resident, the process shall be transmitted by dawk to the Judge of the district where he may reside, in order to be there served in the usual form. The defaulter, if apprehended, shall be sent over in custody; or if he should not be found, so that the process cannot be served, a return shall be made accordingly, and the deposition of the peon employed shall further be taken, to be sent along with the return for the satisfaction of the Judge issuing the process, as to the efforts made to apprehend the defaulter.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 19.

Process in the latter case.

176. The summary process authorized by clauses first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, for the arrest and confinement of defaulting under-tenants of land and their sureties, shall not be applied to under-tenants employed in the manufacture of salt during the manufacturing season, as described in Section 18, Regulation 29, 1793, viz. from the commencement of the month of Kartick, to the end of the month of Assar. The rent payable by persons so employed can seldom be so considerable as not to be recoverable by distraining their crops and other personal property as authorized by Regulations 17, 1793; 35, 1795; and 7, 1799; provided the distress be levied in due time; but if in any instance an arrear of rent should be due from a person employed in the manufacture of salt which cannot be realized by distraining his crops and other personal property (and that of his surety if he shall have given security,) the proprietor, or farmer of land, to whom such arrear may be due, or his authorized representative, is to proceed for the recovery of it in the mode directed by Section 19, Regulation 29, 1793, which is still to be considered in full force, as well as Sections 20 and 21 of the same Regulation, notwithstanding any part of Regulation 7, 1799, or any other Regulation passed antecedent to this date.—Reg. 9, 1801, Sect. 2.

The summary process authorized in cls. 1 to 6 of sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799, shall not be applicable to under-tenants employed in the salt manufacture, during the manufacturing season.

177. Summary claims of the nature above adverted to, which may be preferred to a Collector conformably with Section 4 of this Regulation, shall be written on paper bearing a stamp of one-fourth the value which would have been required had the claim been instituted in any Civil court as a regular suit.—Provided however, that the Collector shall have a discretion to receive a complaint on paper, bearing a stamp of eight annas, from any dependant talookdar, farmer, or ryot, if the complainant is bonâ fide unable to pay the price of the prescribed stamp, or if the Collector should, for other reasons, consider the indulgence proper.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 7.

Such persons to be proceeded against as directed in sec. 19, reg. 29, 1793, & other sections.

Summary enquiry to be made by the judge upon a party being brought before him under either of the two preceding clauses.

179. When a defaulter or his surety may be brought to the Zillah court under either of the two preceding clauses, [Rules 164 and 173 of this chapter] the Judge shall call upon him to answer the demand against him, and if he deny it, or any part of it, shall enter upon a summary enquiry into the merits of it, by examining the vouchers and accounts of the parties. The landholders and farmers are allowed to employ any vakeel they may think proper to appoint, provided he be duly empowered by them, to attend such enquiries, before the Collectors, as well as the summary enquiry directed in this Regulation before the Judge.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 4.

The collector how to be guided in the decision of such suits.

The collector invested with the same powers as the civil courts in issuing all processes.

Except the execution of decrees.

180. In the trial and decision of such suits, the Collector shall be guided by the rules contained in this Regulation, and upon points to which these may not be applicable by the rules prescribed for the guidance of the Civil courts in the trial and decision of summary suits of the same description. The Collector shall also possess the same powers as are vested in the Civil courts for causing the attendance of parties and witnesses, and generally for all processes which it may be necessary to issue in such suits, except the execution of decrees, respecting which the following rule is to be observed.—Reg. 14, 1824, Sect. 4.

The parties are competent to appoint any vakeel or representative they may think proper.

The remuneration of such vakeel to be adjusted between himself and constituent.

181. It shall be competent to the parties in all suits, the cognizance of which is hereby vested in the Collectors of revenue, to employ any agent, vakeel or representative, whom they may think proper to appoint, to act and plead in their behalf, provided such agent, vakeel or representative, be duly empowered by the parties. The rate of remuneration to such agent or vakeel shall be left to be adjusted between himself and his constituent; but no greater sum shall be awarded on this account for costs payable by the party against whom the judgment may be passed than what may be decreed by the Collector a fair equivalent for the attendance of such agent.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

The court is at liberty to reduce the fee of the vakeel to such sum as may appear reasonable.

182. By Construction 300 it was ruled on the 29th January, 1817, that under Section 32, Regulation 27, 1814, vakeels employed in summary suits for rent, were entitled to a quarter of the fee which they would have received, had the suit been regular. But on the 11th December, 1818, it was held by Construction 297, that as that section had been rescinded by Section 9, Regulation 19, 1817, which makes the rule contained in Clause 11, Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814, applicable to such summary suits as well as to summary appeals from dismissals on default, the Court is at liberty to reduce the fee to such sum as may appear reasonable.—Con. 297, 11th Dec. 1818.

No other pleadings requisite than a plaint and answer.

183. No other pleadings shall be required from the parties in such suits than a plaint and answer, provided that if the parties should, at any time, wish to file an amended plaint, or an amended answer, or any explanatory motion, such subsidiary pleadings shall be received.—Reg. 14, 1824, Sect. 7.

184. No fees shall be taken on exhibits, tendered in the cause, or for the witnesses required by the parties, nor shall it be necessary for the parties to present a written motion on stamped paper for the filing of such exhibits, or for the summoning of such witnesses.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

No fees to be taken on the exhibits.

185. Whenever a dependant talookdar, or kutkenadar or other under-tenant of land, or his surety may be arrested, on the demand of an arrear of rent, under the summary process authorized by the Regulations specified in the preceding section, and may deny that the arrear demanded or any part of it is owing ; and such under-tenant, or surety, shall tender sufficient security for his personal attendance during the prescribed summary enquiry, it shall be competent to the Judge to receive such security, and to admit the tenant or surety to bail, until the enquiry directed to be made in such cases, by examining the accounts and vouchers of the parties, or by referring the case for adjustment to the Collector of the district, shall be completed, and a decision passed thereupon.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 16, Cl. 2.

Judge on receiving sufficient security, may during a summary enquiry admit a defaulter or surety to bail.

186. With regard to the general question referred in the second paragraph of your letter, viz. " whether in a suit instituted under the provisions of Regulation 7, 1799, the Judge is warranted in deputing an Ameen, for the purpose of local investigation ;" the Court are of opinion that although such deputation should not be ordered in summary suits without necessity, the zillah Judge is not restricted by any provision in Regulation 7, 1799, from directing a local enquiry, when it may appear to him indispensably requisite for the purpose of ascertaining the rent demandable in the case.—Con. 265, 19th Feb. 1817, par. 2.

When it may be indispensably requisite to ascertain the rent demandable, the collector may depute an ameen for the purpose of local investigation.

187. Whenever, from the great accumulation of suits connected with claims to arrears or exactions of rent, or from any other cause, it shall seem advisable, the several Collectors are hereby authorized, with the previous sanction of the Commissioner of the division, to refer to the tehseeldars within their respective districts, any such claims with a view to their being adjusted and reported upon, and the several tehseeldars shall be guided in the performance of this duty by the rules which were declared applicable to the proceedings of Collectors in similar references, prior to the enactment of Regulation 14, 1824.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 13.

Collectors authorized, with the permission of commissioner of revenue, to refer summary cases for adjustment and report to tehseeldars, who are to be guided in such cases by the rules applicable to collectors prior to the rules of reg. 14, 1824.

188. The Court further observe, that a zemindar, talookdar, farmer, or other landholder, who, in a summary suit, can shew by his village accounts, (proved to be kept in a regular form and to be true accounts,) or by any other probably true evidence, that the arrear demanded by him is due by the defendant, he is entitled under the existing law, to a decree for the amount of the arrear, although he may not have granted a pottah to the defendant, or have received a kubooliyut from him.—Con. 574, 17th Sept. 1830, par. 3.

A zemindar, &c. is entitled to a decree for arrears of rent, though he may not have granted a pottah to the ryot, or received a kubooliyut.

189. The Court do not hold the existence of a kubooliyut, or written engagement on the part of the ryot, to be essentially required to enable the landholder to institute a summary suit against him under Regulation 7 of 1799 ; but that, on the contrary, the courts are competent to decree such arrears as may be proved to be bonâ fide and equitably due by an examination of the vouchers and accounts of the parties, as prescribed by Clause 4, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799.—Con. 380, 15th April 1825, par. 3.

A kubooliyut is not necessary. The collector may decree such arrears as appear bonâ fide due on the accounts & vouchers of the parties.

In what cases the defendant is to be discharged with costs and damages.

Defendant to be kept in close custody if the arrear demanded or a considerable proportion thereof be found due from him, and to pay costs and interest.

Subsistence allowance to be paid by plaintiff to the defendant whilst in confinement.

The decree of a collector on a summary suit is no ground of action against a third party.

190. The Judge after receiving the Collector's report, if the case be referred to him for adjustment, or after completing his own enquiry, if it be not so referred, is to discharge the defendant, with full costs and damages, if it appear that no arrear is due from him ; or that the arrear demanded has been wilfully misstated by the plaintiff and a considerable proportion of the demand is not justly due to him. But if it appear that the arrear demanded, or a considerable proportion thereof be justly due from the defendant, he is to be kept in close custody, until he pay the amount, with all costs, and interest on the arrear at the rate of one per cent. per mensem ; or until plaintiff make application to the court for his release. The plaintiff is to pay to such defendants, whilst in confinement, the same allowance for their subsistence as is fixed for other prisoners in the jail of the Dewanny adawlut by Section 8 of Regulation 4, 1793, viz. such allowance as the Judge may think proper on consideration of the rank and situation of the prisoner, not exceeding four annas, nor less than one anna per diem, and the payment is to be made in the same manner and under the same provisions as prescribed in the above section.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 5.

191. A Collector's decree on a summary suit for arrears of rent, forms no ground of action against a third party.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Dec. 1844, vol. 7, p. 186.

[Wherever in any of the above, or in any subsequent enactments regarding summary suits for arrears or exactions of rent, the Judge is alluded to in reference to the trial of these suits, the reader is requested to substitute the word Collector.]

SECTION XIX.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Execution of Collector's Award.

Collectors are authorized to execute their summary awards.

The rules for the execution of awards prescribed in cl. 3, sec. 23, reg. 7, 1822, declared applicable to awards of collectors under this reg.

Collectors authorized to execute awards made by them.

192. Collectors are empowered and authorized to execute their summary awards under Regulation 8, 1831.—Con. 677, 24th Feb. 1832.

193. Such part of clause three, Section 23, Regulation 7, 1822, as relates to the execution of awards in cases where a specific sum of money shall be adjudged to be due, or any cost or damage be awarded, is declared equally applicable to the awards which may be made by Collectors under this Regulation.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 20.

194. Collectors of the land revenue are hereby empowered to execute all awards made by them under the rules of this Regulation, in cases wherein a specific sum of money shall be adjudged to be due, or any costs or damages be awarded ; the Collector decreeing the same shall proceed to levy the amount for the party in whose favor it may be adjudged by the process in use for the recovery of arrears of the Government revenue.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 23, Cl. 3.

The sale of real property on any other land than that in re-

195. The Sudder Board view as illegal the sale, in execution of a summary decree for rent, of houses, and trees, or other real property, situated on any other land than the tenure on which the default has occurred, and on account of rent of which decree has passed.—Cir. Ord. Sud. Bd. Rev. 20th March 1846.

196. Be it enacted, that such parts of clause 7, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799 of the Bengal code, and other Regulations in force, as vest the Judge of Dewanny adawlut with the power of bringing to sale, in execution of summary decrees for rent, the talook or other tenure of the defaulter, and so much of clause 3, Section 23, Regulation 7, 1822 of the same code, as prohibits the Collectors from selling land in satisfaction of summary awards for arrears of rent which may have accrued thereon, be rescinded, and that the power heretofore vested in the Judges of the Dewanny adawlut of selling land in satisfaction of summary decrees for rent, be transferred to Collectors of land revenue.—Act VIII. 1835, Sect. 1.

gard to which the summary decree has passed, is considered illegal.

Sales under decrees for arrears of rent to be made in future by the collectors of land revenue. Certain parts of sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799, and of cl. 3, sec. 23, reg. 7, 1822, rescinded. Collectors may sell land in satisfaction of summary decrees for rent.

197. And be it enacted, that all sales for the recovery of arrears of rent or revenue held under Clause 7, Section 15, or Clause 6, Section 23, or Section 25, Regulation 7 of 1799, shall be public, and be conducted by the Collector, his deputy or duly authorized assistant, and that ten days' notice shall be given of such sales, by advertisement, to be stuck up at the cutcherry of the Zillah court or local adawlut, and that of the Collector.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

All sales for arrears of rent or revenue, under cl. 7, sec. 15, or cl. 6, sec. 23, or sec. 25, reg. 7, 1799, to be public, and ten days' notice to be given.

198. Held, that the sale of an under-tenure for balances cannot be upheld in part and reversed in part. The sale was, however, wholly upset on account of the requisitions of Act VIII. of 1835, not having been complied with.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 148.

The sale of an under-tenure for balances cannot be upheld in part and reversed in part.

199. On the defaulter's tendering the amount decreed against him by a summary judgment his tenure cannot be sold. The Court declined saying whether the zemindar would be entitled to sell, in the event of his proving, by a regular suit, that the talookdar was in arrears at the end of the year.—Con. 130, 15th July 1813.

On the defaulter's tendering the amount decreed against him by a summary judgment, his tenure cannot be sold.

200. In reply to your letter of the 9th instant, I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Western Provinces to inform you that in the opinion of the Court, a Judge is not competent to stay the execution of a summary award passed by a Collector, pending the trial of a regular suit instituted in the Civil court, to set aside that award. No provision in the Regulations in force appears to the Court to invest the Judge with this power, and the whole object of the summary process would be evidently defeated, as observed by Mr. Lindsay, if the execution of the award were liable to be stayed until the final adjustment of a regular suit.—Con. 738, West. C. 16th Nov., Cal. C. 7th Dec. 1832.

The judge cannot stay execution of the summary award of the collector, pending a civil suit to set aside that award.

201. I am directed to observe that if the Collector has attached the property of the ryot al-luded to in your letter No. 92, dated 26th May last, in satisfaction of a summary award of his own court, his jurisdiction in summary suits being quite independant of that of the Judge, and himself, in such cases, in no way subordinate to the authority of that officer, they do not see on what ground the Judge could exercise any interference in the matter ; while if the whole estate should have been placed under attachment, or kham management, with a view to the realization of the Government revenue, whether for former years, or the present, and the collections be made direct by the Collector, or his officers, it does not appear to the Court how the Judge could interfere either with the general management of the estate, or with the appropriation to the payment of the Government demand of the rent arising from it.—Con. 1165, West. C. 20th July, Cal. C. 17th Aug. 1838.

Idem.

202. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that it is not competent to the lower courts to stay the execution of a summary decree under Regulation 7, 1799, pending the institution of a regular suit to set aside such decree.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th Nov. 1839, p. 26.

But the civil courts may stay the sale of property in execution of a collector's summary award, on the motion of a third party who has instituted a regular suit to establish his claim.

203. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court that in cases of the contemplated sale of property in execution of a summary award given by the Collector it is competent to the Civil court, on the motion of a third party claiming the property ordered to be sold, to stay the sale pending the result of a regular suit instituted by such party to establish his claim.—Con. 1181, Cal. and West. C. 26th Oct. 1838.

Execution of a summary decree for arrears of rent may be taken out within 12 years.

204. Held on a reference from the Judge of Hooghly, that, under the existing law, execution of a summary decree for arrears of rent may, be taken out within twelve years from the date of such decree.—Con. 1266, Cal. C. 9th Aug., West. C. 6th Sept. 1839.

It cannot be taken out after 12 years.

205. A suit to enforce execution of a summary decree for rent, instituted upwards of twelve years from the date of the decree, dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Jan. 1841, vol. 7, p. 2.

Collectors will execute their own awards, their warrant is a sufficient authority to the civil jailor to receive and discharge a prisoner.

206. The Court are of opinion that as Collectors are empowered by Section 20, Regulation 8, 1831, to execute their own awards, their orders for the confinement and release of defaulters need not pass through the civil Judges; and that the warrant of the Collector is a sufficient authority to the civil jailor to receive or discharge a prisoner.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 4th Jan. 1833.

The collector is competent to release a person confined in execution of a summary decree for rent on proof of insolvency.

207. The Court are of opinion that if the prisoner be in confinement in execution of a summary decree, passed by a Collector under Regulation 8, 1831, that officer is competent to release him on his presenting a petition under Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, and proving his insolvency; the powers heretofore vested in the Judge in such cases having been virtually transferred to the Collector by the provisions of the Regulation first quoted.—Con. 784, Cal. C. 19th April, West. C. 17th May 1833.

SECTION XX.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Institution of a Regular Suit to contest a Summary Decision.

Vide Regulation 8, 1831, Section 4, given as Rule 126 of this Chapter.

A regular suit may notwithstanding be preferred in the zillah or city court.

208. Any person who may be dissatisfied with the summary judgment of a Collector passed under this Regulation, and may be desirous of a more full and formal investigation of the merits of the case, shall be at liberty to prefer a regular suit in the local Zillah or City court, and on the institution of such suit the proceedings held on the summary enquiry shall be filed on the record of the regular suit.—Reg. 14, 1824, Sect. 10.

Regular suits to contest the summary awards of the collector shall be in the nature of a regular ap-

209. Provided also, that the regular suits which may be brought to contest decisions passed by Collectors, under the powers vested in them by Sections 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20, shall be of the nature of an appeal to the court in its regular jurisdiction from a summary award. It shall not therefore be necessary for the Collector or other officer of Government to be a party in the action.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 23, Cl. 2.

210. Persons confined under the fifth clause of the preceding section [Clause 5, Section 15,] and desirous of bringing the demand upon them to a regular judicial investigation and decision in the Dewanny adawlut, are at liberty to institute a suit against a landholder or farmer, at whose instance they may have been confined, for this purpose: and should the amount denied by them be found upon trial not to have been due, they shall receive a judgment for full costs and damages against the party by whom it may have been claimed. They shall also be entitled to a similar judgment, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, upon the amount paid by them, and found not to have been justly due from them, if they shall discharge the demand upon them with a view to obtain their release from arrest, or from subsequent confinement, under the preceding section, and shall afterwards, on a suit in the Dewanny adawlut for recovery of the amount so paid, establish that it was not due from them at the time of the demand.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 16.

peal to the courts. The collector need not be a party to the suit.

Persons confined under the fifth clause of preceding section, may institute a suit in the dewanny adawlut.

Judgment to be passed if the arrear denied by them be found not due.

Or if the demand be discharged by them and afterwards found not due.

211. Proprietors and farmers of land, whose claims to arrears of rent may be rejected by the zillah Judge, [now the Collector] on the summary enquiry directed in Section 15 of this Regulation, are also at liberty to institute a regular suit in the Dewanny adawlut for the recovery thereof; and if, on trial, the amount claimed by them shall be found to have been due when the summary judgment was given against them in the first instance, they shall be entitled to receive back any sums paid by them for costs or damages under such judgment, and to a decree from the Zillah court for the arrears of rent due to them, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, and full costs incurred by them as well on the summary enquiry, as on the regular suit.—Ibid, Sect. 17.

Claims rejected on the summary enquiry may be also sued for in the dewanny adawlut.

Judgment to be given if such claims be established on the regular suit.

212. The existing Regulations not providing any limited period beyond which the investigation of a regular suit to contest the justice of a summary award, in matters connected with arrears or exactions of rent, shall be admitted, it is hereby declared, that the admission of regular suits to contest the summary awards of the revenue authorities in such matters, shall be restricted to the period of one year from the date of the delivery, or of the tender to the party against whom the award is made, of the Collector's decision.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 6.

Admission of regular suits to contest summary awards of revenue authorities, restricted to one year from date of collector's decision.

213. The provisions of Section 6, Regulation 8, 1831, are held to be applicable to the summary decrees of the judicial authorities passed prior to the enactment of that law; that is, all regular suits to contest the summary awards of the judicial authorities should have been instituted within one year of the promulgation of that Regulation.—Con. 1303, Cal. C. 16th July, West. C. 6th Aug. 1841.

Regular suits to contest the summary awards for rent passed prior to reg. 8, 1831, must be instituted within one year after the promulgation of that regulation.

214. The Courts are of opinion, that the period of one year, to which the admission of regular suits to set aside the awards of the revenue authorities is restricted by Section 6, Regulation 8, 1831, should be calculated according to the principle laid down in Clauses 10 and 11, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814.—Con. 1028, Cal. C. 29th July, West. C. 19th Aug. 1836.

The period of one year for the institution of a regular suit to contest these summary awards must be calculated according to the rules laid down in cl. 10 and 11, sec. 8, reg. 26, 1814.

215. An order of nonsuit having been passed in an action, brought within time, for re-suit having passed in such an action, the period during which it was pending will not be included in the year prescribed in sec. 6, if another suit be instituted.

Regular suits instituted to set aside summary awards of collectors for land rent declared cognizable by P. S. A., S. A. or M.

On appeal to a court against the decision of a collector, the proceedings held by that officer shall be called for and filed in the case.

Mode in which the value of a suit to obtain the reversal of the summary award of the collector is to be estimated.

If a suit instituted originally at one-fourth stamp under sec. 8, reg. 8, 1831, be appealed, the full amount of stamp is to be levied.

reversal of a summary award of the revenue authorities under Regulation 8, 1831, held that the period during which such action was pending is not to be included within the limitation of one year prescribed by Section 6 of that Regulation, in the event of the institution of another suit.

216. In modification of Section 19, Regulation 8, 1831, regular suits instituted to set aside the summary judgments of Collectors for land rent are declared cognizable, according to their amount, by the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs.

—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 10.

217. Whenever a regular suit may be instituted in a Civil court, with a view to set aside or alter a summary judgment passed by a Collector, the proceedings held on the summary enquiry shall be called for by precept from the Court, and filed on the record of the case.—Reg. 7, 1822, Sect. 31, Cl. 1.

218. In the event of a suit being instituted in the Zillah court or that of a Moonsiff by a resident cultivator, to obtain a reversal of a summary decision passed by a Collector adjudging a balance against him and ejecting him from his jote as a defaulter, is the value of the suit to be estimated by the amount of rent in dispute, or by the selling value of the land or both? The claim is to disprove the balance and regain possession; but as the point originally at issue in the summary suit was the justness or otherwise of the demand of rent, and the ejectment or non-ejectment of the cultivator rested solely on the defendant being deemed a defaulter or otherwise, I conceive that the amount of the suit should be estimated by the amount of balance in litigation.—Reply of the Sudder.—I am directed to inform you, that in suits of the nature described in the 2d paragraph of your communication, viz. suits instituted in a Zillah court or that of a Moonsiff by a resident cultivator, to obtain a reversal of a summary decision passed by a Collector adjudging a balance against him and ejecting him as a defaulter, the value of the suit should be estimated at the amount of rent in dispute, or, in other terms, at the sum sued for in the first instance.—Con. 862, West. C. 7th, Cal. C. 28th Feb. 1834.

219. As doubts have been entertained with regard to the amount of stamp leviable in appeals from decisions passed in cases originally instituted on stamped paper of one-fourth the usual value, under the provisions of Section 8, Regulation 8, 1831; I am directed by the Court to state for your information, that in such appeals the full amount of stamp is to be levied, the provisions of the section above mentioned extending only to the original suit.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 12th Dec. 1834.

SECTION XXI

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Process against Defaulting Under-Tenants and their Sureties in another Jurisdiction.

Petitions for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants & their sureties may be presented to the judge of the zillah or city in which the defaulter shall at the time reside.

220. It is therefore hereby provided, that whenever a dependant talookdar, kutkenadar, jotedar, or other under-tenant, or the surety of any such under-tenant, from whom an arrear of rent may be due, and who may have failed to discharge the same on demand, may reside, or be in a zillah or city different from that wherein the land, for which the arrear of rent is due, may be situated, it shall be competent to the zemindar, or other proprietor or farmer of the land, to whom the arrear of rent may be owing, or his authorized agent, to present a petition specifying the particulars stated in the following clause, and praying for the arrest of the defaulter, or his surety, to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the defaulter or his surety may reside, or be; and the Judge receiving the same shall immediately issue the process of arrest, directed in the third clause of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799; and the corresponding clause of Section 14, Regulation 5, 1800, and Section 32, Regulation 28, 1803.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 15, Cl. 1.

Who is immediately to issue the prescribed process of arrest

221. The petition of arrest, to be presented under the above clause, as well as any petitions for the arrest of defaulting under-tenants or their sureties, which may be hereafter presented under the Regulations above mentioned, shall specify, besides the name and residence of the defaulter and surety, and the mehal for which the balance of rent is claimed, the annual jumma of such mehal; the amount demandable for the kists of the current year which may have become payable, the amount received from the tenant or his surety, and the balance actually due for the payment of which the arrest is desired. The petition shall also state whether the arrear claimed has been demanded from the defaulter or his surety, and the result.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

What such petition is to contain.

222. If the defaulter, or surety, against whom process of arrest may be issued under the first clause of this section, be found within the jurisdiction of the Judge by whom the same shall have been issued; and after being arrested, he shall not pay the arrear demanded, or satisfy the party causing his arrest; and shall, in consequence be brought to the local Civil court, in pursuance of the rule contained in the Regulations before noticed; the Judge shall call upon him to shew cause why he should not be sent to the Judge of the zillah or city, in which the land, for which the arrear is claimed (or the greater part of it, if in two jurisdictions) may be situated; and if sufficient cause be not assigned, or substantial security given for attending the Judge of the jurisdiction in which the land is situated, within a limited period, the party arrested shall be sent in custody of mohussil peons (at the charge of the party claiming the arrear) to the Judge of the zillah or city, in which the land may be situated. A statement of the case with the original petition of arrest, and all other papers connected with it, shall at the same time be transmitted for the information of the Judge, to whom the party in arrest may be sent in such cases. The petition of arrest, and all papers connected with it, shall likewise be sent to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the land may be situated, whenever the party arrested may assign sufficient cause for not being sent as directed; or may give security for his attendance, which shall be accepted whenever substantial security may be offered.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

How the judge is to proceed in case a defaulter after such arrest shall not satisfy the party aggrieved.

Or shall not furnish security for his appearance before the Judge of the zillah or city in which the land is situated

What documents are to accompany the defaulter on such occasions

In cases where security is furnished, the petition of arrest and papers connected with it only to be forwarded

223. When a defaulting tenant, or his surety, may be brought to the court of the zillah or city in which the land is situated, or may attend under security for his appearance, in pursuance of the foregoing clause, the Judge shall proceed, as directed in similar cases, by the Regulations in force, when the defaulter or surety may have been arrested within his own jurisdiction.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Judge of the zillah or city where the land is situated will then proceed against a defaulter as directed by the regulations

SECTION XXII.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Reference of Suits regarding the same Cause of Action to the same Tribunal.

Rules to be observed in cases of two or more suits being instituted regarding the same matter, cognizable under this regulation.

224. Inconvenience having been experienced from the circumstance of two or more claims regarding the same matter having been preferred to different tribunals, it is hereby provided that if it should be brought to the notice of the Judge, that a suit regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation is pending in his or in any of the courts subject to his control in a matter regarding which a suit had been previously instituted before the Collector, the Judge shall direct such suit to be transferred to the Collector, who in such case is authorized and required to decide both suits.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 14.

Explanation of the term "regarding the same matter" in the above section

225. The term in Section 14, 'regarding the same matter,' is to be considered as meaning that the cause of action in both suits is identical. The applicability of the rule can only be made by the Judge or other officer acquainted with the details of each case.—Con. 1001, Cal. C. 12th Feb., West. C. 4th March 1836.

Collector, on ascertaining that in any matter pending before him under this regulation a regular suit has been previously filed before the Judge, will suspend his proceedings and forward the record to the Judge.

226. In like manner, if it be brought to the notice of the Collector, that a suit is pending before him in a matter regarding which a regular suit has been previously filed in the Judge's court, he shall suspend his proceedings and forward the record of the case to the Judge, who will make over both cases to some tribunal subject to his authority, or dispose of the cases himself.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 15.

The courts of S. D. A. are not included in the rules contained in sec. 14 and 15, reg. 8, 1831, which refer only to the zillah and city courts, and the courts subordinate to them

227. Held on a reference from the Judge of Jessore, that the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut are not included in the rule contained in Sections 14 and 15 of Regulation 8, 1831, which refer exclusively to the Zillah and City courts and to the courts subordinate to them.—Con. 1252, Cal. C. 27th Sept., West. C. 31st Oct. 1839.

Suits transferred under sec. 15, as above, must be considered regular suits.

228. Suits for rent transferred by the Collector to the subordinate judicial tribunals under Section 15, Regulation 8, 1831, must be entered and tried as regular suits.—Con. 951, West. C. 8th, Cal. C. 22d May 1835.

Mode in which the Judge will proceed, if the collector refuse to transfer the records of a case under sec 1b, as above.

229. If the Collector, on being required by the Judge, under Section 15, Regulation 8, 1831, to transfer the record of a case pending before him, refuse to do so, the Judge is competent to proceed according to Section 36, Regulation 14, 1793.—Con. 1094, Cal. C. 23d June, West. C. 14th Aug. 1837.

Case in which the S. D. A. permitted a plaintiff to file a supplementary plaint as an application to set aside the summary decree.

230. An action having been brought to set aside a kubooliyut or counterpart engagement of a lease, by a party, against whom a summary suit had been previously preferred before the Collector for arrears of rent under the same engagement, and in which a decree was given in favor of the summary plaintiff subsequently to the institution of the regular suit to contest the kubooliyut, the Sudder dewanny adawlut permitted the plaintiff in the regular suit to file a supplementary plaint as an application to set aside the summary decree, as well as the kubooliyut, the cancelling of which formed the subject of his original plaint.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th March 1841, vol. 7, p. 21.

231. It shall further be the duty of the Judge and of all the judicial authorities, subject to his control, in all practicable cases, to refer suits concerning the same cause of action and regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation to be decided by one and the same tribunal, and the subordinate judicial authorities are required to suspend their proceedings and to submit them to the Judge, whenever they may have reason to know that another case concerning the same matter, relating to arrears or exactions of rent, is pending before another court, or as a summary suit before the Collectors.—Reg. 8, 1831, Sect. 16.

All judicial authorities to endeavour to bring before one court all cases relating to the same matter cognizable under this regulation.

232. Provided moreover, that in all cases of appeal, the records of cases which can be ascertained to have been decided, concerning the same cause of action and regarding any matter cognizable under this Regulation, shall be produced and read, and that the decision in appeal shall be considered to be equally applicable to all such suits, though not appealed. Provided however, that in all such cases due notice shall be given to the parties concerned, to attend either in person or by vakeel to prosecute or defend their several interests.—Ibid, Sect. 17.

In cases of appeal, the records of all cases in the same matter to be produced, and read, and the decision in appeal to apply equally to all.

Proviso.

233. I am directed to state that cases made over by the Collector under Regulation 8, 1831, must be numbered separately, and each decided as a distinct suit, though both decisions may be simultaneous.—Con. 1001, Cal. C. 12th Feb., West. C. 4th March 1836, par. 2.

Cases made over by the collector under the above regulation must be numbered separately.

SECTION XXIII.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Right of Landholders to attach Tenures for Arrears of Rent after having instituted a Summary Suit.

234. When an under-farmer, jotedar, or other under-tenant, arrested as above described, shall not immediately discharge the arrear demanded from him, and shall in consequence be taken in custody to the Judge of the Dewanny adawlut, the proprietor or farmer of land, to whom such arrear may be owing, is at liberty to attach the farm, jote, or other tenure of such defaulter, and to manage the same by his own agents, or in such manner as he may think proper, until the rent due to him, with the further rent that may become due after the attachment, and interest upon the whole arrear at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, shall have been liquidated from the produce. But in such cases of attachment, the proprietor or farmer making the same shall not exact more from the cultivators of the soil, and other descriptions of inferior tenantry, whose rents for the current year may have been payable to the defaulter, than the defaulter himself would have been entitled to receive from them if the attachment had not taken place. (cases of collusion and illegality under the Regulations excepted;) and in the event of the defaulter making good the arrear due from him, with interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, at any time within the current year, the attachment shall be immediately withdrawn, and a full and fair account rendered to him of all receipts and disbursements during the continuance of it.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 6.

In what cases proprietors and farmers of land may attach the farm, jote, or other tenure of their defaulting tenants, & collect therefrom the arrears of rent due to them with interest.

Restriction against undue exactions from the cultivators of the soil and other inferior tenantry in such cases.

Attachment to be withdrawn on payment of the arrear due with interest at any time within the current year. And a fair account rendered of all receipts and disbursements.

Doubts in the construction of sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799, stated.

And their effects.

Proceedings after a summary suit has been lodged.

The right of attaching talooks, farms & similar tenures declared.

With proviso.

A zemindar cannot send a sezawul of his own authority to attach and collect the rents of actual cultivators immediately from themselves, without having instituted a suit under sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799.

235. Doubts have been entertained with respect to the intent and meaning of such part of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, as regards the power of attaching the lands of a defaulter, particularly whether the attachment can be made in case the dustuk be not served on the person of the under-tenant from whom the arrear of rent is claimed: moreover it has not been provided in any part of the rules above quoted, nor in any subsequent Regulation, whether or not a decree can be passed after summary investigation of an arrear claimed, in case the process by dustuk shall not have been served on the defaulter. In consequence of these doubts and omissions, under-tenants falling in arrear have been encouraged to make it a practice to evade the process by dustuk, in the confidence that if successful in concealing themselves for a time, the person to whom the rent is due will lose the benefit of his summary application, and be referred to a regular suit as the only means of recovering his dues, or of obtaining such a judicial award as will enable him to proceed against the property of the debtor. In order to remedy the evils arising from the practice above described, the following rules have been enacted, in explanation and modification of the rules of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 18, Cl. 1.

236. Under the existing rules proprietors, talookdars or farmers, are entitled, with or without making a previous demand upon the under-tenant, to institute a summary suit for any arrear which may be claimed to be due, and to obtain the issue of a process of arrest against the defaulter. It is hereby further provided, that when a summary suit for arrears alleged to be due, may have been instituted against a talookdar or against a farmer, or against the holder of any other intermediate tenure between the zemindar and the actual cultivators, it shall be competent to the party who may have instituted such suit (whether the alleged defaulter shall have been arrested or not,) to send a sezawul of his own authority to attach and collect the rents of the actual cultivators immediately from themselves: provided however, that such power of attachment shall not be exercised, unless the arrear of rent claimed in the summary suit shall have been actually due for one entire month before the date of attachment, and shall not be less in amount than the entire kist of the month, on account of which the arrear may be claimed.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

237. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that a zemindar is not competent, under the provisions of Section 18, Regulation 8, 1819, to send a sezawul of his own authority to attach and collect the rents of the actual cultivators immediately from themselves, without having previously instituted a summary suit under Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, against the talookdar or other intermediate holder between himself and the actual cultivators.—Con. 456, 17th Aug. 1827, par. 2.

SECTION XXIV.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Right of Landholders to cancel the Leases of intermediate Tenants, and to oust them, at the end of the year of default.

238. If the arrear be not liquidated within the current Bengal, Fussely, or Willaity year (according as the place may be situated in the province of Bengal, Behar, or Orissa), either by the payments of the defaulter or his surety, or by the attachment of his tenure, the zemindar or other proprietor of the land, or the farmer in whose farm the defaulter's tenure may be included, (if such farmer's lease extend beyond the current year,) is at liberty, at the commencement of the ensuing year, to make such provision for the future receipt of the rents payable to him from the land tenanted by the defaulter, as he may judge proper and may be consistent with the rights of all other persons concerned. If the defaulter be an under-farmer for the past year only, or whose lease may have expired with the past year, he can, of course, have no claim to any further lease; and although his lease may not have expired, if he shall have neglected to fulfil the conditions of it by the payment of his stipulated rent, it must be considered liable to be annulled, or otherwise at the option of the lessor if the defaulter be a dependant talookdar or the holder of any other tenure, which by the title deeds or established usage of the country is transferrable by sale or otherwise, it may be brought to sale, by application to the Dewanny adawlut, in satisfaction of the arrear of rent; and the purchaser will become the tenant for the new year: or if defaulter be a leaseholder or other tenant, having a right of occupancy only so long as a certain rent, or a rent determinable on certain principles according to local rates and usages, be paid; without any right of property or transferable possession, the proprietor of whom such tenure is held, or the farmer or other person to whom such proprietor may have leased or committed his rights, must be understood to have the right of ousting the defaulting tenant from the tenure he has forfeited by a breach of the conditions of it. In such cases (viz. in the several cases enumerated in this clause, under the stated exception when a sale of landed property may be desired,) proprietors and farmers of land are at liberty to exercise the just powers appertaining to them, without any previous application to the Courts of justice; but they will be held responsible for all acts done by them, or by their agents, which may exceed their just powers, and infringe the rights of under-tenants of whatever description, whether founded on pottahs or other written deeds and engagements; or on long prescription and established local usage. This Regulation is not meant to define or limit the actual rights of any description of landholders or tenants; which can be properly ascertained and determined by judicial investigation only; but merely to point out in what manner defaulting tenants may be proceeded against in the event of their not paying the rents justly due from them; leaving them to recover their rights if infringed, with full costs and damages, in the established Courts of justice, under the provisions already stated in this Regulation for bringing such causes to a determination with the least possible delay.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 7.

What further measures may be taken by the landholders & farmers for the security of their future rents if the arrears due to them be not liquidated within the current year.

Defaulting under-farmers whose leases may have expired can have no claim to any further lease. And although their leases may not have expired neglect to pay the stipulated rent subjects the farms of this description of defaulters to be annulled at the option of the lessor.

If the defaulter be a dependant talookdar or the holder of any other transferable tenure, it may be brought to sale for the arrear by application to the dewanny adawlut. Or if the defaulting tenant have a right of occupancy only depending on the payment of a certain rent, he may be removed from the tenure he has forfeited by a breach of the condition of it.

Proprietors & farmers of land at liberty to exercise their just powers in the cases herein stated without previous application to the courts of justice.

But will be held responsible for all acts done by them or their agents beyond their just powers, infringing the rights of then under-tenants of whatever description.

This regulation not intended to define or limit the rights of any description of landholders or tenants; but merely to point out in what manner defaulting tenants may be proceeded against; leaving them to recover their rights if infringed, with costs and damages, in the courts of justice.

A judgment passed by the zillah court, in favor of a farmer for possession of lands for which two under-renters were in balance at the end of the year, confirmed by the S D A

239. On demand by a farmer on two under-renters, for possession of lands for which they were in balance at the end of the first year of a lease which had been granted to them, and refused to give up, summary judgment for the farmer, by the zillah court, under Regulation 7, 1799, confirmed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Aug. 1807, vol. 1. p. 206.

A defaulting farmer is liable to be ousted from his farm, at the end of the year, in which he was in arrear, if he do not discharge it on demand.

240. In reply to a reference to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Judge of zillah Purnea was informed on 17th September, 1808, that under the provisions of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, as well as upon general principles of justice, a defaulting farmer is liable to be ousted from his farm at the end of the year for which an arrear of rent may be due from him, if he shall not discharge the same on demand, and that the Court were further of opinion, that the proprietor of the land is authorized to oust his defaulting tenant, without application to the Courts of justice, as declared by clause seventh, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, provided no violence be used, so as to bring the case within the provisions of Regulation 49, 1793, [now Act IV. 1840).—Con. 42, 17th Sept. 1808.

If on the zemindar's alleging his tenant to be in arrear, the tenant deny the facts, the courts cannot cause the tenant to be removed, and the tenure to be surrendered to the zemindar without an investigation of the latter's claim. The zemindar must have recourse to the legal remedy of distraint, summary suit or regular action.

241. The Court remark, that the orders of the late Judge, Mr. Cornish, on the case appear to have proceeded upon a construction of the seventh clause of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, according to which if a landholder, alleging his tenant to be in arrear, think fit to take upon himself to attach his tenure, the tenant is bound to give up his possession; and should the tenant deny that he is in arrear, and refuse to quit, the Courts of justice are obliged upon application from the landholder, to cause the tenant to be removed, and the tenure given up to the landholder, without any previous investigation into the justice of the landholder's claim. The Court cannot acquiesce in this construction of the clause in question, which, they observe, merely declares that a landholder may oust his defaulting tenant without application to the Courts of justice; and leaves entirely open the question, what course is to be pursued if the tenant shall deny that he is a defaulter, and incur the responsibility of refusing to quit his tenure. That question is to be resolved independently of the clause under consideration, and the Court are clearly of opinion, that under the circumstances supposed, the landholder must have recourse to his legal remedies of distraint, summary suit, or regular action. The Court, indeed, regard the clause quoted, so far as it is applicable to such cases, to be merely declaratory of the right possessed by landholders, in common with all other claimants, to pursue their just demands by peaceable means; and to have been intended, not to confer any powers on landholders in addition to those which they previously possessed upon general principles, and by the usage of the country; but to give confidence to landholders in the lawful pursuit of their just claims, and to discourage undue opposition on the part of the tenants: by satisfying the former, that they would be in no danger of being treated as wrong-doers, in consequence of the just and peaceable exercise of their powers; and making the latter sensible, that in resisting rightful claims until prosecuted in the Courts of justice, they would render themselves liable to costs and damages.—Con. 113, 12th Nov. 1812, par. 2.

When a summary decree for rent is not satisfied by the defaulter, or his security, it may be enforced at the end of the year, by the sale of the defaulter's talook,

242. I am directed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you, dated the 22d ultimo, with its enclosures, and to acquaint you that judgments for arrears of rent, passed under the fifth clause of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, and not satisfied within the current Bengal, Fussely, or Willaity year, by the confinement of the defaulting tenant and security under that section or by the attachment of the defaulter's tenure, as authorized by the sixth clause of the above section, may, under the seventh clause of the same section be enforced on application to the Dewanny adawlut, as therein directed, at the expiration of the Bengal, Fussely, or Willaity year for which the arrear may have been adjudged, by the sale of the defendant's talook or other transferable tenure of the defaulter, for the rent of which such judgment may have been passed. But that you were not warranted in applying to the Board of Revenue to cause the sale of the tenure upon the mere allegation of a balance being due, without any enquiry.—Con. 128, 8th July 1813.

or other tenure for the rent of which the decree was passed.

But the tenure cannot be sold on the mere allegation of a balance without enquiry.

243. When an arrear may be adjudged to be due in the manner above provided, [Clauses 1, 2, 3, Section 18, Regulation 8, 1819,] the zemindar or other plaintiff in the suit shall be at liberty to cancel of his own authority any lease, farm or other limited interest intermediate between himself and the actual cultivator, on account of which the rent may have been claimed; but no summary award for arrears shall be considered to warrant the subjecting real property belonging to the defendant, in such an action, to sale in execution, except in cases in which the balance may be due on account of a talook of the description noticed in Section 3 of this Regulation, or of any other talook which may have been declared by the Regulations to be liable to sale for arrears; such talook will of course be liable to be sold for the arrears which may have accrued upon it, in the mode prescribed; but if the zemindar or other plaintiff should be desirous of having any other estate, or house, or landed property of a defaulter brought to sale in satisfaction of his claim of rent, it will be necessary for him to institute a regular suit for the purpose, notwithstanding the existence of the summary award in his favour.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 18, Cl. 4.

After summary decree zemindar may cancel farms and the like.

No exception against separate real property.

SECTION XXV.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—Rights of Khoodkhast or Resident Cultivators; and Remedy of the Zemindar against them for Arrears.

244. The provisions contained in the second and fourth clauses of this section, [Rules 236 and 243] so far as they relate to the power of attaching and cancelling (under the circumstances therein described) the leases, farms or other limited interests of persons holding intermediately between the proprietor and the actual cultivator, are hereby declared not to extend to khoodkhast ryots or other resident cultivators of the soil.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 18, Cl. 5.

Tenures of ryots not to be attached or cancelled for arrears.

245. For any arrears which may be alleged to be due from those classes of persons, the party claiming them may proceed at any time during the year by distraint or by process of arrest and summary suit, under the existing rules; proprietors, talookdars or farmers, however, to whom an arrear of rent may be due at the end of the year from any khoodkhast ryot or other resident cultivators of the soil, are at liberty to institute a summary suit to establish the existence of such an arrear, taking out process of arrest in the usual form. If the defendant shall not attend or cannot be arrested, the forms of process and proceeding prescribed in the third clause of this section, shall be considered to be applicable to the case, and any summary judgment previously obtained on account of rent of the year just closed, shall be received as evidence of such arrear, upon the plaintiff's shewing that the judgment in question has remained unexecuted. If an arrear shall be adjudged by the court to be due, and the amount shall not be immediately paid into court, the plaintiff shall be authorized by the court to make such new arrangement as he may judge proper for the future management of the lands in question.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 18, Cl. 5.

Khloodkhash ryots have the liberty of immediately paying into court any sum adjudged to be due from them, before they can be ejected.

246. The Sudder Court remark that under the provisions of Clauses 4 and 5, Section 18, Regulation 8 of 1819, the landholder must first establish by a suit, either summary or regular, the existence of an arrear before he is at liberty to cancel the lease of an under-tenant, while as regards khloodkhash ryots, they have also the power of immediately paying into court any sum adjudged to be due from them before they can be ejected.—Con. 1205, West. C. 15th March, Cal. C. 12th April 1839, par. 2.

When a khloodkhash ryot is ejected, contrary to the regul., the judge, on his summary application will order him to be restored to possession & to retain it till the process ordered in the regulation has been complied with.

247. With reference to the principal question which has given rise to the present correspondence, viz. the power of redressing complaints of unjust ejectment; the Court observe that the following construction was adopted by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut at the Presidency, and circulated for the guidance of the several judicial authorities on the 28th August, 1829. "The declaration contained in the fifth clause of Section 18, Regulation 8, 1819, (that it is illegal to oust or disturb resident cultivators unless certain stated circumstances,) necessarily implies a remedy in case of a contravention of this rule, and in the spirit of the enactment cited, such remedy should be afforded by the Judge on the summary application of the ejected ryot, by an order for his being restored to possession, and his retaining it until the process prescribed by the Regulation shall have been observed." The jurisdiction formerly exercised by the Judge with regard to the suits in question having by Regulation 8, 1831, been transferred to the Collector, the Court are of opinion that the authority to redress complaints of illegal ejectment which the above Circular orders declared to be vested in the Judge, must be now considered to rest with the revenue functionary; provided the ejectment be not attended with violence, so as to bring the case within the cognizance of the Magistrate.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 15th Nov. 1833.

The authority to redress complaints of illegal ejectment is now vested in the collector.

Mode in which the value of such a suit is to be estimated.

248. I am directed to inform you that in suits of the nature described in the 2d paragraph of your communication, viz. suits instituted in a Zillah court or that of a Moonsiff by a resident cultivator, to obtain a reversal of a summary decision passed by a Collector adjudging a balance against him and ejecting him as a defaulter, the value of the suit should be estimated at the amount of rent in dispute, or, in other terms, at the sum sued for in the first instance.—Con. 862, West. C. 7th, Cal. C. 28th Feb. 1834.

All questions as to whether the zemindar can oust a ryot should come under the provisions of act 4, 1840, and reg. 8, 1819.

249. The Court are of opinion, that all differences between landholders and their tenants or ryots, involving the question, whether the landholder can legally oust the tenant or ryots from the lands which the latter considers himself entitled to occupy, should come under the provisions of Regulation 49, 1793, or Regulation 8, 1819.—Con. 482, 9th May 1828.

Regulation 49, 1793, has been rescinded by Act IV. 1840, which will be found in the Appendix. The above rule (249) refers only to the summary adjustment of such disputes, and does not bar a regular action.

SECTION XXVI.

Summary Suits for Arrears and Exactions of Rent—General Rules regarding the Rights of Landholders.

250. In like manner, in all other instances, the Courts of justice will determine the rights of every description of landholder and tenant, when regularly brought before them; whether the same be ascertainable by written engagements; or defined by the laws and regulations; or depend upon general or local usage, which may be proved to have existed from time immemorial; but it is hereby declared that no part of the existing Regulations was meant to deprive the zemindars and other landholders of the power of summoning, and if necessary, compelling the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rent; or for any other just purpose, or of measuring any land within their respective estates which may be liable to measurement under the conditions upon which such land may have been leased or held. For the just exercise of such rights and powers the landholders are not required to make any previous application to the Courts of justice; and any person opposing them therein will, on proof in the Dewanny adawlut, be liable to full damages and all costs; besides being subject, for any breach of the peace, to prosecution and punishment in the Criminal courts. But the landholders, their agents and representatives, will be held answerable for any abuse, or unjust exercise of the powers hereby declared to be vested in them, and on proof thereof by the party aggrieved, in the Dewanny adawlut, will be liable to full costs and damages; besides a fine to Government if the case shall appear to deserve it.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 15, Cl. 8.

The courts of justice in all other instances to determine the rights of every description of landholder & tenant when regularly brought before them.

Explanation that no part of the existing regulations was meant to deprive the landholders of the power of causing the attendance of their tenants for the adjustment of their rent; or for any other just purpose, or of measuring any land liable to measurement under the conditions on which it may be tenanted.

Penalty for any opposition to the landholders in the just exercise of these rights.

Also for any abuse or unjust exercise of the above powers by the landholders, their agents or representatives.

The S. D. A. declined defining the extent of power of "compelling the attendance of ryots" given to the zemindars, as above.

251. The Sudder dewanny adawlut declined defining the extent of power of "compelling the attendance of ryots," conferred on zemindars under Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, and observed that on a complaint being preferred to the Magistrate, it would be for him to decide whether any unnecessary or unauthorized degree of severity had been resorted to.—Con. 382, 22d April 1825.

252. In an action for damages instituted under Clause 8, Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, by a landholder against tenants resisting measurement of lands, the plaintiff may convert the rent to which he is entitled into damages, and obtain judgment on proof.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th June 1846, vol. 7, p. 263.

The course which a zemindar may pursue in an action for damages under cl. 8, sec. 15, reg. 7, 1799.

SECTION XXVII.

Summary Process against Agents for Money or Papers.

253. The provisions in Section 15, as far as they can be applied, are likewise declared to extend to the sudder and mofussil amlah, or Native agents of every description, employed by the landholders and farmers in the management of their estates or farms, or collection of their rents. Any landholder or farmer having demands upon such agents whilst in his service, or immediately after their resignation or dismissal from his service, whether for money in their hands, or for accounts which they may refuse to render, or for any matter relating to the discharge of their respective trusts whilst in his employ, may proceed against them for their arrest and confinement in like manner as by Section 15 of this Regulation, he is authorized to proceed against defaulting under-tenants; and the Zillah and City courts and Native Commissioners are to take the same measures for the aid of the landholders and farmers in such cases, as they are directed to take for the recovery of arrears from defaulting tenants.—Reg. 7, 1799, Sect. 20.

Provisions in sec. 15, as far as applicable, extended to the agents of landholders and farmers whilst in their service or immediately after their resignation or dismissal.

Limitation in above clause extended to applications for summary process by landholders and farmers, against their agents, under existing regulations.

254. The rule of limitation prescribed by the above clause is also hereby extended to applications for summary process by landholders and farmers, against their agents employed in the management of their estates and farms, or in the collection of their rents, under the provisions made by Section 20, Regulation 7, 1799; Section 19, Regulation 5, 1800, and Section 37, Regulation 28, 1803, which authorize such process for the arrest and imprisonment of the agents of landholders and farmers, whilst in their service, or immediately after the resignation or dismissal of agents of the above description, on account of demands for money in their hands, or for accounts which they may refuse to render, or for any matter relating to the discharge of their respective trusts.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

SECTION XXVIII.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Remedy against the Ryots disposing of the Produce contrary to his Engagement.

Under what circumstances persons making advances for the cultivation of the indigo plant, on defined portions of land, shall be held to have a lien or interest in the produce of such land.

255. If any person shall have given advances to a ryot or other cultivator of the soil under a written engagement, stipulating for the cultivation of indigo plant on a portion of land of certain defined limits, and for the delivery of the produce to himself, or at a specified factory or place, such person shall be considered to have a lien or interest in the indigo plant produced on such land, and shall be entitled to avail himself of the process hereinafter provided, for the protection of his interests, and for the due execution of the conditions of the contract.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 2.

Mode of procedure when a ryot, asserting himself to be under engagements to an indigo planter, complains that another planter, on the plea of having made advances to him, is about forcibly to cut his plant.

256. The following question was submitted by the Magistrate of Midnapore through the Session Judge of that district :—A., a ryot, complains against C., as likely to carry off indigo plant grown by him, and states himself to have received advances from, and to have grown the disputed plant for B., an indigo planter : C., likewise an indigo planter, declares that he has also made advances to A., and that A. has cultivated plant for him too, which however A. denies. Trying such a case under Section 2 of Act IV. of 1840, I conclude that A. is the person manifestly to be considered in possession of the crop disputed, and is to be allowed to deliver the disputed plant to either B. or C. as he may think fit, and that an order may be given by the Magistrate prohibiting C. from attempting to take forcible possession : C. of course will have his redress in the Civil court against A. or B. under Regulation 6 of 1823, and Act X. of 1836, and if he timely take his measures there, supposing his claim to be in reality a better one than that of B., he might, upon giving security, on a summary enquiry, be enabled to cut and carry away the disputed plant, which seems to me to be sufficient for the protection of his rights. The Courts of Nizamut adawlut were of opinion that the Magistrate had taken a correct view of the subject.—Con. 1359, Cal. C. 5th Aug., West. C. 2d Sept. 1842.

257. The owner of the factory for the time being should be considered as standing in the place of the former owner, by whom the advance was made, and equally entitled to adopt any of the processes for the recovery thereof which the Regulation referred to allows.—Con. 565, 9th July 1830, quest. 2.

The owner of the factory for the time being stands in the place of the former owner, & may adopt any of the processes the law allows.

258. If any person who may have made advances on conditions of the nature above described, shall have just reason to believe that an individual, under engagement with him, is evading or is about to evade the execution of his contract, by making away with, and disposing of the produce otherwise than as stipulated, or that he has engaged secretly or openly to supply the same to another it shall be competent to such person to present a petition of complaint to the zillah or city Judge, or to a Register exercising the powers of Joint Magistrate, within whose local jurisdiction the land stipulated to be cultivated with the indigo plant may be situated, filing with the same the original deed of engagement, by which the produce may be assigned and engaged to be delivered to himself or at his factory, and certifying in his petition, that such deed was voluntarily and bonâ fide executed by the individual complained against.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

Such person how to proceed, when he has just reason to believe, that the ryot will dispose of the produce otherwise than stipulated.

259. On such petition and original deed of engagement being filed, a summons, or tulub chittee, shall be immediately issued through the nazir in the usual form, requiring the individual named in the petition to attend and answer to the complaint, either in person or by an authorized agent, within such specified period as may, in each instance, appear reasonable, and which period shall in no case exceed twenty days.—Ibid., Cl. 2.

Summons to be issued for the attendance of the defendant.

260. The Regulation in question being silent on the subject, the defendants should be summoned in the manner prescribed by the Regulations at present in force, viz. by an itilehnamah, to be served by a single peon; and that the order to cultivate can only be enforced by the menace of increased punishment on any further default.—Con. 564, 9th July 1830, par. 2.

The defendant must be summoned by an itilehnamah.

261. The officer entrusted with the execution of the process shall also be instructed to affix a copy of the summons in the village cutcherry, or other place of public resort, and to erect a bamboo on the specific parcel of ground on account of which the claim may have been preferred, and which it shall be the duty of the plaintiff or his agent to point out. By these means, sufficient public notice of the claim will be given, to enable persons desirous of contesting the plaintiff's right, or of establishing a prior right to the produce of the land, to appear either in person or by an authorized agent before the court for that purpose, and the failure so to attend before the summary decision be passed, will be held to bar the claim of any third party founded on any contract for the produce of the land in question, unless it be established by a regular suit.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

Summons how to be served.

And public notice of the claim, how to be given.

262. If the officer serving the process shall not be able to execute it on the person of the defendant, he shall nevertheless publish the claim in the manner above directed, and if the defendant shall not appear to answer to the complaint within the period specified in the summons, and no other claim be preferred in bar of that of the plaintiff, the

On non-appearance of defendant or other claimants, evidence to be taken, and the case decided ex parte.

Judge or other officer shall, after taking evidence to establish the deed and other allegations of the plaintiff, proceed to the adjudication of the claim, in the same manner as if the defendant had personally appeared.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 3, Cl. 4.

In what cases an award shall be passed, adjudging the plaintiff's right to the produce.

263. If the defendant or his authorized agent should attend within the period specified, and should deny the execution of the deed of engagement filed by the complainant, proof of the same shall be taken, and if its voluntary execution be established to the satisfaction of the court, or other tribunal trying the case, and no preferable claim be established by a third party, a summary award shall be made, adjudging to the plaintiff the right of receiving the crop according to the terms of the agreement. The same principle shall be applied if the engagement be admitted, and no satisfactory reason be shewn why the defendant should not be held to the performance of his contract.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

If the plaintiff's claim be not established, the plaintiff to pay costs and compensation to the defendant.

264. If it be proved that the engagement was not duly and voluntarily executed by the defendant, or if it should appear that the proceeding is otherwise litigious and oppressive, and the claim unfounded, or that the plaintiff had no sufficient cause to warrant his application to the court, the complaint shall be dismissed, and the plaintiff shall be made liable to the payment of costs, and such reasonable sum in addition, as may seem to the Judge, or other officer trying the case, a proper compensation to the defendant for any trouble and annoyance to which he may have been subjected.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

Plaintiff and defendant may be examined; and compensation for expence and loss of time be awarded, if award is for defendant.

265. And it is hereby enacted, that the Court trying any suit instituted under the provisions of Regulation 6, 1823, of the Bengal code, or under the provisions of this Act, shall be authorized to examine both the plaintiff and the defendant whenever the court shall deem such examination necessary to the ends of justice; and if the award be in favour of the defendant, to assign to the defendant a sum which may be a compensation to him for the expence and loss of time occasioned by the proceeding.—Act X. 1836, Sect. 4.

Notice to be given to third parties, in what cases, and their claims how to be investigated.

266. If it should appear in the course of the enquiry, that the defendant is under engagement for the same land to a third party, notice shall immediately be issued for that party to appear and plead, either in person or by vakeel, and if such person or any third party shall, previously to the decision of the case, come forward and produce a similar deed of engagement, stipulating for the produce of the same portion of land, the Judge, or other officer trying the case shall, after such summary investigation as may be necessary, determine whether either of the parties have any just claim to the produce of the land, and if so, which of them may have the prior and better claim; a preference will of course be given to engagements duly registered under the provisions of Regulation 20, 1812. The result of such investigation shall be recorded, and a decree passed, adjudging the question of right between the parties.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 3, Cl. 7.

Defendant not to be confined in jail or subjected to unnecessary detention.

267. No defendant, who may attend under the process described in this section, shall be confined in jail, or be in any manner detained longer than may suffice to take his answer to the claim, and to obtain from him such further explanations as the nature of the answer may suggest.—Ibid, Cl. 8.

Indigo planters cannot summon ryots and compel their attendance.

268. Indigo planters, not being zemindars or landholders, have no power to summon ryots and compel their attendance.—Con. 394, 17th June 1825.

269. And it is hereby enacted, that when a lawful contract shall have been made between a ryot and another party, by which contract the ryot shall have bound himself to cultivate indigo plant for the other party, or to deliver indigo plant to the other party, and when the other party shall have advanced money to the ryot for the purpose of enabling the ryot to fulfil such contract, then if any other person, knowing that such contract exists, and that such advance has been made, shall prevail upon the ryot to break such contract, the party who made the advance shall be entitled to proceed by civil action against the person who shall have so prevailed on the ryot, as well as against the ryot, and to recover from him or them, jointly or severally, damages to the extent of the injury sustained, together with costs of suit.—Act X. 1836, Sect. 3.

If any person knowing a ryot to have made a contract, under which money has been advanced to the ryot, shall prevail upon the ryot to break his contract, the party who made the advance shall be entitled to proceed by civil action to recover from the other party and ryot damages to the extent of the injury sustained.

270. Provided always, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed to give a right of action against any person in consequence of any act which that person may have done for the purpose of procuring payment of a debt, or performance of a lawful contract.—Ibid.

Provided that a person shall not be liable to an action in consequence of any act done to procure payment of a debt, or performance of a lawful contract.

271. A., an indigo planter, makes advances to cultivators, on engagements to deliver the whole of the indigo plant produced. B., another planter, seizes the crops of the said cultivators, and is sued by A. for damages. Determined that the action brought by A. against B. to recover damages will not lie; that A. may sue the cultivators for breach of engagement, and that the cultivators have their remedy against B.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th June 1813, vol. 2, p. 69.

A planter having made advances to ryots cannot bring an action against another planter for seizing the crops; he will sue the cultivators, who may sue the other planter.

SECTION XXIX.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Option to institute a Summary or Regular Suit—Decision of the Suit.

272. In cases in which a ryot who may have received advances and entered into written agreements for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant in the manner indicated in this Regulation, shall have failed to cultivate the ground specified, or having cultivated it shall have failed or refused to complete his engagement, or shall have sold, made away with, or transferred the produce to another person, the party with whom such agreement was first made shall be at liberty to institute, at his option, either a summary or a regular suit.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

Parties injured by breach of contract in regard to the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant, may institute either a summary or regular suit.

273. A Magistrate can interfere with indigo disputes, only when they are cognizable under Regulation 15, 1824, as construed by Circular orders, Nizamut adawlut, 27th December, 1830: such disputes as do not come within Regulation 15, 1824, must be heard and decided in the Civil court under Regulation 6, 1823. [Since the rescission of Regulation 15, 1824, by Act IV. 1840, all disputes of this nature are cognizable by the Magistrate.].—Con. 652, 5th Aug. 1831.

Interference of magistrates in indigo disputes.

274. If the summary process be adopted, and the cause be decided in favour of the plaintiff, the defendant shall be subjected to the payment of the amount of the advances actually received by him, with interest on the same, and the costs of the summary process.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.

Judgment to what extent in summary suits.

A planter, cannot cultivate the land by his own servants, nor can he demand the assistance of the police to compel his ryots to cultivate. His legal remedy in sec. 5, reg. 6, 1823.

275. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that an indigo planter, under the circumstances above stated, is not competent to cultivate the land by means of his own servants, nor has he a right to demand the assistance of the Police for the purpose of compelling the ryots to fulfil his contract. His only legal remedy in such case is that prescribed by Section 5, Regulation 6, 1823, to the provisions of which I am desired to refer you.—Con. 385, 29th April 1825.

Amount of penalty to be awarded in regular suits, where the breach of contract may not be ascribable to fraud or dishonesty.

276. If no fraud or dishonest dealing be established, and the failure of a ryot or other contractor to execute the stipulations of his engagement by the delivery of indigo plant in the manner stipulated, be owing to accident or to any cause not implying fraud or dishonesty, the penalty to be adjudged against a contractor shall not exceed three times the sum advanced, as the consideration for executing the deed, including interest.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 5, Cl. 4.

The highest amount of penalty for non-performance of an indigo contract, i. e. three times the amount advanced, includes interest.

277. A question having been referred by the Judge of Allahabad, whether it was intended by Clause 4, Section 5, Regulation 6, 1823, to be ruled that the highest amount of penalty including interest on the sum advanced, awardable against a contractor, is not to exceed three times the sum advanced, or whether the penalty may be to the amount of three times the sum advanced and of any interest that may have accrued upon that sum at the time of the suit being decided?—It was held that the meaning of the enactment is, that interest is included in the "three times the sum advanced."—Con. 1310, West. C. 24th Sept., Cal. C. 22d Oct. 1841.

SECTION XXX.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Summary Investigation—Institution of a Regular Suit to annul the Award—how and by whom to be conducted.

Summary investigations, how and by whom to be conducted.

278. Summary investigations, under this Regulation, shall be conducted according to the form and in the manner prescribed for the conduct of summary suits for arrears of rent: they shall either be tried by the Judge, or be referred to the Collector of the district, or to the Register. In cases referred to the Collector, that officer (as well as the Register,) shall pass a decision on them, instead of sending them back to the Judge with a report, and there shall be no appeal from any summary decision passed by those officers respectively, if regularly made and in a matter duly cognizable under this Regulation. It shall nevertheless be competent to any person whose claim under a deed of engagement for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant may have been set aside by a summary award, or who may be otherwise dissatisfied with the decision passed on a summary investigation under the foregoing provisions, to institute a regular suit for the recovery of the penalty stipulated in the deed of engagement, or for the establishment of any other claim or interest to which he may deem himself entitled.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 6.

The rules in reg. 2, 1805 should be applied to indigo suits under reg. 6, 1823.

279. The rules prescribed in Regulation 2, 1805, in regard to the institution of summary suits for rent, should be applied to suits for the recovery of advances for indigo, instituted under Regulation 6, 1823.—Con. 565, 9th July 1830, quest. 1.

280. Summary suits to enforce the execution of written engagements for the cultivation and delivery of indigo, instituted under the provisions of Section 6, Regulation 6, 1823, not coming within the description of cases to which the provisions of Regulation 8 of 1831 were intended to apply, are not primarily cognizable by the Collectors under the latter enactment, but may still be referred to them for trial and decision at the discretion of the Judge, under the section of the Regulation first cited, and when so transferred, are to be disposed of in the manner laid down in that section.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Nov. 1835, par. 2.

Summary suits under sec. 6, reg. 6, 1823, may be referred for trial and decision to the collector, at the discretion of the judge.

281. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to a zillah or city Judge, to refer to a Principal Sudder Amcen or Sudder Ameen, according to the amount of their respective jurisdictions, any suit, whether regular or summary, which may be instituted under the provisions of Regulation 6, 1823, or under the provisions of this Act, to be enquired into and decided by the said Principal Sudder Ameen, or Sudder Amcen, in the same manner, and under the same rules, as such suit may be enquired into and decided by a zillah or city Judge, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act X. 1836, Sect. 5.

Zillah or city judge may refer to a P. S. A. or S. A., any suits instituted under reg. 6, 1823, or under this act.

282. Held, on a reference from the Session Judge of Midnapore, that the decision of a Principal Sudder Amcen or Sudder Ameen passed in a summary suit instituted under Regulation 6, 1823, which has been referred to him for decision under Section 5, Act X. of 1836, is not appealable, with reference to the rule of Section 6 of the former enactment.—Con. 1357, Cal. C. 6th Aug., West. C. 2d Sept. 1842.

The decisions of a P. S. A. or S. A. in summary suits under reg. 6, 1823, are not appealable.

283. Regular suits instituted in conformity with the provisions of Regulation 6, 1823, and Act X. 1836, in which the amount of the claim does not exceed 300 rupees, and in which neither party may be an European British subject, European foreigner, or American, are cognizable by Moonsiffs in like manner as other cases legally within the competency of those officers to dispose of. [Section 7, Act VI. 1843, removes the restriction against the cognizance by Moonsiffs of suits in which Europeans are parties.].—Con. 1092, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 23d June 1837.

Regular suits under reg. 6, 1823 and act 10, 1836, may be referred to moonsiffs, if within their competence.

SECTION XXXI.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Delivery of the Plant pending Enquiry—Prevention of its Removal.

284. If pending the summary enquiry in the manner above directed it shall appear, that the plant on the ground is in a state fit to be cut, and will be injured or destroyed if not cut, it shall in such case be competent to the Judge or other officer trying the case, to pass an order for the delivery of the plant to either of the parties, provided that the said party consents and engages to pay to the other claimant (if the summary award should be ultimately in favour of the latter) a specific pecuniary compensation; the amount of such compensation shall be fixed by the Judge, or other person trying the case, in communication with the parties, and shall be regulated with reference to the estimated produce of the ground, and to the probable value of such produce when manufactured, and the amount when so fixed, shall be carefully recorded on the proceedings.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 3, Cl. 9.

In what cases an order may be issued to deliver the plant to a party, before the summary enquiry may be completed.

Engagement to be entered into by such party.

Whenever the right to indigo plant is contested and an order made for delivery to one of the parties, the party shall not cut or remove the indigo until he have given security to make good any claim which shall be ultimately established.

285. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever the right to indigo plant may be contested, and an order shall be passed, under the provisions of Clause 9, Section 3, Regulation 6, 1823, of the Bengal code, for the delivery of indigo plant to one of the parties claiming the same, such party shall not be allowed to cut or remove the indigo plant until he shall have given sufficient security to the satisfaction of the court trying the case, to make good any claim that shall be ultimately established to such indigo plant whether arising from a prior right to the produce of the land, or from an arrear of rent due on account of the specific parcel of land from which the plant may have been produced.—Act X. 1836, Sect. 2.

Engagements entered into by parties applying for possession of indigo crops under cl. 9, sec. 3, as above, can be enforced under the summary award.

286. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 15th instant, requesting the Court's construction of Regulation 6, 1823, as to whether the engagement executed by parties applying for possession of indigo crops, under the provisions of Clause 9, Section 3 of the above enactment, can be enforced under the summary award. In reply, I am desired to answer your question in the affirmative, and to acquaint you, that the summary decree should contain a provision for the payment, by the party cast, of the sum specified in his engagement. In the event of the amount not being paid, it should be realized by the process prescribed for giving effect to summary judgments.—Con. 515, 24th July 1829.

Case in which a ryot asserting himself to be under engagements to an indigo planter complains that another planter, under the plea of having made advances to A. is about forcibly to cut the crop.

287. A., a ryot, asserting himself to be under engagement to B., an indigo planter, complains that C., another planter, who states that he has made advances to A., is about forcibly to cut the crop. Held that A., being in possession, may give the disputed crop to B. or C., and that the Magistrate may prohibit C. from attempting to take forcible possession; C. of course will have his redress in the Civil court against A. or B., under Regulation 6, 1823, and Act X. 1836, and if he timely take his measures there, supposing his claim be in reality a better one than that of B., he may upon giving security on a summary enquiry be enabled to cut and carry away the disputed plant.—Con. 1359, Cal. C. 5th Aug., West. C. 2d Sept. 1842.

Authority to watch fields and to prevent removal of the plant, given to parties in certain circumstances.

288. Any person in whose favour a summary award shall have been passed for the produce of any defined spot of land, shall be entitled to place a watch over the same, and to prevent the cutting and removal of the plant in any manner contrary to the stipulations of his agreement, and in the event of any attempt being made to cut or remove the plant, it shall be competent to the person holding the decree to apply to the nearest Police darogah, and to claim from him the assistance of the Police in preventing such removal; it shall, moreover, be the duty of the Police officers, and of all other officers, on such a decree being exhibited, to aid the person in whose favour it may have been passed to the utmost of their power.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

Security for rent due to landholders, how provided.

289. In order that the foregoing rule may not operate to the prejudice of the landholders, who, by the existing Regulations, are authorized to attach the crops for the realization of rents justly due to them, it is hereby provided that whenever any manufacturer who may have obtained an award under the foregoing rules, may cause the plant to be cut and taken away, he shall be held responsible, conjointly with the ryot, for any arrear of rent which may have been due on account of the specific parcel of ground from which the indigo plant may have been taken.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

SECTION XXXII.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Stamps, and Miscellaneous Rules.

290. No objection shall be taken against any deed of contract for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant on account of its not bearing the proper stamp, provided that the same be executed on paper bearing a stamp of such an amount, as would be required under the rules of Section 11, Regulation 1, 1814, for a bond of the amount actually advanced or acknowledged to be advanced as the consideration for entering into the agreement.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 7.

Explanation of the value of stamped paper employed in engagements for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant.

291. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, requesting to be informed whether a contract entered into by a ryot to cultivate indigo for a period of five or ten years, and by which he is required to settle his accounts annually, and receive fresh advances, is valid, if executed on stamped paper required for the amount of the first year's advances ; and whether the ryot can be obliged by it under Regulation 5, 1830, to settle his accounts at the end of the year, or on failing to do so, be compelled, under Section 3, to give the number of bigahs mentioned for the entire period named in the contract. In reply, I am directed to inform you that, provided it be proved that the engagement to cultivate indigo was voluntarily executed by the ryot, the Criminal court must enforce the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 5, 1830 [rescinded by Act XVI. 1835,] and that, under Section 7, Regulation 6, 1823, no objection can be made to the engagement on account of the stamp, provided the value of it be such as is required for a bond of a similar amount. I am further directed to observe that Regulation 5, 1830, is silent as to compelling a ryot to settle his accounts at the end of the year.—Con. 873, 28th Feb. 1834.

No objection can be taken to the engagement under sec. 7, reg. 6, 1823, on account of the stamp, provided the value is such as is required for a bond of similar amount.

292. No objection shall be taken to the validity of any deed of engagement for the cultivation and delivery of indigo plant, on the ground of its having been entered into by more than one individual, or of its including more than one transaction ; provided that the obligation of each individual be distinctly specified, and the amount of the stamp be such as would have been required for a bond of an amount equal to that of the aggregate of all the sums acknowledged to have been advanced.—Reg. 6, 1823, Sect. 8.

Such deeds not invalid, in consequence of their including several individuals, and several separate transactions.

293. Persons wilfully damaging or causing to be damaged, indigo plant, by allowing cattle to trespass thereon, or by any other means, shall, on the complaint of the ryot to whom the crop may belong, or of the manufacturer by whom advances may have been made for the cultivation and delivery of the said plant, be liable, on proof of the offence, to such punishment by fine and imprisonment as the Magistrate is competent to inflict under Section 19, Regulation 9, 1807, due regard being had to the nature of the case, and the circumstances in life of the offender.—Reg. 5, 1830, Sect. 4.

Persons damaging indigo plant how to be proceeded against and punished.

SECTION XXXIII.

Summary Suits regarding Indigo—Mode in which the Ryot may close his Contract.

Persons wishing to be released from their engagements to petition the judge in certain cases.

The judge to hold a summary enquiry.

If no balance is due from the petitioner, or the balance be deposited in court, the judge to grant a release and pay the balance to the proprietor of the factory.

The judge how to proceed, if the proprietor objects to receive the balance.

A zillah judge has no summary jurisdiction under cl. 1, sec. 5, as above, on the application of a ryot to settle his accounts before his contract expires.

A ryot cannot claim a settlement of his account under sec. 5, as above, till the expiration of the period of his contract. Remedy of the ryot, if he asserts that the planter owes him for plant.

Summary suits under sec. 5, reg. 5, 1830 are cognizable by the judge only, & are not referrible to the revenue authorities.

294. Any person who, having received advances under a written agreement for the cultivation of indigo, shall be desirous on the expiration of the period of his contract to settle his account, shall be at liberty, in the event of the proprietor of the factory or the person acting in his behalf refusing to settle the same, to present a petition to the Zillah court, and the Judge, after a summary enquiry in the presence of the parties, or their authorized agents into the merits of the case, shall, on proof of the expiration of the contract, and of there being no balance due from the petitioner, or if the petitioner shall deposit in court the amount of any balance that may be adjudged to be due from him, grant the said petitioner a release from his engagement, and shall pay over the amount of any balance that may be deposited by him to the proprietor, or to the person acting in his behalf.—Reg. 5, 1830, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

295. If the proprietor or person aforesaid shall refuse to receive the balance awarded to him by the summary process above provided, the Judge shall return the amount to the petitioner, leaving the defendant to seek his remedy by a regular suit.—Ibid. Cl. 2.

296. Held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, that a zillah Judge has no summary jurisdiction under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1830, in the case of an application by a ryot to settle his accounts with an indigo factory, before the expiration of his contract. A summary decision of the Judge of Rajshahye in a case of this nature, was quashed by the court on a summary appeal.—Con. 1130, 9th Feb. 1838.

297. In reply to your letter of the 7th instant, I am directed by the Court to communicate to you their opinion that a ryot cannot claim a settlement of his account under Section 5, Regulation 5, 1830, till "the expiration of the period of his contract," and that if the ryot asserts that the planter is indebted to him for indigo plant, and refuses to pay him what he demands, the ryot must seek redress by a regular suit.—Con. 934, Cal. C. 20th Feb., West. C. 13th March 1835.

298. Summary suits instituted under the provisions of Section 5, Regulation 5, 1830, by persons who may be unwilling to renew their contracts for the cultivation of indigo and who may sue in consequence to obtain a release from their engagements, are cognizable by the Judge only, and are not referrible to the revenue authorities, under either of the enactments cited in the preceding paragraph.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Nov. 1835, par. 3.

SECTION XXXIV.

Miscellaneous Cases—Proceedings on the Report of the Disqualification of a Landholder.

299. If a Collector shall report any proprietor to be a minor, and the proprietor, or any person on his behalf, shall deny that he is under age, such proprietor or person shall be at liberty to represent the circumstances to the Court of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah wherein the estate may be situated, the Judge of which shall forward the representation to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which court shall issue a precept, under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register, to the Judge of the zillah, or to the Provincial court of appeal of the division, to call the proprietor before the court, and ascertain his age by the evidence on oath of not less than three credible persons well acquainted with him, and also by such other enquiries as may appear to the court calculated to ascertain the truth, and certify its proceedings including any representations or evidence that the proprietor, or any person on his behalf, may have to adduce, with its opinion on the case, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which court shall determine whether such proprietor be a minor or not. The decision of the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall be final, and the court shall certify a copy of its decision to the Governor General in Council, who will order the estate to be put under the charge of the Court of Wards or not, according as the proprietor may be adjudged by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be a minor, or otherwise.—*Reg. 10. 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 2.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. If a proprietor of land shall be deemed disqualified on the ground of lunacy, idiotism, or other disqualifying natural defect or infirmity, the Board of Revenue are to order the Collector to represent the circumstances through the vakeel of Government, to the Court of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, the Judge of which shall transmit a copy of the representation to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. This court shall issue a precept to the Court of Appeal of the division, or to the Judge of the zillah within the jurisdiction of which the proprietor may reside, to bring him before the court, to ascertain his actual state by ocular proof; and the court shall further take the declaration upon oath of not less than three credible persons acquainted with the party, setting forth their opinion of his condition, with the grounds of it. The court is to transmit all its proceedings, with its opinion on the case, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which court shall determine finally whether the stated ground of disqualification be well founded or not, and certify a copy of its decision to the Governor General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to take the estate of the proprietor under their care or not, according as the proprietor may be adjudged by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be disqualified or otherwise.—*Reg. 10. 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 3.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. The court is to communicate its decision to the Governor General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to deliver over charge of the estate to the proprietor or not, according as the ground of his disqualification may be adjudged by the court removed, or otherwise.—*Reg. 10, 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 5.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. 302. Any person who may have been adjudged disqualified, on any of the grounds specified in clauses second, third, or fourth, and who may deem the ground of his disqualification removed, shall be at liberty to present the circumstances to the Judge of the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, who shall forward the representation to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. This court shall issue a precept to the Judge of the Zillah court, or to the Provincial court of appeal of the division, to enquire into the case, and to receive such evidence as the disqualified proprietor may have to offer in support of his representation. The court is to report the result of its enquiry, with its opinion thereon, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which court shall determine finally whether the ground of disqualification be or be not removed, and report its decision to the Governor General in Council, who will order the Court of Wards to restore the proprietor to the management of his lands or not, according as the ground of disqualification may be adjudged by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be removed, or otherwise.—*Reg. 10, 1793, Sect. 5, Cl. 6.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. SECTION XXXV.

Miscellaneous Cases—Appointment of Managers to Disputed Estates.

The judges declared competent to appoint managers of joint undivided estates on sufficient cause shewn.

303. Inconvenience to the public and injury to private rights having been experienced in certain cases from disputes subsisting among the proprietors of joint undivided estates, it is hereby enacted, that whenever sufficient cause shall be shewn by the revenue authorities, or by any of the individuals holding an interest in such estates for the interposition of the Courts of judicature, it shall be competent to the zillah and city Judges to appoint a person, duly qualified and under proper security to manage the estate, that is, to collect the rents, and discharge the public revenue, and provide for the cultivation and future improvement of the estate: Provided however, that if the revenue authorities or any of the individuals holding an interest in the estate shall be dissatisfied with the selection made by the zillah or city Judge, of the individual to perform the duty in question, it shall be competent for them to represent their objections to the Provincial court of appeal, which court will confirm the manager chosen, or order the Judge to select and appoint another person, according as on consideration of the circumstances of the case may appear to them reasonable and proper.—Reg. 5, 1812, Sect. 26.

304. In like manner should the authorities aforesaid or any individual holding an interest in the estate be at any subsequent time dissatisfied with the conduct of the manager, it shall be competent for them or him to represent the circumstances of the case to the zillah or city Judge, and to move the court for the removal of the said manager: and should those authorities or persons be dissatisfied with the orders which may be passed on the subject by the zillah or city Judge, it shall be competent for them to bring the case before the Provincial court of appeal, which court will determine on the propriety of removing the manager or otherwise, as may appear to them to be right and proper.—Ibid, Sect. 27.

Court may be moved for the removal of such managers should their conduct be unsatisfactory.

305. I am directed by the Court to inform you, that you are competent, under the provisions of Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, to attach the whole (but not a portion of a joint undivided estate) on sufficient cause being shewn; but that your decision as to the sufficiency of the cause is open to appeal.—Con. 717, 21st Sept. 1832.

A court may attach the whole, but not a part only of a joint undivided estate, on sufficient cause, the sufficiency of which is open to appeal.

306. Held on a reference from the Judge of Mymensingh, that the provisions of Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, are not applicable to dependant talooks.—Con. 1283, Cal. C. 7th Aug., West. C. 4th Sept. 1840.

Reg. 5, 1812, sec. 26 not applicable to dependant talooks.

307. The Judge of zillah Juanpore was informed, on the 3d December, 1812, in answer to a reference transmitted through him from the assistant Judge, that the Court were of opinion, that in cases requiring the appointment of a manager of a joint and undivided estate, under the provisions of Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, endeavour should, in the first instance, be made to prevail on one of the family, or some friend of the sharers, to undertake that duty gratuitously; but that in the event of its being necessary to make a pecuniary compensation to the person appointed to act as manager, the amount of such compensation must be fixed, on consideration of the circumstances of each case, by the Judge making such appointment: and that the manager so appointed must account to the several proprietors for their respective profits arising from the estate, after discharging the public revenue, (to be paid to the Collector in the same manner as the payment was before made by the proprietors,) and deducting the amount of the compensation which he may have been authorized to receive.—Con. 115, 3d Dec. 1812.

An attempt should be made to prevail on the family or friends to take charge of the estate.

Remuneration of the manager.

His accountability to the several proprietors.

308. The Court entirely concur with the Board of Commissioners, in the expediency of establishing a rule for proportioning, as far as practicable, the expence of management to the extent and produce of the estate, when a manager may be appointed under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812; and beg leave to suggest that the Board of Commissioners and Board of Revenue be consulted on the tenor and limitations of the rule which may appear proper to enact for this purpose.—Con. 142, 3d Feb. 1814, par. 4.

The expence of management should be apportioned to the extent and produce of the estate.

309. With regard to the responsibility of managers of estates appointed under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, the Court are of opinion, that as it is not particularly defined in that Regulation, it must be considered that of an agent, acting for the benefit of his principal, and bound to a faithful discharge of the trust committed to him. The Court are further of opinion, that "proper security," directed to be taken from managers appointed under the section abovementioned, is not restricted to personal bail for appearance, but extends to security for a faithful account of the manager's receipts; and should be proportionate to "the extent thereof," as declared in Regulation 5, 1799, Section 6, and Regulation 3, 1803, Section 16, Clause 6, with respect to administrators appointed by the Civil courts in the cases therein provided for.—Con. 142, 3d Feb. 1814, par. 5.

Case in which the manager of an estate borrows money for the payment of arrears.

311. The public sale of lands for arrears of public revenue in all cases wherein the Governor General in Council, or Board of Revenue, or Board of Commissioners, in cases left to the discretion of those boards, may judge it proper to direct such sales, is not restricted or in any respect affected by the appointment of a manager under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812.—Con. 142, 3d Feb. 1814.

A manager of an estate, as above, may grant a farming lease, and the farmer may enforce the provisions of sec. 9 and 10, reg. 5, 1812.

312. A manager of an estate, appointed under Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812 and Regulation 5, 1827, is competent to grant a farming lease of any part of the property under his charge. A farmer holding his lease from such manager is competent to enforce the provisions of Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 5, 1812, in regard to the enhancement of rent.—*S. D. A. Sel. Rules for the issue of precept for holding estates under attachment and for appointing managers.

313. Whenever the Zillah and City courts may deem it just and proper, under the provisions of the several Regulations abovementioned, to provide for the administration or management of landed property, the court shall issue a precept to the Collector of land revenue of the district wherein the estate may be situated, directing him to hold the estate in attachment, and to appoint a person for the due care and management of the estate under good and adequate security for the faithful discharge of the trust in a sum proportionate to the extent thereof; provided however, that if any person holding an interest in the estate shall be dissatisfied with the selection made by the Collector of the individual to perform the duty in question, or with the conduct of the manager at any time after his appointment, it shall be competent to such person to represent his objections to the Board of Revenue, and the board will either confirm the manager chosen, or order the Collector to appoint another person, as on consideration of the circumstances of the case may appear reasonable and proper.—Reg. 5, 1827, Sect. 3.

The precept shall specifically state the property to be included in the attachment.

314. The precept of the Zillah or City court abovementioned shall state specifically the property to be included in the attachment, and the attachment shall not be withdrawn without a further precept from the court to that effect.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Modification of certain regulations regarding the management of estates under attachment.

315. The rules contained in Sections 5 and 6, Regulation 5, 1799, and Clauses 5 and 6, Section 16, Regulation 3, 1803, and Sections 26 and 27, Regulation 5, 1812, and clause third, Section 5, Regulation 6, 1813, regarding the administration and management of estates under orders of the Zillah and City courts, are hereby declared subject to the following modifications.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

SECTION XXXVI.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Nature of Putnee and Durputnee Tenures.

316. By the rules of the perpetual settlement, proprietors of estates paying revenue to Government, that is, the individuals answerable to Government for the revenue then assessed on the different mehals, were declared to be entitled to make any arrangements for the leasing of their lands in talook or otherwise, that they might deem most conducive to their interests. By the rules of Regulation 44, 1793, however, all such arrangements were subjected to two limitations; first, that the jumma, or rent, should not be fixed for a period exceeding ten years; and secondly, that in case of a sale for Government arrears, such leases or arrangements should stand cancelled from the day of sale. The provisions of Section 2, Regulation 44, 1793, by which the period of all fixed engagements for rent was limited to ten years, have been rescinded by Section 2, Regulation 5, 1812, and in Regulation 18 of the same year it is more distinctly declared, that zemindars are at liberty to grant talooks or other leases of their lands, fixing the rent in perpetuity at their discretion: subject, however, to the liability of being dissolved on sale of the grantor's estate for arrears of the Government revenue, in the same manner as heretofore.—In practice the grant of talooks and other leases at a rent fixed in perpetuity had been common with the zemindars of Bengal for some time before the passing of the two Regulations last mentioned; but, notwithstanding the abrogation of the rule which declared such arrangements null and void, and the abandonment of all intention or desire to have it enforced as a security to the Government revenue in the manner originally contemplated, it was omitted to declare in the rules of Regulations 5 and 18, 1812, or in any other Regulation, whether tenures at the time in existence and held under covenants or engagements entered into by the parties in violation of the rule of Section 2, Regulation 44, 1793, should, if called in question, be deemed invalid and void as heretofore.—This point it has been deemed necessary to set at rest by a general declaration of the validity of any tenures that may be now in existence, notwithstanding that they may have been granted at a rent fixed in perpetuity, or for a longer term than ten years, while the rule fixing this limitation to the term of all such engagements, and declaring null and void any granted in contravention thereto, was in force. Furthermore, in the exercise of the privilege thus conceded to zemindars under direct engagements with Government, there has been created a tenure which had its origin on the estates of the Rajah of Burdwan, but has since been extended to other zemindariæ—the character of which tenure is, that it is a talook created by the zemindar, to be held at a rent fixed in perpetuity by the lessee and his heirs for ever: the tenant is called upon to furnish collateral security for the rent, and for his conduct generally, or he is excused from this obligation at the zemindar's discretion; but even if the original tenant be excused, still in case of sale for arrears or other operation leading to the introduction of another tenant, such now incumbent has always in practice been liable to be so called upon at the option of the zemindar: by the terms also of the engagements interchanged, it is amongst other stipulations provided, that in case of an arrear occurring, the tenure may be brought to sale by the zemindar, and if the sale do not yield a sufficient amount to make good the balance of rent at the time due, the remaining property of the defaulter shall be further answerable for the demand. These tenures have usually been denominated putnee talooks, and it has been a common practice of the holders of them to underlet on precisely similar terms to other persons, who on taking such leases went by the name of durputnee talookdars : these again sometimes similarly underlet to seputneedars, and the conditions of all the title deeds vary in nothing material from the original engagements executed by the first holder. In these engagements, however, it is not stipulated whether the sale thus reserved to himself by the grantor is for his own benefit, or for that of the tenant that is, whether in case the proceeds of sale should exceed the zemindar's demand of rent, the tenant would be entitled to such excess ; neither is the manner of sale specified, nor do the usages of the country, nor the Regulations of Government afford any distinct rules, by the application of which to the specific cases, the defects above alluded to could be supplied, or the points of doubt and difficulty involved in the omission be brought to determination in a consistent and uniform manner. The tenures in question have extended through several zillahs of Bengal, and the mischiefs which have arisen from the want of a consistent rule of action for the guidance of the Courts of civil judicature in regard to them, have been productive of such confusion as to demand the interference of the legislature. It has accordingly been deemed necessary to regulate and define the nature of the property given and acquired on the creation of a putnee talook as above described, also to declare the legality of the practice of underletting in the manner in which it has been exercised by putneedars and others, establishing at the same time such provisions as have appeared calculated to protect the under-lessee from any collusion of his immediate superior with the zemindar, or other, for his ruin, as well as to secure the just rights of the zemindar on the sale of any tenure under the stipulations of the original engagements entered into with him.—It has further been deemed indispensable to fix the process by which the said tenures are to be brought to sale, and the form and manner of conducting such sale;—and whereas, the estates of zemindars under engagements with Government are liable to be brought to sale at any time for an arrear in the revenue, payable by monthly kists to Government, it has seemed just to allow any zemindar who may have granted tenures with a stipulation of the right to sell for arrears, the opportunity of availing himself of this means of realizing his dues in the middle of the year, as well as at the close, instead of only at the end of the Bengal year, as heretofore allowed by the Regulations in force ;—it has further been deemed equitable to extend this rule to all cases in which the right of sale may have been reserved, even though in conformity with the Regulations heretofore in force the stipulation for sale contained in the engagements interchanged may have restricted such sale to the case of a demand of rent remaining unpaid, at the close of the Bengal year. It has been likewise deemed advisable to explain and modify some of the existing rules for the collection of rents, with a view to render them more efficacious than at present, as well as to provide against sundry means of evasion now resorted to by defaulters. The following rules have accordingly been enacted by His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor General in Council, to take effect from the date of their promulgation throughout the several districts of the province of Bengal, including Midnapore.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 1.

317. It is hereby declared, that any leases or engagements for the fixing of rent now in existence, that may have been granted or concluded for a term of years, or in perpetuity, by a proprietor under engagements with Government, or other person competent to grant the same, shall be deemed good and valid tenures, according to the terms of the covenants or engagements interchanged, notwithstanding that the same may have been executed before the passing of Regulation 5, 1812, and while the rule of Section 2, Regulation 44, 1793, which limited the period for which it was lawful to grant such engagements to ten years, and declared all that might be entered into for a longer term to be null and void, was in full force and effect; and notwithstanding that the stipulations of the said leases may be in violation of the rule in question;—provided however, that nothing herein contained shall be held to exempt any tenures held under engagements from proprietors of estates paying revenue to Government, from the liability to be cancelled on sale of the said estates for arrears of the said revenue, under the rule of Section 5, Regulation 44, 1793, unless specially exempted from such liability by the rule in question, or by any other specific rule of the Regulations in force.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Leases fixing rent in perpetuity, or for a longer term than 10 years, declared valid, though executed while sec. 2, reg. 44, 1793, was in force.

318. The tenures known by the name of putnee talooks as described in the preamble to this Regulation, shall be deemed to be valid tenures in perpetuity, according to the terms of the engagements under which they are held. They are heritable by their conditions; and it is hereby further declared, that they are capable of being transferred by sale, gift or otherwise, at the discretion of the holder, as well as answerable for his personal debts, and subject to the process of the Courts of judicature, in the same manner as other real property.—Ibid, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

Putnee tenures declared valid, transferable and answerable for debt.

319. Putnee talookdars are hereby declared to possess the right of letting out the lands composing their talooks in any manner they may deem most conducive to their interest, and any engagements so entered into by such talookdars with others shall be legal and binding between the parties to the same, their heirs, and assignees:—provided however, that no such engagements shall operate to the prejudice of the right of the zemindar to hold the superior tenure, answerable for any arrear of his rent, in the state in which he granted it, and free of all incumbrance, resulting from the act of his tenant.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Putneedar's right of underletting, declared.

320. If the holder of a putnee talook shall have underlet in such manner as to have conveyed a similar interest to that enjoyed by himself, as explained in the preamble to this Regulation, the holder of such a tenure shall be deemed to have acquired all the rights and immunities declared in the preceding section to attach to putnee talooks, in so far as concerns the grantor of such under-tenure. The same construction shall also hold in the case of putnee talooks of the third or fourth degree.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Inferior tenures held under similar title deeds will be deemed to confer a similar interest to that provided for putnee talooks in sec. 3.

321. The right of alienation having been declared to vest in the holder of a putnee talook, it shall not be competent to the zemindar or other superior, to refuse to register, Zemindar not entitled to refuse to give effect to a transfer.

and otherwise to give effect to such alienations, by discharging the party transferring his interest from personal responsibility, and by accepting the engagements of the transferee. In conformity, however, with established usage, the zemindar or other superior shall be entitled to exact a fee upon every such alienation, and the rate of the said fee is hereby fixed at two per cent. on the jumma or annual rent of the interest transferred, until the same shall amount to one hundred rupees, which sum shall be the maximum of any fee to be exacted on this account. The zemindar shall also be entitled to demand substantial security from the transferee or purchaser, to the amount of half the jumma or yearly rent, payable to him from the tenure transferred; the condition of furnishing such security on requisition being understood to be one of the original liabilities of the tenure. The above rules shall apply equally to the case of a sale made in execution of a decree or judgment of court, as to all other alienations, but it shall not apply to the case of sale for an arrear in the rent due to the zemindar or other superior, under the rules hereinafter contained. The purchaser at such a sale shall be entitled to have his name registered, and to obtain possession without fee, though of course liable to be called on to give security under the conditions of the tenure purchased.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 5.

But may demand his fee.

Fee fixed at 2 per cent. on the jumma.

But the maximum 100 rs.

May also demand security.

As far as half the jumma.

Above rules to apply to sales in execution and all alienations.

But no fee on sales for arrears.

Zemindar may refuse sanction to transfer, till fee and security be tendered.

Sufficiency of security, if contested, to be determined by appeal to civil court.

322. It shall be competent to the zemindar or other superior to refuse the registry of any transfer, until the fee above stipulated be paid, and until substantial security to the amount specified be tendered and accepted:—provided however, that if the security tendered by any purchaser or transferee, should not be approved by the zemindar, and the party tendering it shall be dissatisfied with such rejection, he shall be competent to appeal therefrom by petition or common motion in the Civil court of the district, which authority, if satisfied of the sufficiency of the security tendered, shall issue an injunction on the zemindar to accept it, and give effect to the transfer without delay. It is hereby provided, that the rules of this and of the preceding section shall not be held to apply to transfers of any fractional portion of a putnee talook, nor to any alienation other than of the entire interest, for no apportionment of the zemindar's reserved rent can be allowed to stand good, unless made under his special sanction.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Upon public sale, if security be not tendered within one month, zemindar may attach.

323. In case of a putnee tenure sold in execution of a judgment of court, if the purchaser do not within the period of one month from the sale conform to the rules of Section 5 of this Regulation, in order to obtain the transfer of his tenure by the superior to whom the rent fixed upon it is payable, the zemindar or other superior shall be entitled of his own authority to send a sezawul to attach and hold possession of the tenure, until the forms prescribed be observed. In case also of the sale of a putnee tenure for arrears of the rent due upon it, under the rules of this Regulation, if security be required by the zemindar and the purchaser fail to furnish the same within one month of the date of sale, the zemindar shall similarly be entitled to send a sezawul to attach and hold possession of the interest which may have passed on the sale, to the exclusion of the purchaser, until the prescribed security be given. Attachments made under this section shall be regarded as trusts for the benefit and at the risk of the purchasers, consequently after deducting the rent due and the expence of attaching, any surplus that may be yielded by the collections, shall be held in deposit for such purchaser; but if the collections for the time fall short of the rent, the tenure and person of the proprietor shall be liable in the same manner as if no attachment had been made, and the accounts produced by the zemindar or other superior making the attachment, shall be received as prima facie evidence to warrant process for an arrear so accruing.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 7.

Attachment to have the effect of a trust.

SECTION XXXVII.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Sale of them on account of Arrears.

324. In case of an arrear occurring upon any tenure of the description alluded to in the first clause of this section, it shall not be liable to be cancelled for the same, under the rule contained in the seventh clause of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, for leases conveying a limited interest in the land ; but the tenure shall be brought to sale by public auction, and the holder of the tenure will be entitled to any excess in the proceeds of such sale, beyond the amount of the arrear of rent due ;—subject, however, to the provisions contained in Section 17 of this Regulation.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

Putnee tenures declared not voidable for arrears.

325. Zemindars, that is, proprietors under direct engagements with the Government, shall be entitled to apply in the manner following for periodical sales of any tenures, upon which the right of selling or bringing to sale for an arrear of rent may have been specially reserved by stipulation in the engagements interchanged, on the creation of the tenure. The exercise of this power shall not be confined to cases in which the stipulation for sale may have been unrestricted in regard to time, but shall apply equally to tenures held under engagements stipulating merely for a sale at the end of the year, in conformity with the practice heretofore allowed by the Regulations in force.—Ibid., Sect. 8, Cl. 1.

Zemindars to be allowed periodical sales of tenures, in which right to sell for arrears is reserved by stipulation.

326. On the first day of Bysakh, that is, at the commencement of the following year from that of which the rent is due, the zemindar shall present a petition to the Civil court of the district, and a similar one to the Collector, containing a specification of any balances that may be due to him on account of the expired year from all or any talookdars or other holders of an interest of the nature described in the preceding clause of this section. The same shall then be stuck up in some conspicuous part of the cutcherry, with a notice that if the amount claimed be not paid before the first of Jyote following, the tenures of the defaulters will on that day be sold by public sale in liquidation. Should however, the first of Jyote fall on a Sunday, or holiday, the next subsequent day, not a holiday, shall be selected instead : a similar notice shall be stuck up at the sudder cutcherry of the zemindar himself, and a copy or extract of such part of the notice as may apply to the individual case shall be by him sent, to be similarly published at the cutcherry or at the principal town or village upon the land of the defaulter.

First sale to be applied for on the first of Bysakh.

Notice to be published that it will take place on the first of Jyote.

Notice to be sent into the mofussil.
Rules for serving it.

The zemindar shall be exclusively answerable for the observance of the forms above prescribed, and the notice required to be sent into the mofussil shall be served by a single peon, who shall bring back the receipt of the defaulter, or of his manager for the same; or in the event of inability to procure this, the signatures of three substantial persons residing in the neighbourhood, in attestation of the notice having been brought and published on the spot. If it shall appear from the tenor of the receipt or attestation in question, that the notice has been published at any time previous to the fifteenth of the month of Bysakh, it shall be a sufficient warrant for the sale to proceed upon the day appointed. In case the people of the village should object or refuse to sign their names in attestation, the peon shall go to the cutcherry of the nearest Moonsiff, or if there should be no Moonsiff, to the nearest thannah, and there make voluntary oath of the same having been duly published—a certificate to which effect shall be signed and sealed by the said officers and delivered to the peon.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 8, Cl. 2.

Mid year sale to be applied for on the first of Kartick.

327. On the first day of Kartick in the middle of the year, the zemindar shall be at liberty to present a similar petition, with a statement of any balances that may be due on account of the rent of the current year up to the end of the month of Assin, and to cause similar publication to be made of a sale of the tenures of defaulters, to take place on the first of Aughun, unless the whole of the advertised balance shall be paid before the date in question, or so much of it as shall reduce the arrear, including any intermediate demand for the month of Kartick to less than one-fourth, or a four anna proportion of the total demand of the zemindar, according to the kistbundy, calculated from the commencement of the year to the last day of Kartick.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Notice as above for sale the first of Aughun.

If arrear be not less than one-fourth of demand.

Preamble.

328. Whereas it has been omitted to provide in the rules of Regulation 8, 1819, whether, in case the proprietor of an estate paying revenue to Government should desire to bring to sale a saleable tenure of the nature defined in Clause first, Section 8 of that Regulation, for the realization of arrears of rent due thereupon, by any legal process other than that prescribed by the second and third clauses of the said section, such sale should be made in the public manner provided for the periodical sales therein described; and whereas it is consonant with justice, and was intended by the said Regulation, that, in every case of the sale of such tenures for arrears of the zemindar's rent the sale should be public, for the security of the interests of the owner of the tenure sold; which object can in no manner be duly secured, except the sales to be so made be conducted by an officer of Government in the same manner as the periodical sales provided for by Section 8 of the said Regulation, the following additional rule has accordingly been passed by the Governor General in Council, to take effect from the date of its promulgation, within the several districts of Bengal including Midnapore.—Reg. 1, 1820, Sect. 1.

The rules of reg. 8, 1819, for periodical sales for the zemindar's arrears of rent extended to other sales for rent.

329. Whenever the proprietor of an estate paying revenue to Government shall desire to cause any tenure of the nature of those described in clause 1, Section 8, Regulation 8, 1819, to be sold for arrears of rent due to him on account thereof, and shall, under any summary process authorized by the general Regulations, have acquired the right of causing such sale to be made, the same shall be conducted, after application from the zemindar by the Register or acting Register of the Zillah or City court, or in his absence by the person in charge of the office of Judge of the district, in the mode prescribed by Regulation 8, above quoted for periodical sales.—Ibid, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

330. Ten days' notice shall be given before proceeding to sale, by proclamation, to be stuck up at the cytcherry of the court, and at that of the Collector of the district. —Ibid, Cl. 2.

Ten days' notice to be given by proclamation.

331. The rules of Sections 9, 11, 13, 15, and 17, Regulation 8, 1819, are extended to all sales made after the manner herein provided.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Sec. 9, 11, 13, 15 & 17, reg. 8, 1819, extended to sales under this regulation.

332. With regard to the other point, whether lakhirajdars can have the advantage of Section 8, Regulation 8, 1819, the Court observe, that the words of that section expressly specify "zemindars, that is, proprietors under direct engagements with Government," and that, therefore, the provisions of it must be considered restricted to the persons specified.—Con. 313, 5th May 1820.

Lakhirajdars cannot avail themselves of the rules of sec. 8, reg. 8, 1819.

333. The Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter of the 31st ultimo, and direct me to state in reply, that according to the spirit of Section 8, Regulation 8, 1819, as the day for the presentment of petitions on the part of zemindars for the next half-yearly sale falls in the vacation, it must be deemed commutable for the next day after the opening of the Civil court, and the sale must not take place until a month from and after such day. It will be requisite that you should give due notice of this construction in the district under your charge.—Con. 329, 15th Sept. 1820.

If the day for the presentation of petitions by zemindars for the sale of putnee tenures falls on a vacation, it should be presented on the first day of business after that.

334. Can the zemindars, entitled to obtain periodical sales of certain descriptions of tenures for arrears of revenue under the above section and Regulation, transfer that right to their ijaradars, or is the proprietor of an estate paying revenue direct to Government, debarred from the advantages of Section 8, by the circumstance of having let his estate in farm.—In reply, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that a zemindar is not entitled to transfer to an ijaradar his right to obtain periodical sales of putnee tenures for arrears of revenue, under Regulation 8, 1819, the individuals specified in the section above quoted, as entitled to apply for periodical sales, being proprietors under direct engagements with the government.—Con. 461, 7th Sept. 1827.

A zemindar cannot transfer to an ijaradar his right of obtaining periodical sales of putnee tenures under reg. 8, 1819.

335. On the question, as to whether a farmer under the Court of Wards has the right of bringing to sale dependant talooks under Regulation 8, 1819; the Court, on the 4th September, 1829, observed, that the Collector, (or more strictly speaking the Court of Wards,) stands in the place of the zemindar; and that a surburakar, appointed by the Collector, has the same powers as a surburakar appointed by the zemindar (were he of age) would have, and is answerable to the Collector for every thing he does in the management of the estate; and that a farmer, under a lease from the Collector, being responsible to the Collector for nothing but the rent he has agreed to pay, stands exactly in the same predicament as a farmer under a lease from a zemindar; and that it had been held by the Court, (see Construction, dated 7th September, 1827,) that farmers holding of proprietors cannot exercise the privilege given to the latter by Section 8, Regulation 8, 1819. The reason which induced the Court to adopt that construction was, that the enactment cited, specifying only proprietors, could not be held to give the large powers it confers to any but proprietors.—Con. 523, 4th Sept. 1829.

A farmer under the court of wards has no authority to bring putnee tenures to sale, as above the collector.

Register to conduct the sale.

Rules for bidding, &c.
15 per cent. to be paid on sale.

Or lot to be re-sold after two hours.

Failing remainder, resale on ninth day after.

A durputneedar may bring the putnee tenure, if he has not fraudulently withheld any balance from his putneedar.

Forms to be observed on selling.

Zemindar to certify balance.

And service of notice in mofussil.

On his own responsibility.

336. All sales of saleable tenures applied for under the rules of this Regulation, shall be made in public cutcherry by the Register or acting Register of the Civil court, or in his absence by the person in charge of the office of Judge or of Magistrate of the district, within which the lands may be situated; the land shall be sold to the highest bidder, and every one not the actual defaulter shall be free to bid, not excepting the person in satisfaction of whose demand the sale may be made, nor the under-tenants of the defaulter; fifteen per cent. of the purchase money shall be paid immediately the lot is knocked down, and the officer conducting the sale shall be competent to refuse to accept a bid, or to knock down a lot to any bidder, unless he has assurance to his satisfaction that the amount required to be deposited is in hand for the purpose, or will be produced within two hours. If the fifteen per cent. be not paid in cash or in notes of the Bank of Bengal, within two hours of the sale, or an equivalent amount in Government securities be not lodged, the lot shall be resold on the same day, and if the remainder of the purchase money be not paid by noon of the eighth day, notice shall be given of resale on the following day, that is, on the ninth from the first sale, by proclaiming the same by beat of drum through the bazar of the sudder station of the zillah, after which the lot shall be re-sold at the appointed time at the risk of the first purchaser, who shall forfeit the advance of fifteen per cent. already made, (which shall be in such case regarded as part of the proceeds of the sale,) and be further answerable for any sum in which the proceeds of the second sale may fall short of the antecedent one; such deficiency to be levied by the process for the execution of decrees of the Civil courts.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 9.

337. Held, that under Section 9, Regulation 8 of 1819, a durputneedar may buy the putnee tenure, if he do not fraudulently withhold any balance due from him to his putneedar.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 153.

338. At the time of sale the notice previously stuck up in the cutcherry shall be taken down, and the lots be called up successively in the order in which they may be found in that notice. A person shall attend on the part of the zemindar with a particular statement of the payments made up to the day of sale, an account of the balance of each advertised lot, together with the receipt for, or certificate of, the notice directed to be published in the mofussil, nor shall any lot be put up to sale until the statement produced shall have been inspected and the existence of a balance for the year ascertained therefrom, nor until the receipt for the notice shall have been read; the observance of which forms shall be recorded in a separate roobukaree to be held upon each lot sold. If the sale be of the description provided for in the third clause of Section 8 of this Regulation the kistbundy of the defaulter shall likewise be produced, in order that it may be seen that the balance remaining unpaid exceeds a four anna proportion of the demand up to the date of sale; nor shall the sale take place unless this be ascertained. The zemindar shall be exclusively responsible for the correctness and authenticity of the papers to be thus exhibited, nor shall the public officer making the sale be answerable in any respect, except for its fairness and publicity, and for the observance of the rules prescribed for his guidance in this Regulation.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 10.

339. Such parts of Regulation 8, 1819, and Regulation 1 of 1820, as declare that the sale of putnee talooks and other saleable tenures, shall be conducted by the Register, or acting Register, or in their absence by the Judge or Magistrate, and which require the Judge to perform other acts preparatory to, or connected with, the sale of such talooks or other saleable tenures, are hereby modified, and such sales shall hereafter be made, and other acts aforesaid be performed by the Collector or Deputy Collector of land revenue, or head assistant to the Collector or Deputy Collector, subject to an appeal to the Commissioner of revenue for the division, on the ground of the irrelevancy of the Regulation, as in other cases of a summary nature provided for in Section 4, Regulation 8, 1831.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 16, Cl. 1.

Duties performed by registers or judges under reg. 8, 1819 & 1 of 1820, transferred to the revenue officers.

340. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st ultimo, and in reply to inform you that petitions on the part of the defaulting putnee talookdars, whose tenures have been sold for arrears under Regulation 8 of 1819, previous to the enactment of Regulation 7 of 1832, to receive the excess of the purchase money above the amount of the balance for which the tenure was sold, should be presented to the Judge who holds the surplus in deposit.—Con. 795, Cal. C. 14th June, West. C. 19th July 1833.

To whom petitions of defaulting putnee-dars whose tenures have been sold for rent under reg. 8, 1819, previous to the passing of reg. 7, 1832, to receive the excess of purchase money, must be presented.

341. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, requesting the Court's construction of certain points connected with the sale of putnee talooks by public auction, under Section 9, Regulation 8 of 1829. The Court are of opinion, that if the auction purchaser do not pay the balance of the purchase money by noon of the eighth day from the day of sale, he forfeits by his failure the fifteen per cent. deposited by him on the day of sale, and all right to benefit by an increased price at a second sale, while he will be answerable for any deficiency; and that the forfeited percentage is to be considered as part of the proceeds available for the benefit of the defaulter. Should this last be sufficient to cover the balance claimed by the zemindar, no further sale need take place; otherwise (if the balance be not previously paid by the defaulter) the talook must be re-sold on the ninth day, and any surplus of the forfeited percentage and of the proceeds of the second sale, after liquidating the zemindar's demand, must be paid to the defaulting talookdars.—Con. 580, 24th Dec. 1830.

Consequence of the purchaser's neglecting to pay the balance by noon of the 8th day after the sale.

The forfeited percentage goes to the defaulter.

Case in which the talook must be resold on the 9th day. Disposal of the purchase money.

342. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th March last, and its enclosure, requesting to be informed whether a Judge or Register is competent to sell talooks under the provisions of Clause 4, Section 18, Regulation 8, 1819, in satisfaction of summary decrees for balance of rent.—In reply, I am directed by the Court to observe that all talooks, in which the interest of the occupant is saleable, may be sold for an arrear of rent accruing thereon, and that the sale should be made by the Register, or in his absence by the Judge or Magistrate (now by the Collector under Section 16, Regulation 7, 1832,) in the same manner as putnee and durputnee talooks, under the provisions of Sections 9 and 16 of Regulation 8, 1819.—Con. 695, West. C. 4th, Cal. C. 25th May 1832.

All talooks in which the interest of the occupant is saleable, may be sold. Sale to be made by the collector.

343. The following question arose out of a reference made by the Judge of Beerbhoom. The holder of a putnee tenure having defaulted, his tenure was brought to sale; the defaulter himself became the purchaser in a fictitious name, in opposition to the provisions of Section 9, Regulation 8, 1819, and ousted the durputneedar. In such case what remedy has the latter?

A putneedar having purchased in a fictitious name, the talook sold by auction for his default cannot cancel the under-tenures. Remedy of the holder of such tenure.

Can he sue for recovery of possession of his tenure, or is he restricted to the remedies pointed out in Section 13, and Clause 5, Section 17 of the abovementioned Regulation?—It was decided by the Government, in concurrence with the Calcutta Court, that as the actual defaulter is prohibited from purchasing the putnee tenure, a fictitious purchase, contrary to the law, cannot confer upon him the right of cancelling the under-tenures : and that consequently the holder of any such tenure, in the event of the power of cancelling having been exercised, has his remedy in an action for recovery of possession against the fictitious purchaser, laying his suit at the value at which he estimates his interest in the property.—Con. 1243, 16th Aug. 1839.

Sale not to be stayed except the arrear claimed be lodged.

344. Should the balance claimed by a zemindar, on account of the rent of any under-tenure, remain unpaid upon the day fixed for the sale of the tenure, the sale shall be made without reserve in the manner provided for in Sections 9 and 10 of this Regulation ; nor shall it be stayed or postponed on any account, unless the amount of the demand be lodged. It shall however be competent to any party desirous of contesting the right of the zemindar to make the sale, whether on the ground of there having been no balance due, or on any other ground, to sue the zemindar for the reversal of the same and, upon establishing a sufficient plea, to obtain a decree with full costs and damages. The purchaser shall be made a party in such suits, and upon decree passing for reversal of the sale, the court shall be careful to indemnify him against all loss, at the charge of the zemindar or person at whose suit the sale may have been made.—Rég. 8, 1819, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

But action to lie for its reversal.

Summary investigation may be applied for by defaulter.

345. In cases in which a talookdar may contest the zemindar's demand of any arrear, as specified in the notice advertised, such talookdar shall be competent to apply for a summary investigation, at any time within the period of notice ; the zemindar shall then be called upon to furnish his kubooliyut and other proofs at the shortest convenient notice, in order that the award may, if possible, be made before the day appointed for sale. Such award, if so made, will of course regulate the ulterior process ; but if the case be still pending, the lot shall be called up in its turn, notwithstanding the suit ; and if the zemindar or his agent in attendance insist on the demand, the sale shall be made on his responsibility, nor shall it be stayed, or the summary suit be allowed to proceed, unless the amount claimed be lodged in cash or in Government securities, or in notes of the Bank of Bengal, by the talookdar contesting the demand ; and if such deposit be not made, the alleged defaulter will have no remedy, but by a regular action for damages and for a reversal of the sale.—Ibid., Cl. 2.

But not to stay sale without deposit.

Under-tenures how to be brought to sale for arrears.

346. Under-tenures held under engagements similar to those executed between the zemindar and putneedar, having been declared not to be voidable for an arrear of the rent fixed upon them in perpetuity, it will be necessary that the person to whom the said rent may be payable, should (in case he be desirous of holding the tenure answerable in the manner provided for by stipulation in the deeds interchanged,) proceed according to the rules of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, and the general Regulations, to have the sale effected at the end of the year, in the same manner as heretofore.—But it is hereby provided, that every such sale shall be public, and be conducted by the Register or acting Register of the Zillah court, or in his absence, by the person in charge of the office of Judge or of Magistrate, under the rules of this Regulation, as far as the same be applicable; ten days' notice shall be given of such sales, by advertisement, to be stuck up at the cutcherries of the court and Collector.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 16.

347. The sale of a putnee talook, under attachment by order of the Civil court, cannot for that reason be deferred, in the event of its becoming liable to sale under Regulation 8 of 1839, for arrears due to the zemindar.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th Sept. 1844, p. 61.

The sale of a putnee talook by order of the civil court cannot be deferred if it becomes liable to sale by the zemindar for arrears under reg. 8, 1819.

348. The attachment, by order of the Civil courts, of a putnee talook does not affect the right of the zemindar to levy his rent by sale.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 26th Oct. 1846, p. 86.

The attachment of a putnee tenure does not affect the right of the zemindar to levy his rent by sale.

349. The Court having had before them the petition from the Rajah, which was forwarded with your letter of the 25th ultimo, and the object of which was to obtain an order from the court that sales, under Section 9, Regulation 8, 1819, of putnee tenures in the Rajah's zemindary, should be made by the Register of Burdwan at that station, even though the tenures should be situated in other zillahs, I am directed to communicate to you, that as the provisions of the Regulation quoted appear to the Court to require that such sales should be made by the Register of the district where the tenures are, and at the cutcherry of such district, the Court are not competent to give a contrary order.—Con. 326, 1st Sept. 1820.

The sale of putnee tenures must be made by the register [now the collector] of the district in which it is situated, and in no other.

350. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 19th instant, requesting to be informed by whom the public sales of putnee and durputnee tenures in execution of decrees are to be conducted. In reply, I am desired to communicate to you, that in the opinion of the Court such sales should be conducted by the Collector.—Con. 349, 26th April 1822.

Idem.

351. The Register of the Zillah court is not amenable to a civil action for acts performed in his official capacity in selling putnee tenures; but the person aggrieved may obtain redress by an action against the zemindar, whose allegation of arrears caused the sale, or the purchaser, or both.—Con. 440, 8th Dec. 1826.

The register [now the collector] is not amenable to the civil courts for official acts in the sale of putnee tenures. The person aggrieved may obtain his remedy by action against the zemindar who caused it to be sold.

352. At a Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, held on the 27th day of November, 1829, it was determined, that according to the intent and meaning of Regulation 7, 1799, Regulation 8, 1819, and the constructions of this Court, bearing date the 27th of June and the 14th of November, 1809, a sudder putneedar cannot exercise the same authority as is possessed by a zemindar, with respect to his under-tenants, of selling the tenure of his durputneedar without previous application to the Court.—Con. 531, 27th Nov. 1829.

A sudder putneedar cannot exercise the authority possessed by a zemindar of selling the tenure of his durputneedar, without the order of the court.

353. I am directed by the Court to forward to you the accompanying copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Dacca, dated the 21st ultimo, No. 313, requesting to be informed, in consequence of a difference of opinion with you, whether "lands paying revenue can be sold in satisfaction of decrees, being putnee talooks and other saleable tenures as contemplated in Section 16, Regulation 7, 1832, without a report under Regulation 45, 1793, Section 2, to the Commissioner of revenue."—The Court direct me to refer you to Construction No. 349, of the printed Constructions, and to observe that as the public sale of putnee and durputnee tenures in execution of decrees must be conducted by the Collector, the report required by Putnee and durputnee tenures must be sold in execution of decrees by the collector. The report required by sec. 2, reg. 45, 1793, must be made to the revenue commissioner.

Section 2, Regulation 45, 1793, must be made to the Commissioner of revenue.—Con. 897, 5th Sept. 1834.

SECTION XXXVIII.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Principle on which the Tenure is to be sold, and power of Under-Tenants to stay the Sale.

Tenure to be sold free of incumbrance by act of defaulter.

354. It is hereby declared, that any talook or saleable tenure that may be disposed of at public sale under the rules of this Regulation, for arrears of rent due on account of it, is sold free of all incumbrances that may have accrued upon it by act of the defaulting proprietor, his representatives, or assignees; unless the right of making such incumbrances shall have been expressly vested in the holder by a stipulation to that effect in the written engagements under which the said talook may have been held. No transfer by sale, gift or otherwise, no mortgage or other limited assignment shall be permitted to bar the indefeasible right of the zemindar to hold the tenure of his creation answerable in the state in which he created it for the rent, which is in fact his reserved property in the tenure; except the transfer or assignment should have been made with a condition to that effect, under express authority obtained from such zemindar.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 11, Cl. 1.

No underlease to stand after sale.

355. In like manner, on sale of a talook for arrears, all leases originating with the holder of the former tenure, if creative of a middle interest between the resident cultivators and the late proprietor, must be considered to be cancelled, except the authority to grant them should have been specially transferred; the possessors of such interests must consequently lose the right to hold possession of the land, and to collect the rents of the ryots; this having been enjoyed merely in consequence of the defaulter's assignment of a certain portion of his own interest, the whole of which was liable for the rent.—Ibid., Cl. 2.

Exception in favor of bonâ fide engagements with ryots.

356. Provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to entitle the purchaser of a talook or other saleable tenure intermediate between the zemindar and actual cultivators, to eject a khoddkhast ryot, or resident and hereditary cultivator, nor to cancel bonâ fide engagements made with such tenants by the late incumbent, or his representative, except it be proved in a regular suit, to be brought by such purchaser, for the adjustment of his rent, that a higher rate would have been demandable at the time such engagements were contracted by his predecessor.—Ibid., Cl. 3.

Above rule to take effect retrospectively.

357. The rules of the preceding section being declaratory of the principle to be observed on all occasions, wherein saleable tenures are made responsible for the zemindar's reserved rent, will equally apply to the case of talooks heretofore sold, as to those that may be sold henceforward, if the sale shall have been fair, and the process observed in conducting it shall have been that recognized and in use in the district at the time of selling. Nothing however herein contained shall operate to the prejudice of any agreement, express or implied, now subsisting between the purchaser of a talook and the lessees of his predecessor. Neither shall the rule for the fall of under-tenures be considered to apply to any private transfer by a talookdar of his own interest, nor to a public sale in execution of a decree, nor to the case of a relinquishment by the talookdar in favour of the zemindar, nor to any act originating with the former holder, other than default as aforesaid: all such operations involve only a transfer of the tenure in the estate in which it may be held at the time, and the new incumbent succeeds to no more than the reserved rights of the former tenant, such as they may be, and is of course subject to any restriction put upon the tenure by his act.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 12.

But not to apply to private transfers.

558. A. asserted a right to hold an inferior putnee, as part of a sudder putnee, the whole of which had been acquired by B., from the zemindar, under a sale preceded by an award of arrears, against the apparent sudder putneedar, and by an auction. On defect of clear evidence to the sub-division and therefore to the distinct tenancy-in-chief of the person from whom A. held, ruled that his tenure could not be protected from the operation of Section 12, Regulation 8, 1819.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Aug. 1830, vol. 5, p. 64.

Particular case decided by the S. D. A. in reference to sec. 12, reg. 8, 1819, as above.

359. With reference to the injury that may be brought upon the holder of a talook of the second degree by the operation of the preceding rules, in case the proprietor of the superior tenure purposely withholds the due from himself to the zemindar, after having realized his own dues from the inferior tenantry, it is deemed necessary to allow such talookdars the means of saving their tenures from the ruin that must attend such a sale, and the following rules have accordingly been enacted for this purpose.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 13, Cl. 1.

Reason for allowing under-tenants a means of staying sale.

360. Whenever the tenure of a talookdar of the first degree may be advertised for sale in the manner required by the second and third clauses of Section 8 of this Regulation, for arrears of rent due to the zemindar, the talookdars of the second degree, or any number of them, shall be entitled to stay the final sale, by paying into court the amount of balance that may be declared due by the person attending on the part of the zemindar on the day appointed for sale; in like manner they shall be entitled to lodge money antecedently, for the purpose of eventually answering any demand that may remain due on the day fixed for the sale, and should the amount lodged be sufficient, the sale shall not proceed, but after making good to the zemindar the amount of his demand, any excess shall be paid back to the person or persons who may have lodged it.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Manner of doing so.

By lodging the advertised balance.

361. If the amount so lodged shall be rent due by the inferior talookdar to the holder of the advertised tenure, the same shall be stated at the time of making the deposit, and the amount shall be carried to the account of the tenant or tenants lodging it, and be deducted from any claim of rent that may at the time be pending, or be thereafter brought forward against him or them by the proprietor of the advertised tenure, on account of the year or months for which the notice of sale may have been published.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

In case of rent due being lodged, credit to be given.

In case of advance from private funds.

362. If the person or persons making such a deposit, in order to stay the sale of the superior tenure, shall have already paid the whole of the rent due from himself or themselves, so that the amount lodged is an advance from private funds, and not a disbursement on account of the said rent, such deposit shall not be carried to credit in or set against future demands for rent, but shall be considered as a loan made to the proprietor of the tenure preserved from sale by such means, and the talook so preserved shall be the security to the person or persons making the advance, who shall be considered to have a lien thereupon, in the same manner as if the loan had been made upon mortgage; and he or they shall be entitled, on applying for the same, to obtain immediate possession of the tenure of the defaulter, in order to recover the amount so advanced from any profits belonging thereto. If the defaulter shall desire to recover his tenure from the hands of the person or persons, who by making the advance may have acquired such an interest therein, and entered on possession in consequence, he shall not be entitled to do so, except upon repayment of the entire sum advanced, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, up to the date of possession having been given as above, or upon exhibiting proof, in a regular suit to be instituted for the purpose, that the full amount so advanced, with interest, has been realized from the usufruct of the tenure.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 13, Cl. 4.

To have the effect of mortgage.

Defaulter how to recover possession.

A durputneedar cannot be compelled by the civil courts to pay the rents of the putnee tenures to the zemindar.

On the forfeiture of a putnee tenure for arrears of rent, the durputnee tenures cease, though the holders are not defaulters.

The rights of the holders of putnee tenures of the second and lower degrees do not cease on the resignation of the putneedar, but only by a public sale for arrears.

363. A Civil court cannot compel a durputneedar to pay the rents of the putnee tenure due to the proprietor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1837, vol. 6, p. 183.

364. On the forfeiture of a putnee tenure for arrears of rent, the durputnee tenures under it cease also, though the holders of them be not defaulters, and though, subsequently to the default of the sudder putneedar the zemindar may have required them to pay their rents into his cutcherry.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Sept. 1826, vol. 4, p. 179.

365. The right of the holders of putnee talooks of the second and lower degrees in the zemindary of Burdwan, are not liable to be cancelled by the resignation of the putneedar who granted the talook. It can only be cancelled by a public sale for arrears of revenue.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Dec. 1819, vol. 2, p. 325.

SECTION XXXIX.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Mode of obtaining Possession of Talooks after Sale.

Rules for purchaser obtaining possession.

366. So soon as the entire amount of the purchase money shall have been paid in by the purchaser, at any sale made under this Regulation, such purchaser shall receive from the officers conducting the sale, a certificate of such payment. The purchaser shall then proceed with the certificate in question to procure a transfer to his name in the cutcherry of the zemindar, and upon furnishing security, if required, to the extent of half the jumma or annual rent, he shall receive the usual umuldustuk, or order for possession, together with the notice to the ryots and others to attend and pay their rents henceforward to him. The zemindar shall also be bound to furnish access to any papers connected with the tenure purchased, that may be forthcoming in his cutcherry, and should he in any manner delay the transfer in his office, or refuse to give the orders for possession, notwithstanding that good and substantial security shall have been furnished, or tendered, on requisition, the new purchaser shall be entitled to apply direct to the court, and he shall receive the orders for possession, and shall be put in possession of the lands by means of the nazir, in the same manner as possession is obtained under a decree of court: provided however, that if the delay be on account of the zemindar's contesting the sufficiency of the security tendered, the rule contained in Section 6 of this Regulation shall be observed.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 15, Cl. 1.

Remedy in case of delay.

Proviso.

367. When the new purchaser shall proceed to take possession of the lands of his purchase, if the late incumbent himself, or the holders of tenures or assignments derived from the late incumbent and intermediate between him and the actual cultivators, shall attempt to offer opposition, or to interfere with the collections of the new purchaser from the lands composing his purchase, the latter shall be at liberty to apply immediately to the Civil court, for the aid of the public officers in obtaining possession of his just rights. A proclamation shall then issue under the seal of the court and signature of the Judge, declaring, that the new incumbent having, by purchase at a sale for arrears of rent due to the zemindar, acquired the entire rights and privileges attaching to the tenure of the late talookdar, in the state in which it was originally derived by him from the zemindar, he alone will be recognized as entitled to make the zemindary collections in the mofussil, and no payments made to any other individual will on any account be credited to the ryots or others in any summary suit, for rent brought under the provisions of Section 15, Regulation 7, 1799, or in any application to stay process by distraint, under the rules of Regulation 5, 1812, or on any other occasion whatever, when the same may be pleaded.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

In case of opposition,

Proclamation to issue from court.

368. Should the late incumbent, or his late under-tenants, continue to oppose the entry of the new purchaser, notwithstanding the issuing of such a proclamation, or should there be reason to apprehend a breach of the peace on the part of any one, the aid of the Police officers, and of all other public officers who may be at hand, and capable of affording assistance, shall be given to the new purchaser, on his presenting a written application for the same; and in the event of any affray or breach of the peace occurring, the entire responsibility shall rest with the party opposing the lawful attempt of the purchaser to assume his rights.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

In case of further opposition, police and all public officers to aid.

SECTION XL.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Rules for disposing of the Purchase Money of Sales for Arrears under this Regulation.

369. The following rules have been enacted for the disposal of the proceeds of any sale made under the rules of this Regulation.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 17, Cl. 1.

Rules for disposing of the purchase money of sales for arrears under this reg.

One per cent. to be carried to the account of government.

370. One per cent. shall first be deducted from the net proceeds realized, and shall be carried to the account of Government, for the purpose of meeting the expence of any extra establishments which it may be necessary to maintain, for carrying into effect the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 17, Cl. 2.

How the commission of one per cent. for govt. must be levied.—What shall be reckoned a part of the gross proceeds.

371. The commission of one per cent. leviable for the use of Government under Clause 2, Section 17, Regulation 8, 1819, should be levied on the net proceeds of the sale whatever that may be ; the several deposits of 15 per cent. where there be more than one sale [together with the difference between the first, second and third sales, claimable from the first and second purchasers, if any sum on this account should have been realized] being reckoned as part of the gross proceeds.—Con. 491, 9th Jan. 1829.

Zemindar's balance and expences to be next made good.

372. The balance on account of which the sale may have been made, shall next be made good in full (with interest and all charges incurred in bringing the talook to sale) to the zemindar or other person to whom the same may be due : provided however that no former balances, beyond those of the current year (or of that immediately expired, if the sale be at the commencement of the following year,) shall be included in the demand to be thus satisfied,—such antecedent balances, if the zemindar shall have omitted to avail himself of the process within his reach, for having them satisfied at the time, will have become in fact mere personal debts of the individual talookdar, and must be recovered in the same way as other debts by a regular suit in the court.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 17, Cl. 3.

But not antecedent balances.

Remainder to be sent to the collector's treasury, to answer claims of under-tenants.

373. Any excess that may remain after satisfying the demand of the zemindar, in the manner above described, shall be forthwith sent by the officer conducting the sale to the treasury of the Collector or assistant Collector of the district, to be there held in deposit to answer the claims of the talookdars of the second decree, or of others who, by assignment of the defaulter, may be at the time in possession of a valuable interest on the land composing the talook sold, or on any part of it.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Under-tenants free to prosecute for the price of their interest or compensation.

374. It shall be competent to any one conceiving himself to possess such an interest, to bring forward his claim to the price he may have paid for the same or for a just compensation for the loss sustained by him in consequence of the sale, by instituting a regular suit at any time within two months from the date of sale. If the court shall on investigation consider the plaintiff's claim to be an equitable one, the court will award to the claimant either the price he may have originally paid, or the value of the interest at the time of sale, or any other amount that may be deemed just and equitable under all the circumstances. If there be more claimants than one, payment shall not be made from the deposit, until the whole of the claims be settled; and in case the value assessed upon the whole should exceed the amount in deposit such amount shall be divided proportionately, and the remainder stand as a personal debt against the defaulter, to be realized from him by the usual process for the execution of decrees.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Payment how to be made from deposit, if many claims.

Action not to lie if the under-tenant be himself in arrear at the time of sale.

375. Provided however, that no talookdar of the second degree, or other possessor of an assigned interest upon the land of the tenure sold, who may be holding under a stipulation for the payment of an annual amount in the way of rent, shall be entitled to recover compensation for the loss of such tenure or assignment upon its becoming cancelled by sale of the superior talook, except after exhibiting proof that the whole amount of the rent demandable from himself, has been paid or lodged for the purpose, prior to the date of sale.—Reg. 8, 1819, Sect. 17, Cl. 6.

376. Should no claims upon the purchase money of a talook sold as above, be brought forward by any under-tenants or assignees, within the period of two months from the date of sale, or should the amount claimed by those who may have sued not equal the entire deposit, the defaulter whose tenure may have been sold, shall be at liberty to petition the court for the amount so held in deposit, or for the excess thereof, as the case may be, and he shall receive a certificate under the seal of the court, of there being no claims to afford ground of detention for the whole or any part of the deposit; and upon exhibiting such certificate to the Collector, the amount set free thereby shall be paid to his receipt. In the same manner upon executing a decree passed in favor of any under-tenants or assignees, they shall receive certificates under the seal of the court, declaring the amount adjudged to them out of the deposit, and upon exhibiting these certificates, the amount shall be paid severally to their receipts by the Collector.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

In case of no claim in two months, or only partial claims, defaulter to receive the excess unclaimed.

377. It shall be competent to any party interested in a deposit to withdraw the whole or any part thereof, on substituting government securities, bearing interest, in lieu of the money so held in deposit: such securities to be taken at the rate of discount or premium of the day, as shown by the Government Gazette last received.—Ibid, Cl. 8.

Any party interested may substitute government securities for cash in deposit.

SECTION XLI.

Miscellaneous Rules—Putnee Talooks—Decision of the Sudder Court in reference to Putnee Tenures.

378. Held, that it is lawful for a zemindar to conclude a settlement with other individuals for a putnee talook with the permission of the Zillah court, the sudder putneedar having fallen in arrears, though his sharers, whose names are not recorded in the zemindary record, had deposited their quota of the arrears in the treasury of the zillah: but they were declared at liberty to sue the sudder putneedar for any damages they might have sustained by his default.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Dec. 1827, vol. 4, p. 295.

Case in which a zemindar may conclude a settlement with other individuals for a putnee tenure.

379. In 1810, A., the zemindar, proceeded summarily, under Regulation 7, 1799, against B., his putneedar, for a defined balance of rent. The Judge found something due, but not able to make a specific award, he referred A. to a civil action; providing, however, that he might sell the under-tenure, and settle with C.: A. did settle with C. at a diminished rent. He then sued B. for a balance of rent, after setting off the price received for the tenure. Part of his claim was dismissed in 1812 as not exigible, and part awarded. In 1823, B. sued A. and C. to recover the putnee tenure, resting his right on pleas by which he failed to repel the claim of A. in 1812. Held that the claim was not cognizable.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th Jan. 1832, vol. 5, p. 157.

Where A. on the default of B. settled with C. at a diminished rate, and then sued B. for arrears & obtained a decree in part, and B. in the end sued A. and C. to recover the putnee tenure, the claim was not recognized.

380. A. and B. purchase property from C. under condition not to re-sell to any one but C. Ruled that the grant of putnee talook of a part of the property by A. and B. to D., a stran-

When A. and B. purchase property from C. on condition not to sell it to any one but C., they cannot grant a putnee talook of a part of it to D. er, is a violation of their part of the engagement, and as such was set aside.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st March 1836, vol. 6, p. 56.

A purchaser is liable for the putnee tenure, as long as he holds possession under the purchase.

381. A. purchases an estate from B. It subsequently appears that the whole estate did not belong to B., but that a fractional part of it was held by him on putnee. Held, that the purchaser is liable for the putnee tenure as long as possession is held under the purchase.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1837, vol. 6, p. 183.

The purchaser of a putnee tenure by decree of court has no claim to land situated within it which the zemindar had granted rent-free, to a third party, before he created the putnee tenure.

382. The purchaser at a sale, in execution of a decree of court, of the rights and interests of a putneedar, has no just claim to land situated within the putnee talook, which had been granted by the zemindar rent-free to a third party, before the date of the execution of the putnee and of which the putneedar never had possession.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Jan. 1840, vol. 6, p. 281.

Case in which the S. D. A. decreed against the plaintiffs who sued for the recovery of their durputnee tenure, lost by the defendants allowing the putnee talook to be sold 383. In an action for recovery of the price of a durputnee tenure lost to the plaintiff, by the defendant having allowed the sale of his putnee tenure, the Sudder dewanny adawlut decreed against plaintiffs—1st, because the plaintiffs were themselves the purchasers of the putnee tenure; and 2d, because, as durputneedars, they were in balance at the time of the sale of the putnee tenure (see Clause 6, Section 17, Regulation 8 of 1819).—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 154.

When a plaintiff purchased a putnee tenure from the defendant, and a portion was afterwards decided to be lakhiraj, the seller not responsible for the loss sustained by the purchaser.

384. Plaintiff purchased a putnee from defendant: subsequently a portion was decided to be lakhiraj. Plaintiff sued for a corresponding reduction of the putnee jumma. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut held that under the circumstances the seller was not responsible for the loss sustained by the purchaser.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Aug. 1844, vol. 7, p. 179.

SECTION XLII.

Hidden Treasure.

Preamble.

385. Whereas the provisions of the Mahomedan and Hindoo laws respecting the discovery of hidden treasure differ materially; and whereas it is deemed expedient that an uniform principle should be established for the guidance of persons by whom hidden treasure may be discovered, the following provisions are enacted, to be in force as soon as promulgated throughout the provinces immediately subordinate to the Presidency of Fort William.—Reg. 5, 1817, Sect. 1.

Hidden treasure under what circumstances and conditions to become the property of the finder.

386. Whenever any hidden treasure, consisting of gold or silver coin, or bullion, or of precious stones, or other valuable property, may be found buried in the earth, or otherwise concealed within any part of the territory subject to this Presidency; and after due notification, the owner thereof may not be discoverable; such hidden treasure shall become the property of the person or persons who may have found the same, provided it shall not exceed in amount or value, the sum of one lakh of sicca rupees; and provided the finder or finders shall have conformed to the rules prescribed in this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

387. Whenever any person may find hidden treasure, of the description stated in the foregoing section, he shall give immediate notice thereof to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the treasure may have been found; and shall at the same time deposit the treasure in the Zillah or City court, with an exact inventory thereof.—Reg. 5, 1817, Sect. 3.

The finder how to proceed on the discovery of the hidden treasure.

388. The zillah or city Judge receiving a deposit as above directed, shall return a receipt for the treasure deposited, after causing the same to be carefully compared with the inventory; and shall issue a public notification in the current languages of the country, to be published and affixed in his own cutcherry, and in the cutcherry of the Collector of the district, requiring all persons who may have any claim of right to the treasure in deposit, to attend in person, or by vakeel, and prove their title thereto, within six months from the date of the notice.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Duty of the zillah or city judges in such cases.

Notification to be issued, and period allowed to claimants to bring forward their claims.

389. It shall be the duty of the Collectors of land revenue acting under the instructions of the Board of Commissioners, or the Commissioner in Behar and Benares, or the Board of Revenue, to bring forward and to support, in conformity with the foregoing provision, any claim of right which Government may appear to possess to such treasure. In the event of any claim of right being preferred either on the part of individuals or of Government, pursuant to the prescribed notification, the Judge shall institute a summary enquiry into the claim preferred; and if the title of Government or other person so claiming the treasure in deposit, or any part thereof, be clearly established, he shall adjudge the same accordingly; subject to reimbursement of all expence incurred by the finder of the treasure, as well as to such compensation for the discovery of it as may, in each case, appear just and reasonable.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Collectors of land revenue to bring forward any claim of right which govt. may appear to possess to such treasure.

Summary enquiry to be instituted by the judges of zillah and city courts.

How judgment to be awarded by the judge.

390. If no claim of right be preferred either by Government or by an individual within the period limited by the notification directed in Section 4 of this Regulation, or if the claim or claims so preferred, shall not on a summary enquiry appear to be well founded; and the amount or value of the hidden treasure found at the same time, or in the same place, shall not exceed one lack of sicca rupees; the zillah or city Judge shall adjudge the same to the person or persons who may have discovered the treasure, and deposited it in the Zillah or City court, as required by Section 2, subject only to the actual expence which may have been incurred in adopting the measures prescribed by this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

What judgment to be passed by the judge in cases in which no claim shall be preferred either by govt. or by individuals, & the amount may not exceed one lack of sicca rupees.

391. If the amount or value of any hidden treasure found at the same time, or in the same place, shall exceed one lack of sicca rupees, and no claim of right thereto be established, judgment shall be given according to the preceding section in favor of the person or persons who may have discovered and deposited the treasure, to the amount of one lack of sicca rupees; and the excess above that sum shall be declared at the disposal of Government.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Decision to be passed by the judge in cases in which the amount of treasure shall exceed one lack of sa. rs. and no claim of right thereto be established.

392. If any person discovering hidden treasure of the description specified in Section 2 of this Regulation, shall not, within one month after finding the same, give notice to the Judge of the Zillah or City court, in conformity with Section 4, and make the deposit hereby required, he shall be considered to have forfeited all right and title to the treasure; as well as all claim to a reimbursement of expence, compensation or reward under the provisions of this Regulation; and the treasure so clandestinely withheld from public investigation, shall, on a summary suit by any subsequent claimant of right, and proof of a just title thereto, be adjudged to the legal owner with interest and costs; or if no private claim be established, shall on the application of the vakeel of Government under instructions from the Board of Revenue, or the Board of Commissioners in the western provinces, or the Commissioner in Behar and Benares, be liable to confiscation to Government.—Reg. 5, 1817, Sect. 8.

The summary decisions of the judges of the zillah and city courts shall be open to a summary appeal to the provincial courts.

393. The summary decisions of the Judges of the Zillah or City courts, which may be passed under this Regulation, shall be open to a summary appeal to the Provincial courts, under the general rules in force relative to summary appeals.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

The decision of two or more judges of the provincial courts on such appeals, to be final.

Provision for admitting a second summary appeal before the S. D. A.

394. The decisions of two or more Judges of the Provincial courts on such appeals shall be final; unless the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut should, on the face of the decree, or on inspection of any documents exhibited with it, see just and sufficient ground for admitting a second summary appeal to that court, in which case only such further appeal may be admitted, and proceeded upon under the general rules in force for summary appeals.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

405. The only point upon which the Court deem it necessary to pronounce an opinion is, as to whether the Register was, or was not, competent to decline registering a deed brought to him for that purpose on paper not bearing the prescribed stamp; and on this point I am desired to observe with reference to the provisions contained in Clause 3, Section 6, Regulation 16, 1824, and Clause 1, Section 7 of the same enactment, to which your attention is particularly directed, that it was not only competent to, but incumbent on the Register to decline registering an instrument not drawn up on the paper required by that Regulation, provided that, with reference to Section 8, the irregular stamp does not equal or exceed in value the stamp which ought to have been used. If it equal or exceed the regular stamp in value, the Register has clearly no right to take exception to it, or to decline registering the deed so stamped.—Con. 438, 26th Nov. 1826.

406. Copies of deeds brought for registry, as directed in Section 2, Regulation 20, 1812, being intended merely for record, should be admitted to be drawn out on plain paper.—Con. 119, 28th Jan. 1813.

407. A Register of deeds would not be justified in refusing to register any document presented to him, by reason of its being written in the Persian language.—Con. 1230, West. C. 5th July, Cal. C. 2d Aug. 1839.

408. The Register refused to register a deed of sale presented by A., as executed by him in favour of B., on the plea that a deed of sale for the same land, purporting to have been executed by A. in favour of C., had already been registered by a person acting under A.'s mooktarnamah duly attested. Held that the Register should register the deed brought to him for that purpose, leaving it to the courts to decide which deed was the true and valid document, but that the Register however should satisfy himself as to the identity of the person registering in person, or ascertain the due attestation and validity of the mooktarnamah if by attorney.—Con. 1351, Cal. C. 22d July, West. C. 12th Aug. 1842.

409. A deed of sale having been produced before a Register for the purpose of being registered, he after a summary enquiry ordered the sale to be set aside. This order declared to be illegal, the case not having come before him judicially.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Sept. 1813, vol. 2, p. 85.

410. I have the honor to report, for the information of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that on the occasion of my late circuit in this division, I inspected the register books of deeds in the zillahs of Sarun, Shahabad and Tirhoot. In the two former, the Ced. and the margin of the register. Registers to be deposited in court.

At Tirhoot the practice of registering mooktarnamahs still prevailed, and the description noticed in my letter to your address under date the 24th of September, 1831. I am sending rules Judge to call for, from the register, and furnish an explanation of the continuance by an authority after the illegality had been pointed out, as stated in my letter above alluded to, and an exact now the honor to submit a copy of the reply of the Register of deeds, which per one of the deemed satisfactory by the Sudder Court.

I deem it incumbent on me at the same time to notice a practice that prevails with it the Tirhoot, which I conceive to be infinitely more objectionable, and of the legality of which is doubtful, viz. that of registering deeds called, or rather miscalled, ijaranamahs, in a book kept for the purpose. The nature of the deeds I cannot better explain than by the following quotation of the purport of the last deed registered:—"Meer Muttooh, aged 26, binds himself over for the period of 85 years, and his descendants for ever, for the sum of 18 rupees, to Omrao Sing, vakeel of the Civil court at Tirhoot."

In another, a person disposes of the services of the slave girl, and of her children for of 81 years, for the sum of 200 rupees; and the rest were generally of a similar purport.

My object in now noticing these deeds, is to obtain the opinion of the Court of Sudder, all records to be returned with a certificate endorsed thereon.

of 1812, or any other law enacted for the guidance of the Register of deeds. day

In my general report to Government I purpose commenting on the policy of any law—openly supporting, by the records and decisions of our courts, a monstrous system of slavery, perhaps the only relic of the barbaric operation of Mahomedan law, which has not been either modified or superseded by our more mild and civilized code.

I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 24th ult. reporting that you had examined the books of the offices of Register of deeds in the districts of Sarun, Shahabad and Tirhoot, on the occasion of your late circuit of the division. no reply, I am directed to observe that as deeds of the description alluded to in your letter are not specified in Regulation 36 of 1793, or Regulation 20 of 1812, the registry of them is illegal under the prohibition contained in Section 7 of the Regulation last quoted; and to request that you will communicate this opinion to the Judge of Tirhoot for the information and guidance of the Register of deeds.—Con. 812, 16th Aug. 1833.

A hibbanamah cannot be registered after the death of the donor.

Forms.

Persons who bring deeds for registry are not required to sign the copy made in the registry book.

424. The Court having reason to believe that it is still the practice, in some districts, to require persons who bring deeds for registry to sign the copy made in the register book, as directed by Section 9, Regulation 36, 1793, and Section 9, Regulation 17, 1803; direct me to request that you will inform the Register of deeds of your district that, as the provisions of the sections above cited have been superseded by Section 2, Regulation 20, 1812, he should abstain from the practice, if it obtains in his office.—Cir. Ord. 2d Sept. 1836.

Who are required to attend the register at the time of registry.

425. I am directed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from the Judge, under date the 22d July last, with its enclosures, requesting the Court's construction of Section 9, Regulation 17, 1803, relative to the forms to be observed in the registry of deeds. The Court understand the intention of the section to be, that the person executing the deed, or his authorized representative (mooktar) must attend to acknowledge the execution, and that one or more witnesses to the execution of the deed must also attend to prove the execution by their testimony on oath. When the person executing the deed may depute a mooktar with a mooktarnamah, instead of attending himself, to acknowledge the deed, the execution of the mooktarnamah should also be proved by the examination of two witnesses on oath. But the Court do not consider it to be required by the Regulation cited, that either the party executing the deed, or his mooktar, should be examined on oath.—Con. 226, 3d Nov. 1815.

Certificates of the registry of deeds to be considered as evidence of their registry.

426. The certificate of the Register, endorsed agreeably to the forms described in Clause 2d of the preceding section, shall be considered in all Courts of justice to be sufficient evidence of the registry.—Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 10.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 10.

427. It shall likewise be the duty of the Register to prepare, as soon after the expiration of each English year as possible, an index to the register books.—Reg. 20, 1812, Sect. 9.

Registers to preserve carefully and enter in a book all powers of attorney for registering deeds.

428. The Registers are also hereby required, not only to preserve with care the powers of attorney which may be produced by persons attending on behalf of others to procure deeds to be registered, but likewise to cause all such powers to be regularly entered in a separate book, to be kept for that purpose.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

Powers of attorney produced by persons attending on the behalf of others should be entered in a separate book.

429. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th ultimo and its enclosures, and in reply to inform you that the Court are of opinion that under Section 10, Regulation 20, 1812, powers of attorney produced by persons attending on behalf of others to procure the registry of deeds should be entered in a separate book, as directed by Section 7 of the same Regulation.—Con. 732, Cal. C. 9th Nov., West. C. 7th Dec. 1832.

Persons counterfeiting or falsifying entries in the register books or certificates to be prosecuted criminally.

430. If any person or persons shall at any time be suspected, on sufficient grounds for commitment, of counterfeiting or falsifying any entry in any of the register books ordered to be kept, or any certificate such as is directed to be granted by this Regulation, he or they shall be prosecuted on the part of Government in the Criminal court of judicature, and the several Registers shall, as agents for the prosecution, adopt every legal measure in their power for the proof of the crime, and the due execution of the laws against the offender.—Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 12.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 12.

Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 11.*

Register to allow all persons to inspect the register books. To grant copies of deeds.

[Vide also Regulation 10 of 1829, Schedule A., Art. 20, 23, and Schedule B., Art. 3.—Con. 428, 4th Aug. 1826.

The value of the stamp on which copies of deeds not filed in a court of judicature, and required from the office of register are to be written.

SECTION XLVI.

It shall be left to the option of all persons to register or not, as they may think proper, any of the descriptions of deeds specified in the preceding section, that have been executed, or which may be executed, prior to the 1st of January, 1796. The not registering such deeds, shall in no wise operate to the prejudice of the rights of the parties thereto, which shall remain the same as if this Regulation had never been enacted.—Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 4.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 4.

The not registering of the deeds specified in those three clauses, shall in no wise operate

Deeds specified in the three last clauses of sec. 3, whether executed before or after 1st Jan. 1796, may be registered or Deeds of sale or gift executed subsequent to the 1st Jan. 1796.

437. Every deed of sale, or gift, of the description specified in Clause 2, Section 3, that may be executed on or after the 1st January, 1796, and a memorial of which shall be duly registered according to this Regulation, shall, provided its authenticity be established to the satisfaction of the court, invalidate any other deed of sale or gift for the same property, executed subsequent to the said date which may not have been registered, and whether such second or other deed shall have been executed prior or subsequent to the registered deed.—Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 6, Cl. 1.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 6, Cl. 1.

Deeds of mortgage executed subsequent to the 1st Jan. 1796, duly registered to be discharged in preference to mortgages granted subsequent to that date not registered.

438. Every deed of mortgage of the description specified in Clause 3, Section 3, that may be executed on or after the 1st January, 1796, and a memorial of which shall be duly registered according to this Regulation, and provided its authenticity be established to the satisfaction of the court, shall be satisfied in preference to any other mortgage on the same property executed subsequent to the said date which may not have been registered, and whether such second or other mortgage shall have been executed prior or subsequent to the registered mortgage.—*Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Qualification of the rules in the two preceding clauses applicable to cases in which persons may purchase, take on gift or mortgage property, knowing it to have been previously sold, given, or mortgaged subsequent to the 1st Jan. 1796.

439. It being the object, however, of the rules in the two preceding clauses, to prevent persons being defrauded by purchasing, or receiving in gift, or taking in mortgage, real property which may have been before sold, given, or mortgaged, subsequent to the 1st January, 1796, and as persons can never suffer such imposition when they are apprized of the previous transfer or mortgage of the property, it is to be understood that if any person shall purchase, receive in gift, or take in mortgage, any real property, knowing such property to have been previously sold, given, or mortgaged, to any other person subsequent to the 1st January, 1796, and that the deed of sale, gift, or mortgage has not been registered, and shall register his own deed, in such case the deed of sale, gift, or mortgage of such subsequent purchaser, donee, or mortgagee, which may have been registered, shall not from the registry of it invalidate, or be discharged in preference to the unregistered deed of sale, gift, or mortgage, first executed, provided the authenticity of the latter be established to the satisfaction of the court.—*Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 6, Cl. 3.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. 440. Whereas the registry laws now in force in the respective mofussils of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, provide that registered conveyances and other instruments affecting titles to land and other interests therein shall not take precedence of unregistered conveyances and instruments in cases where the party registering shall have known of the existence of such unregistered conveyances or other instruments. And whereas, a complicated system of law has arisen out of the construction which is to be given to the provisions regarding the knowledge of parties, or notice had by them in such cases. And whereas, much perjury has been committed in investigations touching the fact of such notice or knowledge, and much of the time of the courts has been occupied with such investigations. And whereas, in consequence of forgeries, perjuries, fraudulent concealments, and other practices, no person purchasing or advancing money on the security of land, can safely rely on the conveyances or other instruments affecting the title to such land or other interest therein affording, by means of their being registered, a security against conveyances or instruments being set up, as of previous date, by unregistered claimants: It is hereby enacted, that all provisions contained in any Regulation or Regulations of the Bengal, Madras, or Bombay codes, touching such knowledge or notice as aforesaid, of previous unregistered conveyances, or instruments affecting titles to land or other interests therein, shall be repealed from the first day of May next; and every conveyance or other instrument affecting title to land, or any interest in the same authorized by those codes respectively, to be registered, shall, so far as regards any lands to which the same relate, be void as against any person claiming under any subsequent conveyance or other instrument duly registered, unless the prior conveyance or instrument shall have been duly registered before the registration of the subsequent conveyance or instrument; any alleged notice or knowledge of such prior conveyance or instrument notwithstanding. Provided always, that this Act shall not be construed to extend to any conveyance or other instrument made before the first day of May next.—Act I. 1843.

441. Whereas doubts have arisen as to the true meaning and construction of Act No. I. of 1843.—It is hereby enacted, that the said Act [I. 1843] is repealed, except in so far as it repeals all provisions contained in any Regulation or Regulations of the Bengal, Madras, or Bombay codes, touching the knowledge or notice had by parties to registered conveyances and other instruments affecting titles to land and other interests therein, of the existence of unregistered conveyances or other instruments affecting such titles or other interests therein.—Act XIX. 1843, Sect. 1.

Repeals act 1, 1843, except so far as it repeals provisions touching knowledge or notice of the existence of unregistered instruments, &c.

442. And it is hereby enacted, that from the first day of May last past, every deed of sale or gift of lands, houses or other real property, a memorial of which has been or shall be duly registered according to law, shall, provided its authenticity be established to the satisfaction of the court, invalidate any other deed of sale or gift for the same property which may not have been registered, and whether such second or other deed shall have been executed prior or subsequent to the registered deed—and that from the said day every deed of mortgage on land, houses and other real property, as well as certificates of the discharge of such incumbrances, a memorial of which has been or shall be duly registered according to law, and provided its authenticity be established to the satisfaction of the court, shall be satisfied in preference to any other mortgage on the same property which may not have been registered, and whether such second or other mortgage shall have been executed prior or subsequent to the registered mortgage, any knowledge or notice of any such unregistered deed or certificate alleged to be had by any party to such registered deed or certificate, notwithstanding. this section contained shall be construed to extend to any deed or certificate made before the said first day of May last past.—Act XIX. 1843, Sect. 2.

No conveyance, &c. affecting title to land other than such deed or certificates as aforesaid shall be void for want of registration.

443. And it is hereby declared and enacted, that no conveyance or other instrument affecting title to land, or any interest in the same whether made before or after the said first day of May last past, other than such deeds or certificates as aforesaid, are or shall be in any respect void for want of registration, any Act, Regulation, or law to the contrary notwithstanding.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

It shall be optional with persons contracting indigo engagements to register them or not, but registered engagements shall be satisfied in preference to others.

444. It shall be optional with persons contracting engagements for the delivery of indigo to register them, or not, as they may judge proper ; but every engagement contracted for the delivery of indigo after the 1st day of January, 1813, which may be duly registered according to the provisions of this Regulation, shall, in case it be in other respects a legal and bonâ fide engagement, be satisfied in preference to every other contract for the delivery of indigo, being the produce of the same ground, which may not have been registered, whether the last mentioned deed shall have been executed previously or subsequently to the registered deed.—Reg. 20, 1812, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

SECTION XLVII.

Registry of Deeds—Fees.

Fee to be allowed to the register for registering deeds furnishing copies and making searches.

Register may refuse to perform the official acts required of him until the fee be paid.

To defray the expense of the office from the fees.

445. The Register shall be allowed a fee of two rupees for every deed registered by him, to be paid by the party causing the same to be registered, and no more ; a fee of one rupee for every copy furnished of a deed registered by him, to be paid by the party applying for such copy, and no more ; and a fee of half a rupee for every search made on an inspection of the register, to be paid by the party inspecting the same, and no more. The Register is authorized to refuse the official acts required from him until these fees be paid, and from such fees he shall provide the necessary native officers to make the entries and copies directed, as well as the requisite stationery.—Reg. 36, 1793, Sect. 14.—Benares Reg. 28, 1795, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 17, 1803, Sect. 14.

Fees allowed to the register for each engagement.

446. The Register shall be allowed a fee of two rupees for every engagement registered by him, to be paid by the party causing the same to be registered, and no more ; a fee of one rupee for every copy furnished of a deed registered by him, to be paid by the party applying for such copy, and no more ; and a fee of half a rupee for every search made on an inspection of the register book, to be paid by the party inspecting the same, and no more. The Register is authorized to refuse the official acts required from him until these fees be paid, and from such fees he shall provide the necessary native officers to make the entries and copies directed, as well as the requisite stationery.—Reg. 20, 1812, Sect. 4.

SECTION XLVIII.

Registry of Deeds—Appointment of an Officiating Register.

447. The office for the registry of deeds in the several zillahs and cities, which is provided for by Regulation 36, 1793, extended to Benares by Regulation 28, 1795, and to Cuttack by Section 32 of Regulation 12, 1805, and re-enacted for the Ceded Provinces in Regulation 17, 1803, extended to the Conquered Provinces and Bundelkund by clause first, Section 17, Regulation 8, 1805, shall in all cases be established at the station of the Zillah or City court, and shall, as directed by the Regulations abovementioned, be superintended by the Register of the Zillah or City court, or where there may be more Registers than one, by the Register employed at the station of the Zillah or City court, so long as he may continue to reside at such station, and as already required by the Regulations in force, he shall personally discharge the duties of the office committed to him, whilst present at the station, unless prevented by sickness, or otherwise; in which case, as well as in all cases of temporary absence from the station, he is permitted, as heretofore, with the approbation of the Judge of the Zillah or City court to which he may be attached, to appoint a deputy, being a covenanted servant of the Company, and duly qualified to act for him; who after taking an oath, similar to that prescribed for the Register of deeds, is authorized to perform the several acts which the Register is empowered to perform.—Reg. 4, 1824, Sect. 2.

The office for the registry of deeds to be established at the sudder station of the zillah or city court.

Superintended by the register.

If there be more than one register, by the register employed at the sudder station.

If the register be prevented from performing this duty by sickness, &c. may appoint a deputy.

With approbation of the judge.

Deputy to be a covenanted servant.

Must take oath.

448. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, and its enclosures, requesting to know whether Mr. W. B. Jackson, the officiating second Register of your court, is authorized to register deeds while officiating as Collector of the district, or whether he must be re-appointed to act in that capacity, under the provisions of Regulation 4, 1824.—As Mr. Jackson has been already appointed to officiate as Register of deeds, the Court do not think it necessary that you should re-appoint him to officiate in the capacity, whilst acting as Collector, under the Regulation abovementioned.—Con. 366, 25th June 1824.

An officiating register of deeds may act in that capacity while acting as collector.

449. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant and its enclosures, and in reply to communicate to you their opinion that a Register of deeds, not being the Register of the Zillah or City court, is entitled, while officiating for the Judge during the absence of the latter, to fees on the registry of all deeds executed by him.—Con. 743, 14th Dec. 1832.

A register of deeds not being the register of the zillah court is entitled, while officiating in the absence of the latter, to the fees on all deeds registered by him.

450. Whenever a zillah or city Register, vested with the superintendence of the registry office, may be absent from the station where the office is established without having appointed a deputy, in pursuance of the foregoing section, the Judge of the station is hereby authorized to appoint some duly qualified covenanted servant of the Company to act as Deputy Register of deeds, and the deputy so appointed, after being duly sworn, shall be authorized to perform the prescribed duties of the office.—Reg. 4, 1824, Sect. 3.

If a register vested with the superintendence of the office be absent from the sudder station, and have not appointed a deputy, the judge authorized to appoint a deputy.

Judge shall appoint a qualified person being a covenanted servant to act as register of deeds, when from a vacancy in an office of register, a deputy cannot be appointed.

If there be no qualified person at the station, the judge is authorized and required to perform the duty himself.

Registry of deeds hitherto duly executed by other covenanted servant than the register, with the permission of judge, in absence of register equally valid, as if executed by register.

Deputy or acting register to receive the fees.

Fees to be carried to the credit of govt. when the judge registers deeds, after defraying the necessary expence of the establishment.

Govt. alone can permanently appoint a register whether in zillahs under reg. 36, 1793, or at subordinate stations under act 30, 1838. A vacancy is in every instance to be notified to government.

The judges will be guided in their nomination of persons as registers by the comparative fitness of the candidates. The office should not be liable to frequent change of incumbents, and the civil surgeon should generally be chosen.

451. It shall moreover be the duty of the zillah or city Judge to appoint a qualified person, being a covenanted servant of the Company, to officiate as Register of deeds, whenever, from a vacancy in the office of Register, the nomination of a deputy cannot take effect agreeably to the preceding section.—Reg. 4, 1824, Sect. 4.

452. In the event of there being no covenanted servant at the station, to whom in the cases mentioned in the two preceding sections, the Judge may deem it proper to confide the office of registering deeds, he is himself hereby authorized and required to perform the prescribed duties of the office.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

453. The registry of all deeds which may have been hitherto duly executed by a zillah or city Judge, or other covenanted servant, with his sanction, in the absence of the Register, is hereby declared to be of equal validity, as if it had been executed by the zillah or city Register.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

454. The deputy or officiating Register appointed under Sections 2, 3 or 4 of this Regulation, shall receive during the time of his officiating, the fees authorized by the Regulations; but whenever the Judge may perform the duty, under Section 5, the net amount of such fees after defraying the necessary expence of the establishment, shall be carried to the credit of Government.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

455. In pursuance of the instructions of the Government, the Court intimate that the Government alone have the power of permanently appointing Registers of deeds, whether in zillahs under the provisions of Regulation 36, 1793, or at subordinate stations, under Act XXX. 1838, and that the Judges must in every instance of a vacancy in the office of Register of deeds, notify the same to Government, that the appointment may be filled up.—Cir. Ord. 12th Dec. 1845, par. 1.

456. I am directed by the Court to transmit to you, for your information and guidance, the accompanying copy of a letter (No. 178, of the 28th ultimo) from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, explanatory of the principles which should guide the zillah Judges in selecting persons for the office of Register of deeds. You are requested to observe, however, that although any person whatever may be appointed to the office of Register of deeds, constituted under Act XXX. 1838, none but covenanted servants and Principal Sudder Ameen are eligible to the office at sudder stations, constituted under the previous Regulations; therefore, in nominating persons to Government for the situation of Register of deeds, the description of office, which has become vacant, should be specified.—Extract—"With reference to the recent correspondence with the sudder court, on the subject of the appointment of Registers of deeds and to several applications from zillah Judges on that subject which are now before His Honor, I am directed to request that the Court will take an opportunity of instructing the zillah Judges that they should be guided in their nomination of officers to fill vacant registrarships by the comparative fitness of the candidates who may present themselves for selection, without regard to any other consideration. It is, in His Honor's opinion, of much consequence that the office of Registrar should not be liable to frequent change of incumbents, and, for this reason, the civil Surgeon of a station would usually be a fitter candidate than the covenanted assistant. On the other hand, the civil Surgeons do not always possess sufficient knowledge of the Native languages to discriminate between different sorts of deeds presented for registry, and on this ground it may sometimes happen that the covenanted assistant is a fitter candidate than the civil Surgeon. But there may be at a station individuals, in or out of the Service, fitter than either the civil Surgeon or the assistant to the Magistrate ; and when this is the case, and the law may admit of it, the Deputy Governor would not desire that the choice of the Judge should be confined to officers in the Service, or to any particular branch of the Service. The Judges should, therefore, in reporting their nominations to Government, explain always that they have adverted to these considerations in making their selections.”—Cir. Ord. 27th Feb. 1846.

When there are persons better fitted than the civil surgeon, or the assistant to the magistrate, they should be preferred.

SECTION XLIX.

Registry of Deeds—Supervision.

457. In order at the same time to establish a proper control over the conduct of the public officers entrusted with the discharge of the duty of registering deeds, it is hereby enacted, that the endorsement on the copies required to be kept of the said deeds by the provisions of this Regulation, and the transcripts thereof in the register book, shall be both countersigned by the Judge of the adawlut, within one month of the date of registry, unless prevented by absence ; and in that case within one month after his return.—Reg. 20, 1812, Sect. 6, Cl. 2.

The endorsement on copies of deeds kept under this regulation and the transcripts thereof, in the register book, to be countersigned by the judge, and at what period.

458. On affixing his name to the copies of the deeds and to the register books, it shall be the duty of the Judge to report to the Secretary to Government in the judicial department, for the information of the Governor General in Council, any errors or irregularities, or any deviation from the established Regulations, which he may have discovered in the conduct of the business confided to the Register of deeds, or to his Native officers.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

The judge to report for the information of govt., any irregularities he may discover in the conduct of the business.

459. The Judges of the Zillah and City courts having been this day instructed to submit for the inspection of the Commissioners of Circuit, on their holding the half-yearly sessions of jail delivery, the registry books of their courts and the transcripts of the deeds filed for record. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to request that you will inspect them, when so submitted, and bring to the notice of the Court any irregularity observable in the mode of registry and countersigning by the Judges, as directed by the provisions of Regulation 20 of 1812.—Cir. Ord. 25th March 1831.

The registry books of the zillah and city judges will be periodically submitted to the inspection of the commissioners. The commissioner, on inspecting them, will bring to the notice of the sudder court, any irregularity observable.

SECTION L.

460. It is hereby enacted, that Sections 2 and 14, Regulation 36, 1793, the provisions of which were extended by Regulation 28, 1795 ; Regulation 17, 1803 ; Section 17, Regulation 8, 1805 ; and Section 32, Regulation 12, 1805 ; Section 4, and Clauses 2 and 3, Section 6, Regulation 20, 1812, and Section 2, Regulation 4, 1824, of the Bengal code, be modified.—Act XXX. 1838, Sect. 1.

Sec. 2 and 14, reg. 36, 1793; reg. 17, 1803; sec. 17, reg. 8, 1805; sec. 32, reg. 12, 1805; sec. 4, cl. 2 & 3, sec. 6, reg. 20, 1812, and sec. 2, reg. 4, 1824, modified.

Offices for the registry of deeds may be established at any civil station.

461. And it is hereby enacted, that in addition to the offices to which those sections relate, offices for the registry of deeds may be established at any civil stations, and may be placed by the orders of Government under the superintendence of any officers resident at such stations whom Government may nominate for that purpose.—Act XXX. 1838, Sect. 2.

Same fees payable at offices established under this act, as at old offices.

462. And it is hereby enacted, that the registration of deeds at any office of registry authorized by this Act shall be subject to the payment of the same fees as are prescribed in Section 14, Regulation 36, 1793, for deeds registered at an office established at the station of a Zillah or City court.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Sec. 15, reg. 36, 1793; and cl. 2 & 3, sec. 6, reg. 20, 1812; shall not apply to offices and persons appointed under this act.

463. And it is hereby enacted, that Section 15, Regulation 36, 1793, and Clauses 2 and 3, Section 6, Regulation 20, 1812, of the Bengal code, shall not be held applicable to officers and persons established and appointed for the registry of deeds under this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Fees for registering deeds in European language to be paid at the established rates of section writing in addition to fees under sec. 14, reg. 36, 1793.

464. And it is hereby enacted, that persons desirous of registering deeds written in any European language at any office of registry in the territories subject to the Presidency of Bengal, shall be required to pay for transcribing the same according to the established rates of section writing, in addition to the fees prescribed by Section 14, Regulation 36, 1793.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Zillah judge, &c. may appoint temporary registrars in case of death or absence of registrars.

465. And it is hereby enacted, that in case of the death or absence on leave of any person appointed by Government to register deeds under this Act, it shall be lawful for the zillah Judge or other officer specially authorized by Government, to appoint any person whom he may think proper to take temporary charge of the office and to register deeds in the same manner as if such person had been appointed to the office by the orders of Government.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

SECTION LI.

Registry of Deeds—Recapitulation of the Rules by the Sudder Court.

Govt. has ordered that detailed instruction shall be drawn out for those employed in the duty of registration.

466. The enactment of Act XIX. of 1843, having greatly increased the importance of providing for the punctual and correct registration of deeds, the Government have been pleased to direct that offices for that purpose shall be established at every civil station, in accordance with Section 2, Act XXX. of 1838, and that detailed instructions, for the guidance of those who may be entrusted with the duty, shall be drawn out and promulgated in the Government Gazette.—Cir. Ord. 31st Jan. 1845, par. 1.

The following rules embodying the provisions of law, & the previous authoritative orders are published for general information.

467. Accordingly, the subjoined rules, embodying those provisions of law, and those authoritative orders, which seem to require denotation, are published with the sanction of Government for the information of civil Judges, and for the guidance of Registers of deeds.—Ibid, par. 2.

Recapitulation of the regulation in which the rules for

468. It may be advisable to point out the several Regulations prescribing rules for the registry of deeds, and, in the succeeding paragraphs, to indicate those provisions, which call for the particular attention of those to whom the duty may be confided : these are Regulation 36 of 1793, for the Lower Provinces, corresponding with Regulation 17 of 1803, for the Ceded Provinces (extended to the Conquered Provinces by Clause 1, Section 17, Regulation 8, 1825) ; Regulation 20 of 1812 ; Regulation 4 of 1824 ; Act XXX. of 1838, and Act XIX. of 1843.—Cir. Ord. 31st Jan. 1845, par. 3.

registration are to be found.

469. By Section 3, Regulation 36 of 1793, (Regulation 17 of 1803, for the Ceded Provinces,) and Sections 3 and 5, Regulation 20 of 1812, Registers are required to register memorials of the following deeds : 1stly. Deeds of sale, or gift of lands, houses, and other real property. 2dly. Deeds of mortgage on land, houses, and other real property, as well as certificates of the discharge of such incumbrances. 3dly. Leases and limited assignments of land, houses, and other real property, including, generally all conveyances, used for the temporary transfer of real property. 4thly. Wusseatnamahs, or wills. 5thly. Written authorities from husbands to their wives to adopt sons, after their (the husbands') demise. 6thly. Engagements contracted by indigo planters, whether Europeans or Natives, with ryots and others for the delivery of indigo plant. 7thly. Bonds, promissory notes, and generally all obligations for the payment of money, held by Construction No. 1270, to include security bonds for the eventual payment of costs of suits. It is enacted by Clause 1, Section 8, Regulation 36, 1793, (Regulation 17 of 1803, for the Ceded Provinces,) and Section 7, Regulation 20 of 1812, that each species of deed shall be registered in a separate book, which shall be uniformly made of English paper, and carefully bound ; and by the latter Regulation and section, Registers are expressly prohibited from admitting to registry any deeds, except those above specified. Each leaf of every register book is required by Section 8, Regulation 36 of 1793, (Regulation 20 of 1812, for the Ceded Provinces,) to be paged, and every deed entered in such books must be numbered in an annual series, and the date of the month and the year, as well as the time of day when registry may have been effected must be noted in the book, in which the said deed may be registered.—Ibid, par. 4.

Nature of the deeds to be registered.

Mode of registration.

Paging of each leaf.

Numbering & dating of the deeds.

470. The Court, before detailing the forms to be observed in the registry of deeds, desire to remind Registers that they are required by Section 10 of the last cited Regulation, not only to preserve carefully all powers of attorney produced by parties attending on the part of others to procure deeds to be registered, but to cause copies of all such documents to be regularly transcribed in a separate book, which must be kept for that purpose. This injunction is reiterated in a Construction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 732, dated 9th November, 1832.—Ibid, par. 5.

Powers of attorney from those who send deeds to be registered, to be entered in a separate book.

471. The Court proceed to point out the rules prescribed for the registry of deeds, merely observing that the forms established by Regulation 36 of 1793, (Regulation 17 of 1803, for the Ceded Provinces,) having been found to involve delay and inconvenience have undergone modification by the enactment of Regulation 20 of 1812. 1stly. It is incumbent on all Registers of deeds to attend daily at office, during certain specified hours, for the despatch of all business appertaining thereto, and, after having determined the hours of such attendance, to affix a written notice thereof in some conspicuous part of their offices for general information. 2dly. The Registers of deeds will restrict themselves to the ascertainment of the fact, that the deed prescribed for registry has been actually and duly executed by the parties thereto. With this view, before admitting any deed to registry, the Register will require the attendance at his office of the person desirous of procuring registration of any deed, or his authorized representative, together with the original deed and an exact copy thereof, "attested by one at least of the parties to the instrument, and by one of the witnesses to the execution of it." The Register on having ascertained, by the evidence on oath of one or more witnesses to the execution, that the deed has been duly executed, should satisfy himself that the copy corresponds precisely with the original deed, and should reject any transcripts, in which interpolations, interlineations, or erasures may be apparent, refusing registry, until a fair legible copy be presented. This will entail no expence on parties, as it has been declared, by Construction No. 119, dated 28th January, 1813, that copies of deeds brought for registry, being intended only for record, should be admitted to be drawn out on plain paper. 3dly. It will not escape the observation of Registers of deeds, that, agreeably to Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 20 of 1812, bonds, promissory notes, and other obligations for the payment of money, can be registered only on the application of the party, by whom they may have been executed.

4. Process of registration.

4thly. The Register, having noted on the back of the copy, presented and compared as above, the date and the hour of the day on which it was brought for the purpose of being registered, and having caused it to be filed according to the order of time, in which it may have been received, must have it entered in the register book in the same order; and on completion of the entry in the manner stated, is required to return the original deed to the person from whom it may have been received, with a certificate under his signature endorsed on the deed specifying the date and the hour on which it was registered, and the page on which it is entered in the register book. 5thly. By clauses 4 and 5 of the same section and Regulation, Registers are bound, on application being made to them, to allow parties to inspect the copies of deeds attested, endorsed and filed, as above, as well as the register books, and to grant copies of all deeds registered by them to those whom they may concern. Directions regarding the value of stamped paper, on which such copies should be engrossed, will be found in a Construction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 428, dated 4th August, 1826, and Regulation 10 of 1829, Schedule A, Articles 20, 23, and Schedule B, Article 3.—Cir. Ord. 31st Jan. 1845, par. 7.

5. Permission to parties to inspect the copies of all deeds.

Value of stamped paper to be used.

Remuneration of the register.

472. The remuneration to which Registers of deeds are declared by Section 4, Regulation 20 of 1812, to be entitled, is as follows:—1stly. A fee of two rupees for every engagement or deed registered by them to be paid by the party causing the same to be registered. 2dly. A fee of one rupee for every copy furnished of a deed registered by him, to be paid by the applicant for the said copy. 3dly. A fee of half a rupee for every search made on an inspection of the register books, to be paid by the party inspecting the same; and until these fees be paid, they are authorized to refuse the official acts required from them.—Ibid, par. 8.

Facilities which have been created for registration.

473. A preferential right having been declared by Section 2, Act XIX. of 1843, to attach to deeds of sale or gift of lands, houses or other real property, as well as deeds of mortgage or lands, and the same descriptions of property, a memorial of which shall have been duly registered according to law, it is obviously desirable, that facilities for such registration, on which the security of property will be greatly dependant, should be multiplied, that the duties of the office should be conducted with the utmost regularity, and with the strictest adherence to the forms prescribed by the Regulations above cited, and that no interruption to the fulfilment of those duties should be suffered by the temporary absence or incapacity of the Register. By the establishment of a separate office for the Register of deeds at every civil station in the lower provinces, every facility that the law permits will be afforded, while a due observance of the preceding instructions, which have been advisedly drawn out in greater detail than may at first sight appear requisite, will secure, it is hoped, the punctual and correct registration of every deed presented for that purpose. Further, the prevention of the interruptions above alluded to, is provided for by Regulation 4 of 1824, which authorizes the Registers of deeds at Sudder stations, in cases of temporary incapacity from any cause, or absence from the station, to appoint a deputy to act for them having first obtained the sanction of the Judge of the Civil court, to which they may be attached, and by Section 6, Act XXX. of 1838, which empowers the zillah Judges in the like cases of death, absence, or temporary incapacity, to appoint any person, whom he may think proper to take temporary charge of the offices constituted by the said Act. It is only needful, as regards these provisions, to remark, that at a sudder station no other officers than Principal Sudder Ameens, and covenanted servants of Government, among whom Surgeons are declared by Construction No. 611, to be included, are eligible; while at a station where no Civil court is located, the same restriction does not exist. It is the duty of the Judges to see that every vacancy is filled up under the provisions above cited, and to satisfy themselves that Registers of deeds before entering on the duties of the office, are fully conversant with the Regulations by which their proceedings must be guided, and with the instructions contained in this Circular order.—Cir. Ord. 31st Jan. 1845, par. 9.

Register may appoint a deputy.

When this is not done, the civil judge may depute some one to act.

Who are eligible to these offices.

Duty of the judges.

474. As regards Registers of deeds at the stations of Zillah and City courts, an obligation is imposed on the civil Judges of supervising their conduct, of countersigning the endorsements on the copies of deeds required by the provisions of Regulation 20 of 1812, to be filed and the transcript thereof in the register books, and of reporting any errors or irregularities, or any deviations from the established Regulations, which he may detect in the performance of the duties confided to the officers in question; and the Court expect, that these obligations will in future be punctually fulfilled. This control has been dispensed with as concerns Registers of deeds appointed under Act XXX. of 1838, by Section 4 of that enactment; but the Judges may still, by inspecting the register books sent to them for the purpose of being deposited with their records, ascertain whether the duties of the officer have been conducted with due regularity and order. And they are hereby required to observe this precaution, reporting for the information of the court any illegal or erroneous acts thereby brought to light.—Ibid, par. 10.

Control of the civil judges at civil and at subordinate stations.

Reports to be made by them to their superiors.

475. The Court having reason to believe that the practice of preparing annual indexes to the register books, as directed by Section 9, Regulation 20, 1812, has fallen into disuse, are pleased to direct its immediate revival, and with the view of establishing uniformity of system, to annex two forms, according to which the index will be made out. Each of these indexes will terminate with the year. To each a separate book, made of English paper, paged and carefully bound, must be assigned, and for the entries under each letter one or more leaves must be set apart. The entries should be made at the time of registration, with the utmost accuracy, and the order of the Persian alphabet may, perhaps, be more conveniently adopted than any other. It will be incumbent on the civil Judges to enforce due attention to this provision of the law in the manner above desired, and to have the indexes, when delivered over to them at the end of each year, deposited and carefully preserved with the register books to which they relate. Index No. 2, being applicable only to the books in which the deeds relating to land and other real property, described in clauses 1, 2 and 3, paragraph 4 of this order, will be registered, differs slightly in form from the nominal index No. 1, such deeds will be entered in both indexes, while wills, and other deeds not relating to real property, will appear under their proper heads in index No. 1 alone.—Ibid, par. 11.

The annual index.

Register books.

Statement to be made at the end of the year.

476. The civil Judges will, at the close of each year, send to the Court a statement, as per margin, shewing the number of deeds which may have been registered during its course in the offices established for that purpose, and the amount of fees received by the Register, and certify examination and counter-signature by themselves of the several register books up to the close of the period, submitting at the same time any remarks that may occur to them on the working of the system. The first report embracing the period from the promulgation of Act XIX. 1843, to the close of 1844, will be submitted with or follow the annual civil statements for 1844:

Provisions of reg. 15, 1793, extended to Benares, from the date herein specified with certain modifications.

9. Instead of the limitations of interest specified in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 15, 1793, if the cause of action shall have arisen before the period stated in the preceding section, the Courts of civil judicature are to decree whatever rate of interest may have been voluntarily stipulated; or, if interest be payable in any case wherein a specific rate

Rules respecting the payment of interest upon money.

17. The following rules shall be observed in the zillah of Cuttack, including the purgunnahs of Puttaspore, Kummardichour, and Bograe, respecting the payment of interest on money.—Reg. 14, 1805, Sect. 9, Cl. 1.

Rule when the cause of action shall have arisen before the 14th October, 1803.

18. If the cause of action shall have arisen before the 14th of October, 1803, the Courts of civil judicature are not to decree a higher or lower rate of interest than the following, unless a lower rate of interest shall have been stipulated to be paid by the parties in the suit.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

19. On sums not exceeding one hundred sicca rupees, two rupees and eight annas per mensem, or thirty per cent. per annum.—Reg. 14, 1805, Sect. 9, Cl. 2. May not exceed 100 sicca rupees, or

22. The courts are not to decree any interest whatever, in any case, where the bond or instrument given for the security and evidence of the debt, shall have been granted on, or subsequently to, the 14th day of October, 1803, and shall specify a higher rate of interest than is authorized in clause third of this section.—Ibid, Cl. 4. No interest shall be decreed in cases wherein the bond, &c. granted subsequent to the above date, shall stipulate a higher interest than 12 per cent. per annum.

SECTION II.

General Rules regarding the Award of Interest.

23. Upon similar principles it has been ruled by the Court that a party having sued for the principal of a debt without including interest, must be presumed to have relinquished his claim to the interest accruing prior to the action, and cannot institute a second suit to recover such interest after obtaining a decree for the principal, as this would amount to a splitting of the cause of action, which is contrary both to the Regulations and the established practice of the courts. The same principle would of course apply to "wasilaut" or mesne profits, for any period antecedent to the institution of a suit for the proprietary right in the land or other real property on which it may be claimed, which may not have been included in such suit.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Jan. 1839, par. 6. The court has ruled that a party suing for the principal of a debt without interest, is presumed to have relinquished it, and cannot institute a second suit for it. The same rule applies to wasilaut.

24. If a party sue for the principal of a debt in a court which he knows is not competent to adjudge a larger amount, without, at the same time, claiming interest, he must be presumed to have relinquished his claim to interest, and cannot, after having obtained a decree for the principal, institute a second suit to recover the interest, as this would amount to splitting the cause of action so as to render a suit cognizable by a particular court of inferior jurisdiction, which is opposed to the practice of the courts.—Con. 1182, Cal. and West. C. 2d Nov. 1838. Idem.

25. Claim by respondent to interest, during two appeals, on the amount of a zillah decree, passed in his favor and confirmed in each appeal. Claim adjudged.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 154. Claim adjudged to a respondent during two appeals on the amount of the zillah decree.

26. Interest, and damages liquidate, under special covenant,—which a plaintiff omitted to include in a former action, in which, he recovered principal—recoverable in a special action, —on proof of being due.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th April 1831, vol. 5, p. 115. Case in which interest not included in a former action is recoverable in a subsequent action.

* This decision may be considered a precedent for admitting a new suit, to supply an evident defect in a former decree, with respect to interest on the amount adjudged. It does not clearly appear why interest on the sum adjudged by the zillah decree of April, 1794, was not included in the confirmatory judgment passed by the Sudder Dewanny Adawlut in August, 1802. But it is presumable that the court, in not applying the rule contained in Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, supposed the decree of the zillah Judge to have been carried into execution.

This is a precedent for admitting a new suit to supply an evident defect in a former decree with regard to interest on the sum adjudged.

In an appeal from the decree of a zillah court, founded on an award of arbitrators, charged with partiality and corruption, if the appeal is dismissed interest must be awarded from the date of the zillah decree.

27. In case of appeal to the Provincial court from the decree of a Zillah court, founded on the award of arbitrators, alleged to have been guilty of partiality and corruption, should the charge not be proved and the appeal be dismissed, interest must, according to the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 13, 1806, be awarded from the date of the zillah decree, even though the Provincial court do not go into the merits of the case.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Nov. 1810, vol. 1, p. 312.

Where interest is not included in the claim, the court cannot award it.

28. Where A. did not include interest in his claim against B., it was held that the court could not award it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st July 1832, vol. 5, p. 218.

The institution of a suit before the money is due, is not a ground for refusing interest after the debt is due, but is sufficient for refusal of costs, or nonsuit.

29. Held that the institution of a suit for the recovery of a debt before the time specified for payment is not a sufficient reason for depriving the creditor of interest after the debt has become due, though sufficient for refusal of costs, or for nonsuit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1821, vol. 3, p. 68.

The courts cannot strike off interest for delay in suing for a debt.

30. The courts are not competent to strike off interest on the ground of delay in suing for a debt if the claim be otherwise cognizable.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Aug. 1820, vol. 3, p. 48.

Idem.

31. In an action for recovery of a debt on bond, the Civil courts are not competent to dismiss a claim for interest solely on the ground of delay in suing for the debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d June 1842, vol. 7, p. 111.

Lower rates of interest than those authorised in sec. 2, 3 & 4, to be decreed, if stipulated between the parties.

32. If in any of the cases specified in Sections 2, 3 and 4, a lower rate of interest, than any of the rates therein authorized to be awarded, shall have been stipulated between the parties, no higher rate of interest than the rate so stipulated, is to be decreed.—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 5.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 24, 1806, Sect. 4.

If the specific contract in the bond be for 12 per cent. interest, it should be strictly maintained.

33. In actions brought for the recovery of money lent on bond, or other written documents the rate of interest stipulated between the parties is generally twelve per cent. per annum, and in such cases, the specific contract between the parties should be strictly maintained.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th April, West. C. 5th May 1837, par. 2.

But where no specific stipulation exists, the courts will exercise a sound discretion in awarding interest, not exceeding 12 per cent. and mesne profits.

34. In cases, however, wherein mesne profits of landed property may be adjudged, or any other claim adjudicated, in which no specific stipulation may exist, the Court are of opinion that the several courts of law are authorized to exercise a sound and equitable discretion in awarding the rate of interest to be paid, not of course exceeding twelve per cent. per annum.—Ibid, par. 3.

Compound interest on intermediate adjustment of accounts not to be allowed. To what cases this rule is not to extend.

35. The courts are not to decree any compound interest, arising from intermediate adjustments of accounts. This rule, however, is not to extend to cases in which accounts between the parties shall have been adjusted, and the former bonds or agreements cancelled, and new bonds or agreements taken, for the aggregate amount of the principal, and the legal interest remaining due upon the adjustment, consolidated into principal.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 24, 1806, Sect. 6.

36. I am desired to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the provisions of the Regulation above cited, [viz. Regulation 34, 1803, or in Bengal, Regulation 15, 1793,] are applicable to loans of money only.—Con. 187, 12th Sept. 1828, par. 2.

Reg. 15, 1793, and the other corresponding regulations refer only to loans of money.

37. The rules contained in the preceding sections, [viz. the sections of Regulation 15, 1793, are not to be considered to extend to respondentia loans or policies of insurance, the interest on which is to be regulated by the terms of the deeds, and the laws and usages which prevail respecting such transactions.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 12.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 34, 1803, Sect. 11.

Rules in the preceding section not to extend to respondentia loans or policies of insurance.

38. It is therefore hereby enacted, that upon all debts or sums certain payable at a certain time or otherwise, the court before which such debts or sums may be recovered, may, if it shall think fit, allow interest to the creditor at a rate not exceeding the current rate of interest from the time when such debts or sums certain were payable, if such debts or sums be payable by virtue of some written instrument at a certain time, or if payable otherwise than from the time when demand of payment shall have been made in writing, so as such demand shall give notice to the debtor that interest will be claimed from the date of such demand until the term of payment; provided that interest shall be payable in all cases in which it is now payable by law. —Act XXXVII. 1839.

Upon all debts, &c. the court may allow interest at the current rate, from the due day when such debts, &c. were payable by a written instrument, or, if payable otherwise, from time of demand of payment, & notice that interest will be required.

39. An objection to the payment of a deposit to the party entitled to receive it, found on investigation to be insufficient, renders the objector liable for interest on the deposit during the period of detention.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d April 1846, vol. 7, p. 260.

In what case interest is chargeable on a deposit during its detention.

40. In the case of a bond bearing interest at six per cent., the court will award payment of twelve per cent. on proof that the debtor violated an engagement made to the creditor to put him in possession of a farm, as collateral security — S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th May 1824, vol. 3, p. 356.

Case in which the court will award 12 per cent. on a bond bearing interest at 6 per cent.

41. Interest may be awarded on the amount decreed on 9th February, 1820, not realized till March, 1832, provided the delay in realizing it was not owing to the default of the decree-holder — Con. 690, 4th May 1832.

When money was not realized till 12 years after it was decreed, and the delay did not arise from the decree-holder's default, interest may be awarded.

42. Interest on rent disallowed in consequence of neglect to sue or make intermediate demand.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th May 1836, vol. 6, p. 67.

Interest on rent disallowed for certain reasons.

SECTION III.

Forfeiture of Interest for stipulation of higher than Legal Interest.

43. The Courts are not to decree any interest whatever, in any case, where the bond or instrument given for the security and evidence of the debt, shall have been granted on or subsequent to the twenty-eighth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty, and shall specify a higher rate of interest, than is authorized by this Regulation to have been given and received subsequent to that date.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 8.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 24, 1803, Sect. 7.

Cases in which the interest on bonds or instruments executed on or subsequent to the 28th March, 1780, is to be forfeited.

The forfeiture of principal and interest in cases he decided, enacted by 8, reg. 15, 1793, to be considered applicable to loans contracted, bonds executed, previously to the period specified in sec.

44. The forfeiture of interest for stipulation of a higher rate, than what is authorized, enacted by Section 8, Regulation 15, 1793; and the forfeiture of principal and interest, in cases of attempts to elude the prescribed rules, by deductions from the principal, or other devices provided against by Section 9, Regulation 15, 1793, shall not be considered applicable to any loans actually and bona fide contracted, or to any bonds or other instruments voluntarily given for the evidence and security of such loans previously to the period stated in Section 2 of this Regulation.—Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 5.

Where, under a deed of bye-bil-wufa, the deed of mortgage stated the legal interest, and an additional per cent. was stipulated in a separate bond, the claim was disallowed.

45. In a suit to obtain possession of certain premises under a deed of bye-bil-wufa, the mortgage having been foreclosed and the sale become absolute: it appearing that one per cent. per mensem was the sum stipulated to be paid as interest in the deed of mortgage, but that the mortgagee had received a separate bond engaging the payment of one additional per cent. interest, such proceeding was held to be contrary to the provisions of Regulation 17, 1806, and the claim was accordingly disallowed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Jan. 1826, vol. 4, p. 106.

Case in which the legal interest was not forfeited, though a second bond at a higher rate of interest was given, while the first was uncanceled.

46. A bond having been executed before the 1st January, 1804, in Allahabad, bearing interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, and subsequent to that date a second bond [the first remaining uncanceled] for the same debt at a higher rate of interest, held that agreeably to Regulation 34, 1803, the legal interest is not thereby forfeited.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th June 1821, vol. 3, p. 96.

Penalty for illegal interest decreed in the case of two bonds, the first executed in 1781, and the second in 1784.

47. Penalty for illegal interest declared in Section 8, Regulation 15, 1793, [i. e. forfeiture of interest] applicable to interest exceeding rates fixed by antecedent Regulations from 28th March, 1780, and applied to interest on two bonds at twenty-five per cent. per annum, the first dated in 1781, the second in 1784, although payment had been made under the former bond in discharge of the principal and interest and the second bond was given for the balance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th June 1805, vol. 1, p. 93.

The interest forfeited in a case of bye-bil-wufa, where the condition of re-sale was virtually a stipulation of interest beyond the legal rate.

48. In a case of bye-bil-wufa, or mortgage and conditional sale, the condition of re-sale being virtually a stipulation for interest beyond the legal rate, the transaction was held to be in violation of Section 8, Regulation 15, 1793, and the interest liable to forfeiture.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th April 1815, vol. 2, p. 146.

A surety exacting more than the legal interest on an advance of government revenue, to compensate his risk, is not an evasion of the usury law.

49. Held, that it is not an evasion of the usury Regulation for a surety to exact more than the legal interest, on advance of Government revenue made by him, as compensation for his risk.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Aug. 1823, vol. 3, p. 261.

Particular case decided by the S. D. A. as not involving a device to evade the usury laws.

50. A. received an advance from B., as a loan free of interest for a given time; and gave a concurrent lease of an estate, at a fixed rent, which was less than the sudder jumma, and engaged that B. should hold on the farm until the sum borrowed was paid. A. sued B. to set aside the lease and recover, as cancelled, his bond, on the ground, that the lease was a device to evade the usury law, that the transaction was virtually a mortgage, and that the debt had been replaced by the profits of the estate. Claim of A. dismissed, as the transaction did not appear to the court to be a device as charged; and the right of B. to hold over was sustained.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Feb. 1830, vol. 5, p. 8.

SECTION IV.

Forfeiture of Principal and Interest for attempts to evade the Laws.

51. Nor to decree any interest whatsoever in favor of the plaintiff, in any case, where the cause of action shall have arisen on or subsequent to the twenty-eighth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty, where a greater interest than is authorized by this Regulation shall have been received, or stipulated to be received, if it be proved that any attempt has been made to elude the rules prescribed in it by any deduction from the loan, or by any device or means whatever, nor to give any other judgment, but for the dismissal of the suit, with costs to be paid by the plaintiff.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 9—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 24, 1803, Sect. 8.

Suit to be dismissed with costs, where the cause of action shall have arisen on or subsequent to the 28th March, 1780, if any attempt is made to evade this regulation.

52. A., a Mussulman, sued B. for possession of a village under a deed of mortgage and conditional sale for 2081 rupees redeemable in five years. It appearing that A. lent to B. only 1300 rupees, and, to avoid the imputation of taking interest, consolidated the interest of that sum for five years with the principal, and caused the aggregate to be entered in the bond as principal; adjudged that he was not entitled to possession of the village, at the expiration of the period of redemption. The Court however ordered that he should recover the principal sum actually lent, with interest thereon, as there had been no attempt to obtain usurious interest beyond the legal rate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th March 1818, vol. 2, p. 255.

Particular case of a Mussulman consolidating principal and interest to avoid the imputation of taking interest.

53. The original amount of a loan is not forfeited in consequence of the stipulation of illegal interest; nor is a bond taken on the adjustment of the balances of a debt, bearing such illegal interest, held to be an attempt to elude the Regulations and to obtain interest upon interest, which would involve a forfeiture of principal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th June 1805, vol. 1, p. 93.

A bond taken on the adjustment of the balances of a debt bearing illegal interest, does not involve the forfeiture of the principal.

54. The advance of a loan in Government securities, at par, which at the time were at a discount, held, under the circumstances, to be no evasion of the interest law of Regulation 15, 1793.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th July 1846, vol. 7, p. 264.

The advance of a loan in govt. securities at par, which were then at a discount, no evasion of the interest law of reg. 15, 1793.

55. In a case where money was borrowed and a bond executed for the payment thereof with interest at the legal rate of twelve per cent. per annum, and afterwards another bond executed for the payment of half per cent. per mensem as mehonutana, the court held that no part of the original debt was recoverable, even though no illegal interest had been received.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Jan. 1823, vol. 3, p. 205.

Where money was borrowed on a bond at 12 per cent., and another bond was executed at half per cent. for mehonutana the original debt is recoverable, though no illegal interest had been received.

56. The open and avowed stipulation of increase, on a loan, at a rate greater than the legal interest [declared to include interest and mercantile excess, badhti sicca] is not a device to evade, which within Section 9, Regulation 15, 1793, operates forfeiture of principal and interest; but under Section 8, occasions loss of interest only.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Feb. 1830, vol. 5, p. 10.

The open and avowed stipulation of increase, on a loan at a higher rate than legal interest, does not cause forfeiture of principal and interest.

In case of a loan bearing interest, a small reduction as dharat, or discount, renders the dismissal of the claim necessary.

57. Where, in a case of loan secured by bond, bearing interest, a small reduction has been made, as dharat or discount, it was held, that was a device within the meaning of Section 9, Regulation 15, 1793, and rendered the dismissal of the claim necessary.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Dec. 1830, vol. 5, p. 79.

In a case of bye-bil-wufa the lender having exacted illegal interest, by deducting from the principal, the claim was dismissed.

58. In a case of bye-wil-wufa, the lender having exacted illegal interest, by deduction from the principal, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, with reference to Section 9, Regulation 17 of 1806, dismissed his claim for the land conditionally sold.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Jan. 1831, vol. 5, p. 81.

The gratuitous conveyance of lands without payment of a consideration is an usurious device under sec. 9, reg. 15, 1793.

59. The Sudder dewanny adawlut considered the gratuitous conveyance of lands, without payment of any consideration, to be an usurious device, under Section 9, Regulation 15, 1793.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 346.

SECTION V.

Interest pending the Suit or Appeal, or from the date of the Decree, till full payment.

Interest to be allowed on sums adjudged by the decree appealed from, if confirmed, and litigious appeals to be punished by fine.

60. To prevent an abuse of the above rule, and the encouragement of litigious appeals, the Provincial courts of appeal in all cases wherein they may confirm the decree of a Zillah or City court, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in all cases wherein it may confirm the decree of a Provincial court, are to adjudge interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem on all sums, receivable by the respondent under the decree passed in his favour, from the date of such decree, and are authorized to punish appeals which may appear to them litigious, by a fine to Government, proportionate to the condition of the party, and the circumstances of the case.—Reg. 13, 1796, Sect. 3.

Rules for the calculation of interest on sums decreed in original suits and in appeals.

61. The [Sudder] Court, having observed that the practice of the courts is not uniform in regard to the calculation of interest on sums of money decreed in original suits, and in appeals from such decision, have resolved that the following rules be promulgated for the information of the zillah and city Judges, and their subordinate courts in continuation of that of the 2d October, 1835 (No. 155 of this volume).—Cir. Ord. 4th March 1836, par. 1.

The court will decree the principal with interest, from the day the loan was made or became due to the date of the decree, and farther interest on "this sum" to the day of payment. Rule when the interest exceeds the principal.

62. When a principal sum and interest thereon claimed in an original suit shall be adjudged to be due, the court shall decree the principal with interest from the date on which the loan was made, or the sum claimed became due, up to the date of the decree; (provided the interest do not exceed the principal, when a sum equal to the principal shall be allowed, except in the case provided for by the Circular order of the 19th December, 1823,) with further interest on this sum until the date of payment.—Ibid, par. 2.

Explanation of 'this sum,' as above; it includes principal with interest from a certain up to a certain date.

63. Misapprehension having been found to exist respecting the meaning of a part of paragraph 2 of Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 171, dated 4th March, 1836,—viz. as to What sum is alluded to at the end of that paragraph in the words "with further interest on this sum until the date of payment," it being understood by some to refer to the aggregate sum, principal and interest, mentioned in a former part of the sentence, and by others, to mean the principal alone, it is hereby explained by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad that the "sum" in question is meant to designate the principal with interest from a certain up to a certain date mentioned, which the court is directed to decree, a reading which the omission of the parenthetical sentence will render quite obvious.—Cir. Ord. 12th Aug. 1842, par. 1.

64. If the decision shall be confirmed in appeal, the Appellate court must, under Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, award interest from the date of such decree to the day of payment on the aggregate of the principal, interest, and costs awarded by the original decree.—Cir. Ord. 4th March 1836, par. 3.

65. In like manner, if the claim was dismissed by the lower, but decreed by the Appellate court, interest shall be calculated on the principal sum to the date of the decision of the lower court as before, and on that consolidated sum of principal and interest, and the costs to the day of payment.—Ibid, par. 4.

66. The Court having reason to believe that some of the zillah and city Judges are in the habit, on confirming the decree of a lower court in cases of appeal, of awarding interest on the sum decreed at a less rate than one per cent. per mensem, apparently under the impression that the matter is left altogether to their discretion, I am directed to call your attention to the provisions of Section 35, Regulation 4 of 1803, (Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796,) by which the Provincial courts of appeal were required to adjudge the full rate of interest in cases of the above nature, and with reference to the object of that enactment, viz. the prevention of litigious appeals, and to the situation in which the zillah and city Judges are now placed by the abolition of the Provincial courts, to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the principle of the rule, the terms of which are imperative, must be considered equally applicable to the decisions of the former officers, and you are accordingly requested to adopt this construction in future.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d Oct. 1835.

67. The Court have directed me to add, that the [above] construction is not to be considered as interfering with the rules prescribed by Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, and Section 35, Regulation 4, 1803, which require the Appellate courts to award interest on the amount decreed by the courts of primary jurisdiction at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th April, West. C. 5th May 1837, par. 5.

68. Judgment for principal and interest of a bond debt, together with interest on the aggregate sum from the date of the suit, confirmed on appeal to the Provincial court, with interest on the amount of the judgment, but interest while the cause was pending in special appeal before the Sudder dewanny adawlut, calculated on the amount of the original bond only.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Nov. 1823, vol. 3, p. 268.

69. In an action for debt, simple interest only is to be allowed to the date of the decree of the Court of original jurisdiction, the Sudder dewanny adawlut modified the decree of a lower court, which consolidated the principal and interest to the date of the petition of plaintiff, and awarded interest on the aggregate sum forward from such date.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Dec. 1841, vol. 7, p. 66.

If the decision be confirmed in appeal, the appellate court will award interest from the date of such decree to the day of payment on the aggregate of principal, interest and costs.

If the case was dismissed in the lower but decreed in the appeal court, interest will be calculated on the principal to the date of decision below, and from that to the day of final payment, on the consolidated principal, interest and costs.

The zillah courts when confirming the decree of a lower court in appeal, cannot award less than the 12 per cent. ordered in sec. 3, reg. 13, 1796.

Idem.

While a cause was pending in special appeal before the S. D. A., interest was calculated only on the original bond.

When a lower court consolidated the principal and interest to the date of the petition of plaintiff, the S. D. A. allowed simple interest only.

Under particular circumstances, the highest legal interest allowed from the date of the decree to the date of payment, though the bond was for a lower sum.

70. The highest legal rate of interest awarded, under the circumstances, from the date of the decree to the date of payment, notwithstanding that the bond on which the decree was founded specified a lower rate of interest.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d June 1835, p. 8.

The courts should insert in the decree a clause for interest till it is executed; when this is omitted, the court may at any time order the payment of interest without a new suit.

71. The Court are of opinion, that in all cases where money liable to bear interest is payable under the decree of a court, a clause should be inserted in the decree, providing for the allowance of interest until the decree is carried into final execution; and that, in the event of such provision being omitted in a decree the court, by which the same may have been passed, is competent to order at any future period the payment of the interest on the amount decreed which may have accumulated subsequently to the date of the decree, without referring the party to a new suit for the recovery of such interest, and that the same principal is applicable to profits in cases of decrees for landed property.—Cir. Ord. 11th Sept. 1829, par. 2.

Rules for the calculation of interest in such cases.

72. With respect to cases, in which money liable to bear interest is payable under a decree of court, it has been laid down in the Court's Circular letter of the 11th September, 1829, that a clause should be inserted in the decree providing for the allowance of interest until the decree is carried into final execution; that in the event of such provision being omitted in the decree, the court by which the same may have been passed, is competent, on the summary application of the decree-holder, after due investigation, and hearing any pleas urged by the opposite party, to order payment of interest on the amount decreed, either for the whole period that may have elapsed subsequently to the date of the decree, or for such part of it as under the circumstances of the case may appear just and equitable, without referring the party to a new suit for the recovery of such interest: and that the same principle is applicable to profits in cases of decrees for landed property. The rules for the calculation of interest on sums decreed in original suits and appeals, will be found contained in the Circular orders of the 2d October, 1835, 4th March, 1836, and 7th April, 1837.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Jan. 1839, par. 8.

When the court has omitted to provide in its decree for the interest accruing after the institution of the suit, the decree-holder may apply for a review of judgment to have the omission supplied.

73. With regard to interest or "wasilat" accruing subsequently to the institution of a suit, and while it may be pending, the Court observe, that the practice has hitherto been, when the court deciding the case may have omitted to provide in its decree for payment of the same, to allow the decree-holder to institute a second suit to remedy the defect in the former decision. Deeming such practice, however, open to objections, the Court are of opinion that it should be discontinued; and as the court deciding the case is obviously the proper authority to determine whether the party in whose favour the decree may pass, is entitled to interest, or "wasilat," for the time the suit may have been pending, where it may omit to make provision on this point in its decree, the decree-holder, instead of instituting a second suit for the amount, should apply for a review of judgment, in order that the omission may be supplied. His application, if presented within the period allowed by law for such applications, should be received on stamped paper of the value prescribed for miscellaneous petitions in the court in which it may be filed; but if given in after the expiration of that period, it must then be on stamped paper of the full value agreeably to Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 2 of 1825, and the Construction contained in the letter to the address of the late Court of Appeal at Moorsheadabad, under date the 15th December, 1828, No. 490 of the Construction book. The Court direct me to add that as the practice now in force, as above explained, is sanctioned by precedents, the present rule can of course only have prospective effect.—Ibid, par. 7.

74. A., having sued B. in the Court of appeal, obtains judgment with an award of interest from the date of the decision. On appeal by B. judgment confirmed on the merits of the case. A. afterwards sues B. in the City court for interest from the date of institution of the original suit. Held, that the claim is cognizable to supply a defect in the former decree.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Nov. 1821, vol. 3, p. 127.

A second suit admitted for interest, from the day of institution of the suit to the day of decision, to supply a defect.

SECTION VI.

Interest on Costs.

75. The Court having had under their consideration the Circular order, No. 171, of the 4th March, 1836, are of opinion that interest on the costs of suits should be granted in all cases, whether the claim be for money, land, or any other description of property.—Con. 1095, Cal. C. 30th June, West. C. 21st July 1837.

Interest on costs should be granted in all cases.

76. The Court are of opinion that when the costs of suit are included in the decree, they become part of the matter awarded by the court passing the decree, and as such are liable with other property so adjudged, to interest from the date of the Court's decision.—Con. 715, West. C. 7th Sept., Cal. C. 5th Oct. 1832.

The costs when included in the decree, are liable with other property so adjudged to bear interest from the date of the court's decision.

77. It is further noticed that under Construction No. 715, the costs which may be awarded, may be separately chargeable with interest from the date of the decree up to the date of payment.—Cir. Ord. 12th Aug. 1842, par. 2.

Costs may be separately chargeable with interest from the date of payment.

SECTION VII.

Interest exceeding Principal.

78. If the interest on any debt, calculating according to the rates allowed by this Regulation, shall have accumulated so as to exceed the principal, the courts are not in any case whatever, (excepting the cases specified in Section 12,) to decree a greater sum for interest, than the amount of such principal.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 24, 1803, Sect. 5.

Courts not to decree a greater sum for interest, than the amount of the principal, in any case.

79. On the institution of a suit to recover principal and interest on a bond, the interest should be calculated up to the time of the plaint; but the Sudder dewanny adawlut passed a judgment in favour of the lender for the recovery of the principal of the bond with interest from the date of the bond, to that on which the final decree should be carried into execution. The Court determined that the restriction contained in Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793, against a judgment for interest exceeding the principal, when the legal interest "shall have accumulated so as to exceed the principal," is not applicable to a case in which the accumulation is subsequent to the institution of the suit, and not ascribable in any degree to procrastination on the part of the creditor.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th July 1806, vol. 1, p. 242.

The restriction contained in sec. 6, reg. 15, 1793, is not applicable to a case in which the accumulation of interest is subsequent to the institution of the suit.

Farther explanation of this case.

* The plaintiff in this case sued for principal and interest of the sum due to him, and calculated the interest up to the time of his plaint. This was all he could be expected to do, and there was evidently no just reason for depriving him of the further interest which became due, under the defendant's denial of his claim, during the long period it was under investigation. He might perhaps have acquiesced in the judgment of the City court, if the defen-

The restriction against a judgment for interest exceeding the principal is not applicable when the accumulation is subsequent to the institution of the suit.

80. The Court at large have resolved to adhere to the construction contained in the decision [of the 15th July, 1808,] namely, that the restriction contained in the section above quoted, against a judgment for interest exceeding the amount of the principal, when the legal interest shall have accumulated so as to exceed the principal, is not applicable when the accumulation is subsequent to the institution of a suit; and therefore not ascribable to procrastination on the part of the creditor.—Con. 359, 19th Dec. 1823.

The rule in that section relates only to interest unpaid & in arrear, and a sum equal to the principal is recoverable as interest, exclusive of the payment made.

81. In a suit for the amount of two bonds, with an equal sum as interest, [under Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793, the interest due having exceeded the principal] one payment of interest is admitted, but it appears that the interest due since the payment exceeds the principal. The court hold that the rule contained in the Regulation quoted, relates only to interest unpaid, and in arrear, and that a sum equal to the principal is recoverable as interest, exclusive of the payment made.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Nov. 1809, vol. 1, p. 294.

The courts may award interest exceeding the principal of a debt, which has accrued during the suit.

82. Held that according to the spirit of Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793, the courts may award interest exceeding the principal of a debt, if the excess accrued pendente lite, and without any fault of the creditor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Dec. 1823, vol. 3, p. 270.

Idem.

83. Interest exceeding principal may be awarded when the excess has accrued subsequently to recourse to law for the recovery of the debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Sept. 1827, vol. 4, p. 261.

Case in which the S. D. A. allowed the principal and an equal sum as interest, and 12 per cent. on the aggregate to the day of payment.

84. In a suit to recover a debt, the Provincial court awarded principal and interest to the day of payment, provided the interest did not exceed the principal. The Sudder dewanny adawlut allowed the principal and an equal sum as interest, together with twelve per cent. interest, on the aggregate sum from the date of their decree to the date of payment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Dec. 1825, vol. 4, p. 95.

SECTION VIII.

Wasilat, or Mesne Profits.

Claim for mesne profits augmented by interest, is decreed, though it exceed the principal of the estimated rent; owing to peculiar circumstances.

85. Claim by a party ejected from land, for mesne profits, augmented by interest, is decreed; and Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793, is held not to bar the award of such augmentation, although exceeding the principal of the estimated rent, such award appearing to be required for the equitable indemnity of the party injured with reference to circumstances.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th July 1830, vol. 5, p. 48.

Interest on mesne profits refused for delay in bringing the action.

86. The court refused interest on mesne profits in consequence of delay in bringing the action.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th Feb. 1836, vol. 6, p. 52.

dant had not appealed; but having been kept out of the receipt of his money by two appeals, the Sudder dewanny adawlut considered it just to let him receive the full benefit of the appeal to that court. It may be added, that the restriction contained in Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793, against a judgment for interest exceeding the amount of the principal when the legal interest shall have accumulated so as to exceed the principal, was not applicable in the present instance, wherein the accumulation was subsequent to the institution of the suit, and not ascribable in any degree to procrastination on the part of the creditor.—Note to the above case.

* A great deal of difference exists respecting the construction of Section 6, Regulation 15, 1793. Many courts thinking with the Juanpore court, that in no case can the amount of interest adjudged by decree of court, exceed the amount of principal. This decision of the Sudder, independent of its authority is undoubtedly most consonant to the literal meaning of the Regulation.—Note to the above case.

87. Illegal collections cannot be taken into account in the adjustment of mesne profits.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Feb. 1846, p. 75.

Illegal collections not to be taken into account in calculating mesne profits.

88. A sale of real property (made in execution of a decree) being cancelled, the court may, by a summary order, award recovery of mesne profits, accruing during possession held by the auction purchaser, and interest thereupon from the date of the proceeding fixing the amount of profits.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th March 1841, p. 3.

A sale of real property in execution of a decree being cancelled, the auction purchaser is answerable for mesne profits and interest during possession.

89. In an action for recovery of mesne profits, held that the plaintiff was rightly nonsuited for omitting to state the amount, and the period for which it was alleged to be recoverable.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th July 1842, p. 35.

A plaintiff nonsuited for not stating the amount of mesne profits, & the period for which he sought to recover them.

90. In a suit for land and mesne profits the Zillah court gave a decree in favour of the plaintiffs for a fractional portion of the land, leaving the quantity as well as the amount of mesne profits to future adjustment in the course of execution of the decree. Held, that the decree was incomplete and re-investigation ordered.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Dec. 1840, vol. 6, p. 305.

A decree is incomplete and a re-investigation must take place, if the decree is passed for a fractional portion of the land, leaving the quantity & the mesne profits to future adjustment.

91. In an action for land and mesne profits, the zillah Judge having awarded the former and left the latter for future decision and adjustment, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that the decree was incomplete, and remanded the case with instructions to the Judge to pass judgment on the entire claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th March 1842, vol. 7, p. 77.

Idem.

92. It is irregular to award mesne profits in general terms and without specification of period for which they are recoverable.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Dec. 1840, vol. 6, p. 306.

The period for which mesne profits are awarded must be specified.

93. A claim to mesne profits of certain lands which had been adjudged to the plaintiffs under a decree founded on an arbitration award, preferred nearly twelve years after the date of the decree, dismissed on the presumption that the arbitrators had adjusted all differences between the parties respecting the disputed lands.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Jan. 1841, vol. 7, p. 3.

A claim to mesne profits adjudged to the plaintiffs by arbitration, made 12 years after the date of the decree, dismissed on specific grounds.

94. Mesne profits cannot be awarded at a higher rate than that specifically claimed by the plaintiff in the Court of first instance.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th Aug. 1847.

Mesne profits cannot be awarded at a higher rate than were originally claimed.

95. Judgment for mesne profits against a third party, not a party to the cause overruled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1812, vol. 2, p. 19.

Judgment for mesne profits against a third party overruled.

96. The Sudder dewanny adawlut adjudge wasilat with interest from the date of a decree, against the heir of the party who failed in that decree, by whose bad faith the gaining party had been kept out of possession.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Dec. 1833, vol. 5, p. 335.

Wasilat with interest from the date of a decree, adjudged against the heir of the party, under peculiar circumstances in that decree.

97. In a claim for wasilat, the Provincial court having awarded interest for the whole period [13 years] during which a separate suit for the lands was depending, and interest on that amount from the date of their own judgment, the Sudder dewanny adawlut reversed so much of the decree as regarded that interest, and awarded the principal sum of wasilat, with interest from the date of the institution of the suit for wasilat in the Provincial court up to the date of the decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and interest on the aggregate sum from that date till payment should be made.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Aug. 1826, vol. 4, p. 176.

In a suit which had been depending 13 years, the S. D. A. awarded the principal sum of wasilat up to the date of the decree in the sudder, and interest on the aggregate to the day of payment.

C. O. of 29th Sept. 1820, No. 44, which declared that waailat, unless relinquished, must be included in the amount at which the suit is laid, superseded.

98. The Court declare for general information, that paragraph 6 of the Circular order, No. 29, of the 11th January, 1839, which requires that in actions for real property the mesne profits, unless relinquished, shall be included in the amount at which the suit is laid, supersedes the Circular order, No. 44, of the 29th September, 1820, which made the determination of the value of a suit dependant altogether on the sudder jumma.—Cir. Ord. 25th July 1845.

SECTION IX.

Simple Mortgages and Pledge.

When several proprietors of a village jointly received a loan, & bound themselves to repay it at once, one proprietor cannot redeem his own share by a deposit of the amount.

The law of limitation does not bar redemption, in an assignment analogous to a mortgage.

Lands recovered after 50 years on payment of the sum borrowed on mortgage.

Plaintiff is allowed to redeem a mortgage, and recover his land after 60 years.

Mortgaged property restored to the descendants of the mortgager after 70 years.

A mortgagee refused to receive the amount deposited by a mortgager, who thereupon sells the property. The heir takes back the deposit, and this does not affect the purchaser's right.

A mere deposit by the borrower of title deeds as security for a debt, is equivalent to a mortgage.

Case of a mortgage declared valid by a former judgment of a zillah court, subsequently found illegal in a suit to redeem the property.

99. In a case of mortgage executed by the several proprietors of a village, without specification of shares, who jointly received the loan, and bound themselves to repay it at one payment, it was held that one of the proprietors could not redeem his own particular share on depositing his alleged portion of the debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Nov. 1841, vol. 7, p. 53.

100. The rule of limitation was ruled not to bar the redemption, in case of an assignment analogous to mortgage.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th July 1807, vol. 1, p. 203.

101. A., having borrowed money from B., pledges certain lands to him, and goes on a pilgrimage. After 50 years, during which A. is not heard of, his heir sues to recover the lands on payment of the sum borrowed; adjudged on the presumption of A.'s death, and the claim not being barred by the rule of limitations.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th March 1812, vol. 2, p. 4.

102. In a suit for possession of land the property of the plaintiff, to which the defendant pleaded a mortgage from the plaintiff's ancestor, dated 60 years before, and urged lapse of time against the claim, that plea not being of avail in cases of mortgage under Regulation 2, 1805, adjudged that the plaintiff recover on redeeming the mortgage.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Nov. 1809, vol. 1, p. 292.

103. Mortgaged property was restored to the descendants of the mortgager after a lapse of 70 years from the date of the mortgage, on clear proof being adduced that no bond fide transfer had ever taken place.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th March 1835, vol. 6, p. 24.

104. A mortgagee having refused to receive from the Zillah court the amount of a mortgage deposited there by the mortgager, who subsequently sold the property. Held that the heir of the said mortgager, having afterwards taken back the deposit did not affect the right of the purchaser.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d June 1835, vol. 6, p. 28.

105. Held, that the mere deposit, by the borrower, of title deeds of real property as security for a debt is equivalent to a mortgage, in giving the holder of the deeds a prior lien on the property specified therein.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d May 1837, vol. 6, p. 165.

106. A mortgage, declared valid by a former judgment of the Zillah court, from which no appeal was preferred, found to be illegal in a subsequent suit for redemption of the mortgaged property; but not set aside on that account by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the former judgment being still in force and only voidable on review, or appeal; but judgment passed for redemption on liquidation of the debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Sept. 1814, vol. 2, p. 126.

107. A decree having been passed for lands, is afterwards amended, the parties having represented the lands [not in possession of either of them] to be held by other persons in mortgage, whereas the alleged mortgagees when called upon, state themselves to hold as proprietors, paying a fixed jumma. The Sudder dewanny adawlut therefore adjudge a share of the jumma receivable, and not of the land, leaving the claimant, who objects to the asserted tenure of the possessors, to sue for them, if he think fit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th May 1804, vol. 1, p. 78.

Case of a decree passed for lands subsequently amended, the parties representing the land as held by others in mortgage, and the mortgagees declaring that they hold it as proprietors.

108. Claim by the respondent to half the value of a diamond, of which his late father was joint proprietor with his uncle, and which the latter had pawned to the appellant. The pledge was not admitted to affect the respondent's right, and judgment given in favor of his claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Feb. 1806, vol. 1, p. 126.

Claim allowed to half the value of a diamond belonging jointly to the plaintiff's father and uncle, and pledged by the latter.

109. In this case the property of the debtor having been given merely as a pledge or security for a debt, the debt itself being repayable on a specified date without further condition respecting the property, the suit was rightly brought for the recovery of the sum lent with interest. Had the transaction been of the nature of a conditional sale, the money action would have been barred by Construction No. 898.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1836, vol. 6, p. 110.

Where the property of a debtor had merely been pledged for a debt payable on a certain date, the suit was rightly laid to recover the sum lent without interest.

110. Claim to an estate, under a written engagement for the conditional sale of it, on failure of repayment of a loan of money by a certain day. Construed, from circumstances, that the actual sale of the estate was not intended, but only security for the loan. Judgment for the estate being retained on repayment of the principal and interest of the loan, by an appointed time.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th June 1806, vol. 1, p. 143.

When the intention of the parties was not the sale of the land, but the security of a loan, the estate ordered to be retained, on payment of principal and interest of the loan.

111. Appellant's claim to the moiety of an estate, adjudged on proof that it was the joint inheritance of the parties, though a mortgage debt contracted under the management of the respondent's father was paid by the respondent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Nov. 1811, vol. 1, p. 355.

Appellant's claim to the moiety of an estate adjudged, under particular circumstances.

112. For a consideration received, A. engages to effect a release of lands mortgaged by him to B. and make over the same to C. or in default of his effecting the release of the lands in question, to make over other lands of an equal value. A. fails in effecting the release; C. claims other equivalent lands; or [in a supplementary plaint] to recover the consideration, principal and interest of the sum advanced; decreed against A. but no lands; the engagement not being sufficiently specific to maintain a suit for land.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Feb. 1813, vol. 2, p. 48.

Case in which the engagement was not specific enough to maintain a suit for lands.

113. A. having lent 10,000 rupees, on a mortgage of lands to B. and afterwards borrowed 5000 rupees from C. on an agreement that C. should have half the annual profits of the mortgage; and A. having given to C., as security, the custody of the mortgage bond, executed by B., but retained the documents authorizing him to make the collections, held that this is a

In a complicated case, the S. D. A. decided that it was a simple transaction between A. & C., the former being accountable to the latter, without reference to the proceeds of a mortgaged estate.

* The Courts were satisfied, that the original intention of the parties was not the sale of the estate, but the security of the loan. The real purchaser, Ranee Jugdesre, who was allied to the former proprietors, had bought the estate for a low price, and the purchase money was borrowed from the respondent, on the security of the engagement which formed the subject of the suit. But it was evidently not in contemplation to transfer the estate, at the same inadequate price, to the respondent, who was a stranger to the family of the former proprietors. In addition to this consideration, the inadequacy of price weighed with the Court in relieving the appellant from the transfer of the estate under the letter of the engagement.—Note by the S. D. A. on the above case.

simple transaction between A. and C., the former being accountable to the latter, without reference to the proceeds of the mortgaged estate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st July 1820, vol. 3, p. 43.

A private distribution among themselves by the first and second mortgagees, is of no avail, as the first had a right to the whole, or to none of the estate.

114. The uncles of the plaintiff having mortgaged their shares of an estate to two individuals, and, on these mortgagees absconding, having made a second mortgage to another individual, from whom the plaintiff redeemed the property; held, that a private distribution among themselves by the first and second mortgagees cannot avail, as the first mortgagees had a right either to the whole, or no part of the mortgaged estate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Jan. 1824, vol. 3, p. 298.

Court ordered a lease to be set aside, which appeared to be intended only as an additional security for a debt.

115. The Court ordered a lease to be set aside, though it contained no mention of a term, it not being expressly declared to be perpetual, and appearing to have been granted to the same person, on the same day, and for the same lands as a deed of mortgage, and thereby intended only as an additional security for a debt.—*S. 117. Right to possession of certain villages under an ikrarnamah, or written acknowledgment from the conditional purchaser, alleged to have been executed nine years after the sale had become absolute. Claim rejected; the agreement not being proved, or though proved being either without a consideration, or the condition violated by the plaintiff.—*S. D. A. Sel. In a case of simple mortgage, the action for foreclosure must be brought within 12 years from the expiration of the year of grace.

119. In a transaction partaking of the nature of a simple mortgage, in which the mortgagee was not put in possession of the property mortgaged, it was held that the mortgagee must bring his action, for foreclosure of the mortgage, within twelve years from the date of the expiration of the year of grace allowed to the mortgager for redemption.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th Sept. 1841, vol. 7, p. 45.

SECTION X.

Usufructuary Mortgages.

What interest is to be allowed on mortgage bonds for real property, executed prior, on, or subsequent to the 28th March, 1780.

120. In cases of mortgages of real property, executed prior to the twenty-eighth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty, in which the mortgagee may have had the usufruct of the mortgaged property, whether he shall have held it in his own possession or not, the usufruct is to be allowed to the mortgagee, in lieu of interest, agreeably to the former custom of the country, (provided it shall have been so stipulated between the parties,) until the abovementioned date, subsequent to which, the same interest is to be allowed on such mortgage bonds, and also on all bonds for the mortgage of real property, which have been entered into on or since that date, or that may be hereafter executed, as is allowed on other bonds, which have been or may be granted on, or posterior to, such date, and no more; and all such mortgages are to be considered as virtually and in effect cancelled and redeemed, whenever the principal sum with the simple interest due upon it, shall have been realized from the usufruct of the mortgaged property subsequent to the twenty-eighth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty, or otherwise liquidated by the mortgager.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 10.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 34, 1803, Sect. 9.

121. For the adjustment of the accounts, in the cases of mortgages specified in Section 10, where the mortgagee shall have had the usufruct of the mortgaged property, the mortgagee is to be required to deliver in the accounts of his gross receipts from the property mortgaged, and also of his expenditures, for the management or preservation of it. The mortgagee is to swear, or (if he be of the description of persons whom the courts are empowered to exempt from taking oaths,) to subscribe a solemn declaration, that the accounts which he may deliver in, are true and authentic. The mortgager is to be permitted to examine the accounts, and after hearing any objections he may have to offer, or any evidence that either party may have to adduce respecting them, the Court is to adjust the account.—Reg. 15, 1793, Sect. 11.—Benares Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 34, 1803, Sect. 10.

Mortgage to deliver in true accounts of his receipts and expenditures.

122. I beg leave to solicit the opinion of the Sudder dewanny adawlut on the following points. Are cases, which may be brought before the Civil courts, under the provisions of Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 34, 1803, [corresponding with Sections 10 and 11, Regulation 15, 1793,] to be disposed of by a summary enquiry and decision; or, are they to be considered as subject to all the rules prescribed for regular suits?—I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in answer to the question therein stated, (respecting cases of mortgage within the provisions of Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 34, 1803,) to acquaint you, that the Court are not aware of any provision in the Regulations for a summary suit in the cases therein referred to.

Cases under sec. 10 and 11, as above, for adjusting accounts of the mortgage of real property, must be received and tried as regular suits.

But if the holder of a deed of mortgage and conditional sale object to the surrender of the mortgaged property, which may be in his possession, the court may decide the question summarily.—Con. 277, 9th July 1817.

But if the holder of a deed of mortgage object to the surrender of the property, the court may decide it summarily.

123. On reference however to the printed book of Constructions, the Court find that on the 9th July, 1817, the Presidency Court held that "there was no provision in the Regulations for a summary suit, in cases brought before the Civil courts under Sections 9 and 10, Regulation 34, 1803, which relate only to simple mortgages." The Court are disposed to concur in the interpretation of the law, and will cause it to be adopted as a rule of practice in the western provinces.—Con. 830, West. C. 20th Sept., Cal. C. 18th Oct. 1833.

There is no provision in the regulations to authorize a summary suit in cases under secs. 10 and 11, as above, which relate to simple mortgages.

124. A lease granted in consideration of an advance of a sum of money, held to be equivalent to a mortgage, and the lessee declared liable for such surplus proceeds of the estate as remained after he had realized his principal and interest.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th July 1827, vol. 4, p. 251.

A lease granted in consideration of an advance of money, held to be equal to a mortgage, and the lessee liable for the surplus proceeds.

A mortgager may recover an usufructuary mortgage on paying the principal, leaving the interest to be afterwards adjusted.

Case in which the mortgagee was entitled to usufruct as interest, leaving the time for paying the principal to the option of the mortgager.

Had the usufruct exceeded the legal rate of interest, it would have gone to the liquidation of the principal.

When the usufruct was stipulated to be received as interest till the land was redeemed, the claim to recover the lands before that time, was dismissed.

After March, 1780, the excess of the usufruct over the legal interest goes to liquidate the principal.

But the right of redemption in this case was not barred by the law of limitation, the mortgage being redeemable at any time by the payment of the principal.

Decision of a particular case of an usufructuary mortgage by the S. D. A.

Case in which the S. D. A. held that as the profits of a farm exceeded the legal interest, the mortgagee should account for the excess, & the mortgager recover his estate by paying the balance of principal which appeared due.

125. A mortgager is entitled to recover possession of an usufructuary mortgage, on payment of the principal sum borrowed ; the question of interest being left open to future adjustment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th July 1820, vol. 3, p. 3.

126. Claim by appellant to balance of principal and interest alleged to be due on a mortgage dismissed, it appearing that the special condition of the mortgage only entitled the mortgagee to receive usufruct as interest, though lower than the legal rate, leaving the time of redeeming the mortgage, by the payment of the principal lent, at the option of the mortgagers.

Had the usufruct exceeded the legal rate of interest, the excess would have gone to the liquidation of the principal under the operation of Section 10, Regulation 15, 1793.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Dec. 1805, vol. 1, p. 121.

127. Claim by the heir of a mortgager, to recover certain mortgaged lands, dismissed, the mortgage, which provided for the usufruct being received as interest, until the lands should be redeemed, by the payment of the principal lent not appearing to have been cleared.

Had the usufruct exceeded the legal interest, it would have been receivable as interest down to March, 1780, after which the legal interest only would have been allowed to the mortgagee, the surplus being applicable to the discharge of the principal.

Adjudged, however, that the right of redemption could not be barred by lapse of time, under the rules of limitation ; and that the mortgage would be redeemable at any time by liquidation of the principal lent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th May 1807, vol. 1, p. 185.

128. A. makes an usufructuary mortgage of certain lands to B., and after alleging that the sum borrowed by him had been realized with interest from the profits, takes possession ; B. sues A. for dispossession, and, while the suit is pending, sells his title to C. who, by a summary decision of the court, obtains possession of the disputed lands with mesne profits ; held, that a suit may be preferred at one and the same time by A. against C. and the heirs of B. [since dead] for redemption of the mortgage, mesne profits, and exemption from the summary award.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th Dec. 1824, vol. 3, p. 420.

129. A. borrowed 2,001 rupees from B. and granted him a farm of his estate in 1203 Fussely, B. was to pay the revenue and account to A. for two-thirds of the produce, and hold on until the principal was repaid. At the end of 1215, A. sued to recover possession, on the ground that B. had realized more than the principal and interest by profits, and that by Section 6,

* The decision in this case determines two questions relative to the sort of mortgage described in the report —1st, it is determined (against the claim of the plaintiff,) that a mortgagee having, under the terms of the deed, accepted the usufruct in lieu of interest for an indefinite period, has no right to demand, at his own convenience, payment of the debt from the mortgager ; but must await his voluntary payment of the principal, or the gradual extinction of the debt under the operation of Section 10, Regulation 15, 1793, in case the annual usufruct exceed the legal interest ; 2d, the rule above cited does not annul the stipulations of a mortgage, which may be in favor of the borrower, but has provided, that any excess above the legal rate of interest shall be applicable to the liquidation of the principal, a mortgage of this sort is intended to secure to the lender the punctual receipt of a sum not exceeding the legal interest of his loan : but the law does not permit it to be abused for the purpose of obtaining under the name of usufruct, an usurious interest ; 3d, it is to be remarked, that the decision of the Provincial court was erroneous, independently of the terms and conditions of the mortgage. The rule for allowing interest, only equal to the principal, regards cases where the interest is in arrear, not those where the interest is paid, or realized from the usufruct ; or where the usufruct is stipulated to be received in lieu of interest.—Note by the S. D. A. on the above case.

Regulation 15, 1793, a creditor is not entitled to interest more than the amount of principal. B. denied that he was liable to account for receipts, and claimed his right to hold the farm, until the plaintiff should pay the principal. The Court held that the section cited was not applicable to this case; but that as the profits of the farm exceeded the legal interest, he should account annually for the excess of income realized, beyond the legal interest; and that A. should recover his estate on repaying 826 rupees, the balance of principal appearing due on an account made up on the above principle.—Note to S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Feb. 1830, vol. 5, p. 9.

SECTION XI.

Conditional Mortgages.

130. It has long been a prevalent practice in the province of Behar to borrow money on the mortgage and conditional sale of landed property, under a stipulation that if the sum borrowed be not repaid (with or without interest) by a fixed period, the sale shall become absolute. This species of transfer has in the above province been usually denominated bye-bil-wufa; and the same transaction is common in Bengal under an instrument termed kut-kubala. It doubtless exists also, under deeds of the above or similar denominations, in Orissa and Benares; and since the promulgation of the rules respecting interest contained in Regulation 15, 1793, it has become more prevalent; particularly in the province of Behar, wherein instances have occurred in which persons lending money on bye-bil-wufa, in order to render the sale absolute, and thereby possess themselves of the landed property of the borrower, have denied the tender, or evaded receiving payment of the money due to them within the period limited for the discharge of it. In such cases the proof of the tender falls on the borrower; and if he fail in the proof of it for want of legal evidence, he is liable to lose his estate. It is necessary therefore for the security of the borrower in such transactions that he should have the means of establishing before a Court of judicature his having tendered, or being ready to pay, within the stipulated period, the amount due from him to the lender; who, if he mean to act, fairly will also derive a benefit from a clear rule being laid down whereby it may be readily ascertained whether the borrower was willing to redeem his property by the payment of the money lent upon it, within the period agreed upon between the parties; or whether from his having omitted to perform the conditions of such redemption the sale is become absolute; and the property included therein finally transferred to the lender. For the above purpose, and for the prevention of other abuses in the transactions referred to, the Governor General in Council has passed the following rules, to be considered in force in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa, and Benares, from the date of the receipt of this Regulation by the several courts respectively.—Reg. 1, 1798, Sect. 1.

Description of conditional mortgages, called bye-bil-wufa, or kut-kubala.

131. Attachment of lands by the Supreme court, pleaded by the purchaser at the sheriff's sale against the validity of a mortgage and conditional sale of part of the lands during the attachment. Plea disallowed, on proof that the sheriff's sale took place in satisfaction of a dif-

D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Oct. 1806, vol. 1, p. 167.*

A mortgage and conditional sale by an agent set aside on particular grounds, but the mortgage money ordered to be refunded with interest.

Grounds on which a bye-bil-wufa sale of land by an agent on the part of the owner was set aside.

A deed of bye-bil-wufa executed on land for a sum of money in favor of a person through whom and not from whom the money was borrowed, not valid in Mahomedan law.

Grounds upon which the validity of a transaction by bye-bil-wufa is not affected.

When the plaintiff's claim was fraudulent, the claim to set aside a mortgage and conditional sale was rejected.

Idem.

Case in which a transaction was held to be in reality a bye-bil-wufa, but the condition for the resale, a virtual stipulation for interest beyond the legal rate. The interest, but not the principal forfeited, and the claim to the lands rejected.

132. A mortgage or conditional sale by an agent set aside, it appearing that he had no special powers from the proprietor for that purpose, the consideration being inadequate, and the execution of the deed irregular. But the mortgage money was ordered to be refunded with interest.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th March 1812, vol. 2, p. 6.

133. A bye-bil-wufa sale of land, made by an agent on the part of the owner, declared void in Mahomedan law, from the agent having exceeded his powers: from its being a sale at gross inadequacy of price: and from the presumption of collusion between the buyer and agent.*—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Sept. 1801, vol. 1, p. 55.

134. Opinion given by the Mahomedan law officers of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that a deed, termed a deed of bye-bil-wufa, executed on land for a sum of money in favor of a person through whom, and not from whom the money was borrowed, is not valid in Mahomedan law.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th May 1804, vol. 1, p. 78.

135. The validity of a transaction of bye-bil-wufa, is not affected by the parties not having come to a final adjustment of their respective accounts previously to the execution of the deed by the conditional seller; neither is it affected, [the term at the end of which the conditional sale was to become conclusive being five years,] by the fact of excess above the legal interest having been received by the conditional purchaser in any one year, there being no trace of fraud to elude the law regarding interest.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Jan. 1826, vol. 4, p. 111.

136. Claim to set aside a mortgage and conditional sale rejected; the foundation of the plaintiff's claim being fraudulent, allegation of exaction of usurious interest not enquired into.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st July 1813, vol. 2, p. 71.

137. Another case of claim to set aside a mortgage and conditional sale, dismissed on account of fraud.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Aug. 1814, vol. 2, p. 118.

138. A person having obtained a bill of sale of lands on the payment of 4,401 rupees, executes a written engagement, in which he agrees that he shall not be put in possession of the lands for the period of a year, four months and seventeen days; at the expiration of which the lands shall be re-sold to the seller, on condition of his paying the sum of 5,801 rupees; otherwise the engagement to be considered null and void, and the property to

* In the cause 'Busunt Ali Khan against Ramkomar,' decided by the Sudder dewanny adawlut on the 4th of January, 1799, there was a question put to the law officers respecting the legality of bye-bil-wufa sales, though the cause as it happened, went off on a question as to the competency of the agent who made the bye-bil-wufa sale in that instance on the part of another. It was stated in the futwa then given, that a sale, with optional condition for three days, is good; but for more than three days is not good, according to Huneefa and Yusuf; but according to Mahomed, for four days, or even a longer period, is good; that, the sort of sale being prevalent in the country, Mahomed's opinion should be followed.

The intention of the parties, as collected from the tenor of the deed, shews whether the bye-bil-wufa be a sale with the reserve of an option of retraction within a limited time, or a mortgage for the security of money lent. A stipulation for a short period must be considered to mark that a sale was in the contemplation of the parties, a long term denotes a mortgage, or security for a loan: and such mortgages in the form of conditional sales are very common and rightly held valid under the opinion here cited.

In the present case, the inadequacy of the consideration was a sufficient ground for allowing the equity of redemption, under the exposition of the Mahomedan law, that inadequacy of price vitiates a sale by an agent. (See Hedaya, 3, 32.)—Note by the S. D. A. on the above case.

rest absolutely in the purchaser. Such transaction held in reality to be a bye-bil-wufa, or mortgage and conditional sale, and the condition for the resale being virtually a stipulation for interest beyond the legal rate, the transaction held to be in violation of Regulation 15, 1798, and the interest liable to forfeiture. But the bill of sale and engagement having been publicly registered, the transaction held not to be an evasion of the above Regulation, involving forfeiture of the principal. The purchaser's claim to the lands rejected, with a judgment in his favor for 4401 rupees, the amount of his original advance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th April 1815, vol. 2, p. 246.

SECTION XII.

Mode in which the Mortgager may redeem.

139. In all instances of the loan of money on bye-bil-wufa, or on the conditional sale of landed property, as explained in the preamble to this Regulation, however denominated, the borrower, who may be desirous to redeem his land by the payment of the money lent upon it, with any interest due thereon within the stipulated period, is at liberty, on or before the date stipulated, either to tender and pay to the lender the amount due to him; taking such precautions as he may think necessary to establish such tender and payment, if evaded or denied, or, without any tender, to the lender, to deposit the amount due to him on or before the stipulated date, in the dewanny adawlut of the city or zillah in which the land may be situated, and the Judge receiving the same shall furnish the party with a written receipt for the amount, specifying on what date and for what purpose such deposit may have been made. He shall also, at the same time, cause a written notice, of such deposit to be delivered to the lender and on the application of the latter and his surrender of the conditional bill of sale, or shewing satisfactory cause why it cannot be surrendered, shall pay him the amount deposited, and take his acknowledgment to remain among the records of the court. That there may be no doubt to what amount the deposit in question is to be made, it is required to be as follows. When the lender has not obtained possession of the lands, the deposit is to be the principal sum lent, with the stipulated interest thereon, not exceeding the legal rate of twelve per cent. per annum; or, if interest be payable, and no rate has been stipulated, with interest at the established rate of twelve per cent; but if the lender has held possession of the land, the principal sum borrowed only need be deposited, leaving the interest to be settled on an adjustment of the lender's receipts and disbursements during the period he has been in possession. In either case, a deposit made as above required, shall be considered to preserve to the borrower his full right of redemption, and if the land be in the possession of the lender shall entitle him to demand the immediate recovery thereof, subject to the adjustment of accounts specified in the following section. Provided however, that if the borrower in any case shall deposit a less sum than above required, alleging that the sum so deposited is the total amount due to the lender, for principal and interest, after deducting the proceeds of the lands in his possession, or otherwise, such deposit shall be received, and notice given to the lender as above directed, and if the

May, within the stipulated period, either tender to pay the amount due, to the lender, or deposit the same in the local dewanny adawlut.

Receipt to be given by the Judge for such deposit.

Notice to be given to the lender, and payment to be made to him, under restriction.

Specification of the deposit required.

Rights of the borrower preserved by making the required deposit.

Proviso with respect to deposits less than above required, if alleged to be the total amount due.

Such deposits to be also received; and to preserve the borrower's rights, if admitted, or established, to be the total amount due.

amount so deposited be admitted by the lender, or be established, on investigation, to be the total amount due to him, the right of redemption shall be considered to have been fully preserved to the borrower, who will not however, in such cases, be entitled to the recovery of his lands until it be admitted, or established that he has paid the full amount due from him.—Reg. 1, 1798, Sect. 2.

When the lender has possessed the land, and an adjustment of accounts may be necessary, he is to account for the proceeds of the estate, on the principles prescribed in reg. 15, 1793.
* Exception.

140. In all instances wherein the lender on a bye-bil-wufa, or similar conditional sale, may have been put in possession of the land, and an adjustment of accounts may consequently become necessary between him and the borrower, the lender is to account to the borrower for the proceeds of the estate whilst in his possession, on the principles prescribed with regard to mortgages and interest in Regulation 15, 1793, as far as the same may be applicable to the nature of the case. But such part of Section 10 of the above Regulation, as directs that the mortgages therein referred to, are to be considered as cancelled and redeemed whenever the principal sum, with the simple interest due upon it, shall have been realized from the usufruct of the mortgaged property, or otherwise liquidated by the mortgagee, being inapplicable to the conditional sales referred to in this Regulation, it is hereby declared not to apply thereto.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Teeps not to be considered a general lender, in case referred to, unless accepted by the lender.
Such acceptance how to be proved.

141. A teep for the repayment of money lent on the conditional sales referred to in this Regulation, shall not be considered a legal tender, unless accepted as such by the lender, the proof of which acceptance shall be the lender's giving up the bill of sale, or giving a written acknowledgment that he has received back the money lent by him.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Nothing in this regulation to alter the contract between the parties.

And all questions of right to be regularly determined by the civil courts.

142. Nothing in this Regulation being intended to alter the terms of contract settled between the parties in the transactions to which it refers, (illegal interest excepted) the several provisions in it are to be construed accordingly; and any question of right between the parties is to be regularly brought before and determined by the Courts of Civil justice.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Provisions in addition to those made by regs. 1, 1798, and 34, 1803, for the redemption of mortgages and conditional sales of land, under deeds herein specified.

What shall entitle the mortgager or his legal representative to redemption of his property before the final foreclosure of the mortgage, at any time within period of one year, from and after the period of the application made by the mortgagee, to the zillah or city court, for foreclosing the mortgage.

143. In addition to the provisions made in the provinces of Bengal, Behar, Orissa and Benares, by Regulation 1, 1798, and in the Ceded and Conquered Provinces by Regulation 34, 1803, [corresponding with Regulation 15, 1793,] for the redemption of mortgages and conditional sales of land, under deeds of bye-bil-wufa, kut-kubala, or any similar designation; it is hereby provided, that when the mortgagee may have obtained possession of the land, on execution of the mortgage deed, or at any time before a final foreclosure of the mortgage, the payment, or established tender of the sum lent under any such deed of mortgage and conditional sale, or of the balance due, if any part of the principal amount shall have been discharged, or when the mortgagee may not have been put in possession of the mortgaged property, the payment, or established tender of the principal sum lent, with any interest due thereupon, shall entitle the mortgager and owner of such property, or his legal representative, to the redemption of his property, before the mortgage is finally foreclosed in the manner provided for by the following section, that is to say, at any time within one year (Bengal, Fussely, or Willaity, according to the era current, where the mortgage may take place,) from and after the application of the mortgagee to the Zillah or City court of Dewanny adawlut, for foreclosing the mortgage, and rendering the sale conclusive, in conformity with Section 8 of this Regulation; provided that such payment or tender be clearly proved to have been made to the lender and mortgagee, or his legal representative; or that the amount due be deposited, within the time above specified, in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah or city in which the mortgaged property may be situated, as allowed, for the security of the borrower and mortgager, in such cases, by Section 2, Regulation 1, 1798, and Section 12, Regulation 34, 1803; the whole of the provisions contained in which sections, as applied therein to the stipulated period of redemption, are declared to be equally applicable to the extended period of one year, granted for an equitable right of redemption by this Regulation.—Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 7.

144. Proprietors of estates are not entitled to the benefit of Regulation 17, 1806, in cases of bye-bil-wufa, in which the period specified for redemption expired prior to the promulgation of that Regulation.—Con. 672, 20th Jan. 1832.

Proprietors of estates not entitled to the benefit of reg. 17, 1806, in cases of bye-bil-wufa, when the period of redemption expired before the promulgation of that regulation.

145. The Calcutta Court held on a reference from the Judge of Cuttack that if a mortgager or his representative, desirous of redeeming the mortgaged property in the possession of the mortgagee, deposits the sum due to the mortgagee either with or without interest (as the case may be) in court, under the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 1 of 1798, and Section 7, Regulation 17, 1806, the period of the notice to be served on the mortgagee, requiring him to render up possession of the property, need not be a year, but any reasonable period according to the distance of his residence from the sudder station.—Con. 974, 7th Aug. 1835.

When the mortgager has deposited the redemption money, the period of notice served on the mortgagee need not be a year.

146. A case of redemption of mortgage under a deed of mortgage, and conditional sale; the equity of redemption being saved by the payment of the money borrowed within the period of one year from the receipt by the mortgager of the notice to pay issued under Regulation 17, 1806, as expressly enjoined by the notice.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Jan. 1825, vol. 4, p. 5.

The equity of redemption saved by the payment of the money borrowed, within one year from the receipt by the mortgagee of the notice of reg. 17, 1806.

147. I am directed to acquaint you, that the Court, with reference to the last paragraph of the Circular orders of the 22d July, 1813, consider it to have been determined, that the borrower is entitled to receive possession summarily on depositing the principal sum borrowed, as required by Section 2, Regulation 1, 1798, leaving the interest to be settled on an adjustment of the lender's receipts and disbursements, during the period he has been in possession.

The borrower is entitled to receive possession summarily on depositing the principal sum borrowed, leaving the interest to be afterwards adjusted.

The case, therefore, put in your letter, of the borrower alleging the principal of the debt to have been realized from the usufruct, which allegation the lender in possession denies, must be the subject of a regular suit, and cannot be decided summarily.

If the borrower alleges that the principal has been realized from the usufruct & the lender denies, it, it must be the subject of a civil suit.

If however the borrower, persisting in his allegation, deposit the principal sum, merely for the purpose of regaining possession of his lands, he may, of course, subsequently sue the mortgagee for the restitution of the amount deposited, and recover it with costs upon his proving that it really was not due.—Con. 339, 25th May 1821.

If the borrower, persisting in his allegation, deposits the principal to regain his lands, he may afterwards recover it with costs.

148. Right of redemption adjudged to the seller of certain lands on the ground of a condition to that effect in a separate deed, though the bill of sale itself was not worded conditionally.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th July 1826, vol. 4, p. 174.

Case in which the right of redemption was adjudged the seller of certain lands, though the bill of sale was not worded conditionally.

Under reg. 17, 1806, the courts cannot summarily settle what payments will entitle the vendor to redeem. Case in which the S. D. A. allowed time beyond the year of grace to deposit interest and save redemption.

If the revocability of the sale be denied by the vendee, the court cannot interfere in favor of the vendor under reg. 1, 1798.

Particular case.

Case in which the conditional sellers of certain lands were reinstated in possession, on payment of the purchase money, because the provisions of reg. 17, 1836, had not been conformed to.

When no tender of the amount by the mortgager within the specified time, was proved, the claim to the redemption of lands was dismissed.

Where offers of clearing the mortgage within the term were made, & evaded by the mortgagees, judgment given in favor of mortgager.

When several proprietors have executed a mortgage of an entire estate in one transaction, an action by one proprietor will not lie. Course to be pursued by him.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a particular case of conditional sale.

149. Under Regulation 17, 1806, the court cannot summarily settle what payments shall entitle the vendor of a recoverable sale to redeem; and in a case of improper interference, in this regard [where the Lower Court had ruled, that the deposit of the principal was sufficient,] the Sudder dewanny adawlut reversed the order, allowing the vendor [thus misled] a few days to save redemption by deposit of interest, the expiration of the year of grace notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th April 1831, vol. 5, p. 111.

150. If the revocability of a sale be denied by the vendee, the Zillah court cannot interfere under Regulation 1, 1798, in favour of the vendor. A., depositing the amount of the mortgage, moved the Zillah court to restore possession. B. pleaded that the sale was absolute. The zillah Judge passed a summary order for restoration of the property to A.; but this order was reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, who ordered that the property should be restored to B. on re-payment of the mortgage money with 12 per cent. interest, and that he should recover the collections during dispossession. On the institution, however, of a regular suit by C. who had purchased the estate of A., at a public sale for arrears of revenue against A. and B., the revocability of the sale was established, and a decree for possession on redemption of the mortgage passed in favor of C.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Aug. 1831, vol. 5, p. 139.

151. The conditional sellers of certain lands reinstated in possession, on payment of the purchase money, though the deed containing the condition could not be produced, and the absolute deed of sale only was forthcoming, and though two of the sellers admitted that it had been cancelled; it appearing that the provisions of Regulation 17, 1806, had not been conformed to.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th July 1823, vol. 3, p. 250.

152. Claim by appellants to the redemption of lands, on which they had executed deeds of mortgage and conditional sale redeemable within a certain time, on plea that payment of the amount was tendered within that time. Judgment against the appellants, no such tender being proved.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d May 1805, vol. 1, p. 90.

153. Claim to the possession of an estate, mortgaged with conditional sale, to become absolute at the end of a term, now expired. Judgment for the mortgager, on proof that offers of clearing the mortgage were made within the term, and evaded by the mortgagees.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Dec. 1806, vol. 1, p. 168.

154. Where the mortgage of an entire estate has been executed by several proprietors in one and the same transaction, an action by one proprietor for his own peculiar share will not lie. He may sue to redeem the whole, though the other sharers refrain from joining in the action, and obtaining judgment may take possession of the whole, leaving the other sharers to obtain their shares on preferring the requisite application, and on paying their full proportion of all the expences.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th June 1822, vol. 3, p. 159.

155. A., on the plea of having conditionally sold certain lands to B., obtains possession of them by a summary order of the Judge by repayment of the money, and grants a lease thereof for five years to C.; B., alleging the sale to have been irrevocable, appeals and regains possession; and the lands having been sold by public auction in satisfaction of a decree and for public revenue, a regular suit is brought by the auction purchasers against A. and B. and the sale is declared revocable and the lands adjudged to them. Held that the lease to C. is of no avail to recover profits in an action brought after the revocability of the sale had been judically established.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Aug. 1831, vol. 5, p. 139.

156. In a sale of land with a stipulation for its being cancelled in the event of the purchase money being paid in nine years, accompanied at the same time with an undertaking on the part of the sellers that a portion of the property sold [which had previously been mortgaged] shall be redeemed within three months, or on failure thereof that the conditional sale shall immediately become absolute; held, that such contract should not be enforced, it being unjust towards the seller, and contrary to the provisions of Regulation 17, 1806.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Feb. 1821, vol. 3, p. 78.

Case of contract for the conditional sale of land, which was not allowed, on the ground of its being unjust to the seller, and contrary to reg. 17, 1806.

157. The case noted in the margin is a suit which was instituted before the Principal Sudder Ameen for the redemption of a dwelling house mortgaged to the defendant for 498 rupees, and valued by the plaintiffs at 1050 rupees, but which, subsequently to the completion of the pleadings, on proof of the stated value or selling price of the aforesaid dwelling-house being upwards of 5000 rupees, was returned by the Principal Sudder Ameen as beyond his competency to adjudge. I request the opinion of the court as to whether in a suit for redemption of mortgage, the institution fee should be computed upon the amount advanced by the mortgager, or the full value of the property mortgaged, there being in the present instance, a difference of 4,500 rupees between the two, and this description of suit not coming exactly under any of the heads of directions for the valuation of claims, specified in Schedule B, Clause 3, Regulation 10 of 1829.—In reply, I am directed to inform you that in suits brought by a mortgager to regain possession of property mortgaged, the amount of stamp should be calculated on the value of the property, due regard being had to the rules laid down in the Regulation for estimating that value, and not on the sum for which the property was mortgaged. This appears distinctly to be the intent of Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, under which the stamp is regulated by the value of the thing claimed.—Con. 957, West. C. 17th June, Cal. C. 7th Aug. 1835.

In a suit by a mortgager to regain possession of the property mortgaged, the amount of the stamp must be calculated on the value of the property, and not on the sum for which it was mortgaged.

158. In an account of several years between the borrower, and lender under a bye-bil-wufa, the court did not allow the yearly rent to be charged first to the yearly interest, but limited the lender's credit for interest to a sum equal to the principal, and the double principal being less than the rent receipts, the borrower recovered possession of his land.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Jan. 1833, vol. 5, p. 259.

Mode in which an account of several years between the borrower and lender under a bye-bil-wufa was adjusted by order of the court.

SECTION XIII.

Mode in which the Mortgagee may foreclose.

159. Whenever the receiver or holder of a deed of mortgage, and conditional sale, such as is described in the preamble, and preceding sections of this Regulation, may be desirous of foreclosing the mortgage, and rendering the sale conclusive, on the expiration of the stipulated period, or at any time subsequent before the sum lent is repaid, he shall (after demanding payment from the borrower, or his representative,) apply, for that purpose, by a written petition to be presented by himself, or by one of the authorized

How a mortgagee or holder of a deed of conditional sale is to proceed, when desirous of foreclosing a mortgage, or rendering a conditional sale conclusive.

To present a petition in person or by an authorized vakeel to the judge of the zillah court.

How the judge is to proceed on receiving such petition.

vakeels of the court, to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the mortgaged land, or other property, may be situated. The Judge on receiving such written application, shall cause the mortgager, or his legal representative, to be furnished, as soon as possible, with a copy of it, and shall at the same time, notify to him, by a perwannah under his seal and official signature, that if he shall not redeem the property mortgaged, in the manner provided for by the foregoing section, within one year from the date of the notification, the mortgage will be finally foreclosed, and the conditional sale will become conclusive. —Reg. 17, 1806, Sect. 8.

The court's explanation of the sole intention of reg. 17, 1806, sec. 8.

160. The Court remark that the sole intention of Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, is to prevent the conditional sales called bye-bil-wufa or kut-kubala, from becoming absolute, until the seller shall have received from the Dewanny adawlut a notice, that the purchaser has demanded payment of the amount due to him upon the contract (inclusive or exclusive of interest, according to circumstances,) and that if the seller shall fail to satisfy the demand in the manner prescribed in the preceding section of the same Regulation, within the year from the date of the notice, the sale will become absolute.

The duties of the judge are purely ministerial; detail of them.

The duty of the zillah and city Judges under this section is (as far as the purchaser is concerned) purely ministerial, leaving them nothing to do but to cause the prescribed perwannah to be served on the seller; and to receive and pay over to the purchaser, if desirous of receiving the same, whatever amount may be paid in by the seller; to receive due proof of the service, or if the purchaser should refuse to accept the same, to restore it to the seller.

Misapprehension of its meaning by the provincial court; that the seller was bound within the year to pay the demand, and, in default, the purchaser was to obtain summary possession.

The Provincial court appear to have viewed the sections quoted above, as implying that the seller on receiving the notice prescribed, is bound within the period of a year to pay the amount demanded, and as providing, that if the seller fail to make such payment, the purchaser is immediately to be summarily put in possession of the lands conditionally sold.

This construction is not warranted; the judge has no power to dispossess the seller and give the lands to the purchaser.

The Court are of opinion, that nothing contained in the sections above quoted warrants such construction; and that the said sections do not in particular vest the Judge with authority to dispossess the seller, and give up the lands to the purchaser.

The sections provide no summary remedy. In that case a person might be compelled to pay a large sum, or be ousted of his estate on the demand of another, though he denied the validity of the engagement.

That the said sections, as justly noticed by the Provincial court, provide no summary enquiry in the cases to which they relate: that upon the construction adopted by that court, it would therefore follow that a person might be compelled to pay a large sum of money, or be ousted of his estate, for several years, upon the mere demand of another, without the least enquiry or proof, though he should deny the authenticity or validity of the alleged engagement.

But, if the seller fail to make the payment, he does it at his peril. If the sale turns out to be valid, he must, on a suit being brought, lose his lands.

That if, however, the seller fail to make the payment demanded, he must do so at his peril; since, should it prove that the alleged sale was authentic and valid, and that any part of the amount demanded was due, the sale will have become absolute, and he must, on a suit being brought against him, lose his lands.

The summary enquiry by the judge in this case, superfluous.

According to the construction stated above of the sections in question, it follows that the summary enquiry made by the Judge in the present case was superfluous.

The judge should have called upon the seller for payment,

The Court further entirely acquiesce in the observation of the Provincial court, that the purchaser not having obtained possession, the Judge of zillah Nuddea should have called upon the seller for payment, both of principal and interest, according to the demand of the purchaser. —The Court are of opinion that the Provincial court was clearly competent to rectify this error of the Judge, by directing him to issue a further notice to the seller, calling upon him, within a reasonable period, to be inserted in the notice, to pay in interest as well as principal.

Though not immediately connected with the question before them, the Court, to guard against the preceding instructions being misinterpreted, deem it necessary to add, that they do not apply to the case of a borrower on a bye-bil-wufa, who had delivered over possession to the lender, paying up the principal sum advanced before the sale has become absolute. The Court are of opinion that the borrower in such case, would, by Section 2, Regulation 1, 1798, be entitled to receive possession summarily without suit.—Cir. Ord. 22d July 1813.

161. The Court having reason to believe that a practice very generally prevails in these provinces of the zillah and city Judges declaring, in the summary proceeding held by them under the provisions of Regulation 17, 1806, in cases of mortgage and conditional sale, commonly called bye-bil-wufa, that the sale has become absolute, solely on the application of the conditional purchaser at the expiration of the period allowed by law for the redemption of the mortgage; and that they are moreover in the habit of giving judicial opinions, not only upon the fact of the foreclosure of the mortgage or conditional sale, but also upon other points which frequently arise in the course of the summary process, the decision of which entirely belongs to a regular suit; and deeming such practice liable to serious objections, particularly as, on the institution of a regular suit for possession of the mortgaged property, the Native judicial officers, by whom such cases are frequently cognizable, are apt to consider, that the sale having already been declared absolute by the Judge, they are not competent to question and pass their own judgment upon that point, and therefore give possession merely on the ground of the summary proceeding held by the Judge; I am, therefore, directed to request, that in future proceedings of this nature, you will directly confine yourself to recording simply the facts which have occurred during the progress of the summary process, such as the application of the conditional purchaser, the issue and service of the prescribed notice, any petitions which may have been prescribed by either party, and generally the other particulars adverted to in the second paragraph of the circular instructions of the 22d July, 1813.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 17th Jan. 1834.

162. In a suit brought by a mortgagee, for the foreclosure of a mortgage, it is competent to the court in which the suit was preferred to enquire whether the transaction was an illegal one ab initio, and to decide accordingly.

If it was proved that the notice was not duly issued to the mortgager, the plaintiff ought to be nonsuited, leaving him to apply for the issue of the prescribed notice.—Con. 1140, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 23d March 1838.

163. It is not required by the Regulations that a copy of the deed of mortgage should be served on the mortgager, but only a copy of the application of the mortgagee to the Judge of the Civil court for the issue of the prescribed notice.—Con. 630, 11th March 1831.

164. The production of the original deed of mortgage, prior to the issue of notice of foreclosure, under Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, is not necessary.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 8th Sept. 1840, p. 47.

both of principal and interest, according to the purchaser's demand.

The above instructions do not apply to the case of a borrower under bye-bil-wufa, who had delivered over possession to the lender, and pays the principal before the sale became absolute.

Objectionable practice of the judges under the provisions of reg. 17, 1806.

In those cases the judge will simply record the facts which have occurred during the summary process; the application of the purchaser; the issue of notice; the petitions given in by either party, and generally all particulars.

When a mortgagee brings a suit for foreclosure, the court may enquire if the transaction was illegal ab initio.

If the notice of a year was not issued, the case should be nonsuited.

A copy of the deed of mortgage need not be served, but only of the application of the mortgagee for the prescribed notice.

The production of the original deed of mortgage, before the issue of notice, unnecessary.

In an action to render the sale absolute, proof that notice has been served under the above section, is necessary.

By the release of the vendors to vendees of a conditional sale, procedure according to sec. 8, reg. 17, 1806, is not dispensable, under peculiar circumstances.

The mortgagee is not entitled to foreclosure without recourse to the rules of reg. 17, 1806.

If after notice to the vendor, the vendee, within the year of grace, extends the right of redemption beyond that time, the notice need not be renewed.

An action cannot lie against the mortgager disputing the mortgagee's claim, without the application to foreclose, directed in sec. 8, as above.

The mortgagee, on filing his application, should deposit the tulubannah of the peon through whom the perwannah is to be issued.

From what date the period of one year is to be calculated.

The notification prescribed in sec. 8, reg. 17, 1806 should bear the date on which it may be actually issued, and not that on which it was ordered.

165. In an action to recover on a revocable sale as rendered absolute, the Sudder dewanny adawlut required proof that notice under Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, had been served on the vendor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 346.

166. If a claim be dismissed, by way of nonsuit, the court should not narrow the future legal recourse of the plaintiff. The Sudder dewanny adawlut implies, that by the release of the vendors, to vendees, of a conditional sale, procedure according to Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, is not dispensable, under peculiar circumstances—such as, intervening attachment, in execution, and sale by vendor to a third party, to satisfy judgments.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th June 1830, vol. 5, p. 39.

167. Judgment having been given against a mortgager, who sued to redeem the mortgaged property, on the plea that he had tendered repayment of the money borrowed. Held, that the mortgagee is not thereby entitled to foreclosure, without recourse to the rules prescribed by Regulation 17, 1806.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th March 1823, vol. 3, p. 225.

168. In a conditional sale, after issue of notice to the vendor, under Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, the vendee within the year of grace, extended the right of redemption beyond that term. Held, that such extension alone does not render a renewal of notice necessary under that law.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th June 1830, vol. 5, p. 37.

169. An action on the part of the mortgagee for possession, at the expiration of the period of the deed of mortgage, cannot lie in the first instance against the mortgager disputing his claim under the deed, without application being made to foreclose, as directed by Section 8 of the Regulation quoted.—Con. 105, 25th June 1812.

170. The Court deem it sufficient to observe that the provisions of Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, expressly require that a copy of the application of the mortgagee to foreclose should accompany the perwannah issued to the mortgager; and that in their opinion, the mortgagee, on filing his application should be directed immediately to deposit the tulubannah of the peon through whom the perwannah is issued to the other party, that the order for issuing the same be passed without delay.—Con. 644, 24th June 1831.

171. The period of one year, allowed for the redemption of mortgages or conditional sales by Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, must be calculated from the date of the written notification, as expressly mentioned in that section, as well as in the Persian translation thereof.—Con. 263, 23d Jan. 1817.

172. It having since come to the knowledge of the Court that the written notification to the mortgager, or his representative directed in that section, instead of being immediately issued, as evidently intended by the express terms of the Regulation, is sometimes delayed for a month, and upwards, whereby the mortgagee's application for a foreclosure is not made known to the mortgager so early as it ought to be; whilst at the same time the year allowed for redemption must necessarily be calculated, as prescribed, from the date of the notification, the Court are of opinion, that whenever a perwannah to a mortgager, or his legal representative containing the notification prescribed in Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, may not be issued on the date of its being ordered, it should bear the date on which it may be actually issued, instead of that on which the perwannah may be ordered; and that the term of one year allowed for redeeming the mortgage should be calculated from the date so inserted.—Cir. Ord. 9th April 1817, par. 2.

173. You are accordingly desired to observe this rule in issuing any future notifications of the nature referred to ; at the same time giving particular attention to prevent any unnecessary delay in issuing such notifications which in justice to mortgagees, as well as in conformity with the intention of Sections 7 and 8, Regulation 17, 1806, should be issued as soon as possible after the receipt of the mortgagee's application for a foreclosure.—Ibid, par. 3.

The judge will be particularly careful that there is no unnecessary delay in issuing the notifications.

174. The time of notice of foreclosure of a mortgage prescribed by Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, having expired on a Sunday, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that a tender of a debt on the day following, as a deposit in court, should have been allowed.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th July 1841, p. 15.

If the time of notice of foreclosure expires on Sunday, the tender of the money on the following day should be allowed.

175. The period of one year allowed for the redemption of mortgages on conditional sales by Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, must be calculated from the date of the issue of the written notification, which should also be the date of the notification itself. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that a notice bearing the date of the order for issue instead of the date of actual issue, was incorrectly and irregularly dated ; and that the period included between those two dates could not be calculated as coming within the year allowed to the mortgager to redeem the mortgage.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th June 1837, vol. 6, p. 166.

A notice bearing the date of the order of issue and not the date of actual issue, was incorrectly and irregularly issued, & the period between these dates is not to be counted as part of the year.

176. The provisions of Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, do not entitle a mortgagee to be put in possession, by judicial process, of the property mortgaged to him, although stated to be unredeemed at the expiration of the period notified, if the mortgager contest the right of the mortgagee to obtain possession ; and a Judge is not authorized in such case to put the mortgagee in possession on a summary investigation, or otherwise than by a regular suit.—Con. 80, 14th March 1811.

Sec. 8, reg. 17, 1806 does not entitle the mortgagee to be put in possession, by judicial process, if the mortgager contests the right of the mortgagee to obtain possession. It can be effected only by a regular suit.

177. The Judge was further informed, that if the mortgager, on being called upon to show cause why the mortgagee should not obtain possession, denied the right of the mortgagee to possess the lands, the question of right could only be determined as directed by Section 5, Regulation 1, 1798.—Ibid.

If the mortgager denies the right of the mortgagee to possess the lands, the question must be determined according to sec. 5, reg. 1, 1798.

178. A Judge, in carrying on the process required on the application of a mortgagee to foreclose, acting purely in a ministerial capacity, is not competent to entertain or enquire into a plea of forgery set up by the mortgager. He may however enquire into any alleged misconduct on the part of his officers.—Con. 1179, West. C. 12th Oct., Cal. C. 2d Nov. 1838.

In the case of the application of a mortgagee to foreclose, the judge acts ministerially and cannot enquire into a plea of forgery set up.

179. It is not competent to a zillah Judge to pass an order summarily, for foreclosure of a mortgage, notwithstanding the vendor and vendee might certify to him an agreement, to the effect that the conditional sale should be made absolute without the necessity of further proceedings in the event of a violation of the agreement by the vendor.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th June 1841, p. 12.

The judge cannot pass an order summarily for the foreclosure of a mortgage though vendor and vendee certify an agreement to render the sale at once absolute.

180. The tender to the mortgagee of the money borrowed by a person to whom the mortgaged property has been transferred by the mortgager, is sufficient to prevent a foreclosure.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th April 1841, vol. 7, p. 30.

The tender of the money by one to whom the mortgager has transferred the property is sufficient to prevent a foreclosure.

But the tender of the money by a stranger to the transaction is not sufficient to prevent it.

181. In a case of mortgage with conditional sale, the tender of the mortgage money borrowed by a stranger to the transaction, is not sufficient to prevent a foreclosure.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Nov. 1820, vol. 3, p. 54.

Where a Mussulman, to avoid the imputation of taking interest, lent 1300 rs. on a deed of mortgage, & consolidated the interest for five years in the bond, he was not entitled to the village when the period of redemption arrived, but only to the principal and interest.

182. A. [a Mussulman,] sues B. for possession of a village under a deed of mortgage and conditional sale for 2081 rupees, redeemable in five years. It appearing that A. lent to B. only 1300 rupees, and to avoid the imputation of taking interest, consolidated the interest for that sum for five years with the principal, and caused the aggregate sum to be entered in the bond, as principal : adjudged that he is not entitled to the village, at the expiration of the period of redemption. The Court, however, order that he should recover the principal sum actually lent, with interest thereon, as there was no attempt to obtain interest beyond the legal rate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th March 1818, vol. 2, p. 255.

When under a deed of bye-bil-wufa, the mortgage was foreclosed and the sale made absolute, a suit to obtain the land was thrown out, because a higher sum than legal interest had been taken.

183. In a suit to obtain possession of certain premises under a deed of bye-bil-wufa, the mortgage having been foreclosed, and the sale made absolute, it appearing that one rupee per mensem was the sum stipulated to be paid as interest in the deed of mortgage, but that the mortgagee had received a separate bond engaging the payment of one additional per cent. interest, such proceeding was held to be contrary to the provisions of Regulation 17, 1806, and the claim was accordingly disallowed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Jan. 1826, vol. 4, p. 106.

When there had been illegal interest by deduction from the principal, the action for the land was dismissed.

184. In a case of bye-bil-wufa, the lender having exacted illegal interest by deduction from the principal, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, with reference to Section 9, Regulation 17, 1806, dismissed the action for the land conditionally sold.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Jun. 1831, vol. 5, p. 81.

In a case of bye-bil-wufa, the lender, unless good cause can be shewn, can only sue for possession of the property pledged, not for the money to be repaid.

185. I am directed by the Court to communicate to you, in reply to the question contained in the 5th paragraph of yours of the 23d June last, their opinion and that of the Western Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that if the mortgage in question be of the nature of a conditional sale, and the money be not repaid, the lender, unless good and sufficient cause be shewn, can only sue for possession of the property pledged, and has not the election of suing to recover the money or to be put in possession of the property, as he may deem most advantageous to his own interest.—Con. 898, 5th Sept. 1834.

Idem.

186. In a case of conditional sale, if the debt be not repaid, the lender, unless good and sufficient cause be shewn, has not the choice of suing for the money or for the property pledged, but is restricted to an action for the latter.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th April 1842, vol. 7, p. 92.

Idem.

187. Property on which the plaintiff had a mortgage having been sold in execution of a decree obtained by a common bond creditor, the Court held that, notwithstanding the sale, the plaintiff should sue to foreclose the mortgage, instead of for the money lent by him, the sale having made no alteration in his position as mortgagee.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st July 1841, vol. 7, p. 42.

189. In an action to recover on a conditional sale, the plaintiff recovered in the lower courts on ground that the sale had become absolute by default of vendor to repay all, within the legal time, but vendee had received rent from the sold property and had continued to receive partial payments after default, and vendor had deposited in court a sum as balance due to the vendee. A special appeal was admitted because the lower courts had not enquired into the state of account nor as to disputed service of notice under Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, on vendor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 346.

190. If a mortgager in default engage at the end of a term, to convert the mortgage into a sale, in the event of non-redemption within the term—and if he neither satisfy the loan nor surrender the property, the mortgagee may recover the loan, and interest, (if not forfeited as in this case) and is not restricted to his real action.—Note to the S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Feb. 1830, vol. 5, p. 10.

191. Judgment creditors intervened in an action for foreclosure of a mortgage, in which their debtor was defendant; their interest was held to entitle them to appeal from a judgment which tended to bar their right of execution against the real property of their debtor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th May 1841, vol. 7, p. 32.

194. A conditional sale and decree for foreclosure and possession, is no bar to the sale of property pledged as security to a Civil court to stay execution of a decree under a bond of prior date.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th April 1843, p. 48.

195. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will uphold a decree of the Supreme Court, in favor of a mortgage founded on a bond to confess judgment, although the foreclosure of the mortgage be contrary to Regulation 17, 1806, the mortgager having voluntarily subjected himself to the jurisdiction.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th Sept. 1821, vol. 3, p. 111.

196. A decree of a court of competent jurisdiction, in an action for foreclosure of a mortgage, against the alleged heir, in possession of the property of the deceased mortgager, is no bar to the recovery of the property awarded by the decree on suit instituted by the rightful heir.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Feb. 1841, vol. 7, p. 16.

197. Held that a Magistrate exceeded his competency in awarding possession to the purchaser of mortgaged property to the exclusion of the mortgager, on the plea that the mortgage had been redeemed, although the purchaser, up to the time of the dispute, had never been in possession.—Con. 393, 17th June 1825.

198. A sold to B. by revocable sale several villages for a defined sum and at the same time transferred absolutely to B. other property apparently but not really for money paid. On application of B. the Zillah court ordered notice to redeem to be issued to A. under Section 8, Regulation 17 of 1806. A. paid off part of the price inserted in the deed of revocable sale, and by mutual agreement part of the conditionally sold property was discharged and part remained under sale, revocable within a defined period on satisfaction of the share of the price imputed to it. A. did not duly redeem but made partial payment received by B. after expiration of defined

A conditional sale and decree for foreclosure & possession does not bar the sale of property pledged as security to a civil court on a prior date.

Case in which the S. D. A. upheld a decree of the supreme court for foreclosing a mortgage, though contrary to reg. 17, 1806.

A decree of a competent court, for foreclosure of a mortgage against the alleged heir, does not bar an action for the recovery of it by the rightful heir.

period. B. in his real action to recover, as under a sale rendered absolute, failed on a special appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut who did not order a refund of balance of purchase money ; because, 1, the Court considered the gratuitous conveyance as an usurious device under Section 9, Regulation 15 of 1793 ; 2, Proof that notice was duly served on vendor under Section 8, Regulation 17 of 1806, was wanting; 3, The original revocable sale was annulled by the subsequent covenant.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 346.

Decision of the S. D. A. of a particular case of conditional sale.

199. In an action for possession of an estate mortgaged under a deed of bye-bil-wufa or conditional sale, the period of its redemption having expired, a decree was obtained in the Zillah court. Two years after, (the estate having in the mean time been sold by public auction) an appeal being preferred to the Provincial court, the zillah decree, from its not being in conformity to the rules of Regulation 17, 1806, was reversed. The Sudder dewanny adawlut held the sale to have become absolute, considering the omission of the mortgager to prefer an appeal in due time and to stay the intermediate sale of the estate, as a sufficient bar to his right of redemption.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Nov. 1816, vol. 2, p. 200.

Idem.

200. A. enters into a written engagement to B. for the sale of his estate on condition of receiving the whole amount of the purchase money by a specified period, and in that case engages to execute a regular bill of sale. A. receives part of the purchase money, and B. tenders the remainder before the expiration of the specified period. A. however, refuses to abide by the terms of his engagement. At the suit of B. the conditional sale was held to be conclusive against A. although the engagement did not contain any express condition that it should be considered sufficient to constitute an actual sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th Aug. 1814, vol. 2, p. 123.

Idem.

201. The vendee of a revocable sale, takes out of court amount of principal and interest tendered—save his right of action, for the sum charged as short tendered : and the court will award the same, if the vendor fail to discharge himself,—but without prejudice to his right to recover, of the vendee, the amount alleged to have been received by him.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th April 1831, vol. 5, p. 111.

Idem.

202. In consideration of, and to secure, a sum, paid by A., B. deposited his titles to some real property, and executed a sale, revocable on repayment of principal and interest, within a limited time, covenanting to give possession, and effect a registry of the vendee's name. After nearly twelve years had elapsed, A. sued B. to recover principal and interest, and the award in his favor was affirmed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the defence being a total denial of the payment and deposit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th May 1831, vol. 5, p. 117.

Idem.

203. A. sold to B. certain villages which he had previously sold under bye-bil-wufa to C. On the suit of B. against A. and C. the lower courts decreed specific performance of the contract in favor of B., C. receiving the money due on his conditional sale. The futwa of the law officers of the Sudder dewanny adawlut asserted that, under the Mahomedan law, the vendee (B.) of the pawner (A.) could not recover an unredeemed pledge from the non-assenting pawnee (C.), but might elect to wait redemption by the pawner, or sue him to set aside the sale. With reference to this opinion and on general principles, the Sudder dewanny adawlut dismissed B.'s claim to compel performance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Aug. 1832, vol. 5, p. 226.

205. The rule contained in Section 27, Regulation 10, 1793, which limits the minority of Hindoo and Mahomedan proprietors of estates paying revenue to Government, to the expiration of the fifteenth year, is hereby rescinded, and the minority of such proprietors is declared to extend to the end of the eighteenth year.—Reg. 26, 1793, Sect. 2.

207. The age of 21 was held as the period of the petitioner (a Christian) attaining his majority with reference to the provisions of a will, under which he claimed the personal management of property bequeathed him.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th April 1842, p. 27.

A Christian attains his majority at 21.

208. A question having arisen as to whether a minor Hindoo widow should reside in the house of her husband's family, or in that of her own father, the Sudder dewanny adawlut ruled, under the circumstances, that she should remain under the protection of her father.—Mr. Bradon's Opinion.—Regulation 26 of 1793 fixes the age of majority for Hindoos at 18, nor is there anything to limit its provisions only to males.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th Jan. 1837, p. 13.

A Hindoo female attains her majority at 18.

SECTION XV.

Appointment and Duties of Guardians.

209. In all cases of joint undivided estates when one or more of the proprietors shall die leaving heirs who are under age, lunatics, or idiots, and without nominating by will a guardian or guardians to the heirs, it shall be the duty of the Judge within whose jurisdiction such estate may be situated (or the principal part of it, in the event of its being situated in two or more jurisdictions) on the receipt of a report from the Collector, or from any other person or persons interested in the welfare of the family of the deceased, stating the grounds on which he or they may consider the next of kin as unfit to be entrusted with the care of the person, or management of the estate of the heir, to investigate the nature of the objections to the nearest of kin, and if satisfied himself that they are well founded the Judge shall nominate some other person of character and respectability to act as guardian of the heir, reporting the circumstance in every instance to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 1, 1800, Sect. 1.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 8, 1805, Sect. 29, Cl. 10.

Guardians to be furnished with a commission and to give security.

212. The guardians appointed under this Regulation, are to be furnished with a commission under the official seal and signature of the Judge, but previously to the delivery of it, they are to give security for their appearance during the continuance of their trust, and to execute the following obligation :—"I, A. B., having voluntarily taken upon myself the guardianship of C., proprietor of a ——— anna share of the estate of D., do hereby solemnly promise and engage to execute the trust committed to me zealously and faithfully to the best of my judgment, and according to the Regulations which have been or may be prescribed for the guidance of guardians by the Governor-General in Council; I will derive no advantage myself, directly or indirectly, from any monies belonging to my ward, which may come into my hands in the execution of my trust, beyond the compensation granted me for my superintendence, nor will I knowingly suffer any other person to derive therefrom any such undue advantage. I also promise and engage to render a true and just account of whatsoever may be received by me on account of my ward abovementioned, when required to do so by any competent authority, and in the event of its being proved that I have been guilty of any embezzlement, or of any breach of trust injurious to his (or her) property, I hereby bind myself, my heirs and successors to make good treble the amount of the embezzlement or injury so proved against me."—Reg. 1, 1800, Sect. 4.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 8, 1805, Sect. 29, Cl. 12.

The guardian will receive the minor's share of the proceeds of an estate. The zillah judge cannot interfere in the disposition of minor's property.

214. The guardian of a minor being his representative is entitled to receive the minor's share of the proceeds of an estate, if managed by a surburakar; and the zillah Judge has no authority to interfere with him in the disposition of the minor's property.—Con. 654, 19th Aug. 1831.

215. Estates under charge of a manager elected as stated in the foregoing sec—Reg. shall be held answerable for the payment of the revenue assessed thereon, and nothing contained in this Regulation shall be considered as exempting the lands from sale, for the realization of any balances which may at any time become due to Government.—Reg. 10 1800, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 8, 1805, Sect. 29, Cl. 13.

218. With regard to the second point, namely, appointing a guardian to the minor; if he be considered the adopted son of the widow's husband, you must be guided by the provisions of Regulation 1, 1800, which authorize the appointment, by the Civil court, of a guardian to a minor landholder, provided he be a sharer in a joint estate paying revenue immediately to Government, and all the other sharers be not disqualified persons. Your appointment of a guardian in such case would be subject to the control of this Court, in the mode provided for by Section 7 of the above quoted Regulation.—Con. 310, 1st Jan. 1820, par. 5.

Course to be pursued. The S. D. A. will interfere summarily to put the guardian in possession of the estate and accounts.

220. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 25th August last, and its enclosures, and in reply to inform you that the Court, being of opinion that there is nothing in the provisions of Regulation 1, 1800, which restricts its application to the case of minor heirs of joint undivided estates paying revenue immediately to Government, sanction the appointment of the following guardians [to minors, whose estates pay revenue to zemindars and others, and not immediately to Government.]—Con. 918, 24th Oct. 1834.

—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th Dec. 1832.

When objections exist to conferring the guardianship on the next of kin the judge will appoint some respectable person guardian.

222. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 25th ultimo, requesting to be informed, whether a minor can execute a power of attorney to a constituted vakeel of the court to defend a suit instituted against the minor's father in his lifetime or whether the suit must remain for investigation until the minority of the boy expires. By Section 1, Regulation 1 of 1800, it is provided that whenever any objections to conferring the trust on the next of kin may exist, the Judge shall nominate some other person of character and respectability to act as guardian of the minor. But in the case out of which your reference originated, it appears, that the minor has no relation whatever; under which circumstances, the Court are of opinion, that the provisions of the rule above quoted might, by analogy, be extended to his case, and that you should select some competent person to act as his guardian. You will be pleased therefore to make a selection of some individual accordingly, attending to the rules laid down in Regulation 1 of 1800; and the person so appointed by you will be competent to nominate a vakeel to conduct the defence of his ward.—Con. 398, 5th Aug. 1825.

That guardian may appoint a vakeel to carry on a suit instituted against the minor's father.

Guardians and managers will exercise their own judgment in managing the estates of minors.

223. Guardians or managers appointed under Regulation 1, 1800, must be left to exercise their own judgment as to the best mode of managing the estates of the minors committed to their care.—Con. 663, 16th Dec. 1831.

The guardians of proprietors of joint undivided estates who may be disqualified for the management of their own concerns, shall exercise the same powers as could be exercised by the proprietors if qualified.

224. In cases in which one or more of the proprietors of a joint undivided estate may be minors, or may be otherwise disqualified for the management of their own concerns in consequence of natural defects or infirmities, the guardians of such persons, whether nominated by the will of their parents, or by the zillah Judges under Regulation 1, 1800, shall superintend the interests of such disqualified persons, and shall exercise the same powers in the management of the estate of their wards as could be exercised by the proprietors themselves, were they qualified for the direction of their own affairs.—Reg. 17, 1805, Sect. 5.

225. In reply to your reference I am directed to state that the Civil courts are not expected to call on guardians appointed by them under Regulation 8, 1805, [Regulation 1 of 1800] to deliver up their accounts for their inspection; nor are those courts competent to exercise any active interference in the management of the property belonging to the ward. On the receipt, however, of credible information against the character of the guardian, showing him to the court's satisfaction to be unfit for the situation, the court is competent to make enquiry into the matter and to take measures for his removal. For the recovery of any monies or property, which, on investigation the guardian may appear to have embezzled, the Civil court is not empowered to interfere excepting on the institution of a regular suit.—Con. 720, West. C. 21st Sept., Cal. C. 28th Dec. 1832.

The civil courts cannot interfere in the management of the minor's property; nor inspect the accounts.

226. In the case of a minor, whose estate is not under the Court of Wards, the executor or guardian must, during the minority, stand in the place of the minor and be subject to all the rules of suit and defence to which the minor himself would be subject were he not a minor.—Con. 335, 2d Feb. 1821.

The minor's guardian is subject to all the rules of suit and defence, to which the minor himself would be subject.

Minors, and others having guardians, not to be sued, but under the protection and joint name of their guardians.

228. A minor, through his guardian, may sue the Collector, for having, under the authority of the Court of Wards, disposed of the minor's estate. The Judge should refer the plaint, under Regulation 2, 1814, to the Board of Revenue, and proceeded to the trial of it under Clause 4, Section 3 of that Regulation, in the event of its not being deemed requisite by that authority to direct redress to be afforded.—Con. 410, 16th Dec. 1825.

Sum. Cases*, 29th Jan. 1839, p. 16.

D. A. Sel. Rep.* 9th Feb. 1825, vol. 4, p. 17.

The S. D. A. rejected a claim to recover a sum on bond executed in favor of the plaintiff while acting as guardian & minor.

Case in which the minor was not called to refund a sum said to have accrued on his estate. But if the account shewed that it had been really advanced, the security was entitled to credit for it.

233. Judgment having been given for the recovery of a debt alleged to have accrued on the estate of a minor, against a person who had voluntarily become his security and which debt the minor denies having been due [he not having been cognizant of the suit,] held not to be sufficient to establish the reality of the debt, and consequently not to make it necessary for the minor to refund the amount, with a reservation however that if, on production of accounts, it could be proved that the money was in reality advanced for the estate, the security would be entitled to credit for it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th April 1808, vol. 1, p. 234.

A tehseldar on an adjustment of accounts will be reimbursed the sum he may have borrowed, to discharge the govt. revenue while acting for the minor.

234. A person officiating for a minor in the capacity of tehseldar, and borrowing money in his own name to discharge the Government revenue, will be solely responsible in the first instance for the repayment of it, even after his removal from the office, and the minor's succession to it; but on an adjustment of accounts he is entitled to be reimbursed by the latter, should the debt appear to have been really incurred on his account, and bonâ fide chargeable to him.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d May 1815, vol. 2, p. 154.

In a suit against a minor and guardian jointly, for rents unduly levied during minority, the latter only is liable in the first instance.

235. In a suit instituted against a minor landholder and his guardian jointly to recover rents unduly levied during the minority of the former, held that the latter only is liable, in the first instance, notwithstanding the former may have attained to majority before the final decision of the suit, with liberty to sue for reimbursement, if he think fit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th March 1821, vol. 3, p. 83.

A guardian's takes a conveyance from a minor for expenditure on his account. It is disallowed for its extravagance, and on the ground of minority.

236. A. had managed the estate of B., a minor; and took from B. [aged 15 years,] a conveyance, in consideration of an alleged debt, for expenditure on his account,—which appeared grossly extravagant. The heir is responsible for a debt contracted by the manager solely for the benefit of the property.

237. A surburakar, or manager, in the management of certain property alleged to belong to a minor, contracted a loan to pay off debts originally incurred on conditional sale of such property by A., the former proprietor. On the suit of B. claiming to inherit from A., a decree was passed in his favour and against the rights of the minor. Held, that under such circumstances, B. was responsible for the repayment of the loan, it having been satisfactorily proved that the debt was incurred by the manager entirely for the benefit of the property.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th Jan. 1836, vol. 6, p. 47.

An estate is liable to be attached and sold, for a decree against a guardian who had borrowed money to save it from sale for arrears.

238. A guardian having borrowed money to save his ward's estate from sale for arrears of revenue, held that such estate is liable to be attached and sold in execution of a decree obtained against the guardian, for payment of the debt.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th May 1838, p. 15.

The S. D. A. in a particular case orders a guardian to be restored to office who had been dismissed by the judge.

239. The Court observe that the appointment of the guardian having been confirmed by them you should not have removed him, Moomtazooden being still in his non-age, without their sanction. They do not consider the reasons assigned by you sufficient to warrant his removal, for though the possession of the estate, for the protection of which he was appointed, is in the hands of the opposite party, the claim of the minor thereto remains to be decided, and the continuance of the guardian may be necessary to bring forward, and prosecute a suit to recover possession in the Civil court in a regular manner. The Court therefore annul that part of your order, and direct that the guardian be restored to his office.—Con. 666, 6th Jan. 1832.

The judge cannot entertain an establishment to manage

240. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your return of the 18th February to the Court's precept of 19th January last, and its enclosures, on the subject of the appointment of certain officers to manage the accounts of the estate of certain wards of your court, the court observing that the Regulations in force do not authorize the entertainment of the establishment in question, and being of opinion that it is unnecessary, deem it proper to annul your order of the 11th June last.—Con. 682, 16th March 1832.

241. On an application to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, made on the part of a guardian of a deaf and dumb person, appointed under Regulation 1, 1800, to be allowed to appeal in formâ pauperis on behalf of his ward by presenting his petition through an authorized agent, it was held that a petition to be allowed to appeal in formâ pauperis cannot be received through an agent, from any person not being a female of the rank and description stated in Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 28, 1814.—Con. 1254, Cal. C. 4th Oct., West. C. 8th Nov. 1839.

242. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22d ultimo, No. 133, and in reply to inform you that the bond in the case therein alluded to should be retained in the custody of the court until the lapse of twelve years from the resignation of the trust, or from the date of the minor's attaining his majority, unless the minor on coming of age should consent to his being restored to the parties concerned.—Con. 948, 1st May 1835.

243. It appears from the proceeding of the Judge of zillah Mymensingh, dated 19th February, 1831, that while the marriage ceremony of Musst. Noor-oon-nissa Khatoon, daughter of Mosummut Chand Bebee deceased, with Moulvee Tumeezoodeen, was suspended in consequence of a difference of opinion between the Judges of the Court of appeal and the zillah Judge; an order having been issued by the Judge forbidding the marriage of the said Noor-oon-nissa with any person whatever until an order should be issued to that effect; Moulvee Abdool Ulee, son of Moulvee Burkutoolah Khan, without giving information to the said gentleman or obtaining his permission, and without any intimation to Golam Abool Lys Chowdree, the half brother of the said Noor-oon-nissa who is also her guardian, married her. It is also understood from a petition of the said Noor-oon-nissa, that she has arrived at the age of puberty and that she with her own free will and consent married Moulvee Abdool Ulee aforesaid. Under these circumstances, and as the said Noor-oon-nissa acknowledges that she has attained to the age of puberty and that this marriage has taken place agreeably to her own free will and consent, and as the Judge's order was passed under the supposition of her being a minor, her marriage with Abdool Ulee, although it may have taken place without information given to the Judge and guardian, or obtaining their permission, is valid and binding according to law, and Abdool Ulee aforesaid cannot in consequence of this marriage and such disobedience of orders be considered criminal or liable to punishment.—Con. 637, 27th May 1831.

244. Administration to the property of an intestate Mahomedan, without the limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court, refused to the Registrar of that court by the Presidency Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d June 1840, p. 37.

245. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut decreed to a sharer possession of her share under the provisions of Section 13, Regulation 3, 1793, though she was not an original plaintiff in the suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th May 1817, vol. 2, p. 237.

246. Held that an action by a person as friend or next of kin to devisees under a will, one of the executors under the will being alive, is irregular, and dismissed accordingly.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Nov. 1842, vol. 7, p. 119.

A guardian of a deaf and dumb person refused permission to present a petition to be allowed to appeal in formâ pauperis through an agent.

The period for which the security bond furnished by a guardian on undertaking the trust of a minor should be retained in the court.

The clandestine marriage of a female placed under a guardian appointed under reg. 1, 1800 is not punishable in the criminal courts.

Administration to the property of an intestate Mahomedan beyond the jurisdiction of the supreme court refused to the registrar.

The S. D. A. decreed to a sharer possession of her share under reg. 3, 1793, sec. 13, though not an original plaintiff.

While an executor is alive, an action by the friend or next of kin to devisees under a will, is irregular.

SECTION XVII.

Charge of Property belonging to Intestates, particularly British Subjects,—and to unclaimed Property.

The judges how to proceed in cases of persons dying intestate, leaving personal property to which there may be no claimant.

247. The Judges of the Zillah or City courts, on receiving information that any person within their respective jurisdictions has died intestate, leaving personal property ; and that there is no claimant to such property, are to adopt such measures as may be necessary for the temporary care of the property, and to issue an advertisement in the current languages of the country, requiring the heir of the deceased, or any person entitled to receive charge of his effects, to attend for this purpose ; such advertisement to be published on the spot where the property was found ; at the Dewanny adawlut cutcherry of the zillah or city, and, if ascertainable, at the dwelling-place of the deceased ; or if the deceased were an European, in the Calcutta Gazette ; after which should any person attend and satisfy the Judge of his title to the property, or to receive charge thereof as executor, administrator, or otherwise, the same is to be delivered up to him ; on repayment of any necessary expence incurred in the care of it. Should no claim be preferred within the twelve months next ensuing, an inventory of the property and report of the circumstances of the case is to be transmitted to the Governor General in Council for his orders.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 7.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 7.

A demand for security before giving possession of the property of an intestate, not legal.

248. A demand for security before giving possession of the property of an intestate to his proved heir and in the absence of other claims, is not warranted by the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th Dec. 1846, p. 88.

Instead of separate inventories, a general statement of all property in the hands of the judge will be annually submitted.

249. The Court direct, in pursuance of instructions from the Government, that in lieu of a separate inventory, in each instance, of property of intestates unclaimed upwards of twelve months, you will in future submit to the Government, at the close of every year, a general statement of all property of the kind, which may be in your custody for a period exceeding twelve months after the issue of notice for the appearance of heirs or claimants—Cir. Ord. 3d Jan. 1845.

No suit can be instituted to establish claims of creditors on the property of intestates before the expiration of a twelve-month, as above.

250. To remove doubts regarding the disposal of claims of creditors on the property of persons who die intestate, no heirs being forthcoming, the Court are pleased to declare that no suit can be instituted for the establishment of such claims, before the expiration of the twelve months specified in Clause 7, Regulation 5, 1799, and Clause 7, Section 16, Regulation 3, 1803 ; since before that period the service of the notice required by Section 2, Regulation 2, 1806, is impracticable—Cir. Ord. 14th Feb. 1845, par. 1.

Course to be pursued in the case of such claims, when the property is carried to the credit of government.

251. Any claims on such property, which may be preferred to the Judge within the limited time should, in the event of the property being carried to the credit of Government at its close, be reported to the Government for its orders. Should the claims be rejected, the claimants will be at liberty to bring a regular suit against the Government in the Courts of justice.—Ibid, par. 2.

252. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and North Western Provinces are pleased to intimate that so much of Construction No. 541, as declares that the period of twelve months allowed by Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799, corresponding with Clause 7, Section 16, Regulation 3 of 1803, for the appearance of claimants to the property of persons dying intestate, shall be calculated from the date of the proprietor's decease, is rescinded as being at variance with the terms of the law cited. The period in question should be reckoned not from the date of the proprietor's decease, but from the date on which publication of the several advertisements required by the law cited, shall be duly certified.—Cir. Ord. 23d Dec. 1846.

From what date the period of 12 months allowed by sec. 7, reg. 5, 1799, is to be calculated.

253. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 6th instant, requesting the Court's instructions as to the mode necessary to be adopted respecting the disposal of sundry bonds, tumusooks, &c. deposited in your court, belonging to persons dying intestate.—In reply, I am desired to refer you to the rule contained in Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799, by which you will perceive, that an inventory of all personal property, unclaimed after the period of twelve months from the decease of the proprietor, should be transmitted to the Governor General in Council for his orders; and to direct that, with regard to the description of property specified in your letter, you adopt the same course of proceeding.—Con. 541, 19th March 1830.

An inventory of all bonds, tumusooks, &c. deposited in the court belonging to those who die intestate, must be annually transmitted to the governor general.

254. Held on a reference from the Judge of Rungpore that hoondees or other obligations for the payment of money, appertaining to the estates of parties dying intestate, may be realized by the Civil court on falling due, and the amount kept in deposit until the expiration of the period of twelve months specified in Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799. But the interference of the Civil court should be limited to the simple presentation of instruments payable at a fixed period, the failure to present which would involve a risk of loss, and to the realization of monies indisputably due thereon, and not extend any further, or include the assertion and prosecution of denied or disputed claims.—Con. 1286, Cal. C. 14th Aug., West. C. 4th Sept. 1840.

Hoondees & other money obligations belonging to the estates of intestates may be realized by the civil court, when due. What kind of instruments may be thus presented for payment.

255. The Governor General in Council authorizes the zillah and city Judges to grant a commission not exceeding one anna in the rupee, on the proceeds of unclaimed property which may be sold with the previous sanction of Government. The commission in question is to be paid to the nazir as a remuneration for proper care in the preservation of the property, and for seeing that it is fairly and properly sold at auction, subject to the condition, that the duty shall, in each case, have been performed to the Judge's satisfaction.—Cir. Ord. 25th Feb. 1820.

One anna in the rupee commission to be granted to the nazir as a remuneration for his preservation of the property of intestates.

256. I am directed by the Court to inform you, that with reference to the Circular order of the 25th February, 1820, which authorizes the payment to the nazirs of the Civil courts of a commission of one anna per rupee on the proceeds of unclaimed property of persons dying intestate, which may be sold by them, the Government have been pleased to sanction the extension of the rule to the nazirs of the Foujdary courts, who may be ordered to sell unclaimed or lawaris property.—Cir. Ord. 12th Aug. 1842.

The same commission allowed for the sale of unclaimed, or lawaris property.

257. With regard to the custody and disposal, on the other hand, of the property of persons dying intestate (lawaris), the Court direct me to observe, that Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799, Bengal code, contains a specific provision, and declares that should no claim be preferred to it for the space of twelve months, an inventory of the property together with a report of the circumstances of the case, shall be submitted, by the Judge, to the Governor General in Council, for his orders: whenever, therefore, any property of that description may come

When any property of an intestate estate comes into the hands of the magistrate, he will forward it to the judge of the district.

* All unclaimed property, whether cattle, boats, timbers, or other goods or chattels, shall be considered as belonging to Government, and the darogahs of Police shall forward any property of this description, which may come into their hands, to the Magistrate of the district in which they may respectively be employed; or if any article of unclaimed property cannot be easily moved, the darogah of Police shall make over the charge of such article to the local zemindar, manager or head person of the village, until the orders of the Magistrate in regard to its disposal can be obtained.—Reg. 20, 1817, Sect. 16, Cl. 16.

261. Section 7, Regulation 5, 1799, prescribes rules for the guidance of the zillah and city Judges, with respect to the charge of the unclaimed assets of estates of Europeans dying intestate. It being however enacted, in Statute 39, George 3d, chapter 79, section 21, that whenever any British subject shall die intestate, and neither a creditor, nor the next of kin shall apply for letters of administration, the Register of the Supreme Court shall administer to the estate of the deceased; it shall be the duty of the zillah and city Judges, whenever any British European subject shall die within the limits of their jurisdictions, and no will shall be found among the effects of the deceased, to report the circumstance without delay to the Register of the Supreme Court of Judicature, retaining the property under their charge, until letters of administration shall have been obtained by that officer, or by some other person from the Supreme Court of Judicature, when the property is to be delivered over to the person obtaining such letters; or, in the event of a will being subsequently discovered, to the person who may obtain probate of the will.—Reg. 15, 1806, Sect. 6.

Sec. 7, reg. 5, 1799, modified.

Judges to report to the register of the supreme court respecting estates of deceased British European subjects; retaining in the mean time the property under their charge.

262. Question 1st.—Is the interference of the civil Judge, by Section 16, Regulation 3, 1803, and Section 6, Regulation 15, 1806, strictly limited to the cases of persons dying intestate or not?—In reply to your first question I am directed to inform you that the interference of the Civil court with respect to the estates of deceased British subjects, is not restricted by the sections of the Regulations above quoted to the cases of persons dying intestate, but on the contrary Section 6, Regulation 15 of 1806, expressly requires, that on the demise of a British European subject within the limits of the jurisdiction of a Zillah or City court, the Judge shall take charge of the effects of the deceased, and on a will being discovered, shall deliver them over to the person who may obtain probate thereof.—Con. 983, West. C. 16th Oct., Cal. C. 13th Nov. 1835.

On the demise of a British European subject within the limits of a zillah or city court, the judge will take charge of the effects, & on a will being discovered make them over to the person who obtains probate.

263. Question 2d.—Though the will of the deceased be not forthcoming or no will may exist, ought the civil Judge to interfere if there be “a claimant,” a near relation, or respectable friend on the spot, willing to take charge of and to be responsible for the property?—In answer to your second question I am directed to observe that in either of the cases which you have supposed, where the will of the deceased is not forthcoming, or where none may be in existence, notwithstanding that there may be a claimant, near relation, or respectable friend on the spot, willing to take charge of and to be responsible for the property, the Regulation before cited renders it obligatory on the Civil court to interfere, as in the case described in the preced-

When the will is not forthcoming, or may not exist, though there be a claimant, relative, or friend on the spot willing to take charge, the civil court must interfere and be responsible for the property, until the supreme court has given letters of administration to the registrar, or some one else, when the property should be delivered to him.

ing paragraph, and to retain charge of the estate until the Registrar of the Supreme Court of Judicature, to whom the circumstance is immediately to be reported, or some other person, shall have obtained letters of administration from that court, when the property is to be delivered over to the person to whom such letters may have been granted. The terms of the enactment being imperative and express as to the jurisdiction to be exercised by the Zillah courts in such cases, the Court observe that no discretion whatever is left to the Judge in the matter.—Con. 983, West. C. 16th Oct., Cal. C. 13th Nov. 1835.

Interpretation of sec. 6, reg. 15, 1806.

264. Doubts being found to exist in regard to the interpretation of Section 6, Regulation 15 of 1806, notwithstanding the exposition of that enactment, contained in Construction 983, dated 16th October, 1835, it is thought advisable to promulgate for the information and future guidance of the civil Judges in the Lower Provinces, the issue of a correspondence which has recently passed on the subject with the Sudder dewanny adawlut in Agra.—Cir. Ord. 3d June 1845, par. 1.

If a will be found among the effects of a European British subject before the J. has received charge by setting his seal on the effects, his interference is barred, whether the executor be present or not.

If after the judge has taken charge, a will is produced, he must retain it till probate has been granted by the supreme court.

265. It has been concurrently ruled by both courts, that if a will be in existence, and be found among the effects of a deceased British subject, before the Judge have formally, by the imposition of the seal of his court, received charge of the said effects, his interference is clearly barred by the terms of the enactment cited, whether trustee or executor appointed in such will be present on the spot or not, and that, if after the Judge have taken charge of the estate, a will should be discovered, and produced, it would still be obligatory on him to retain charge until probate of the said will might be obtained from the Supreme Court, whether trustee or executor appointed by the deceased, or other party, willing to receive, and be responsible for the property, were present at the time and place of the testator's decease or not.—Ibid, par. 2.

SECTION XVIII.

Possession and Management of the Estate of a deceased Person not under the Court of Wards.

Executors to Hindoos, Mahomedans, & others not being disqualified landholders, may take charge of the estate of the deceased, and proceed in execution of their trust, without any application to the judge, or other officer of government.

Courts of justice prohibited interfering in such cases, except on a regular complaint.

To proceed in such complaint according

266. In all cases of a Hindoo, Mussulman, or other person subject to the jurisdiction of the Zillah and City courts, having at his death left a will and appointed an executor or executors to carry the same into effect, and in which the heir to the deceased may not be a disqualified landholder, subject to the superintendence of the Court of Wards, under Regulation 10, 1793, or any other Regulation, relative to the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards, the executors so appointed are to take charge of the estate of the deceased, and proceed in the execution of their trust, according to the will of the deceased, and the laws and usages of the country, without any application to the Judge of the Dewanny adawlut or any other officer of Government, for his sanction; and the Courts of justice are prohibited to interfere in such cases, except on a regular complaint against the executors for a breach of trust, or otherwise, when they are to take cognizance of such complaint, in common with all others of a civil nature, under the general rule contained in Section 8 of Regulation 3, 1793; and proceed thereupon according to the Regulations; taking the opinion of their law officers upon any legal exception to the executors as well as upon the provision to be made for the administration of the estate in the event of the appointed executor being set aside ; and generally upon all points of law that may occur ; with respect to which the Judge is to be guided by the law of the parties as expounded by his Law Officers ; subject to any modifications enacted by the Governor General in Council in the form prescribed by Regulation 41, 1793.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 2.

to the regulations, taking the opinion of their law officers on all points of law.

267. In case of a Hindoo, Mussulman, or other person subject to the jurisdiction of the Zillah or City courts, dying intestate, but leaving a son or other heir, who by the laws of the country may be entitled to succeed to the whole estate of the deceased, such heir, if of age and competent to take the possession and management of the estate, or if under age, or incompetent, and not under the superintendence of the Court of Wards, his guardian, or nearest of kin, who by special appointment or by the law and usage of the country may be authorized to act for him, is not required to apply to the Courts of justice for permission to take possession of the estate of the deceased as far as the same can be done without violence, and the Courts of justice are restricted from interference in such cases, except a regular complaint be preferred, when they are to proceed thereupon according to the general Regulations.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 3.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 3.

Heirs of persons dying intestate, entitled to succeed to the whole estate (and not subject to the court of wards,) or their guardians not required to apply to courts of justice for permission to take possession of the estate as far as can be done without violence.

And courts of justice restricted from interference without a regular complaint.

268. Held that the Sudder dewanny adawlut have the power of summarily interfering to the extent of directing the appointment of a co-guardian and manager to act conjointly with the guardian and manager of a minor's estate, under Regulation 5 of 1799, when such guardian and manager may be disqualified for the proper management of the estate.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d June 1840, p. 44.

The S. D. A. may summarily interfere and appoint a co-guardian where the guardian is disqualified to manage the estate.

269. If there be more heirs than one to the estate of a person dying intestate, and they can agree amongst themselves in the appointment of a common manager, they are at liberty to take possession ; and the Courts of justice are restricted from interference, without a regular complaint, as in the case of a single heir.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 4.

More heirs than one, to the estate of an intestate, may appoint a common manager and take possession, as in the case of a single heir.

270. But if the right of succession to the estate be disputed between several claimants, one or more of whom may have taken possession, the Judge on a regular suit being preferred by the party out of possession, shall take good and sufficient security from the party or parties in possession for his or their compliance with the judgment that may be passed in the suit ; or, in default of such security being given within a reasonable period, may give possession, until the suit may be determined, to the other claimant or claimants who may be able to give such security ; declaring at the same time that such possession is not in any degree to affect the right of property at issue between the parties ; but to be considered merely as an administration to the estate for the benefit of the heirs, who may on investigation, be found entitled to succeed thereto.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 4.

But if the right of succession be disputed, the judge, on a regular suit, to take security from the party in possession.

Or, in default of such security, may put the other claimants, giving it, in possession.

Such possession not to affect the right of property.

If the existence of a will be disputed between the heirs, security may be demanded under sec. 4, as above.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a particular case in reference to the application of sec. 4, as above.

But security cannot be demanded in case of dispute between the heirs unless occurring immediately on the death of the party.

In what cases the judge may appoint administrator for the care and management of the estate of an intestate.

And when such administration is to cease.

Sec. 4 & 5, reg. 5, 1799, apply only to cases of disputed succession among heirs.

Security to be taken from administrators appointed under this regulation.

And in what manner their allowance is to be fixed.

271. If the existence of a will be disputed between the heirs of a party deceased, security may be demanded under Section 4, Regulation 5, 1799.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d July 1845, p. 69.

272. Bafutoonissa adopted Moomtazoodeen, in 1225, B. S., and made over her estate to him by deed of gift, retaining possession as manager for her adopted son through Hamud Meean, her gomashtah, who after her death continued in possession till he died in 1236, B. S., when Nuzzuroodeen, brother of Bafutoonissa, took possession in right of his daughter, Uzmutoonissa, who had been married to Moomtazoodeen by Bafutoonissa, in virtue of a deed of gift alleged to have been executed on his marriage by Moomtazoodeen with the consent of Bafutoonissa. Moomtazoodeen being a minor, Gour Gopal was appointed his guardian at the instance of his brother Aklakoolia, and claimed the estate under the original deed of gift of Bafutoonissa. The court, presuming Nuzzuroodeen to have taken possession on the death of the gomashtah, were of opinion that under Section 4, Regulation 5, 1799, his possession should not be disturbed, unless, on the institution of a regular suit by the opposite party, he should be unable or neglect to give security which in that case would be required of him.—Con. 651, 5th Aug. 1831.

273. Security cannot be demanded under Regulation 5 of 1799, in cases of dispute between heirs of a party deceased, unless occurring immediately upon his death.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th Aug. 1847.

274. In the event of none of the claimants to the estate of a person dying intestate being able to give the security required by the preceding section, and in all cases where in there may be no person authorized and willing to take charge of the landed estate of a person deceased, the Judge within whose jurisdiction such estate may be situated (or in which the deceased may have resided, or the principal part of the estate may lie, in the event of its being situated within two or more jurisdictions,) is authorized to appoint an administrator for the due care and management of such estate, until, in the former case, the suit depending between the several claimants shall have been determined; or, in the latter case, until the legal heir to the estate, or other person entitled to receive charge thereof as executor, administrator or otherwise, shall attend and claim the same; when if the Judge be satisfied that the claim is well founded; or if the same be established after any enquiry that may appear necessary, the administrator appointed by the court shall deliver over the estate to him with a full and just account of all receipts and disbursements during the period of his administration.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 5.

275. The provisions of Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 5, 1799, apply only to cases of disputed succession among heirs at law, and not to those of parties claiming upon special grounds.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th May 1847.

276. In all instances of an administrator being appointed under this Regulation, he is, previous to entering upon the execution of his office, to give good security for the faithful discharge of his trust in a sum proportionate to the extent thereof: and the Judge appointing him is authorized to fix for him (subject to the approbation of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to whom a report is to be made in such instances) an adequate personal allowance to be paid out of the proceeds of the estate; and to be a percentage thereupon after deducting the expences of management.—Reg. 5, 1799, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 6.

277. Section 26, Regulation 5, 1812, declaratory of the competency of the zillah Judge to interfere in cases of disputes between proprietors of joint undivided estates for the due discharge of the public revenue, held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be decidedly inapplicable to the removal of executors and guardians, in possession of property, under the provisions of Regulation 5 of 1799.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 4th April 1835, p. 7.

278. The Civil courts are restricted by Regulation 5, 1799, from interfering with the succession to the estate of a person deceased, without the institution of a regular civil suit, except in the special cases provided for.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th July 1819, vol. 2, p. 307.

279. In a case in which the principals, who had obtained an order for possession of property under Regulation 5, 1799, made over such property temporarily to their sureties, it was held that the Civil court could not summarily interfere in a dispute between the principals and sureties, in regard to the proper discharge of the trust.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st June 1847.

Sec. 26, reg. 5, 1812, not applicable to the removal of executors and guardians of property under reg. 5, 1799.

Except in special cases provided for, the civil courts cannot under reg. 5, 1799, interfere with the succession to the estate of a deceased person, without a regular suit.

Where the principals under reg. 5, 1799, have made over property to sureties, the civil court cannot summarily interfere in a dispute between the parties.

SECTION XIX.

Succession to Property among Hindoos and Mahomedans—Heirs.

280. After the first of July, 1794, corresponding with the 20th Assar, 1201, Bengal era; the 17th Assar, 1201, Fussely; 20th Assar, 1201, Willaity; 17th Assar, 1851, Sumbut; and the second Zehigh, 1208, Hijree; if any zemindar, independant talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, shall die without a will, or without having declared by a writing, or verbally, to whom and in what manner his or her landed property is to devolve after his or her demise, and shall leave two or more heirs, who, by the Mahomedan or Hindoo law, (according as the parties may be of the former or latter persuasion,) may be respectively entitled to succeed to a portion of the landed property of the deceased, such persons shall succeed to the shares to which they may be so entitled.—Reg. 11, 1793, Sect. 2.—Benares Reg. 44, 1795, Sect. 2.

After the 1st July, 1794, landed property to descend according to the Mahomedan or Hindoo law, unless the last proprietor shall have otherwise disposed of it, in a manner sanctioned by those laws.

281. Nor to prohibit any actual proprietor of land bequeathing, or transferring, by will, or by a declaration in writing, or verbally, either prior or subsequent to the 1st July, 1794, his or her landed estate entire to his or her eldest son, or next heir, or other son or heir, in exclusion of all other sons or heirs, or to any person or persons, or to two or more of his or her heirs, in exclusion of all other persons or heirs, in the proportions, and to be held in the manner, which such proprietor may think proper, provided that the bequest or transfer be not repugnant to any Regulations that have been or may be passed by the Governor General in Council, nor contrary to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law; and that the bequest, or transfer, whether made by a will, or other writing or verbally, be authenticated by, or made before such witnesses, and in such manner, as those laws and Regulations respectively do, or may require.—Reg. 11, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 44, 1795, Sect. 6.

Nor to prevent persons transferring their property in the manner and to whom they may think proper, provided the transfer be not repugnant to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law, or the regulation of the G. G. in C.

Reg. 11, 1793, not to operate in the jungle mehals of Midnapore and other districts.

282. Regulation 11, 1793, shall not be considered to supersede or affect any established usage, which may have obtained in the Jungle Mehals of Midnapore and other districts, by which the succession to landed estates, the proprietor of which may die intestate, has hitherto been considered to devolve to a single heir to the exclusion of the other heirs of the deceased. In the mehals in question the local custom of the country shall be continued in full force as heretofore, and the Courts of justice be guided by it in the decision of all claims which may come before them to the inheritance of landed property situated in those mehals.—Reg. 10, 1800, Sect. 2.

A ghatwalee estate in Beerbhoom devolves entire on the eldest son, or the next ghatwal.

283. Held, that a ghatwalee mehal in zillah Beerbhoom is not divisible on the death of the ghatwal among his heirs, but should devolve entire on the eldest son or the next ghatwal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th June 1837, vol. 6, p. 169.

General rule of succession to an estate in Manbhoom.

284. In the case of an estate in Manbhoom, in the jurisdiction of the Governor General's Agent at Hazareebagh, it was held that the succession is vested in the eldest son of the deceased rajah born of any of his wives, in preference to the eldest son of his past or first rance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th June 1843, vol. 7, p. 126.

Decrees for real property to specify the shares of all the claimants.

285. The Zillah and City courts are not to pass a decree in any suit concerning the succession or right of inheritance to a zemindary, talook, land, house, or other real property, to which there are more claimants than one, who by the Hindoo or Mahomedan law (respect being had to the religion of the claimants) would be entitled to a portion of the property, excepting the property be by the decree adjudged to all the claimants in the proportions to which they may be respectively entitled.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 13.

The rules in reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, cl. 4 are intended exclusively for the guidance of moonsiffs.

286. The rules contained in the above clause, [Regulation 5, 1831, Section 6, Clause 4] regarding cases of succession to real property, are intended exclusively for the guidance of Moonsiffs, such being the express tenor of the enactment; the course to be pursued in such cases by Zillah and City courts remaining precisely as it stood previous to the enactment of Regulation 5, 1831.—Con. 706, Cal. C. 20th July, West. C. 17th Aug. 1832.

The decisions of the courts to be conformable to the Mahomedan law with regard to Mahomedans, and the Hindoo law with regard to Hindoos, in the cases herein specified.

287. In suits regarding succession, inheritance, marriage and caste, and all religious usages, and institutions, the Mahomedan laws with respect to Mahomedans, and the Hindoo laws, with regard to Hindoos are to be considered as the general rules by which the Judges are to form their decisions. In the respective cases, the Mahomedan and Hindoo Law Officers of the court are to attend to expound the law.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 15.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 16, Cl. 1.

The rule not to prevent references to the law officers on points of law.

288. This rule however [viz. the rule in Section 15, given above Rule 287.] is not to be construed to prevent a Judge referring any question arising on the Mahomedan or Hindoo law, to the cazee or pundit of the court, respect being had to the law in which each is conversant. When a reference of this nature is deemed necessary, a statement of the facts, on which the question of law may arise, is to be made out in writing, and signed by the Judge of the court, and delivered to the cazee or pundit for his opinion upon it. A blank is to be left for the answer of the Law Officer on the same paper on which the question is stated, or on a paper firmly annexed to it. The answer is to be attested with the signature of the Law Officer, and the dates on which the questions may be stated to him, and the answer may be given, are to be specified.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 16.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 17.

289. By Section 15 of Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 3, Regulation 8, 1795, the Judges of the Zillah and City courts are directed to decide (in certain suits therein referred to) according to the Mahomedan or Hindoo laws; and the Mahomedan and Hindoo Law Officers of the court are required to attend to expound these laws, by which it was evidently intended that the Law Officers attached to the several City courts should expound the law in the cases referred to in the above sections; and that the Judges should be guided by such exposition in all common cases wherein they might have no reason to doubt the accuracy of it; but, in particular cases, wherein they might entertain such doubt, either from the objections of the parties, founded on other law opinions exhibited by them; or from a reference to the known books of Mahomedan or Hindoo law; or, from whatever cause, if the Judge or Judges trying the suit should consider the exposition given by their immediate Law Officer insufficient; it was not meant to preclude them from obtaining a further exposition from the Law Officers of the superior courts by a reference of the case to them through the Judges of these courts, as has been the occasional practice in some of the courts; and is now declared to be at the discretion of all the Zillah, City, and Provincial courts, whenever they may deem such reference necessary for the purposes of justice. It is at the same time to be observed that the above courts are not authorized to refer any point of law to individuals not acting in a public capacity; and to whom consequently no responsibility attaches; although there is no objection to any of the courts receiving law opinions, quoting or referring to authorities, tendered to them by the parties during the trial of the suit in support of their claims, and if the courts shall deem it proper so to do, referring them to their own Law Officers, or those of the superior courts, to enable them to determine on their due weight and application to the case.—Reg. 2, 1798, Sect. 4.

290. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut being desirous, for the purpose of occasional reference, of being furnished with the futwas and bewustahs that have been delivered by the Mahomedan and Hindoo Law Officers of the several Courts of judicature, in answer to questions on points of law put to them on the trial of civil cases, direct me to request that you will cause copies of all such questions and answers, except in cases which have been appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to be prepared from the records of your court, from the commencement of the year 1803, to the end of the past year, 1812, and transmit them, when completed, to this court: and you will in like manner, annually furnish copies of the law opinions delivered by your Law Officers on civil cases in each year.—Cir. Ord. 11th March 1813.

291. In suits regarding succession, inheritance, marriage, and caste, or other religious usages, or institutions, the Mahomedan laws, with respect to Mahomedans, and the Hindoo laws, with regard to Hindoos, are to be considered as the general rule by which the Judges are to form their decisions. In causes in which the plaintiff shall be of a different religious persuasion from the defendant, the decision is to be regulated by the law of the religion of the latter, excepting where Europeans, or other persons, not being either Mahomedans or Hindoos, shall be defendants, in which cases the law of the Explanation of sec. 16, reg. 4, 1793, and sec. 3, reg. 8, 1795.

Intended that the law officers of the several civil courts should expound the law; and that the judges should be guided by their exposition in common cases.

But not in particular cases wherein they might have reason to doubt the accuracy of such exposition.

In such cases, a further exposition of the law from the officers of the superior courts not meant to be precluded.

But the courts are not authorized to refer any point of law to individuals not acting in a public capacity.

Though they may receive law opinions tendered to them by the parties, and, if deemed proper, refer them to their law officers, or those of the superior courts.

Copies of all questions put to the Hindoo and Mahomedan law officers, and of their replies to be furnished to the S. D. A.

Where parties in suits are of different persuasions, the court is to be guided by the law defendant.

plaintiff is to be made the rule of decision in all complaints and actions of a civil nature. The Mahomedan and Hindoo Law Officers of the courts, are to attend to expound the law of their respective persuasions, in cases, in which recourse may be required to be had to it.—Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 3, Cl. 2. [This enactment applies to Benares.]

Cl. 2, sec. 3, reg. 8, 1795, rescinded.

292. Such part of Clause two, Section 3, Regulation 8, 1795, enacted for the province of Benares, which declares that “in causes in which the plaintiff shall be of a different religious persuasion from the defendant, the decision is to be regulated by the law of the religion of the latter, excepting where Europeans or other persons not being either Mahomedans or Hindoos shall be defendants, in which case the law of the plaintiff is to be made the rule of decision in all complaints or actions of a civil nature,” is hereby rescinded, and the rule contained in Section 15, Regulation 4, 1793, and the corresponding enactment contained in Clause one, Section 16, Regulation 3, 1803, shall be the rule of guidance in all suits regarding succession, inheritance, marriage and caste, and all religious usages and institutions that may arise between persons professing the Hindoo and Mahomedan persuasions respectively.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 8.

The rules contained in sec. 15, reg. 4, 1793, and in cl. 1, sec. 16, reg. 3, 1803, when to be observed.

Persons to whom those rules are applicable.

Course to be followed when the parties to civil suits are of different religious persuasions.

293. It is hereby declared, however, that the above rules are intended, and shall be held to apply to such persons only as shall be bonâ fide professors of those religions at the time of the application of the law to the case, and were designed for the protection of the rights of such persons, not for the deprivation of the rights of others. Whenever, therefore, in any civil suit, the parties to such suit may be of different persuasions, when one party shall be of the Hindoo, and the other of the Mahomedan persuasion, or where one or more of the parties to the suit shall not be either of the Mahomedan or Hindoo persuasions, the laws of those religions shall not be permitted to operate to deprive such party or parties of any property to which, but for the operation of such laws, they would have been entitled. In all such cases, the decision shall be governed by the principles of justice, equity and good conscience; it being clearly understood, however, that this provision shall not be considered as justifying the introduction of the English, or any foreign law, or the application to such cases of any rules not sanctioned by those principles.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Cases which are to be decided according to the Hindoo law current in the purgunnah in which the family reside.

The local position of a family does not necessarily determine the law by which their disputes are to be decided.

294. I am directed to inform you that the case adverted to in your letter of the 23d March last should be decided according to the Hindoo law current in the purgunnah in which the family reside, provided it accords with the family usage; otherwise the latter must form the rule of guidance. I am also directed to refer you to the cases noted in the margin, as shewing that the local position of a family does not necessarily determine the law by which their disputes ought to be decided.—Con. 1007, Cal. C. 22d April, West. C. 13th May 1836.

Claim by appellant to certain lands in possession of respondent as claimant's hereditary property, adjudged to him with mesne profits.

297. Held on the opinion of the Law Officer of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that an heir of a deceased Mahomedan is not liable to pay the debts of his father, save pro tanto assets to which he may have avowedly succeeded.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th June 1840, p. 34.

299. A claim by adoption having been adjusted between the claimant and the heirs at law of the alleged adoptive father, by a partition of the estate of the latter, such adoption not having been legally proved in court; held that on the death of the claimant, the heirs of the adoptive father should be admitted to represent the adopted party, in a suit instituted against him by another party with reference to the property thus obtained, in preference to his own mother.—*Rep. In an action founded on the right by inheritance, for possession of the estate, real and personal, of a party deceased, the lower court gave judgment in regard to the real estate and referred the plaintiff to a separate estate for the personal property. Held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the order was irregular in the latter respect, and that the lower court should have decided on the merits of the entire claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Feb. 1841, vol. 7, p. 15.

In an action for the right by inheritance, the court should decide on the merits of the entire claim, as well for the real as the personal estate.

301. Can an heir bring to issue his claim to hereditary right in any one zemindary or talook or landed estate, reserving to himself the power of subsequently suing for the portion of any other estate, and in pursuit of claims of inheritance are heirs bound to bring forward their whole claim for both the real and personal effects, or may they sue in the first instance for either one or the other?—I am directed by the Court to communicate to you their opinions that suits founded on the right of inheritance should include the whole claim arising out of the same cause of action.—Con. 1040, *Cal. and West. Suits founded on the right of inheritance should include the whole claim arising out of the same cause of action.

302. A son born after decree made cannot summarily get possession of property adjudged to his brothers and cousins, who were parties thereto, notwithstanding the opinion of the pundit, that such after-born son had equality or right of brothers in the ancestral estate of his maternal uncle. But this was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut not to narrow his remedy by legal recourse to the institution of a regular suit.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 30th Dec. 1834, p. 3.

A son born after a decree, cannot summarily obtain possession of property adjudged to his brothers and cousins, but may institute a regular suit.

303. Held that on applications by three distinct parties to represent a deceased decree-holder, (one as the legal heir, and the others on special pleas,) the Zillah court should have recognized the legal heir, leaving the other claimants to resort to regular actions for the establishment of their respective claims.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Sept. 1836, p. 12.

The legal heir is to be recognized as representing a deceased decree-holder; other claimants must be referred to a regular suit.

SECTION XX.

Succession to Property by others besides Hindoos and Mahomedans—Bequests.

Law of inheritance according to Portuguese law.

305. According to the Portuguese law of inheritance, one moiety of the estate of the husband devolves at his death on his widow, and the other moiety on his next of kin. According to this law, a distribution was ordered to be made of the estate of a deceased person ; but his wife dying, and several claims to her moiety being preferred, it was subsequently discovered, that the deceased's husband was a British subject. As he left no heirs, [the relations of a mother or of a wife not being heirs to real property, according to English law,] decreed that the estate should revert to Government, by whom it was originally granted to the father of the deceased.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1817, vol. 2, p. 227.

Idem.

306. Had the case been decided according to the law of Portugal, the decision would have been the same ; as by a special law of Portugal, termed the mental, and applicable to the case, all grants made by the crown, and sub-grants by any great donees of the crown, become escheats, on failure of the legitimate descendants of the original donee ; relations not in the direct line being excluded.—Ibid, p. 230, note.

Case of an Armenian dying intestate.

307. In the case of an Armenian dying intestate, leaving a childless widow and a whole brother, it was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, after consulting various Armenian authorities, that the widow was entitled to one-sixth of her husband's estate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Aug. 1838, vol. 6, p. 238.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a dispute between two Armenians regarding the right to some property.

308. A decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut in a suit between two Armenians whereby they and another person then deceased, were declared to have been equally entitled to a certain estate, held to be sufficient evidence of the amount of the said deceased person's share in the estate in a subsequent suit at the instance of a party claiming directly under his will, and alleging him to have been entitled by the Armenian law to the whole.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Nov. 1841, vol. 7, p. 54.

A deed of compromise held to be binding on an Armenian lady's representatives.

309. A deed of compromise executed by an Armenian lady possessed of two-thirds of an estate both of which had descended to her from her father who held one-third absolutely in his own right, and the other under the will of his grand uncle, which it was alleged had given him only a life interest in that third—held to be binding on the lady's representatives though not claiming in her right but directly under the will, as it appeared that notwithstanding the deed of compromise, they were still left in possession of one full third of the estate, and there was no doubt of her competency to dispose of the other third.—Ibid.

Suits regarding inheritance between Armenians should be decided according to the law current among them.

310. Held that according to the practice of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, suits regarding inheritance between Armenians, should be decided according to the exposition of the law current among them, as given by the ecclesiastical authorities of the Armenian church until otherwise provided for by a legislative enactment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Jan. 1842, vol. 7, p. 72.

Decision of a case under the Armenian law.

311. According to the Armenian law, a verbal bequest of self-acquired property to an illegitimate son is good, provided there be no legitimate children ; but such disposition of patrimonial property is not valid to the exclusion of the legal heirs.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Feb. 1820, vol. 3, p. 9.

312. But on proof that the illegitimate son, after the death of his father, virtually acknowledged the right of his heirs, by taking out probate, and benefiting by the will of his great uncle, and by entering into a compromise with his great uncle's daughter for her share of the property ; the court held that the verbal bequest should not avail.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Feb. 1820, vol. 3, p. 9.

Decision of a case under the Armenian law.

313. By the French law, where the widow had been in a state of community with her intestate husband, she is entitled to a moiety, and his collateral kin to a moiety of his personal estate.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Feb. 1832, vol. 5, p. 176.

French law regarding rights of widows.

314. A., a native of France, died in Patna, leaving, by will, to his brothers B. and C. a sum, of which the interest was to be paid to the poor, until they appeared personally and claimed. D., the widow, was made residuary. On a certified declaration of the citizens of the birthplace of A., that B. and C. had been absent more than 35 years previous to the will, it was ruled that the legacy had lapsed, their death prior to that of the testator being presumed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Feb. 1832, vol. 5, p. 176.

Case of inheritance among natives of France.

315. A., as next of kin to B. deceased, had authorized C. to proceed on his part and receive communication of any will. C. on the power of A. sued for a special legacy to D., A.'s brother, on the ground of his presumed death. A. was nonsuited in the lower courts for defect of kin proved ; but the Sudder dewanny adawlut, adverting to the terms of the power, on proof supplied, reversed the decisions of the lower courts and awarded to A. as heir, his share of the legacy, which was treated as intestate property.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Feb. 1832, vol. 5, p. 176.

Idem.

316. The plaintiff married in Calcutta a girl of Dutch parentage, at the time of her marriage a ward of the Dutch Orphan Chamber at Chinsurah, but resident in Calcutta ; and instituted the present action to recover from the executors of her grandfather's will (written in the Dutch language) a sum of money bequeathed by him to her. Held, that the case must be tried according to the English, and not according to the Dutch law.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Dec. 1843, vol. 7, p. 139.

A Dutch girl, a ward of the Dutch Orphan Chamber at Chinsurah marries, and her husband sues for the money left by her grandfather. The case must be decided under English & not Dutch law.

317. A sale made by an administratrix of the real estate of an intestate is not valid, in English law, and the son is entitled to recover possession, subject to a refund to the purchaser of such portion of the purchase money as may be proved to have been expended for the benefit of the heir at law.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th July 1827, vol. 4, p. 243.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a case of English law.

318. A., a British subject, acquired land : B., his son, also a British subject, succeeded thereto : on his death his estate, by English law, will descend to his heirs ; his wife will be entitled to dower. No relation of his mother, nor even of his wife will succeed thereto as his heir ; and in default of his heirs, it will be escheated, subject only to his wife's dower.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1817, vol. 2, p. 227.

Idem.

319. The parents of an individual being Europeans, he must be considered to be an European, without reference to the place of his birth.—Con. 397, 29th July 1825.

The place of birth does not deprive one whose parents were Europeans of his claim to be deemed one.

SECTION XXI.

Rules for the protection of moveable and immoveable Property against wrongful Possession of Cases of Succession.

Preamble.

320. Whereas much inconvenience has been experienced, where persons have died possessed of moveable and immoveable property, and the same has been taken upon pretended claims of right by gift or succession; the difficulty of ascertaining the precise nature of the moveable property in such cases, the opportunities for misappropriating such property and also the profits of real property, the delays of a regular suit when vexatiously protracted, and the inability of heirs when out of possession to prosecute their rights, affording strong temptations for the employment of force or fraud in order to obtain possession. And whereas, from the above causes, the circumstance of actual possession, when taken upon a succession, does not afford an indication of rightful title equal to that of a decision by a Judge after hearing all parties in a summary suit, though such summary suit may not be sufficient to prevent a party removed from possession thereby from instituting a regular suit. And whereas such summary suit, though it will take away many of the temptations which exist for assuming wrongful possession upon a succession will be too tardy a remedy for obviating them all especially as regards moveable property. And whereas it may be expedient, prior to the determination of the summary suit, to appoint a Curator to take charge of property upon a succession, where there is reason to apprehend danger of misappropriation, waste or neglect, and where such appointment will, in the opinion of the authority making the same, be beneficial under all the circumstances of the case. And whereas it will be very inconvenient to interfere with successions to estates by the appointment of Curators, or by summary suits, unless satisfactory grounds for such proceedings shall appear, and unless such proceedings shall be required by or on the behalf of parties giving satisfactory proof that they are likely to be materially prejudiced if left to the ordinary remedy of a regular suit.—Act XIX. 1841, Sect. 1.

When a person dies leaving property, the person claiming a right to it by succession, may apply to a judge, &c. for relief or assistance, to obtain possession.

321. It is hereby enacted, that whenever a person dies leaving property, moveable or immoveable, it shall be lawful for any person claiming a right by succession thereto, or to any portion thereof, to make application to the Judge of the Court of the district where any part of the property is found or situate for relief, either after actual possession has been taken by another person, or when forcible means of seizing possession are apprehended.—Ibid.

Any agent, &c. or near friend, or the court of wards, in the case of an infant, &c. may make like application.

322. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for any agent, relative, or near friend, or for the Court of Wards in cases within their cognizance, in the event of any minor, disqualified, or absent person being entitled by succession to such property as aforesaid, to make the like application for relief.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

The representative must personally make the solemn declaration required in sec. 3.

323. The representative (whether male or female) of a party under Section 2, Act XIX. of 1841 must personally make the solemn declaration required by the third section of that law.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th Sept. 1847.

324. And it is hereby enacted, that the Judge to whom such application shall be made shall, in the first place enquire by the solemn declaration of the complainant and by witnesses and documents at his discretion, whether there be strong reasons for believing that the party in possession or taking forcible means for seizing possession has no lawful title, and that the applicant, or the person on whose behalf he applies is really entitled, and is likely to be materially prejudiced if left to the ordinary remedy of a regular suit, and that the application is made bonâ fide.—Act XIX. 1841, Sect. 3.

The judge to whom such application is made shall enquire, &c. whether there is strong ground to believe that the party in possession has no lawful title, and whether applicant is likely to be prejudiced if left to his ordinary remedy.

325. Held with reference to the provisions of Section 3, Act XIX. of 1841, (regarding the appointment of Curators for the protection of property against wrongful possession in cases of successions) that the complainant must appear in person to make the solemn declaration thereby required. See Construction 1319.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th April 1842, p. 26.

The complainant must personally appear and make the solemn declaration.

326. And it is hereby enacted, that in case the Judge shall be satisfied of the existence of such strong ground of belief but not otherwise, he shall cite the party complained of, and give notice of vacant or disturbed possession by publication, and after the expiration of a reasonable time shall determine summarily the right to possession (subject to regular suit as hereinafter mentioned) and shall deliver possession accordingly—provided always that the Judge shall have the power to appoint an officer who shall take an inventory of effects, and seal or otherwise secure the same, upon being applied to for the purpose, without delay, whether he shall have concluded the enquiry necessary for citing the party complained of or not.—Act XIX. 1841, Sect. 4.

If judge is satisfied that there is such strong ground of belief, he shall cite the party complained of, &c. and deliver possession, &c.; judge may appoint officer to take inventory, &c.

327. And it is hereby enacted, that in case it shall further appear upon such application and examination as aforesaid that danger is to be apprehended of the misappropriation or waste of the property before the summary suit can be determined and that the delay in obtaining security from the party in possession, or the insufficiency thereof is likely to expose the party out of possession to considerable risk, provided he be the lawful owner; it shall be lawful for the Judge to appoint one or more Curators with the powers hereinafter next mentioned, whose authority shall continue according to the terms of his or their respective appointments, and in no case beyond the determination of the summary suit and the confirmation or delivery of possession in consequence thereof. Provided always that, in the case of land, the Judge may delegate to the Collector or to his officer the powers of a Curator, and also that every appointment of a Curator in respect of any property be duly published.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

In case of danger of misappropriation of property before suit can be determined, curators may be appointed, &c.

328. And it is hereby enacted, that the Judge shall have power to authorize such Curator, either to take possession of the property generally, or until security be given by the party in possession, or until inventories of the property shall have been made, or for any other purpose necessary for securing the property from misappropriation or waste by the party in possession. Provided always, that it shall be entirely discretionary with the Judge, whether he shall allow the party in possession to continue in such possession, on giving security, or not, and any continuance in possession shall be subject to such orders as the Judge may issue touching inventories, or the securing of deeds or other effects.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Judge may authorize curator to take possession of property generally or until security be given, &c.

Curator to give his security: his remuneration not to exceed 5 per centum on personal property and annual rent of real property. Surplus to be paid into court, & invested in public securities.

329. And it is hereby enacted, that the Judge shall exact from the Curator security for the faithful discharge of his trust, and for rendering satisfactory accounts of the same as hereinafter mentioned, and may authorize him to receive out of the property such remuneration as shall appear reasonable, but in no case exceeding five per centum on the personal property and on the annual profits of the real property. All surplus monies realized by the Curator shall be paid into court, and invested in public securities for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto upon adjudication of the summary suit. Provided always, that although security shall be required from the Curator with all reasonable despatch, and, where it is practicable, shall be taken generally to answer all cases for which the person may be afterwards appointed Curator, yet no delay in the taking of security shall prevent the Judge from immediately investing the Curator with the powers of his office.—Act XIX. 1841, Sect. 7.

If the estate of deceased consists of lands paying revenue, the Judge shall demand a report from collector, as to the propriety of citing the party in possession, &c. but he shall not be obliged to conform to the report of collector, &c.

330. And it is hereby enacted, that, where the estate of the deceased person shall consist wholly or in part of land paying revenue to Government, in all matters regarding the propriety of citing the party in possession, of appointing a Curator, and of nominating individuals to that appointment, the Judge shall demand a report from the Collector, and the Collector is hereby required to furnish the same. In cases of urgency the Judge may proceed, in the first instance, without such report, and he shall not be obliged to act in conformity thereto, but in case of his acting otherwise than according to such report, he shall immediately forward a statement of his reasons to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, if they shall be dissatisfied with such reasons, shall direct the Judge to proceed conformably to the report of the Collector.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

331. And it is hereby enacted, that the Curator shall be subject to all orders of the Judge regarding the institution or the defence of suits, and that all suits may be instituted or defended in the name of the Curator on behalf of the estate. Provided that an express authority shall be requisite in the sunnud of the Curator's appointment for the collection of debts or rents; but such express authority shall enable the Curator to give a full acquittance for any sums of money received by virtue thereof.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

Pending custody by curator, Judge may order allowances to parties having primâ facie right.

332. And it is hereby enacted, that pending the custody of the property by the Curator, it shall be lawful for the Judge to make such allowances to parties having a primâ facie right thereto as upon a summary investigation of the rights and circumstances of the parties interested, he shall consider that necessity may require, taking, at his discretion, security for the repayment thereof with interest, in case the party shall, upon the adjudication of the summary suit, appear not to be entitled thereto.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

Curator to file monthly account in abstract, and every 3 months detailed accounts.

333. And it is hereby enacted, that the Curator shall file monthly accounts in abstract, and at the period of every three months, if his administration last so long, and upon giving up the possession of the property file a detailed account of his administration to the satisfaction of the Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

And if it be found that the accounts of any such Curator are in arrear, or if they shall be erroneous or incomplete, or if the Curator shall not produce them whenever he shall be ordered to do so by the Judge, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees for every such default.—Act XIX. 1841, Sect. 12.

Accounts of curator to be open to inspection of parties interested. Party interested may appoint person to keep a duplicate of curator's accounts.

335. And it is hereby enacted, that after the Judge of any district shall have appointed any Curator, such appointment shall preclude the Judge of any other district within the same Presidency from appointing any other Curator, provided the first appointment be in respect of the whole of the property of the deceased. But if the appointment be only in respect of a portion of the property of the deceased, this shall not preclude the appointment within the same Presidency of another Curator in respect of the residue or any portion thereof; provided always, that no Judge shall appoint a Curator or entertain a summary suit in respect of property which is the subject of a summary suit previously instituted under this Act before another Judge—and provided further, that if two or more Curators be appointed by different Judges for several parts of an estate, it shall be lawful for the Sudder dewanny adawlut to make such order as it shall think fit for the appointment of one Curator of the whole property.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

After appointment of curator, no second shall be appointed in respect of same property. Where several curators are appointed in respect of several parts of estate, the S. D. A. may make order for appointment of one curator for the whole.

336. And it is hereby provided, that this Act shall not be put in force, unless the aforesaid application to the Judge be made within six months of the decease of the proprietor, whose property is claimed by right in succession.—Ibid, Sect. 14.

Neither in cases in which the deceased proprietor shall have given legal directions for the possession of his property after his decease in the event of minority or otherwise, in opposition to such directions, but, in every such case, so soon as the Judge having jurisdiction over the property of a deceased person, shall be satisfied of the existence of such directions, he shall give effect thereto.—Ibid, Sect. 15.

This act not to be applied in contravention of any public act of settlement; nor where deceased proprietor has left directions respecting the possession of his property.

Whereas it is expedient to provide greater security for persons paying to the representatives of deceased Hindoos, Mahomedans, and others not usually designated as British subjects, debts which are payable in respect of the estates of such deceased persons, and to facilitate the collection of such debts by removing all doubts as to the legal title to demand and receive the same.—Act XX. 1841, Sect. 1.

The certificate does not refer to applications for succession to property.

346. The certificate under Act XX. of 1841, is granted specially for facilitating the collection of debts on succession, and does not refer to applications for succession to property.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th July 1847.

No debtor of any deceased person shall be compelled to pay, except on production of certificate, &c. or probate, &c. unless court shall be of opinion that payment is withheld fraudulently, &c.

347. It is hereby enacted, that no debtor of any deceased person shall be compelled in any court of law to pay his debt to any person claiming to be entitled to the effects of any deceased person, or any part thereof, except on the production of a certificate to be obtained in manner hereinafter mentioned, or of a probate or letters of administration, unless the court shall be of opinion that payment of the debt is withheld from fraudulent or vexatious motives, and not from any reasonable doubt as to the party entitled.—Act XX. 1841, Sect. 1.

The Zillah or district court within whose jurisdiction property of deceased is found, may grant certificate under this act upon petition setting forth title of claimant, and judge to issue notice and fix a day for hearing, &c.

The applicant in his petition shall set forth his title. The Judge shall issue notice of application, inviting claimants, and fixing a day for hearing the petition, and upon the appointed day, or as soon after as may be convenient shall determine the right to the certificate, and grant the same accordingly.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

349. The following questions having been submitted by the Judge of Delhi :—1st. Whether the petition for a certificate under Act XX. of 1841, should be on stamped paper, and of what value?—It was held, that under Section 2 of the Act, petitions for certificates are required to be presented to the Judge of the Zillah or District court, and ought consequently to be engrossed on a stamp of the value prescribed in the seventh article of Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829.—Con. 1316, West. C. 14th Jan., Cal. C. 11th Feb. 1824, par. 1.

* Language in which the petitions should be written

350. Whether the petition for a certificate may be written either in the English or Oordoo language?—It was held that the petition should be couched in the official language prescribed by the legislature, that is, the vernacular, that objectors who in the majority of cases will be those who are best acquainted with that language, may know the nature of the appellant's claim in order to answer it. Parties, however, may, if they please, accompany such petition with an English translation.—Ibid, par. 2.

351. Whether the certificate should be issued on stamped paper?—It was held that neither in Act XX. 1841, nor in any other law, is it provided directly or constructively that certificates of representation shall be written on stamped, they should therefore be granted on plain paper:—Con. 1316, West. C. 14th Jan., Cal. C. 11th Feb. 1842, par. 3.

Judge may take security from person to whom he grants certificate for rendering an account & for indemnity of persons entitled.

354. And it is hereby enacted, that the granting of such certificate may be suspended by an appeal to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, which court may declare the party to whom the certificate shall be granted, or may direct such further proceedings for the investigation of the title as it shall think fit. The court may also upon petition, after a certificate shall have been granted by the district or zillah Judge, grant a fresh certificate in supersession of the certificate granted by the district or zillah Judge, and such fresh certificate shall not affect any payments made to the person to whom any former certificate may have been granted without notice that the same has been superseded, but shall entitle the person named therein to receive all monies that may have been recovered under the first certificate from the person to whom the same may have been granted.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

The grant of certificate may be suspended by appeal to S. D. A., which court may direct to whom certificate shall be granted, &c. and may supersede certificate already granted, and grant fresh certificate.

355. And it is hereby enacted, that every certificate shall give authority to the person to whom the same is granted throughout the Presidency within which the same is granted, and no certificate subsequently granted in respect of the same property shall be valid or effectual, except as hereinafter mentioned.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Person having certificate may be authorized by the terms of the certificate to receive interest on government notes.

357. And it is hereby enacted, that where a certificate shall have been granted in cases in which such certificate would be valid, but for the previous grant of a certificate, all payments made to the person, holding the later certificate in ignorance of the grant of the previous certificate shall be held good against claims under such previous certificate.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Payments bona fide made to the holder of certificate, which is invalid by reason of prior certificate, shall be good against claimant under the elder certificate.

Certificate in respect of property of Hindoos, Mahomedans and others not usually called British subjects, not valid if made after probate or letters of administration, &c.

358. And it is hereby enacted, with regard to the property of deceased Hindoos, Mahomedans and other persons not usually designated by the term British subjects, that no certificate in respect of any such property shall be valid, if made after a probate or letters of administration granted in respect of the same, provided assets belonging to the deceased were at the time of his death within the local jurisdiction of the court granting the probate or letters of administration.—Act XX. 1841, Sect. 9.

But payments made to holder of certificate in ignorance of previous probate, &c. to be good against persons claiming under probate.

359. No probate, &c. valid after grant of certificate, &c.

360. And it is hereby enacted, that no probate or letters of administration shall be valid for the purpose of the recovery of debts, or for the security of debtors, after a certificate granted in respect of this same property for which such probate or letters of administration shall have been granted, provided assets belonging to the deceased were at the time of his death within the jurisdiction of the court granting such certificate.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

Curators appointed under act 19, 1841, not to exercise any powers which but for that act would belong to holders of certificate under this. But payments to curators shall be good, and curators responsible to holder of certificate.

362. And whereas under Act XIX. of 1841, Curators may be invested with certain powers which are conferred on persons obtaining certificates under this Act, and which belong to executors and administrators, it is hereby enacted that Curators appointed under the said Act shall not exercise any powers which, but for that Act, would lawfully belong to such persons obtaining certificates, executors or administrators, where a certificate, probate or letters of administration have been actually obtained; but all persons who may have paid debts or rents to a Curator authorized by a Judge to receive the same shall be indemnified, and the Curator shall be responsible for the payment of the same to the person who has obtained a certificate, the executor, or administrator, as the case may be.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

363. And it is hereby declared and enacted, that all probates and letters of administration granted by any of Her Majesty's Courts in cases in which any assets belonging to deceased persons were, at the time of their deaths, within the local jurisdiction of the court granting the probate or letters of administration, shall have the effect of probate and letters of administration granted in respect of the property of British subjects but for the purpose of the recovery of debts only, and the security of debtors paying the same; except so far as is in this Act provided.—Ibid, Sect. 14.

371. In a case of disputed accounts, between two European shopkeepers, the Court referred the proceedings to a gentleman skilled in mercantile business, and passed a decree on the basis of his report.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th Nov. 1821, vol. 3, p. 117.

A suit against two persons for certain outstanding balances dismissed. On appeal, one of them liquidates his share, but this is deemed no proof of the liability of the other.

372. A. and B. file a suit in the Zillah court against C. and D., for the recovery of certain outstanding balances, which is dismissed with costs. On appeal to the Provincial court C. acknowledges and liquidates his share of the balance sued, but the Provincial court confirms the decree of the zillah Judge, holding that the acknowledgment given by C. cannot be looked upon as proof of liability on the part of D. On special appeal by A. and B. the Sudder dewanny adawlut affirmed the decrees already passed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th Aug. 1835, vol. 6, p. 38.

D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th April 1810, vol. 1, p. 300.*

375. A. [the owner of a ship] drew a bill of exchange, in favor of his agents and creditors on B. [the freighter,] payable on the discharge of the ship on her return to port. The obligation was voided by the loss of the ship ; but the house of agency, in whose favor the bill was drawn, had insured freight equal to its amount. In a suit by A. against B. for the recovery of freight, which accrued while the ship was in the employ of B., held that B. cannot plead as part payment the sum received by the creditors of A. on account of the insurance policy.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th June 1812, vol. 2, p. 15.

376. A. having by mistake sold to B. a promissory note for 2000 rupees, instead of one for 500 rupees, sued him to recover the difference between the two notes. B. having sold the note to C., his agent, pleads ignorance of the mistake. It being proved that A. had no dealings with C., judgment given against B., leaving him the option of suing C. for the recovery of the difference.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Nov. 1818, vol. 2, p. 281.

An objection raised by the defendant, that the assignment of the conditional order by the house of agency, to the present plaintiff, was unauthorized and illegal, overruled as invalid.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Feb. 1838, vol. 6, p. 222.

379. Suits for recovery of money, on a balance of account opened with the plaintiff by the defendant through a gomastah. The defendant denied the amount. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Feb. 1844, vol. 7, p. 155.*

Two professional agents made responsible for articles sold by them on credit to a person who had become insolvent.

384. Two persons, by profession agents and brokers, made responsible for the article sold by them on credit to a person who had become insolvent. Judgment founded on presumptive proof of their having made themselves responsible, chiefly arising from their having charged a rate of commission at which responsibility is usually and ought to have been undertaken.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 149.

Where there was presumptive proof that lands had been bought by B. on his own account and not as the agent of A., the claim of the latter dismissed.

387. A. sues B. for lands, alleging that he purchased them at auction through the agency of B., in B.'s name; that a conveyance was afterwards executed to him by B., but that B. had since fraudulently denied his title, and retained the property. The alleged conveyance not being established judgment was passed dismissing the suit; it being held that there was no other ground on which to sustain it, because, even supposing the plaintiff to have been the real purchaser at auction in the name of the defendant, such purchase being expressly prohibited by the Regulations, could not form a legal ground of action, or authorize the courts to interfere on his behalf.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1809, vol. 1, p. 289.

Judgment in a suit brought on the part of appellants by one not duly authorized by them does not bar their right of action.

The annuity not liable to reduction on account of the public sale of parts of the zemindary under such circumstances; and as the right of the annuitants had been twice adjudged, and appeals were preferred merely to protract the period of payment, the Zillah court was ordered to enforce the punctual payment of the annuity in future, by a sale of lands, if necessary.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th May 1805, vol. 1, p. 133.

* The artifice practised by the defendant (and appellant,) who privately added to his signature a short declaration of the invalidity of the document, did not avail against the evidence of his acknowledgment. His signature to the document was taken, by all the courts, in the sense in which it was understood by the other party and witnesses; and in which he gave it to be understood, at the time of his affixing it.—Note by the S. D. A. to the above.

390. 397. A deposit of money delivered to the head gomashtah of a banking house, who also had a distinct house in his own name and that of his son, declared not recoverable from the principals of the house to which the receiver was gomashtah, though the latter gave a receipt for the money as gomashtah mooktarkar, it appearing from the evidence that the money had been received and used by the gomashtah on his own account, subject to an interest of half per cent. per mensem, and there being no proof that the money was deposited on the credit of the bankers, to whom the receiver was agent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Dec. 1831, vol. 5, p. 154.

406. Held, that the seller of a bill of exchange is answerable for the amount in the first instance, when not paid by the drawee; that his having lodged the amount of it in the hands of another banker on account of the purchaser, without the purchaser's sanction, does not exonerate him, and that his not having received back the bill or caused it to be cancelled, affords sufficient presumption, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that such sanction was not obtained.—*S. 414. Claim by A. on B., for the value of timbers alleged to be his property, sent down to Calcutta for sale, and illegally seized by B.: claim dismissed, on proof that the timbers were provided for B. in pursuance of a contract with C. and D.; and that A., who was only surety for their conveyance to a certain distance, had no legal right or interest in them after their conveyance to that distance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Aug. 1808, vol. 1, p. 248.

Claim for timbers, by A. on B. dismissed, it being proved that A. had only been surety for their conveyance to a certain distance.

415. A. executed an engagement to B., undertaking to furnish 250 maunds of silk, at stated periods, and in certain quantities, in consideration of receiving advances from time to time; the whole quantity to be delivered on or before a specified day, or on failure thereof subjecting himself to a penalty of one rupee for every seer remaining undelivered. B. had made one advance only, and A. had failed in the performance of his contract. On suit of B. against A.,

could recover the penalty only for the silk on which the advance had been made.

to recover the penalty, for every seer of silk remaining undelivered, as well as for the balance of the silk remaining due on the advance, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut held that, according to the spirit of the contract, B. was entitled only to recover the penalty on the non-delivery of silk, for which an advance had been made.—*S. 416. A. enters into an engagement to B., acknowledging himself to be in arrear for advances to the amount of 7,746 rupees, and engaging to furnish silk to that value, or on failure thereof to pay ready money with interest, agreeably to Regulation 31, 1793. An action being brought by B., to recover the penalty specified in Clause 7, Section 3 of the abovementioned Regulation, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that he was only entitled to recover interest at the rate of 12 per cent. on the balance of the arrear, on the ground of the irrelevancy of the clause and section above specified to the case of A.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th July 1816, vol. 2, p. 192.

Case in which the dewan of an agent, who had engaged to be responsible for the fulfilment of their agreement by contractors, was held to his responsibility, tho' the contractors had already furnished other security.

417. The dewan of an agent for saltpetre having executed an engagement making him responsible for the fulfilment of their engagement by the contractors, who had received advances for the supply of that article, they having already furnished security, held that an action by the agent will lie against the dewan without reference to the other sureties.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th May 1827, vol. 4, p. 238.

Two persons purchase property of a third, on condition of not selling to any one but him; the grant of a putnee talook to a fourth person deemed a breach of the engagement.

418. A. and B. purchase property from C., under condition not to sell to any one but C. Ruled that the grant of a putnee talook by A. and B. to D., a stranger, was a violation on their part of the engagement, and as such was set aside.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st March 1836, vol. 6, p. 56.

Decision of the S. D. A. in the case of a contract, relative to real property.

419. In an action for real property under a contract between the plaintiff and defendant, the defendant pleaded violation, by the plaintiff, of a separate agreement, on the completion of which the fulfilment of the contract was contingent; the agreement was to have been carried into effect within a specified period, which however, had been exceeded. The Sudder dewanny adawlut overruled the plea on the ground that the defendant had availed himself of the conditions of the agreement after the expiration of the period therein specified.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th March 1839, vol. 6, p. 247.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a case which a person became security in rs. 20,000 for the ultimate award of an appeal to the privy council.

420. With a view to procure the execution of a decree passed in favour of the respondents, but which had been appealed to the King in Council, the appellant's father became surety for the ultimate award, in consideration of which he obtained from the respondents an engagement to pay to him the sum of 20,000 rupees, which sum was stated to have been borrowed from a third person on the credit of the appellant's father. The respondents failing to pay this sum at the time stipulated in their bond, the appellant was served with a notice that he would be sued for the same in the Supreme Court, whereupon he paid the amount. Held, that in this case the respondents were liable to refund to the appellant the amount so paid by him, together with the charge for the notice, and this without reference to the fact whether the amount of the bond was actually realized by the appellant's father or not.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Oct. 1827, vol. 4, p. 263.

421. For a consideration received, A. engages to effect a release of lands mortgaged by him to B. and make them over to C., or in default of his effecting the release of the lands in question, to make over other lands of equal value : A. fails in effecting the release ; C. claims other equivalent lands, or (in a supplementary plaint) to recover the consideration. Principal and interest of the sum advanced by C. decreed, but no lands; the engagement not being sufficiently specific to maintain a claim for lands.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Feb. 1813, vol. 2, p. 48.

Case in which principal & interest were awarded, but no lands, the agreement not being sufficient to maintain a case for lands.

SECTION XXXI.

Conveyance.

422. A., the manager of a joint talook held in his own name, was put in confinement by the servants of the superior zemindar, for a balance of revenue ; for which, seeing no other mode of discharging it, he executed a conveyance of the talook to B., zemindar's mookhtar, voluntarily, but without any express authority from the other sharers ; who however allowed B. to hold possession undisturbed for ten years. In a suit after this period against B., for the recovery of this talook, on the ground that the conveyance was void, as having been obtained by duress, and executed only by one of the sharers, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in conformity with the opinion of their pundits determine, that the title of B., under the conveyance is good.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Aug. 1801, vol. 1, p. 45.

Case in which the S. D. A. upheld a conveyance of land, tho' there was an appearance of its having been obtained by duress.

423. A conveyance executed during mortal sickness set aside, on failure of proof that the person who executed it was of sound mind at the time.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Sept. 1804, vol. 1, p. 85.

A conveyance executed in mortal sickness, set aside, for want of proof that the party was of sound mind.

424. Claim by the father of the appellants, to recover certain lands sold to the respondents by one of the claimant's sons, on the plea that the act was not authorized. The contrary appearing from circumstantial proof, judgment given against the claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Feb. 1806, vol. 1, p. 128.

Claim to recover lands sold to the respondents by one of the claimants, on the plea that he acted without authority, disallowed.

425. Defendant, having admitted the right of plaintiff's mother to certain lands, pleaded a right to them under an alleged conveyance from her to himself ; and having failed to prove this conveyance, judgment given for the plaintiff.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Sept. 1808, vol. 1, p. 257.

SECTION XXXII.

Debts.

426. Claim by the heirs of Nuwab Nujuf Khan, against the estate of General Martine, to recover an estate, assigned in liquidation of a debt, adjudged, on an adjustment of accounts, adopted by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, shewing the debt to have been liquidated. A further action reserved to the claimants for the balance of accounts due to them.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th July 1807, vol. 1, p. 199.

Claim by the heirs of Nuwab Nujuf Khan, against the estate of General Martine.

427. Acquittances of a debt, granted conditionally, are not of avail if the condition be not fulfilled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Sept. 1811, vol. 1, p. 343.

Acquittances of a debt granted conditionally, not valid, if the condition be unfulfilled.

Where part of a debt has been realized by the process of the supreme court, the plaintiff may sue for the remainder in the Co.'s courts.

The rightful proprietor, on coming into possession of his estate, is liable for money borrowed by one erroneously entered as proprietor, to discharge arrears of public revenue.

A sale by a debtor to his surety being set aside, as extorted by violence, the debtor must still be compelled to pay the principal and interest of money borrowed on the surety's credit.

Owing to a want of responsibility in the witnesses, a claim to recover money under a bond dismissed.

Receipts on paper stamped six years after the date of execution, declared inadmissible, & the claim adjudged.

428. Part of a debt having been realized by process of the Supreme Court, and the action there having been discontinued, it is still competent to the claimant to sue for the remainder in a Provincial court, though the claim to be reimbursed the costs of suit incurred in the former court will be rejected.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Jan. 1821, vol. 3, p. 66.

429. Money having been borrowed to discharge arrears of public revenue, by a person, erroneously registered as proprietor of an estate, the rightful proprietor, on coming into possession will be held liable for the debt : and this is conformable to Hindoo law.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th June 1821, vol. 3, p. 93.

430. A sale made by a debtor to his surety having been set aside as extorted by violence, the court will nevertheless compel the debtor to pay to his surety the amount [principal and interest] which had been borrowed on the credit of the surety, declaring at the same time that the latter should be responsible to the original creditor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 11th June 1822, vol. 3, p. 156.

431. Claim to recover a debt under a bond dismissed ; the Court not believing the evidence of the witnesses of the plaintiff, chiefly owing to their want of respectability.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1825, vol. 4, p. 90.

432. In an action for debt, the borrower pleads payment, and produces receipts on paper stamped six years after the date of their execution. Held that such documents were inadmissible, and claim adjudged, for this and other reasons.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th Jan. 1826, vol. 4, p. 108.

SECTION XXXIII.

Fraud, Embezzlement and Corruption.

Where a will had been dishonestly suppressed by an appellant, he was not suffered to derive any benefit from it.

433. A will, not published by a son for some years after the death of his father, nor exhibited in a suit instituted by his brother for a share of the paternal estate in the Zillah or Provincial court, but first produced in appeal from the judgments of those courts in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, when it was found to contradict the appellant's original pleas, rejected by the latter court, as the appellant could not be suffered to derive advantage from a will, which [if authentic] had been dishonestly suppressed by him.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Nov. 1805, vol. 1, p. 111.

Where A. had purchased lands with the money of B., & fraudulently made the sale in his own name, the lands were adjudged to B.

434. Lands purchased at a public sale by A. with the money of B., under instructions to make the purchase in the name of B., but fraudulently made by A. in his own name and wrongfully withheld from B. Adjudged to B., on proof of the fraud.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d May 1806, vol. 1, p. 132.

A deed of wuseutnamah set aside as fraudulent and void.

435. A deed called a wuseutnamah, or deed of inheritance, [in which a widow in possession of a zemindary acknowledged two distant relations of her husband to be her heirs, and transferred the zemindary to them on condition that they should support her for life,] set aside as fraudulent and void, on presumption that it was not the intention of the widow to transfer the estate before her death; and that the clause to that effect was surreptitious, or by some undue means imposed upon her without her voluntary consent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. July 1806, vol. 1, p. 147.

436. An ikrarnamah, or written acknowledgment, relative to a stated purchase of land, though supported by the testimony of witnesses, set aside, as apparently fraudulent, under circumstances of strong presumption at variance with the purport of it.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 157.

An ikrarnamah relative to the purchase of land, set aside as apparently fraudulent, on presumptive evidence.

437. A bond, having been taken, evidently by undue means, through the official influence of the dewan to a Collector, but nominally granted in favour of one of his dependants [a writer in the Collector's office who could not, from his means and situation in life, be supposed by any probability to have been the principal in the transaction,] is cancelled as illegal and fraudulent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th Sept. 1806, vol. 1, p. 165.

A bond taken evidently through the official influence of a collector's dewan, cancelled as illegal & fraudulent.

438. Since the enactment of Regulation 7, 1799, the courts can give no remedy against a fraudulent agent employed to purchase lands, in his own name, at a Collector's sale in an action for possession; but may cause him to refund the amount received in an action for debt. Yet, on proof of a conveyance subsequently executed by such agent to the real purchaser, the Court will cause performance, without enquiring too minutely into the grounds of the transaction.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Sept. 1809, vol. 1, p. 292, Note.

The courts cannot give a remedy against a fraudulent agent, who purchased lands in his own name, but may make him refund the amount, in an action for debt.

439. A. being indebted to B., grants him a mortgage of his estate, [antedating the mortgage deed eight years,] together with a bond, conditioned for the payment of the debt by yearly instalments, and a warrant of attorney to confess judgment. The estate of A., having been attached by Government for arrears of revenue, and several instalments on the bond being unpaid, B. caused judgment to be entered up in the Supreme Court, on his bond and warrant of confession, and sued out execution, under which the lands were sold by the sheriff at public auction and purchased by C. who afterwards sold them by private contract to D. Seven years after, A. having died, his son and heir sued B., C. and D., to recover the lands, on the plea that the mortgage to B. by A. was fictitious, and granted with a view of screening his property from other creditors; and that B. had executed an engagement to that effect, promising that should he cause the estate to be sold under the deeds in his possession, he would himself become the purchaser, and cause it to be transferred to the son of A. Determined that the engagement [if proved,] being intended to defeat the rights of third parties, cannot avail A., or his representative against B., much less against C. and D., who were purchasers for a valuable consideration, without notice.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Aug. 1814, vol. 2, p. 118.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a complicated case connected with the purchase of land.

440. The respondents having collusively created a fictitious talook in favour of the appellants, to evade a decree passed against them in another suit were obliged in repelling a suit for the talook to plead their previous collusion. Judgment against them.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th May 1829, vol. 4, p. 341.

Judgment against respondents who had collusively created a fictitious talook in favour of the appellants to evade a decree passed against them.

441. A suit to set aside a sale made by the plaintiff, on the ground that it was merely a nominal and fictitious sale, with a view to evade process of court, dismissed on the principle that no party can take advantage of his own wrong.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th March 1846, vol. 7, p. 257.

A suit to set aside a sale made by plaintiff on the ground that it was fictitious to evade the process of the court, dismissed.

442. A person punished for corruption or extortion in a criminal prosecution, would not afterwards be liable to the fine prescribed by Section 12, Regulation 12, 1803, though he would of course be subject to a civil action for the restitution of the money received by him.—Con. 231, 12th Jan. 1816.

A person criminally punished for extortion is not afterwards liable to the fine prescribed in reg. 12, 1803, sec. 12, but may be sued in a civil court for the restitution of the money.

444. Claim for a sum of money alleged to have been embezzled by the ancestor of the respondent from the ancestor of the appellant. Claim dismissed, the alleged embezzlement being disproved.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th April 1807, vol. 1, p. 183.

S. D. A. reversed the order of a lower court adjudging repayment of money embezzled, and a fine of one-third by one of the defendants for his connivance.

445. In a suit for money and property embezzled, the Provincial court, in addition to a refund of the amount embezzled, adjudged the payment of one-third of the amount to be made by one of the defendants as a fine for his connivance ; but on appeal preferred by him, the Sudder dewanny adawlut reversed this order as being unwarranted by the Regulations and inconsistent with the practice of the Civil courts.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th Nov. 1827, vol. 4, p. 268.

SECTION XXXIV.

Private Sales.

Claim to certain lands dismissed for defect of proof, joined to strong presumption of fraud.

446. Claim of respondent to certain lands as having been purchased by him from the appellant, which the appellant denies, stating the lands to be the property of a third person, to whom he is agent. Judgment against the claim, on defect of proof, joined to strong appearances of fraud.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 157.

A private sale of lands, which had been separated and assessed by the collector, adjudged invalid, as the sanction of the board had not been obtained.

447. Claim to certain lands, as included in a purgunnah sold to the plaintiff at public auction, but withheld by the defendant on the plea of a prior private purchase from the late zemindar. The private sale adjudged invalid, (although the land had been separated and assessed by the Collector,) as the sanction of the Board of Revenue, which the Regulations require in such cases, had not been obtained ; and the board re-annexed the lands to the purgunnah, and included them in the public sale. Judgment for the claimant.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th July 1808, vol. 1, p. 239.

Decision of S. D. A. in a case of collusion relative to the sale of lands.

448. Claim by A., on B. and C., for possession of lands, as having been purchased from C. ; B. pleads that they were not his to sell ; and that the sale to himself from C. was conditional, and did not finally take place. On proof to the contrary, and that the plea of B. was collusive, [with the view apparently of avoiding the sale of his lands in satisfaction of a public demand against him,] judgment given for the claimant.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Dec. 1808, vol. 1, p. 262.

Claim by A. to certain villages against B. and the heirs of C. adjudged, as the right of B. and C. rested on deeds of sale held to be illegal by sec. 3, reg. 38, 1793.

449. Claim by A. to certain villages against B. and the heirs of C., adjudged in favour of A., it appearing that the claim of B. and C. to the lands in question rested on deeds of sale which were held to be illegal inasmuch as they were in violation of Section 3, Regulation 38, 1793, which prohibits Europeans from holding lands without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, and were also not sufficiently distinct to give a title to the villages in question.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Jan. 1819, vol. 2, p. 285.

Sale by the real proprietor of certain lands upheld though his name had not been recorded in the books of the collector, but continued in that of the seller's relations.

D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Aug. 1823, vol. 3, p. 258.*

451. Lands purchased by a father in the name of his son, though registered in the name of the latter being in the possession of the former and his bonâ fide property, the son has no right to dispose of them.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th June 1824, vol. 3, p. 363.

The son cannot dispose of lands purchased in his name by his father, which are in the father's possession, and his bonâ fide property.

452. In the absence of a bill of sale for landed property and receipt for the purchase money, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held it necessary that the fact of the sale should be satisfactorily established, and in the present instance, considering the proof adduced by the claimant [who was a servant of the alleged vendor, and probably in possession of his seals] to be insufficient to establish the sale, disallowed the claim.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th June 1826, vol. 4, p. 168.

In the absence of a bill of sale for land, the S. D. A. disallowed the claim of the claimant who was the servant of the alleged vendor, and in possession of his seals.

453. Sale made by the administratrix of a real estate held to be invalid under the English law, at the suit of the son, who was declared entitled to possession, on repayment of the principal of the purchase money.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th July 1827, vol. 4, p. 243.

Sale of a real estate by an administratrix held invalid under English law, at the suit of the son.

454. An executor in selling houses or other property belonging to an estate, ought to exact immediate payment, instead of selling upon credit to irresponsible buyers; and in the event of the heirs of the testator suing to recover the assets, the executor or his representative will be responsible for the amount.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 152.

An executor in selling houses or other property of an estate must exact immediate payment, and the heirs of the testator may recover it from him.

455. The husband having sold a portion of land belonging to his wife, and the wife subsequently selling the same land to another individual, the first sale was upheld; though the consent of the wife is requisite to the transfer, under the Mahomedan law, such consent being presumed in this instance.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Aug. 1827, vol. 4, p. 259.

Where a Mahomedan had sold a portion of land belonging to his wife, and the wife subsequently sold it to another, the first sale was upheld.

456. B. formally covenanted to sell an estate to A. and received part of the purchase money; but subsequently completed a sale to C., whose name was recorded in the Collector's book. A. survived this seven years; the suit of his son [brought four years after his death] to recover the estate, and obtain specific performance, is dismissed—no fraud on the part of C. appearing—and the acquiescence of A. being presumed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th Aug. 1830, vol. 5, p. 53.

B covenanted to sell land to A., and received part of the purchase money and then sold it to C. A. suit brought 4 years after by A.'s son, to recover the estate, dismissed.

SECTION XXXV.

Surety and Security.

457. A security bond executed by one member of a joint undivided Hindoo family, held to be binding on the other members; the separation pleaded to bar the claim not having been established, and deemed to have been fraudulently alleged to evade payment of the debt. A case of urzaminee or counter security.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Nov. 1819, vol. 2, p. 316.

A security bond executed by one member of a joint undivided family held binding on the other members.

458. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will not enforce payment of a sum of money promised by A. to B., if the security tendered by the latter for the former, in consideration of which the promise was made, had never been acted upon, even though the promise was absolute.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Sept. 1820, vol. 3, p. 51.

If the security tendered by B. to A., in consideration of which the promise of a payment of money was made, has not been acted on, the S. D. A. will not enforce payment.

A surety is liable for special loss from the misconduct of the person for whom he stood surety.

461. Under the general denomination of hazir and malzamin, a surety answerable for another who contracted for service, is liable for special loss for his misconduct, as if he should desert with his employer's goods.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th Jan. 1830, vol. 5, p. 1.

A. becomes surety for B., the collector's treasurer, and dies. C. then becomes surety. B. evades, & the deficiency is levied from C. C. has no claims on this ground on the heirs of A.

462. On further caution required, A. became surety for B., the Collector's treasurer. Subsequent to the death of A., C. and others, on different occasions, became sureties. B. evaded and the deficit of his accounts was levied on C.'s estate. Held that A.'s estate was discharged, and C. had no recourse on his heirs, [the clause them binding notwithstanding,] for defect of community and special covenant as to continued liability.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d June 1831, vol. 5, p. 125.

When A. had become surety for B. the collector's treasurer, he has no right to claim prospective discharge from liability, unless he prove the misconduct of B.

463. A. covenanted with Government that B. [the Collector's treasurer,] should honestly administer his office of trust, and made himself answerable for any deficit due by B.; A. has no right to claim prospective discharge from his liability, unless in claiming such discharge, he proves such misconduct of B. 464. A. as caution for B. contracted a liability on a hazuri farm of C.'s estate, including malikana dues of C. The Collector, merely on A.'s application, cannot legally sequester what is due to B. to satisfy A.'s judgment against C.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th July 1834, vol. 5, p. 362.

The security of a salt gomashita responsible for any deficiency during the period in which his principal had charge of the salt stores.

465. The zillah Judge having exempted the security of a salt gomashita from a liability to payment of the value of deficient salt, on the ground that the security bond specified only "the acting gomashita," while it was not clear whether the embezzlement took place while the gomashita was merely "acting" or confirmed in his office; the Sudder dewanny adawlut reversed the order, holding that from the terms of the deed the surety clearly made himself responsible for any deficiency that might occur during the period his principal was in charge of the salt stores.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Feb. 1837, vol. 6, p. 150.

A party who had tendered security for a collector's officer, responsible for the embezzlement of the principal, though the collector had not officially ordered the acceptance of the surety.

D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d March 1837, vol. 6, p. 153.*

A farther call for security does not absolve the original sureties from responsibility.

467. A call for further security in consequence of that already tendered being insufficient, does not absolve the original sureties from responsibility, as long as the security bonds executed by them are not actually rejected as cancelled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Jan. 1840, vol. 6, p. 279.

A surety may alienate property of which he calls himself proprietor which is not specifically pledged.

468. I am directed to communicate to you, in reply to your letter of the 30th May last, the opinion of the Court, that supposing A. on becoming security for B. (on the latter's borrowing a sum of money) to designate himself as proprietor of certain estates, without expressly stating that those estates are pledged as security for the debt, he (A.) is not legally precluded from alienating the said property, during the continuance of his liability for the security into which he has entered.—Con. 1017, Cal. C. 24th June, West. C. 15th July 1836.

469. If a person becoming security for a bond affix his name to the deed in recognition of his responsibility he is liable to be sued as a party jointly with the principal without the necessity of a security bond on a separate stamp.—Con. 341, 1st June 1821.

A person obtaining a decree on a right of pre-emption cannot withdraw his claim, because the land is resumed by govt. & a settlement made with another.

474. The Court are of opinion that, if the land, the right of pre-emption of which is claimed, be land paying revenue to Government either as an entire mehal, or a specific portion thereof with a defined jumma, the cause of action must be estimated at three times the amount of the sudder jumma, as prescribed by Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829; if lakhi-raj, at eighteen times the amount of the computed annual rent; and if it be land paying revenue to Government, but neither an entire mehal nor a specific portion with a defined jumma, at the estimated selling price.—Con. 1047, *Cal. 482. A dancing girl having left her mistress by whom she had been purchased while a child and educated, and having discontinued the payment of a monthly allowance to which she had bound herself by a written obligation; on suit by the mistress to enforce the obligation or recover the girl, claim disallowed, the girl not being legally a slave, and the mistress not having proved that what had already been received was insufficient to cover the expence of her education.—*S. What gives a legal right to a Moslim to the service of another, as his slave.

483. A legal right, to the service of another person, only can arise to a Moslim, when the party claimed as his slave, or his progenitor, was an infidel captive to a Moslim force prevailing in holy war.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Aug. 1830, vol. 5, p. 59.

Case in which a claim of A. to B., C. and D. as his hereditary slaves, was disallowed.

484. A. claims the descendants of B., C., and D., as his hereditary slaves. The Zillah and Provincial courts adjudge the claim, inferring slavery from continuous service rendered, other circumstances, and a written acknowledgment of B., C. and D. On special appeal the decisions of the lower courts are reversed by one Judge, because he distrusted the evidence

D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th May 1832, vol. 5, p. 243.*

485. Special appeal admitted in case of alleged slavery, where the facts found did not seem to justify the inference of legal slavery; an exaction of security from appellant waived on authority of a precedent. Judgment of the Zillah court, affirmed by the Provincial court, reversed in toto in regard to all the defendants, though all did not appeal.—Ibid.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a case of alleged slavery where the facts did not justify the inference of legal slavery.

486. A. claimed, as his hereditary slaves, B. and his family, alleging that their forefather C. had been one of the slaves of his family, and he and his descendants, including B. and the other defendants, had continuously rendered service, and received support in lodging and small assignments of land. A. could produce no title to prove the hereditary servitude of B. Held that, if adduced, the court could not, on the facts charged, equitably adjudge into servitude the existing and, therefore, all future descendants of C.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th Nov. 1832, vol. 5, p. 248.

Local and Family Usages.

488. The proprietary dues levied on iron ore manufactured does not necessarily belong to the proprietor of the soil, if it should have been the usage to consider such property as distinct from the soil.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st July 1811, vol. 1, p. 337.

The proprietary dues levied on iron ore do not necessarily belong to the proprietor of the soil.

489. An action by the zemindar of Chota Nagpore for the resumption of a jaghire tenure was decided in his favour on the ground of local usage.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Dec. 1836, vol. 6, p. 133.

491. Held, that it is not competent to the reigning Rajah of Tipperah to alienate the lands of the zemindary of the raj for a period extending beyond the term of his own life.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th March 1837, vol. 6, p. 155.

The rajah of Tipperah cannot alienate his lands beyond the term of his own life.

492. In a suit for succession to a moiety of the estate of the Rajah of Tirhoot, the claim was dismissed on the ground that the succession devolved upon the defendant in virtue of a deed executed in his favour by the late incumbent, such succession being in conformity with the long established usage of the family, in which the title and estate had uniformly devolved entire for many generations.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Feb. 1846, vol. 7, p. 228.

The long established usage of the family of the rajah of Tirhoot will regulate the succession of property.

SECTION XL.

Libel and Defamation.

Defamatory expressions used by a party in the course of a judicial proceeding, not actionable.

Damages will not be awarded for alleged defamation on questionable & conflicting evidence.

Damages of 10,000 rs. and costs awarded against the defendants for charging the postmaster of Tirhoot with clandestinely opening a parcel.

Slander against a female of good family, not a purdah woman may be visited with damages in a civil court.

Damages awarded against a party for falsely charging the plaintiff with dacoity.

S. D. A. award 1000 rs. damages to an uncov. judicial officer against a party who had charged him with official corruption.

493. Defamatory and libellous expressions, when used by a party in the course of a judicial proceeding are not actionable though punishable as a contempt, by the court in which they are used.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d April 1841, vol. 7, p. 29.

494. The Court will not assess or award damages on questionable and conflicting evidence adduced by plaintiff, for alleged defamation of character.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Sept. 1842, vol. 7, p. 115.

495. An action for recovery of damages for defamation, in consequence of the defendants having in a petition charged the plaintiff, who was Postmaster at Tirhoot, with having clandestinely opened a parcel containing certain papers. The Principal Sudder Ameen dismissed the claim for (as observed by the court) very unsatisfactory reasons.—The court reversed the decree, and awarded 10,000 rupees damages, with costs, against the defendants.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th Jan. 1844, vol. 7, p. 149.

496. Slander against a female of good character, although not of that rank in life which renders her seclusion necessary, may be visited by damages in a Civil court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th March 1845, vol. 7, p. 193.

497. Damages were awarded against a party for having falsely charged the plaintiff with dacoity; but a Police darogah, against whom they were also sought, having acted legally upon that party's information, was exonerated.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th May 1840, vol. 7, p. 204.

498. In an action for damages preferred by an uncovenanted judicial officer, against a party who had charged him with corruption in the discharge of his official duty, the Sudder dewanny adawlut confirmed the decree of the lower court which awarded to the plaintiff damages to the amount of 1,000 rupees.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th Aug. 1836, vol. 6, p. 97.

SECTION XLI.

Miscellaneous Decisions in Suits regarding Real and Personal Property.

If one of three brothers, to whom land was sold in joint partnership, prefers a claim for it, he is entitled to a decree for the whole of the property.

499. In a claim to obtain possession of landed property conditionally sold to three brothers in joint partnership, which was preferred by one, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut decided that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree to the whole extent of the property purchased in coparcenary.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Dec. 1844, vol. 7, p. 187.

500. A claim, for repayment of a deposit, against a Collector by the heirs of a party deceased, who had deposited a sum of money as an investment in the public funds, but died before obtaining the promissory note, disallowed, sale of the promissory note and distribution of proceeds among the heirs ordered.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Feb. 1841, vol. 7, p. 13.

501. In an action for certain lands held under a pottah alleged by the lessee to convey a lease in perpetuity, but declared by the lessor to be conditional, the pottah itself not having convey a title in perpetuity, and by the lessor to be conditional, the lessor must sue to set aside the lease, but cannot summarily eject.

502. The fact of the quantity of land comprised within a parcel for which the plaintiff sued, with mention of its boundaries, being somewhat in excess of that mentioned in the petition of plaint, held to be no bar to the recovery by the plaintiff of the entire parcel.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d June 1841, vol. 7, p. 39.

Where the quantity of land was somewhat in excess of that mentioned in the petition of plaint, the entire parcel decreed to the plaintiff.

503. The Zillah court reversed the sale of a talook made in execution of a summary decree, which summary decree was itself subsequently set aside, and directed the purchaser to sue the decreeholder for the price of the estate. The Sudder dewanny adawlut confirmed the reversal of the sale, but declared the auction purchaser entitled at once to the recovery of the price paid by him, which they decreed against the decreeholder, with interest from the date when the money was paid.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th June 1844, vol. 7, p. 172.

Where the sale of a talook in execution of a summary decree was reversed, the S. D. A. declared the auction purchaser entitled to recover the price paid by him, with interest, from the decreeholder.

504. In an action for real property, a third party, who claimed the proprietary right in the same in the court of the Principal Sudder Ameen, on a judgment being given in favor of the plaintiff, appealed to the Zillah court. The decree of the Zillah court in favor of such third party, upheld by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th Oct. 1841, vol. 7, p. 52.

Case in which the claim of a third party for the proprietary right in real property was allowed by the zillah court, and upheld by the S. D. A.

505. In a claim for real property, the plaintiff denied the facts, and impugned the merits of a decree passed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut in an action regarding the same property between the ancestors of the parties to the present suit. Held, under these circumstances, that the former decree was binding as between the present parties.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Nov. 1841, vol. 7, p. 57.

A former decree of the S. D. A. for the same property between the ancestors of the parties to a new suit was held binding as between the present parties.

506. In a suit instituted for the purpose of effecting a mutation of names in the Collector's register of landed proprietors, on an apparent collusive understanding between the parties in order to defeat the rights of others, the Sudder dewanny adawlut gave judgment as between the parties agreeably to the admission of the defendant, but made all costs, including those of a claimant who intervened as a third party, chargeable to the plaintiff.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th March 1842, vol. 7, p. 78.

Decision of the S. D. A. in a suit instituted to effect a mutation of names of landed proprietors in the register of the collector, which appeared to be collusive to defeat the rights of others.

507. It having been proved that one of the defendants, a zemindar, had instigated a riotous attack on the zemindary catcherry of the plaintiff, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on the suit of the latter, awarded to him the value of the property plundered and a reasonable sum as damages.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Nov. 1843, vol. 7, p. 136.

Where a zemindar had instigated a riotous attack, the S. D. A. awarded against him the value of the property plundered, and a reasonable sum as damages.

508. The plaintiff sued the defendants, a mother and her daughters, for recovery of a sum of money lent to the former on the security of a farming engagement of a certain village, the right of the mother in which was disputed by the daughters, who had obtained possession to the ejectment of the plaintiff. Under these circumstances, it was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut that the zillah Judge was wrong in declaring that the village was liable for the debt, and that he should have confined himself to giving a decree to the plaintiff for the money due to him, leaving the question of the liability of property to the stage of execution of the decree.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th June 1843, vol. 7, p. 125.

Where a sum of money was lent on the surety of a farming engagement of a village, the court should decree for the money lent, and not declare the village liable for it.

A plaintiff sues to set aside a sale, under peculiar circumstances, and is nonsuited by the S. D. A.

509. The plaintiff sued to set aside a sale, made in execution of a decree of certain property alleged to have been previously purchased by him in the name of his daughter-in-law. As the latter, who was the nominal vendee, was not made a party to the suit, the Sudder dewanny adawlut nonsuited the plaintiff.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d May 1842, vol. 7, p. 95.

In a suit between two parties, judgment in favor of one does not bar the claim of govt. not a party to the suit, to the lands.

510. In a suit between two individuals, judgment in favor of one of the parties held not to bar the claim of Government, not a party to the suit, to the lands affected by that judgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1817, vol. 2, p. 227.

CHAPTER VII.

APPEALS.

SECTION I.

Summary Appeals from the Decrees of Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens.

1. It is hereby enacted, that from the first day of October, 1838, it shall be competent to the zillah and city Judges, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to receive a summary appeal from the orders or decrees of the Moonsiffs subordinate to them, in cases in which such Moonsiffs may have refused to admit any suit regularly cognizable by them, or may have dismissed, on the ground of delay, informality, or other default, without an investigation of the merits of the case, any such suit which they may have admitted, or any suit regularly referred to them.—Act XXII. 1838, Sect. 1.

Zillah & city judges may receive a summary appeal from the orders or decrees of moonsiffs if they have refused to admit any suit cognizable by them, or have dismissed it for delay, informality or other default, without investigation of the merits.

2. And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to the zillah or city Judge to receive a summary appeal from the orders of any Principal Sudder Ameen or Sudder Ameen, rejecting any original suit cognizable by him, and that all rules applicable to summary appeals from orders dismissing original suits on the ground of any default shall be applicable to the summary appeals given by this Act.—Act IX. 1844, Sect. 4.

Zillah or city judge to receive summary appeals from orders of P. S. A. or S. A. rejecting any original suit cognizable by him.

3. A summary appeal from a judgment passed in appeal by the Principal Sudder Ameen lies to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and not to the zillah Judge.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st June 1847.

A summary appeal from a judgment passed in appeal by the P. S. A. lies to the S. D. A., and not to the judge.

4. The provisions contained in Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 26, 1814, with any modifications of them which may have been since enacted, regarding the admission and hearing of special and summary appeals, as well as the rule contained in clause second, Section 4 of the aforesaid Regulation, relative to the review of judgments, shall be held applicable to original suits and appeals tried by Principal Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 19, Cl. 1.

Special or summary appeals from the decisions of P. S. A. how to be admitted. Review of judgment how to be applied for.

5. And it is hereby enacted, that the provisions contained in the fifth and six following clauses of Section 3, Regulation 26 of 1814, and Section 2, Regulation 12 of 1833, and Section 7, Regulation 9 of 1831, of the Bengal code, shall apply to the summary appeals preferred under the authority of this Act.—Act XXII. 1838, Sect. 2.

Cls. 5 to 11, sec. 3, reg. 26, 1814, & sec. 2, reg. 12, 1833, and sec. 7, reg. 9, 1831, shall apply to the summary appeals preferred under this act.

6. In all the preceding cases, the summary appeal shall be preferred within the same limited period as is prescribed for the admission of regular appeals, and subject to the provisions contained in the following clauses.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 5.

Limitation of time for the admission of summary appeals.

The petition for a summary appeal to be written on what stamped paper.

7. Whenever a party may be desirous of preferring a summary appeal in the cases abovementioned, he shall appear either in person, or by a vakeel duly authorized, before the court, which, under the preceding rules, may be competent to receive such appeal; and shall present a petition, written on the stamped paper prescribed by Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829,] and accompanied by an attested copy of the order or decree passed in the case.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 6.

Party not liable to pay the institution fee nor to furnish the usual deposit, or security.

8. The party presenting such petition, shall not be liable to the payment of the stamp duty, substituted for the institution fee, by Section 13, Regulation 1, 1814; nor shall he be required to furnish the deposit for the fee of his vakeel, or any security; except such as may be eventually necessary under the Regulations in force, for staying the execution of the decree, from which the appeal may be preferred.—Ibid, Cl. 7.

Exception.

Mode of proceeding in summary appeals.

9. It shall not be requisite to give any notice to the respondent, or to require his attendance on such summary appeal being preferred, unless in any particular instance the court may deem it proper to adopt that measure; nor shall any pleadings or proceedings be holden on such summary appeal, excepting such as may suffice to determine whether the suit was or was not rejected or dismissed by the lower court on sufficient grounds and in conformity with the Regulations.—Ibid, Cl. 8.

In what cases the lower courts may be directed to receive or to revive the suit.

10. If upon such summary proceedings, it shall appear to the court, that the suit was rejected in the first instance, or after being admitted, was dismissed without an investigation of the merits, upon insufficient grounds; or in opposition to the Regulations, it shall be competent to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to the Provincial courts, and to the zillah or city Judges respectively, to direct the lower court or officer, from whose order or decree the petition of appeal may have been presented, to receive the original suit or appeal, or to revive it, if it shall have been received and dismissed, and to try and determine such cause on its merits, according to the Regulations.—Ibid, Cl. 9.

Explanation of the phrase "or in opposition to the regulations" in clause 9, as above.

11. The summary appeal authorized by Section 3, Regulation 26, can be admitted only when a suit has been dismissed or rejected on the ground of delay, informality, or other default, without an investigation of the merits. The words "or in opposition to the Regulations," used in Clause 9 of the section, apply to cases which have been so dismissed or rejected on grounds not warranted by the Regulations, or to the omission prior to the dismissal or rejection of the suit of any of the forms prescribed by the Regulations for calling on a party to attend and shew cause why his suit should not be dismissed, &c.—Con. 805, Cal. C. 19th July, West. C. 6th Sept. 1833.

In what cases the courts may reject the summary appeal and fine the appellant.

12. If on the contrary such summary appeal shall be found to be groundless and litigious, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Provincial courts, and the zillah or city Judges, are respectively authorized and required to reject the petition for a summary appeal, and to impose such fine on the litigious appellant, as may appear to be in each instance proportionable to the condition of the party, and to the circumstances of the case; provided that such fine shall in no case exceed the amount of the stamp duty, which would have been payable by the appellant on the institution of such case, as a regular suit or appeal. All orders, imposing fines, or rejecting petitions of summary appeal,

The orders of the courts in such cases to be final.

which may be passed under the preceding clause, by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Provincial courts, or by the zillah or city Judges shall be final and conclusive.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 10.

13. The rejection of a summary appeal is not a bar to the admission of a regular appeal, provided the latter be otherwise admissible under the Regulations in force.—Con. 723, 19th Oct. 1832.

The rejection of a summary appeal no bar to the admission of a regular appeal.

14. And it is hereby enacted, that Clause 2, Section 27, Regulation 23 of 1814, of the Bengal code, and Clause 2, Section 26, Regulation 6 of 1816, of the Madras code, are repealed, and no appeal shall lie against the decision passed in accordance with the provisions of the preceding clauses of this Act, other than a summary appeal on the fact of default.—Act XXIX. 1841, Sect. 3.

Repeals cl. 2, sec. 27, reg. 23, 1814, of the Bengal code, and cl. 2, sec. 26, reg. 6, 1816, of the Madras code. Enacts,—no appeal against dismissal of a suit or appeal, other than a summary appeal on the fact of default, shall be allowed.

15. On a consideration of the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 26, 1814, and Sections 7 and 8, Regulation 19, 1817, the Court are of opinion, that in cases in which a summary appeal is admissible, under the section first mentioned, such appeal may be admitted, although the appellant may erroneously, or from other cause, have applied for the admission of a special appeal on stamped paper of the prescribed value; and that, in such cases, stamp duty paid by the appellant on his petition shall, with the exception of two rupees, the value of the proper stamp for a petition of summary appeal, be returned to him.—Con. 613, 25th Nov. 1831.

Where a summary appeal is admissible, it may be admitted though the appellant may erroneously have applied for a special appeal on stamped paper of the prescribed value; the value of the paper, except 2 rs., will be returned to him.

16. A summary appeal will not lie from an order of a lower court, rejecting a claim on a regular suit because of the documentary evidence of the plaintiff being invalid for want of the prescribed stamp: the appeal must be regular.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th April 1843, p. 47.

A summary appeal will not lie, where a claim on a regular suit has been dismissed, because the exhibits were invalid for want of a proper stamp.

17. The Judge may admit a summary appeal from the decision of a Sudder Ameen, after the expiration of the prescribed period for appealing on satisfactory explanation being given for the delay.—Con. 477, 18th April 1828.

The judge may admit a summary appeal from a S. A., after the prescribed period, on a satisfactory explanation.

18. A summary appeal may be had from a nonsuit passed under Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, if it can be shewn by the plaintiff that the value of the property claimed has not been understated by him, and that consequently the order passed by the Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen was erroneous.—Con. 872, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 24th Oct. 1834.

Case in which a summary appeal may be had from a nonsuit under art. 8, sch. B., reg. 10, 1829.

19. A Principal Sudder Ameen gave judgment in a case in which he had no jurisdiction. On application to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Court held that the irregular decree could not be set aside, on a mere summary application.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 24th May 1842, p. 31.

Where a P. S. A. gave judgment in a case in which he had no jurisdiction, the irregular decree cannot be set aside on a summary application.

20. Appeal from nonsuit, on the ground of former judgment, in a suit brought on behalf of appellants by one not duly authorized on their part, admitted as summary.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th May 1812, vol. 2, p. 14.

Summary appeal from a nonsuit in a suit brought by one unauthorized by the appellants.

21. A decree having been given against the appellant in the Zillah court by a summary decision, passed under the provisions of Regulation 49, 1793, the appellant petitioned the Provincial court to admit an appeal from that decision, on the ground that the Regulation

Case in which the S. D. A. admitted a summary appeal, to investigate the appellant's objections to the summary decision against him. mentioned was not relevant to the case. His petition was rejected, but the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that an appeal should be admitted for the purpose of investigating the appellant's objections.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Sept. 1812, vol. 2, p. 39.

S. D. A. orders a lower court to enquire into the truth of the appellant's statement previously to rejecting his appeal explanatory of delay.

22. The Provincial court having rejected a petition of appeal on the ground of the period allowed for appealing having elapsed, without enquiring into the pleas explanatory of the delay, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on a summary appeal, ordered that court to enquire into the truth of the statement of the appellant previously to rejecting the appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th May 1819, vol. 2, p. 298.

Special decision of the P. S. A. on a summary appeal involving the proprietary right of lands.

23. The proprietary right having been formally investigated and decided upon, in a summary suit by the Register, whose decision, on a regular appeal having been erroneously admitted, was reversed by the Provincial court; the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in a summary appeal, did not think fit to touch the reversal, but specially directed that the party in possession before the dispute should not be disturbed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 6th Jan. 1820, vol. 3, p. 3.

SECTION II.

Summary Appeals from Principal Sudder Ameens in cases above Five Thousand Rupees in value, and from Zillah Courts.

Summary appeals from the P. S. A. in suits above 5,000 rs. lie to the S. D. A.

24. All summary appeals from the decisions of Principal Sudder Ameens, of the nature contemplated by Section 3, Regulation 26, 1814, in suits above the value of 5000 rupees shall be made direct by the parties to this [the sudder] court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Feb. 1838, par. 5.

Cases in which the provincial courts may admit summary appeals.

25. In like manner it shall be competent to a Provincial court [now the Sudder dewanny adawlut] to receive a summary appeal from the orders or decrees of the Zillah or City courts, in cases, in which the latter may have refused to admit an original suit or appeal regularly cognizable by them; or having admitted such suit or appeal, may have dismissed it, without an investigation of the merits on the ground of delay, informality, or other default.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

Summary appeals from the P. S. A. under sec. 4 and 5, reg. 2, 1806, in suits above 5000 rs., lie to the S. D. A.

26. Upon the same principle, the Court are of opinion, that summary appeals of the nature of those described in the third paragraph of Mr. Mainwaring's letter [that is, summary appeals from the decisions of Principal Sudder Ameens passed under Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 2, 1806, in cases exceeding 5000 rupees,] must follow the like course.—Con. 1148, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 11th May 1838, par. 3.

Appeals from the P. S. A. in summary and miscellaneous cases made over to him, lie to the zillah judge, and especially to the S. D. A., whatever be the amount.

27. Appeals from orders passed by a Principal Sudder Ameen in execution of his own decree in a suit above the value of 5,000 rupees, as well as appeals from orders passed in such suits under Sections 4 and 5, Regulation 2, 1806, lie direct to the Sudder dewanny adawlut; but appeals in summary and miscellaneous cases made over to a Principal Sudder Ameen under Section 8, Act XXV. 1837, lie in the first instance to the zillah Judge, and specially to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, whether the amount be above or below 5,000 rupees.—Con. 1148, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 11th May 1838.

SECTION III.

Regular Appeals from Uncovenanted Judges to the Civil Judge.

28. Any person dissatisfied with the decision of a Moonsiff, shall be at liberty to appeal from it to the Judge, provided the petition of appeal be presented within thirty days after the date on which copies of the decrees may have been furnished or tendered to the parties or to their vakeels, in conformity with Section 41 of this Regulation ; a discretionary power however is vested in the Judge of admitting appeals from decisions of the Moonsiffs although the petitions may not be presented within the prescribed period if the appellant shall shew satisfactory cause for not having before presented the petition.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 46, Cl. 1.

Mode of admitting appeals from the decisions of moonsiffs.

29. All petitions of appeal from decisions of the Moonsiffs are to be presented to the Judge of the zillah or city, in which the Moonsiffs may officiate, and the Moonsiffs are prohibited from receiving any petitions of appeal from their own decisions.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Petitions of appeal from decisions of moonsiffs to be presented to the judge.

30. All petitions of appeal from decisions of Moonsiffs are to be presented by the appellant in person, or by one of the authorized vakeels of the court ; and if the appeal shall be admitted, and the appellant and respondent shall not plead their cause in person, their respective vakeels are to be allowed the same fees as in other suits tried before the Judge.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

How such petitions are to be presented.

31. Decisions of the Moonsiffs are not to be set aside for want of form or for irregularity in their proceedings, but on the merits only.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Decisions of moonsiffs not to be set aside for want of form.

The Rules above in Section 46, Clauses 1, 2, 3 and 4, are made applicable to appeals from the Sudder Ameens by Section 73 of the same Regulation.

32. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a zillah or city Judge within the said territories in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by Section 7, Regulation 5, 1831, of the Bengal code, shall refer for trial to a Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, a suit within the competency of a Moonsiff to decide, such suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties, and to the same rules in regard to appeal as the said suit would have been subjected to had it been received and tried by the Moonsiff in the first instance.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 5.

Suits referred by zillah judge, under sec. 7, reg. 5 of 1831, to a S. A., or P. S. A. shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamps and appeals as if it had been tried by a moonsiff.

33. Provided always, that when any such suit shall have been decided by a Principal Sudder Ameen, the appeal from such decision shall lie to the zillah or city Judge, and shall be tried by him only, and that the decision of the zillah or city Judge on such appeal shall be final, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Ibid, Sect. 6. [But a special appeal will now lie to the Sudder.]

In such suits tried by the P. S. A., the appeal shall lie to the zillah or city judge, whose decisions shall be final.

34. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever a zillah or city Judge within the said territories shall refer for trial to a Principal Sudder Ameen a suit within the competency of a Sudder Ameen to decide, such suit shall be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties, and to the same rules in regard to appeal, as the said suits would have

Suits referred for trial to a P. S. A., shall, if within the competency of a S. A., be subject to the same rules in regard to stamp duties and appeal, as if they had been referred to the S. D. A., in the first instance.

been subjected to, had it been referred to and tried by the Sudder Ameen in the first instance.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 7.

35. In all suits originally decided by the Principal Sudder Ameens, an appeal shall lie to the zillah or city Judge, and a further or special appeal under the provisions of the Regulations applicable to such cases, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 28, Cl. 2.

When a suit has been transferred from Bhaugulpore to Purneah, and referred to the S. A., the appeal will lie to the Purneah court.

36. A suit instituted in zillah Bhaugulpore having been transferred to zillah Purneah under the provisions of Section 2, Act XXVII. of 1838, and by the Judge of the latter district referred to his Sudder Ameen for trial :—It was held, on a reference from the Judge of Purneah, that the appeal from the Sudder Ameen's decision will lie to the Purneah and not to the Bhaugulpore Zillah court.—Con. 1336, Cal. C. 13th and West. C. 27th May 1842.

That each of the courts of S. D. A. may direct that any original suit or appeal brought before any zillah or city court subordinate to such court of S. D. A. shall be transferred to any other zillah or city court subordinate to the same court of S. D. A.

37. It is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for each of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to direct by an order authenticated by the official signature of the Register of such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the cognizance of any original suit, or of any appeal which may be brought before any Zillah or City court, subordinate to such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, shall be transferred to any other Zillah or City court, subordinate to the same Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Act III. 1837, Sect. 1.

Whenever such transfer of any suit shall be made, the court shall record the reason of the transfer in its proceedings.

38. Provided always, that whenever either of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall, in the exercise of the power given by the preceding clause, direct the transfer of the cognizance of any suit, such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall cause the reasons for such transfer to be recorded on its proceedings.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

The petition of appeal will be examined by the sherishtadar, & if regular in point of time and stamps, will be received & filed. Any irregularity will be reported to the Judge.

39. Any person dissatisfied with the decision of a Moonsiff, Sudder Ameen or Principal Sudder Ameen, passed in an original suit, being at liberty under the rules at present in force to appeal from such decision as a matter of right to the zillah or city Judge ; all such petitions of appeal shall be immediately examined by the serishtadar, or other head Native officer of the Judge's court, and, provided the petition of appeal be written on stamped paper of the proper value, and presented to the court within the period prescribed by the Regulations, it shall be filed and numbered in the regular register books of the court. All cases in which any deviation from the existing rules may be observable will be brought to the special notice of the Judge, who will pass such orders thereon as may appear proper.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, par. 1.

The only exceptions to this rule are cases in which any deviations may be observable from the established practice.

40. The Court observe, that the only exceptions to this rule are cases, in which any deviation may be observable from the established practice of the nature above stated, and which are required by the same paragraph to be brought to the special notice of the Judge, who is to pass such orders thereon as he may think proper.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 3.

Where the petition is in every respect regular, this will be certified on the back of it.

41. Where, therefore, the petition of appeal may be in all respects regular and proper, the sherishtadar, or other head Native officer, should immediately certify to that effect, under his signature, on the back of it, and an order should at the same time be passed, directing the original record of the case, or misl, to be placed with the petition of appeal, to enable the Judge when hearing the latter under the rule laid down in clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9 of 1831, which has been extended to the courts of the zillah and city Judges by Act VII. of 1838, to refer to any part of the proceedings that he may consider necessary with a view to satisfy himself of the correctness or otherwise of the judgment appealed from. The Court observe that in such cases there can be no reason why, under ordinary circumstances, the examination of the papers by the sherishtadar should not be made, and the order, directing the original misl or record to be placed therewith, passed, on the same day as that on which the petition of appeal may be presented, or, at the farthest, on the next court day—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 4.

The misl will then be placed with the petition of appeal.

The examination of the papers by the sherishtadar, and the order regarding the original misl should be made, if possible, on the same day.

42. The zillah or city Judge, after referring to the decree in the original record of the suit, shall then admit the appeal, provided that the petition of appeal and the security required shall have been duly presented in the mode above prescribed, within the periods limited for the admission of such appeals under the existing Regulations.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 3.

The judge will then admit the appeal after referring to the original decree.

43. For the admission of a regular appeal, they observe that nothing further is requisite than for you to ascertain, that the prescribed period of appeal has not expired, and that the petition of appeal is written on paper of the prescribed stamp, (vide Circular order, No. 60, 24th August, 1832.) But after the appeal has been filed, and is brought on for hearing, either after process having been served on the respondent, or under the rules of Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, should it appear to you that the party appealing has had due notice served upon him by the Court of original jurisdiction and that the Judge presiding in that court has decided the suit agreeably to the rules of practice and to the Regulations of Government; and further that the reasons of default assigned by the appellant are frivolous or groundless; or that he has wilfully neglected to attend in the lower court; in such case, the Court are clearly of opinion, that the appeal should be dismissed. You will hence perceive that the mere fact of a case having been tried ex-parte, is not a sufficient ground for either sending it back for re-trial or for proceeding to investigate the pleas of the appellant to the original suit, provided it has been legally decided by the Court of first instance.—Cir. Ord. 12th March 1841, par. 2.

Course to be pursued by the appellate court, when the petition of appeal is found to be in all respects regular.

The mere fact that a case has been tried ex-parte, no reason for remanding it or for investigating the pleas of appellant.

44. In appeals from the decisions of the Moonsiffs or Sudder Ameens, the decisions of the zillah or city Judge shall be final, anything in the existing Regulations to the contrary notwithstanding.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 28, Cl. 1.

The decisions of zillah or city judges on appeals from the S. A. or moonsiffs to be final.

45. Resolved, that the powers vested in the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut by Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831, on the receipt of a petition of appeal from the decision of an inferior court can be exercised in those cases only in which an appeal is within the cognizance of the court under the general Regulations, and that consequently the Court cannot interfere on the receipt of petitions of appeal against the decision of a zillah or city Judge passed by the latter in appeal from the decision of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs: the decision of the zillah or city Judge being in such cases declared final by Section 28, Regulation 5, 1831.—Con. 688, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 18th May 1832. [But Act III. 1843, allows a special appeal to the Sudder.]

The S. D. A. cannot receive appeals from the decision of a zillah and city judge passed by him in appeal from the decisions of S. A. & moonsiffs. But act 3, 1843 allows a special appeal.

46. Any party who may be desirous of appealing from a judgment passed against him subsequently to the 1st February, 1815, by a Sudder Ameen, a Register, or a Judge of any Zillah or City court, from which a regular appeal may be admissible under the without an authenticated copy of the decree.

The petition need not contain the detailed reasons for the appeal.

But must be written on prescribed stamped paper and accompanied by the requisite security.

The petition of appeal presented to the Judge from the uncov. Judges need not be accompanied by a copy of the decree appealed from.

Appellants authorized to state their reasons of appeal either in the petition or in a separate pleading.

Value of the stamp on which the reasons for appealing should be written, if not stated in the petition of appeal.

The courts cannot compel appellants to file copies of decrees, and the reasons of appeal with the original petition.

Where the appellant has filed a copy of the decree with his petition of appeal, it shall be returned to him, if the appeal is rejected, and he may file this copy in a special appeal.

C. O. of 1st July, 1842, extended to the local appellate courts.

The names of all the respondents must be inserted in the pe-

Regulations, shall be at liberty to present his petition of appeal without an authenticated copy of the decree, to the Judge of the zillah or city, in which the decision may have been passed. Such petition of appeal shall not be required to contain the specific grounds, or reasons of the appeal, but may state shortly that the party being dissatisfied with the judgment, is desirous of appealing from it. The petition must be written on stamped paper according to the rates and provisions contained in Sections 13 and 14, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829,] and must be accompanied by the prescribed security for the eventual costs in appeal.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 2.

47. Held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, on a reference from the Judge of Tirhoot, that agreeably to the provisions of Clause 2, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814, petitions of appeal presented to the zillah Judge against the decision of the Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, and Moonsiff, in original suits, do not require to be accompanied by a copy of the decree appealed from.—Con. 1159, 20th July 1838.

48. The specific objections to the judgment and detailed grounds and reasons for preferring the appeal may be stated at the option of the party in the original petition of appeal, or may be subsequently filed in the court trying the appeal as a separate pleading; in the latter case such pleading is to be written on the stamped paper, and according to the rates prescribed for other pleadings in Section 17, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829.]—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 5.

49. The fifth Clause of Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814, which has not been rescinded by Regulation 10, 1829, or any other enactment, provides that the specific objections of a judgment appealed from, if not stated in the petition of appeal, shall be filed as a separate pleading. The value of the stamp to be used for such pleadings is laid down in No. 9, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829.—Con. 556, 28th May 1830, par. 2.

50. The Court direct me to observe that it requires a positive enactment to alter the rules prescribed for the admission of appeals, which allow the petitions to be filed without the mojibaat or reasons for appealing; so that they are not competent to authorize you to proceed in the manner suggested in your second paragraph, that is, to compel appellants to file copies of decrees and reasons of appeal with their petitions of appeal.—Con. 863, Cal. and West. C. 14th Feb. 1834, par. 2.

51. I am further directed to observe that in cases of the above nature, where the appellant may have filed a copy of the decree of the lower court with his petition for a regular appeal, the same should be returned to him on the rejection of his appeal; and the Court have resolved that, in cases open to a special appeal, the appellant shall be allowed to file such copy with his application for the admission of a special appeal, accompanied by a copy of the appellate court's order rejecting his appeal, and affirming the decision of the lower court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 7.

52. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces, are pleased to declare the rule contained in the Circular order, No. 211, of the 1st July, 1842, extended to the local appellate courts.—Cir. Ord. 13th April 1847.

53. The preparation of cases in the Sudder dewanny adawlut for hearing, is often delayed by the omission of parties to insert in their petition of appeal, whether presented to the local courts, or to the sudder court, the names of all the respondents, (some of whom are referred to by the words "oghyra," "and others,") and the consequent inability to issue the prescribed process on the whole of them. As such practice is opposed to the rule of Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, (Clause 3, Section 10, Regulation 5, 1803, for the Ceded Provinces) petitions of appeals deficient in the respect adverted to must be considered as incomplete, and inadmissible under the Regulations, and not to be acted upon as in any way having the effect of a petition of appeal, with reference to the calculation of the period allowed for appeal.—Cir. Ord. 1st July 1842, par. 1.

54. Whenever, therefore, in future an appellant shall omit the names of any persons who were opposed to him in the lower court, (without stating ground for such omission,) he shall be allowed to supply the defect within the period of appeal, but in the event of neglect so to do, his appeal shall be rejected as incomplete.—Ibid, par. 2.

55. The Judges and Principal Sudder Ameens, to whom such incomplete petitions of appeal may be presented for transmission to the sudder court, will apprise the parties of the foregoing orders.—Ibid, par. 3.

56. With reference to paragraph 3 of the Circular order, No. 2583, dated 1st July, 1842, I am directed to request that when a petition of appeal, in which all the respondents are not named, may be presented to you, you will certify to this court, in forwarding the appeal, that the party appealing, or his representative, has been apprised of the rule of the Circular. The certificate to this effect should form part of the proceeding of your court forwarding the petition of appeal.—Cir. Ord. 14th July 1843, par. 1.

57. The rule above alluded to is, of course, not applicable to cases in which the appellant may purposely omit to name, or in any manner indicate, as respondents, any of the parties to the original suit in the Court of first instance: as, for instance, if A. sue B. and C.;—obtain a decree against B., and appeal only from that portion of the decree of the lower court which dismisses his claim against C., not including B. amongst the respondents, it will not be necessary in such case for the appellate court to serve notice upon B.—Ibid, par. 2.

58. You are requested to draw the particular attention of the Principal Sudder Ameen to the foregoing orders.—Ibid, par. 3.

59. Held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, on a reference from the Judge of Sylhet, that the practice of estimating the value of the property claimed in appeal, by adding the costs of suit to the original amount, is improper.—Con. 1190, 14th Dec. 1838.

60. The pleadings in the courts of those officers shall be written on paper of the value of four rupees, wherever it has been or may be resolved to introduce the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, except in original suits for property not exceeding one thousand rupees in value or amount, and in cases of appeal from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs. In such cases, the pleadings shall continue to be written on stamped paper of only one rupee value.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 3.

61. I am directed to inform you that the Court are of opinion that appeals to the Judge from the decisions of Registers and Principal Sudder Ameens not being among the exception of appeal, and they must not be referred to by the words "oghyra," "& others."

If this defect be not supplied within the period of appeal, the appeal will be rejected as incomplete.

The judges and P. S. A. will apprise appellants of the foregoing orders.

When a petition of appeal is forwarded to the S. D. A. in which all the respondents are not named, the judge will certify that the appellant has been apprised of the above rule.

This rule not applicable to cases in which the appellant may purposely omit to name any of the respondents.

The P. S. A.'s attention to be drawn to this rule.

The practice of estimating the value of the property claimed, in appeal, by adding the costs of suit, is improper.

Value of the stamped paper on which pleadings are to be written.

Stamped paper on which the pleadings in appeal to the judges from the P. S. A. is to be written.

tions contained in Section 3, Regulation 7, 1832; the pleadings in all such cases should be written on stamped paper of the value of four rupees.—Con. 834, Cal. C. 4th Oct., West. C. 8th Nov. 1833, par. 2.

Sec. 2, reg. 3, 1817, rescinded.

62. Section 2, Regulation 3, 1817, is hereby rescinded; and the exemptions contained in the foregoing clause [viz. Clause 2, Section 9 of this Regulation] shall not be held applicable to any original suits of appeals of whatever amount which may be instituted in the Zillah of City courts, subsequently to the date fixed for the operation of this Regulation, whether those suits be tried by the zillah or city Judges, or be referred by them for trial to the Sudder Ameens or Registers.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 9, Cl. 3.

SECTION IV.

Institution of Regular Appeals—Miscellaneous Rules.

Where the justice of a decree has been admitted, it cannot be appealed against.

63. A party having acknowledged the justice of a decree given against him, was not allowed to impeach it in appeal, preferred subsequently to such acknowledgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Sept. 1841, vol. 7, p. 44.

In an action for damages, the appeal may lie to the sum awarded, not to the sum originally claimed.

64. In an action for damages the defendant may appeal from the decree of the lower court to the amount of the sum awarded as damages, instead of at the amount of the damages laid by the plaintiff.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th Sept. 1841, p. 18.

Where an appellant appeals against that part of the decree which dismissed part of his claim, the court may go into the whole merits of the case.

65. When one half of the amount claimed has been decreed to the plaintiff, if he do not appeal or appear as respondent on the appeal of the defendant, the court cannot amend the decree in his favour. But if he do appear, and in his reply to the petition of appeal object to that part of the decree which dismissed part of his claim, it is competent to the court to go into the whole merits of the case, as affecting both parties, and decide it in the same manner as if the plaintiff had preferred a separate appeal.—Con. 868, Cal. C. 14th Feb., West. C. 6th May 1834.

The S. D. A. restored to the file an appeal preferred jointly, but struck off on the application of one.

66. The Sudder dewanny adawlut directed the restoration to the file of the zillah Judge of an appeal preferred jointly by two appellants, but struck off on the application of one of them.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th April 1841, p. 8.

Where a judgment is given against two persons jointly, one cannot appeal for a reversal of half of the decree.

67. Where a judgment is given against two persons jointly, one of them is not competent to appeal severally for the reversal of half the decree, nor can half a judgment be appealed from when given against one individual.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Nov. 1824, vol. 3, p. 414.

The appeal of one party brings the merits of the judgment of the lower court before the superior court, which latter may amend an error without a separate & formal appeal.

68. The appeal of one party brings the merits of the judgment of the lower court before the superior court; which is competent to amend an error, of which respondent, in his answer, complains: and a separate and formal appeal, on his part, is not necessary for the purpose.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st May 1831, vol. 5, p. 120.

A judgment creditor may prefer an appeal from the judgment of the lower courts which diminishes the solvency of his debtor.

69. A judgment creditor had intervened in a case in which his debtor was defendant, to assert the right of the latter, and the liability of the contested property to satisfy his claim. His interest was held to entitle him to prefer an appeal from the judgment of the lower courts, which diminished the solvency of his debtor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th April 1833, vol. 6, p. 296.

70. A., failing in an action against B., appealed: judgment creditors of B., interested in his solvency, were allowed to defend the appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th May 1833, vol. 5, p. 304. The judgment creditors of a respondent allowed to defend an appeal.

71. On the death of a respondent, his judgment creditors, with reference to the interest they had in shewing that the contested property belonged to their debtor, were permitted to defend the appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th April 1842, vol. 7, p. 86. Case in which the judgment creditors of a respondent on his death were allowed to defend the appeal.

72. Three respondents claiming a right to succeed to certain lands, were all permitted to defend the appeal against a fourth party, but were referred to a regular suit for the purpose of establishing their individual right of succession.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Sept. 1814, vol. 2, p. 126. S. D. A. directs that a regular suit should be instituted to establish the individual right of succession.

73. A decree is passed in a Zillah court against several individuals; one of them appeals to the sudder court; the rest do not appeal; in deciding this appeal case, is the sudder court competent to take up the case as regards the whole of the persons against whom the zillah decree was passed, should it see reason to do so, or must its proceedings be confined to that part of the decree which affects the rights and interests of the individual appealing?—The Court rather incline to the latter opinion, but are desirous of learning the existing practice of the Calcutta Court before adopting it. The rule in such cases would of course be equally applicable to all other appeals, such as those tried by the Judge or Principal Sudder Ameen.—The Calcutta Court are of opinion that the appellate courts ought generally to confine themselves to the decision of the objections to the decree made by the parties who appeal; but that, where obviously requisite for the ends of justice, the jurisdiction of the appellate court may extend to all the interests affected by the decree.—Con. 997, Cal. C. 2d, West. C. 22d Jan. 1836. The appellate courts should generally confine themselves to the decision of the objections to the decree made by the party, though in case of necessity its jurisdiction may extend to all the interests affected.

74. Objections made in the lower court, by the defendant, to the valuation of the property sued for, cannot be tried by the appellate court unless a summary or regular appeal be preferred on that particular point.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 2d Nov. 1846, vol. 7, p. 286. Objections to the valuation cannot be tried, unless on a summary or regular appeal on that particular point.

SECTION V.

Periods allowed for Appeals from Uncovenanted to Zillah Judges.

75. And it is hereby enacted, that clause second, Section 2, Regulation 7, 1832, be repealed, and that in all cases in which an appeal from the orders or decision of a Principal Sudder Ameen to a zillah or city Judge is authorized by law, such appeal shall not be received, unless the same be preferred within the period of thirty days from the date of the order or decision of the said Principal Sudder Ameen, to be calculated according to the rules prescribed in clause ten, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814, or unless it shall be proved, that the appellant was prevented by circumstances beyond his control from presenting his appeal within the abovementioned period.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 9. Repeals cl. 2, sec. 2, reg. 7, 1832. Appeals from the orders of a P. S. A. to a zillah or city judge, must be preferred within 30 days from the date of the order, unless the appellant was prevented by circumstances beyond his control from presenting his appeal within that period.

76. The period for preferring an appeal from the decisions of a Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, shall be limited as heretofore to thirty days, the respective periods in this instance as in the case of the appeals specified in the two preceding clauses, being calculated according to the rule laid down in clause tenth, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 2, Cl. 3. Appeals from moonsiffs and S. A. must be preferred within 30 days.

The period of 30 days for appealing from moonsiffs' decrees will be reckoned from the date or tender of the decree.

77. The rule in Clause 3, Section 2, Regulation 7, 1832, for calculating the period within which appeals are preferable from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, not being applicable to the decrees of Moonsiffs which are not required to be written on stamped paper, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces have ruled that the period of thirty days allowed for appealing from Moonsiffs' decrees shall be reckoned from the date of delivery, or tender of decree to the parties.—Cir. Ord. 11th June 1845.

Mode of admitting appeals from the decisions of moonsiffs.

78. A discretionary power, however, is vested in the Judge of admitting appeals from decisions of the Moonsiffs, although the petitions may not be presented within the prescribed period if the appellant shall shew satisfactory cause for not having before presented the petition.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 46, Cl. 1.

No appeal is admissible from moonsiffs notwithstanding irregularity or error after the lapse of the prescribed period, without good and sufficient cause.

79. The Court observe that the provisions of Clause 6, Section 45, Regulation 23 of 1814, were considered necessary to check irregularities, in the decisions of the Moonsiffs of the old system, but are inapplicable to those appointed under Regulation 5, 1831, who are considered to be persons of superior respectability and qualifications, and have on that ground been vested with higher powers. Their decisions have been placed by the general rules contained in Section 22 of that Regulation, and Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, on the same footing as those of other courts, consequently in the opinion of the Court no appeal is admissible from them, notwithstanding any irregularity or error, after the lapse of the prescribed period unless good and sufficient cause be shewn for the delay which may have occurred in excess of that period.—Con. 979, Cal. C. 11th Sept., West. C. 2d Oct. 1835, par. 3.

A zillah judge may admit an appeal from a S. A. after the prescribed period, on good and sufficient cause.

80. A zillah Judge is vested with discretionary power to admit an appeal from the decision of a Sudder Ameen, although the petition may not have been presented within the prescribed period, if the appellant shall shew satisfactory cause for not having presented it before.—Con. 177, 18th April 1828.

In calculating period for appeal, the full number of days or weeks should be allowed, exclusive of the day on which the order is issued; the month consists of 30 days, and the year of 12 months.

81. To secure uniformity of practice regarding the mode of calculating the period within which an appeal should be lodged or any official act done, the Court desire it to be understood that when the period consists of days or weeks, the full number of days or weeks mentioned in the order should be allowed, exclusive of the day on which the order is passed; and that when a month or a year is mentioned, the month or the year should be reckoned according to the English calendar; that is to say, the month should not be invariably reckoned at thirty days, and the year should comprise twelve English calendar months.—Cir. Ord. 1st March 1844.

How the period for appealing from the orders of moonsiffs in miscellaneous cases should be calculated.

82. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Allahabad, that the period allowed for appealing from the orders of Moonsiffs in miscellaneous cases, (copies of which orders are to be granted on plain paper,) should be calculated from the date of the order appealed from, deducting the interval that may elapse between the date of the copy being applied for, and its being ready for delivery.—The Moonsiffs should always note on the copy the date of application for the copy, and that of its being ready for delivery.—Con. 1323, West. C. 26th March, Cal. C. 8th April 1842.

Period for preferring appeals, limited by the existing regulations to be calculated, from the delivery, or tender, of the decree appealed from, to the appellant or his vakeel, as directed by the regulations.

83. It is hereby provided that the period of three months, which is limited by the existing Regulations for appeals from the decisions of the Zillah and City courts to the Provincial courts of appeal, and from the decisions of the latter courts to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, as well as the period of one month limited for appeals from the decisions of the Registers and Native Commissioners to the Judges of the Zillah and City courts, and the period of six months limited for receiving appeals from the judgments of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut to His Majesty in Council, shall be calculated respectively, from the date on which a copy of the decree appealed from may have been delivered, or tendered in open court, to the appellant or his vakeel, as directed by the Regulations abovementioned; or, in the event of neither the party nor his vakeel being present to receive a copy of the decree, when ready to be delivered to him, the calculation shall be from the date on which the cause of the non-delivery of the decree may be noted upon the copy prepared for delivery, under the official signature of the Judge, Register, or Native Commissioner as provided for by the Regulations in such cases.—Reg. 2, 1805, Sect. 8.

84. The respective periods limited by the Regulations for the admission of appeals in such cases shall be calculated from the date on which the decision may have been passed; excluding from the calculation of such periods, the interval, which may have elapsed in each instance between the date on which the requisite stamped paper may have been furnished by the party to the court, and that on which the copy of the decree may have been rendered or delivered to the party in open court in the mode prescribed by the Regulations. The courts will in all cases be enabled to ascertain such interval by the endorsements on the copy of the decree required to be made under clause ninth of this section.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 10.

Limitation of time for the admission of appeals how to be calculated in such cases.

85. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your officiating Judge's letter, dated the 20th ultimo, with its Persian enclosure, stating that it has been the practice of your court, in calculating the periods limited for admitting regular appeals preferred direct to the court, not to allow the deduction of the interval, between a party furnishing the prescribed stamped paper in the Zillah court, and the copy of the decree being tendered or delivered to him, as prescribed by Clauses 7, 8, 9, 10, Section 8, Regulation 26, 1814, and stating also his opinion, that it was decidedly intended by Clause 10 to provide for the deduction in question.—In reply I am desired to observe, that the Court entirely concur with your officiating Judge in the construction which he has adopted, and that the deduction in question should be considered applicable to all, regular as well as summary and special appeals.—Con. 413, 3d March 1826.

In calculating the period of appeal, the time between the date on which the stamped paper is given in, and on which the copy of the decree was given or tendered, must be deducted, be the appeal summary, regular, or special.

86. The legal period for the admission of appeals is to be calculated exclusive of the day on which the decree or order appealed against was passed. Should the last day allowed for the appeal fall on a Sunday, it may be admitted on the following day.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th May 1843, p. 49.

The legal period of appeal is calculated exclusive of the day the decree or order was passed. If the last day falls on Sunday, the appeal will be admitted the next day.

87. It is hereby declared, that the foregoing limitations shall be strictly adhered to notwithstanding the intervention of Hindoo or Mussulman holidays, or the established vacations, within the prescribed periods for preferring appeals. When such periods however may expire during an adjournment of the court, on account of any holiday or vacation, no default shall attach to the appellant, provided his petition of appeal be presented immediately on the re-opening of the court.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 2, Cl. 4.

The intervention of holidays not to hinder the observance of the above rules.

88. Held by the majority of the Western Court, in concurrence with the majority of the Calcutta Court, that a party having applied for review of judgment, under the provisions of

On rejecting a petition for review the party is not entitled to a deduction of the time his petition was pending in the lower court in calculating the period of appeal, but the court may allow it.

Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, in cases open to appeal, but in which no appeal may have been preferred, and such application having been rejected, is not entitled of right to the deduction of the time, during which his application for review was pending before the lower court, in calculating the period allowed him under the Regulations for preferring a regular appeal from the original decision : but that where such party may plead as the reason of his not having presented his petition of appeal within the period prescribed by law, that the case was pending before the lower court or on an application for a review of judgment, it will be the duty of the appellate court to take such plea into consideration, and to admit it or not, according as, under all the circumstances of the case, it might appear just and proper, in like manner with any other cause, assigned for delay.—Con. 1127, 2d Feb. 1838.

The fact of a case having been tried ex-parte is no reason for admitting an appeal after the prescribed period.

Rule for the guidance of a collector when he considers that there is any difficulty or objection to the execution of an order received from a civil court.

89. The fact of a case having been tried ex-parte in the lower court forms no ground for admitting the defaulter to appeal after the expiration of the prescribed period.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th July 1842, p. 35.

90. With advertence to the shortness of the period allowed under the existing law for the presentation of appeals in the Civil courts, the Sudder Board of Revenue are pleased to direct that whenever a Collector shall be of opinion that there is any legal difficulty or objection to the execution of an order received from a Civil court, he shall immediately instead of replying to the court, report the circumstances for the orders of the Commissioner, forwarding at the same time a draft of the appeal which he would propose to prefer to the superior court.—Cir. Ord. Sud. Bd. Rev. 3d Jan. 1843, par. 1.

Idem.

91. Should the Collector see reason to apprehend that the time limited for an appeal will have elapsed before he can receive the orders of the Commissioner, he will at once present to the superior court a formal petition of appeal, reserving the detailed statement of his objections until he shall have been furnished with the Commissioner's instructions.—Ibid, par. 2.

SECTION VI.

Power of the Zillah Court to confirm the Decisions of the Lower Courts, or to remand them for reconsideration, without summoning the Respondent.

Rules regarding the conduct of appeals by the judge.

92. Whenever an appeal shall be preferred to a zillah or city Judge from the decision of any Moonsiff, Sudder Amoen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, it shall not be necessary to serve any process on the respondent in the first instance, and if, after the perusal of the record of the original suit and the petition of appeal in the presence of the appellant or his vakeel, the Judge shall see no reason to alter the decision appealed from, it shall be competent to him to confirm the same, and to communicate the order for confirmation, through the court from whose judgment the appeal was made to the respondent, with a view to enable such respondent to take immediate measures for the execution of the decree.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 16, Cl. 3.

The judge is not required to read thro' every paper in each case, but such part of the misl, or record, as may be necessary to satisfy him of the cor-

93. Doubts appearing to be entertained as to the sense in which the word "record" in Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5 of 1831, is to be understood ; I am directed to inform you that it has been ruled by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut that the term in question does not refer to the roobukaree of decision alone, but to the whole of the proceedings or misl. The enactment, however, was not intended to require the Judge to read through every paper in each case, but merely such part of the misl or record of the original suit as may be necessary to satisfy him of the correctness of the judgment appealed from.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 19th Aug. 1836.

rectness of the judgment.

94. It is hereby enacted, that it shall be lawful for a Judge of any Zillah or City court, within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to exercise the powers vested in a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, by Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9 of 1831, of the Bengal code.—Act VII. 1838.

Judge of zillah or city court may exercise the powers vested in a single judge of the S. D. A. by cl. 2, sec. 2, reg. 9, 1831.

95. In the trial of appeals, or on the hearing of any petition of appeal from the decision or orders of any court of inferior jurisdiction, if a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall be of opinion that no sufficient ground has been shewn to impugn the correctness or justness of such decision or order, it shall be competent to such single Judge, without reference to the order of the file, to confirm the same without requiring the attendance of the opposite party, and with or without a revision of the whole proceedings, as the nature of the case may appear to require. On the other hand, if a single Judge shall be of opinion, that the decision or order appealed against ought to be altered or reversed, as being manifestly unjust, or at variance with some Regulation in force, or in opposition to the Hindoo or Mahomedan law, or other law applicable to the case, or as having been passed without sufficient investigation of the merits, or as grounded on an assumption obviously erroneous or irrelevant with reference to the points at issue, it shall likewise be competent to a single Judge to issue an injunction pointing out the irregularity, illegality, or other defect apparent in the proceedings, decision, or order appealed against, and requiring that the court by which the same may have been held or passed shall revise the case, and proceed thereon, in such manner as may appear conformable to justice and to the Regulations.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

To confirm decisions in appeal where no sufficient ground has been shewn to impugn the decision appealed against.

Or to issue an injunction for a revision of the decision pointing out defects.

96. The Judge, as soon as practicable, and as provided in Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9 of 1831, without reference to the order of the file, should then proceed in the presence of the appellant, or his vakeel, to revise the petition of appeal and such parts of the record as he may deem necessary; and if, upon a full consideration thereof he should see no reason to impugn the correctness or justness of the decision appealed from, he should confirm the same, and forthwith communicate the order for confirmation, as directed in Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5 of 1831, through the court, from whose judgment the appeal was made, to the opposite party, with a view to enable such party to take immediate measures for the execution of the decree.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1833, par. 5.

Course to be pursued by the judge it, on a full consideration of the petition & the record, he sees no reason to impugn the decision appealed from.

97. An instance having been brought to the Court's notice in which it appears to be the practice, on the filing of a petition of appeal, for the Judge to issue a notice to the appellant requiring him, after the expiration of three days, to continue in attendance, and be present either in person or by vakeel on the day on which his petition may be taken up, under penalty of the case being dismissed or struck off the file, I am directed to request your particular attention to existing instructions, indicative of the proper course to be followed by the Judge in taking up petitions of appeal under Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5 of 1831, and Act VII. of

The judge, on the filing of the petition of appeal cannot order the appellant to attend either personally or by vakeel, on penalty of having his cause dismissed.

1838, when the petitioner may not be in attendance in person or by vakeel.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Aug. 1839, par. 1.

Course to be pursued by the judge in such cases.

Nature of the decree he will pass.

Copies of the decree to be furnished on application.

The nature of the alteration introduced by cl. 3, sec. 16, reg. 5, 1831. What is necessary to the admission of an appeal.

98. In such cases, the Court observe, the order of the Judge, instead of merely stating the appeal of the appellant to have been rejected or dismissed, should go on to declare the decree of the lower court to have been confirmed. The Court do not, however, consider it necessary for the Judge to draw out a formal decree, by which term they mean a decree containing a recapitulation of the proceedings of the Court of original jurisdiction. It will be sufficient for him to record a brief order in confirmation of the decision appealed from, in which he should confine himself to a succinct abstract of the grounds urged by the appellant against the decision of the lower court, in order that, in cases, open to a special appeal, the court to which such appeal may be preferred, may see at once whether the appellant has brought forward any new pleas, not adduced before the Judge, or merely those which have already been over-ruled by that officer in the regular appeal. As such order must, however, be looked upon in the same light, and carry with it the same force as a regular decree, copies of it, when applied for by either of the parties, should be required to be taken on stamped paper of the same size and value as prescribed for copies of decrees of the Judge's court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 6.

99. You ask whether petitions of appeal from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moon-siffs are to be considered as miscellaneous petitions, until the Judge, after the perusal of the decree and other papers, shall determine that it shall be admitted, and a notice be served on the respondent, and shall direct that the appeal be brought on the file. On this point I am directed to observe, that the rule contained in Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, alters the rules before in force no further than to allow the Judge to confirm the decision of the lower court, without calling on the respondent to attend : consequently, the same mode of practice is to be followed as heretofore, except that as no costs can be incurred by the respondent until he be summoned to answer to the petition of appeal, security for costs need not be demanded from the appellant before the respondent is called upon to answer. A previous perusal of the petition of appeal and decree is not necessary to the admission of the appeal : nothing further being required than to see that the prescribed period of appeal has not expired, and that the petition of appeal is written on paper bearing the prescribed stamp. The practice therefore adopted by you in the disposal of such petitions is erroneous.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 24th Aug. 1832.

Before the petition of appeal has been read by the judge, the appellant cannot bring additional proof of his claim.

The confirmation of the decision of the lower court prior to perusing the original proceedings, is a final dismissal of the appeal on consideration of its merits.

100. I am directed to inform you that an appellant should not be allowed to bring forward additional proof in support of his claim, before the petition of appeal and decree had been read over by the Judge.—Con. 790, West. C. 10th May, Cal. C. 7th June 1833.

101. All first appeals must be admitted as a matter of right, provided they be preferred within the period prescribed by the Regulations ; so that the confirmation of the decision of the lower court, prior to a perusal of the original proceedings, is to be considered, not as a rejection but a final dismissal of the appeal on consideration of its merits.—Con. 742, Cal. and West. C. 14th Dec. 1832.

Appeals decided under cl. 3, sec. 16, reg. 5, 1831, are regular appeals, decided on their merits after the perusal of the re-

102. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2d instant, requesting the opinion of the Court regarding cases of appeal decided under the provisions of Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831.—In reply to your first question, I am directed to inform you that appeal cases so disposed of should be viewed as regular appeals, decided on their merits after a perusal of the record, as required by the Regulation, and should be entered as such in the monthly statements.—Con. 878, West. C. 11th April, Cal. C. 2d May 1834.

103. It is incompetent to an appellate court to confirm on its merits a judgment appealed against, without having on record the objections or reasons of appeal of the appellant.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th June 1843, p. 50.

An appellate court cannot confirm on its merits a judgment appealed against without having on record the objections, or reasons of appeal, of appellant.

SECTION VII.

Rules regarding Stamps, and Vakeel's Fees, in Appeal Cases decided without summoning the Respondent.

104. With reference to the provisions of Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831, the following rules of practice are agreed to by the Court.—Con. 675, Cal. and West. C. 17th Feb. 1832, par. 1.

Rules of practice with reference to sec. 2, reg. 9, 1831.

105. The Court are of opinion that if the decision of the lower court be confirmed without the attendance of the opposite party, the appellant is not entitled to receive back any proportion of the value of the stamped paper on which his petition of appeal is written ; and that the appellant's vakeel is entitled to the whole of the fee deposited by the appellant.—Con. 675, Cal. and West. C. 17th Feb. 1832, par. 3.

Where the decision of the lower court is confirmed without the attendance of the opposite party, the appellant will not receive back the stamp, and the vakeel will receive the whole fee.

106. If the attendance of the opposite party shall be required, and the said party shall, nevertheless, file an answer to the petition of appeal through a vakeel of the court, the fee of the said vakeel shall be payable by the opposite party himself.—Ibid, par. 4.

If the attendance of the opposite party is required, and he files an answer, he must pay the vakeel.

107. If an injunction be issued for a revision of the decision, the Court are of opinion, that in conformity to the rule prescribed in Section 8, Regulation 19, 1817, the stamp duty paid by the appellant on his petition of appeal should be returned to him, and the fees of the vakeel of the appellant and respondent (if attending) limited to a sum not exceeding one-fourth of the established fee.—Ibid, par. 5.

If there be an injunction for the revision of the decree, the stamp duty will be returned, and the vakeels on both sides will receive a quarter the established fee.

108. The vakeels are entitled to the full remuneration awarded them by the Regulations in cases regularly decided on their merits under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, Section 16, Clause 3.—Con. 878, West. C. 11th April, Cal. C. 2d May 1834, par. 3.

The vakeels are entitled to full fees in cases decided on their merits under reg. 5, 1831, sec. 16, cl. 3.

109. No portion of the stamp duty should be returned in such cases.—Ibid, par. 4.

But the stamp fees will not be returned.

110. The Court having had instances before them in which the zillah Judges, on confirming in appeal the decision of the lower court without summoning the respondent, have ordered the appellant to pay the respondent's costs, and respondent's vakeel to receive from the treasury the amount of his fees in deposit, direct me to take this opportunity of observing, that such order is irregular. On this point I am desirous to call your attention to the Court's Circular letter of the 24th August, 1832, No. 60, which expressly declares that as no costs need be incurred by the respondent until he be summoned to answer the petition of appeal, it is not necessary to demand security for costs from the appellant before the respondent is called upon to answer. [Security for costs are no longer necessary. Vide Act III. 1845.]—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 8.

The zillah judges, on confirming the decision of the lower court in appeal cannot order the appellant to pay the respondent's costs, or the respondent's vakeel to receive the fee deposited.

If the respondent attends voluntarily in person, or by vakeel, he must do so at his own cost.

The cost incurred by the appellant in the appeal should be specified at the foot of the judge's order.

111. It is not, of course, intended by the foregoing remark to prohibit the attendance of the respondent either in person, or by vakeel, during the perusal of the petition of appeal in cases of the above description, but merely to point out that when he may attend of his own accord he must do so at his own cost, defraying himself any expences he may incur either in providing himself with a vakeel or otherwise, and which cannot be charged to the appellant, and any mention, therefore, in regard to the payment of costs is unnecessary ; though it would be proper to specify, at the foot of the Judge's order, the cost incurred by the appellant in the appeal, and which necessarily fall on him in the first instance, so that in the event of the decision of the Judge's court being reversed or modified on a special appeal, provision may be made for the payment of the same.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th Sept. 1838, par. 9.

SECTION VIII.

Reference of Appeals from the Decisions of Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens to Principal Sudder Ameens.

In modification of these rules, whenever the number of appeals before the judge is heavy, he may obtain permission from the S. D. A. to refer a specific number to the P. S. A.

112. In modification of this provision, however, it is hereby enacted, that it shall not be competent to a zillah or city Judge to refer any appeal for trial to a Sudder Ameen, even though he may have been specially empowered under the rule above cited ; but whenever it may appear to any such zillah or city Judge that his file is so heavy as to make it impracticable for him to dispose of all the appeals which may be pending with reasonable despatch, he shall make a special report of the case to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, soliciting permission of that authority to refer such specified number of appeals from the decisions of Moonsiffs or Sudder Ameens, as he may deem necessary for trial, to the Principal Sudder Ameen attached to his court, to be appointed under the rules prescribed in Section 17 of this Regulation, in which case it shall be competent to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to comply with the application for the transfer, and the rules prescribed in the preceding clause [Clause 1,] shall be held applicable to such appeals.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 16, Cl. 2.

The Rules thus referred to are those in Regulation 24, 1814, Section 7, Clause 4, and Section 9, Clause 4.

Rules originally passed for the trial of appeal cases by the S. A. when referred to him.

113. [Regulation 24, 1814, Section 7, Clause 4, ordains that in the trial of such appealed suits, the Sudder Ameens shall be guided by Regulation 23, 1814, Section 75, and that their decisions shall be final, unless the zillah Judge see cause to admit a second or special appeal. [Special appeals can only be admitted by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.]—Regulation 23, 1814. Section 75, directs that the Sudder Ameens shall keep a separate register of the suits thus referred to them in appeal, and not confound them with those referred to them for trial in the first instance ; and that the Sudder Ameens shall try such appeals in conformity with the rules prescribed for the trial of appeals by the zillah Judges.]

Rules regarding the trial of appeals by the register.

114. [Regulation 24, 1814, Section 9, Clause 4, ordains that the Register shall try suits referred to him in appeal by the zillah Judge, and that his decision shall be final, unless the zillah Judge should see sufficient reason for admitting a second or special appeal.]

115. The zillah and city Judges are expected, as far as may be practicable and consistent with their other duties, to revise all appeals from the decisions of the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, or to retain a certain portion of the decisions passed by each officer on their own files, with a view to maintain a proper check over their proceedings. Whenever, however, the accumulation of the petitions of appeal from the decisions of Moonsiffs and Sudder Ameens, or the general arrears of business depending in any Zillah and City court, may render it impracticable for the Judge of that court to revise these appeals with sufficient promptitude and despatch, the Judge will from time to time obtain the sanction of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, agreeably to Clause 2, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, and in the form prescribed by Circular order of 19th October, 1832, to refer, as may appear necessary and proper, a specified number of these cases to the Principal Sudder Ameen attached to his court for trial.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, par. 2.

The judge is expected as far as practicable to revise all appeals from the decisions of S. A. and moonsiffs.

When this is impracticable, he may apply to the S. D. A. for leave to refer them to the P. S. A.

116. In submitting such applications the Judge will accompany the same with a statement in the following form, and when he may have retained any original suits on his own file, he will state his reasons for so doing, instead of making them over, according to their amount or value, to the subordinate judicial functionaries of his district.

Form of statement to be submitted by the judge with such applications. When he retains original suits on his file, instead of referring them to the lower courts, he will state his reasons for so doing.

117. It is not considered by the Court indispensable that the zillah or city Judge should in every case, peruse the record of the original suit and the petition of appeal, or in any way revise the proceedings previous to the transfer of these cases to the Principal Sudder Ameen, whose judgments will be of course open to a special appeal to the Judge, provided there shall appear sufficient reason for such a proceeding, under the rules of Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814, and other provisions applicable to the admission of special appeals.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, par. 3.

But it is not indispensable that the judge should in every case peruse the record of the original suit and petition of appeal, before he transfers them to the P. S. A.

The S. A. cannot try appeals; nor can the P. S. A. unless they are transferred to him by the judge.

118. After the promulgation of Regulation 5, 1831, Sudder Ameens cannot try appeals. Nor can the Principal Sudder Ameens, unless the appeals have been transferred to those officers by the Judge with the sanction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Con. 676, 24th Feb. 1832.

Idem.

119. No appeals are cognizable by a Principal Sudder Ameen but those which may have been referred to him by the Judge with the sanction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid.

Rules to be observed by P. S. A. in the trial and decision of cases that come before them.

120. In the trial and decision of original suits and appeals referred to them, the Principal Sudder Ameen shall be guided by the rules established for the conduct of business in the courts of the Sudder Ameens. And in points not expressly provided for by those rules, they shall observe as nearly as may be practicable the rules prescribed in the Regulations for the guidance of the Zillah and City courts.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 18, Cl. 4.

A P. S. A., trying an appeal from a moonsiff, may remand the case for further investigation. Course to be pursued if the moonsiff has improperly nonsuited the case.

121. The Court are of opinion that a Principal Sudder Ameen, authorized to try appeals from the decisions of Moonsiffs, may refer a case to a Moonsiff for further investigation. Should he be of opinion that a Moonsiff has improperly nonsuited a case, he should return it to the Judge with his opinion that the Moonsiff should be directed to re-admit it and try it on its merits.—Con. 1023, Cal. C. 8th July, West. C. 5th Aug. 1836.

Rules regarding the trial of appeals from moonsiff's decision by the P. S. A.

122. It having been ruled by the Court that Principal Sudder Ameens, in trying appeals from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, referred to them by the Judge with the sanction of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, have no authority to remand the cases back to the courts by which they were originally determined, for re-trial and restoration to their former number on the file, I am directed to convey to you, for your information, and for communication to the Principal Sudder Ameens subordinate to you, the following directions.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 14th June 1839, par. 1.

When the P. S. A. is of opinion that the decision should be annulled, and the case tried de novo, he will record his opinion, and submit it to the judge.

123. Whenever, in the trial of appeals of the nature above described, a Principal Sudder Ameen may be of opinion that the decision of the lower court should be annulled, and the suit remanded, with a view to its being replaced on the original file and tried de novo, he shall record the ground of his opinion in a proceeding, and submit it with the papers of the suit for your orders, retaining it in statement No. 1 of his court.—Ibid, par. 2.

The judge, after considering the opinion of the P. S. A., will return him the case, either to be remanded to the lower court, or to be disposed of by him.

124. On the receipt of such applications, you will enter the reference under heading No. 16, column 3, Statement No. 2 of your court, and after a consideration of the grounds set forth in the proceedings of the Principal Sudder Ameen, you will return the case to that officer with directions either to remand it to the court by which it was originally decided, or to dispose of it himself.—Ibid, par. 3.

This does not preclude the P. S. A. from ordering the lower court to make further investigation.

125. This rule is not to be considered to preclude the Principal Sudder Ameen from directing the lower court to make any further investigation which he may consider requisite, with a view to his deciding the suit himself.—Ibid, par. 4.

Entry to be made by the judge in his statements when he sanctions the remanding of the case.

126. In the event of your sanctioning the remand, the case should be entered in column 9, Statement No. 1, of the Principal Sudder Ameen, and also in column 4, Statement No. 1, of the Court of first instance, as prescribed in the remarks on column 4, Statement No. 1, on the subject of "Cases remanded for re-trial," contained in the rules accompanying the Circular orders of the 21st December last.—Ibid, par. 5.

127. It having been brought to the notice of the Court, that some of the Principal Sudder Ameens, in disposing of appeals from the decisions of Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, referred to them for trial under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, have been in the habit of exercising, at their discretion, the powers vested in the Judge by Clause 3 of that Section; I am directed to inform you that it has been ruled by the two Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that Clause 3 of the section cited is not applicable to appeals referred for trial to the Principal Sudder Ameen under the preceding clause, and to request that you will prohibit the practice, if it obtains in the district under your control.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 17th March, Cal. C. 21st April 1837.

The P. S. A., in disposing of appeals referred to him, cannot exercise the powers vested in the Judge by reg. 5, 1831, sec. 16, cl. 3.

128. A Principal Sudder Ameen cannot confirm a decision in appeal without summoning the respondent.—Con. 796, West. C. 14th June, Cal. C. 5th July 1833.

A P. S. A. cannot confirm a decision in appeal without summoning the respondent.

129. In the trial of original suits and appeals, the Principal Sudder Ameens are enjoined to conform strictly to the mode of procedure directed to be observed by Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, before any exhibits are filed or witnesses summoned in support of the allegations of either of the parties.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 21.

Rules in sec. 10, reg. 26, 1814, to be observed by P. S. A.

130. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 24th ultimo, and in reply to inform you that as the provisions of Clause 2, Section 11, Regulation 2, 1821, have been extended by Section 17, Regulation 7, 1832, to Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens stationed at other places than the station of the Zillah or City court; and as it has been declared by the Circular order of 6th February, 1835, not necessary for the Judge to revise all appeals prior to their being referred for trial to a Principal Sudder Ameen; the Court are not aware of any objection to your authorizing the Principal Sudder Ameen at Furreedpore to receive appeals, as well as original suits, in the manner prescribed by the clause above cited.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 18th Sept. 1835, West. C. 22d Jan. 1836.

The P. S. A. at Furreedpore is authorized to receive appeals, as well as original suits.

SECTION IX.

Proceedings on the Hearing and Determination of Regular Appeals.

131. Such parts of the Regulations in force as require that the pleadings in appealed suits be conducted and filed in the same manner and under the same rules as pleadings in original suits, are hereby declared subject to the following modifications.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 9, Cl. 1.

Modifications of rules regarding pleadings in appeals.

132. In all regular civil suits which may be appealed subsequently to the 1st of February, 1815, to a Zillah or City court, to a Provincial court, or to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, it shall be left to the option of the respondent either to file an answer to the petition and reasons of appeal, or not, as he may judge proper; provided however that if no answer shall be filed by a respondent, it shall be competent to the court trying the appeal, in all cases, in which it may be deemed expedient, to direct the respondent to file an answer to the petition of appeal, or to any particular points in it, which may appear to require an answer or explanation.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

The respondent may file an answer to the reasons of appeal or not at his option.

Proviso.

No further pleadings beyond the answer to be admitted with certain exceptions.

133. No further pleadings beyond the answer of the respondent shall be admitted in any appealed suits, which may be instituted subsequently to the 1st February, 1815, except the duplicate of the plaint provided for by Clause first, Section 7 of this Regulation, or such supplemental pleadings as may be authorized by the court under the provisions of Clause third, Section 6 of this Regulation.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 9, Cl. 3.

Reg. 26, 1814, sec. 14, is not applicable to cases of appeal.

134. Held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, that Section 12, Regulation 26, 1814, is not applicable to cases of appeals, but only to original suits.—Con. 1191, 14th Dec. 1838.

In all appealed cases forwarded to the sadder court, the judge is strictly ordered to send up the proceeding which he is required to draw up by reg. 26, 1814, sec. 10.

135. Several instances having lately been brought to the notice of the Court of the record of appealed cases, submitted agreeably to the rule contained in Section 8, Regulation 9, 1831, being sent up without the proceeding which the Judge is required to draw up by Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, and the omission being extremely inconvenient, particularly where the appellant pleads that the Judge has omitted to receive documents tendered, or to summon witnesses named by the party; I am directed to request that you will invariably submit that proceeding in all appealed cases that you may forward to the court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Aug. 1836.

That section applies to appeals, as well as to original cases, and the judge will record the precise points at issue, and the grounds alleged by the parties.

136. You will not fail to observe, that the rules laid down in Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, apply to the trial of appeals, as well as of original suits; and you will be careful therefore in all cases to record on your proceedings the precise points at issue, and the grounds on which the parties maintained their several pleas.—Cir. Ord. 2d Oct. 1840, par. 3.

Cases in which the provincial courts of appeal are empowered to take new evidence in appeals, or to refer them back for further evidence to the zillah or city courts.

137. The Provincial courts of appeal are empowered in cases of appeals, in which it shall appear to them that the original suit has not been sufficiently investigated in the Zillah or City court, or for any other cause that may be deemed reasonable by the Provincial court, either to receive such further evidence as they may think necessary for the just determination of the suit, and to give judgment upon it; or to refer the suit back to the Zillah or City court in which it originated, accompanied by such special directions to the Judge with regard to the new evidence he is to receive respecting it, as may be deemed by the court most conducive to justice, and the convenience of the parties and witnesses. But in every case in which the Provincial courts may exercise the power above vested in them by this section, they are to enter upon the record of the trial their reasons for having exercised it. In cases in which the court may judge it proper to receive such further evidence themselves, they are empowered, according as they may deem most conducive to justice (respect being had to the nature of the cause, and the evidence,) either to examine the witnesses to be produced, vivâ voce, in open court, causing the witnesses to be first sworn, and their depositions to be reduced into writing, and signed by the deponents respectively; or, to authorize their Register to swear the witnesses and take their depositions, and to cause the deponents to sign them and to authenticate them with his signature. The Register in such case, is to examine the witnesses in the presence of both parties or their vakeels, who are to be at liberty to put any questions to the witnesses that they may think proper, and the questions, with the answers to them are in the same manner to be reduced into writing, signed, and authenticated. But if due notice be given to the parties or their vakeels, of the examination of any witness or witnesses. But in every case in which the Provincial courts may exercise the power above vested in them by this section, they are to enter upon the record of the trial their reasons for having exercised it. In cases in which the court may judge it proper to receive such further evidence themselves, they are empowered, according as they may deem most conducive to justice (respect being had to the nature of the cause, and the evidence,) either to examine the witnesses to be produced, vivâ voce, in open court, causing the witnesses to be first sworn, and their depositions to be reduced into writing, and signed by the deponents respectively; or, to authorize their Register to swear the witnesses and take their depositions, and to cause the deponents to sign them and to authenticate them with his signature. The Register in such case, is to examine the witnesses in the presence of both parties or their vakeels, who are to be at liberty to put any questions to the witnesses that they may think proper, and the questions, with the answers to them are in the same manner to be reduced into writing, signed, and authenticated. But if due notice be given to the parties or their vakeels, of the examination of any witness or witnesses before the Register, and he or they shall not attend at the time of the examination, the Register is to proceed in the examination as before directed, and the depositions are to be received as good and authentic evidence.—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 18.—Benares Reg. 9, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 18.

138. [In the trial and decision of appeals by the Zillah court or the Principal Sudder Ameen they will proceed in the same manner as far as may be applicable, and with the like powers, and authority, and subject to the same restrictions and limitations, as are prescribed for the trial and determination of original suits, and the decrees will be prepared and copies of them made, and delivered or tendered to the parties in the same manner as is directed in original suits.]

Mode in which the zillah judges and the P. S. A. will proceed in the trial and decision of appeals.

139. The petition of appeal, pleadings, depositions, and exhibits, in the Provincial courts of appeal, are to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed by the Register, in the same manner as the complaint, pleadings, depositions, and exhibits are ordered to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed, by the Register in the Zillah and City courts.—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 29.—Benares Reg. 9, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 29.

Proceedings of the provincial courts, how to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed.

140. To prevent an abuse of the above rule, and the encouragement of litigious appeals the Provincial courts of appeal in all cases wherein they may confirm the decree of a Zillah or City court, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in all cases wherein it may confirm the decree of a Provincial court, are to adjudge interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem on all sums receivable by the respondent under the decree passed in his favour, from the date of such decree, and are authorized to punish appeals which may appear to them litigious, by a fine to Government, proportionate to the condition of the party, and the circumstances of the case.—Reg. 13, 1796, Sect. 3.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 12.

Interest to be allowed on sums adjudged by the decree appealed from, if confirmed, and litigious appeals to be punished by fine.

141. If the decision shall be confirmed in appeal, the appellate court must, under Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, award interest from the date of such decree to the day of payment on the aggregate of the principal, interest, and costs awarded by the original decree.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 4th March 1836, par. 3.

Amount of interest to be awarded if the decision is confirmed in appeal.

142. As the law now stands, in cases coming under the provisions of Section 12, Regulation 3, 1793, the party fined is liable to be committed to close custody until the amount be paid, but where the fine may be imposed for a litigious appeal in conformity to Section 3, Regulation 13 of 1796, the amount, if not immediately forthcoming, should be realized under the same rules as are applicable to the execution of decrees of court.—Con. 1096, Cal. and West. C. 7th July 1837.

Where the fine of interest is imposed for a litigious appeal, under reg. 13, 1796, sec. 3, it must be realized under the rules for executing decrees of court.

143. In like manner, if the claim was dismissed by the lower, but decreed by the appellate court, interest shall be calculated on the principal sum to the date of the decision of the lower court as before, and on that consolidated sum of principal and interest, and the costs of suit to the day of payment.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 4th March 1836, par. 4.

Amount of interest to be decreed if the claim was dismissed by the lower, but decreed by the appellate court.

144. Claim by respondent to interest, during two appeals, on the amount of a zillah decree, passed in his favor, and confirmed in each appeal: claim adjudged.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th Aug. 1806, vol. 1, p. 154.

Particular case of a claim by respondent to interest during two appeals.

An appellate court cannot fine a respondent for having instituted a suit in the lower court which the appellate court deems vexatious.

145. An appellate court is not competent to impose a fine on the respondent in an appeal case for having instituted in the lower court a suit which the appellate court may consider to have been vexatious.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 25th Jan. 1833, par. 5.

SECTION X.

Dismissal of the Appeal on Default.

Court to dismiss appeals, if the appellants omit to proceed in six weeks, without shewing sufficient cause for the omission.

Reasons for the dismissal of the appeal to be recorded.

146. If the appellant in an appeal filed in the Provincial courts of appeal shall not proceed in the appeal for six weeks, the appeal is to be dismissed, unless the appellant shall show reasonable cause to the satisfaction of the court for not proceeding in it; and the court may, if they shall deem it equitable so to do, award to the respondent costs of suit. But in all such cases, the Court are to enter at large upon their proceedings the grounds upon which they may permit or refuse to allow the appellant to proceed.—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 21.—Benares Reg. 9, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 21.

Plaintiff or appellant neglecting to proceed for 6 weeks, suit or appeal to be dismissed, without previous notice, unless further time has been previously obtained on special grounds. The court shall record its reasons for giving further time, but not for refusing it.

147. It is hereby enacted, that if a plaintiff or appellant in any court shall, at any time, neglect to proceed in his suit or appeal for six weeks, the suit or appeal shall be dismissed; and it shall not be necessary to give the plaintiff or appellant any notice previous to dismissing his suit or appeal. The suit or appeal shall be dismissed as of course after the expiration of six weeks without any proceeding on the part of the court, or of the defendant, or otherwise, or assignment of any reasons, unless the plaintiff or appellant, or his representative in case of his death, upon special application, shall have previously satisfied the court of the propriety of allowing further time. The court shall record upon the proceedings the reasons at large for allowing further time in all cases in which further time may be allowed, but it shall not be necessary to specify the reasons for refusing any application for further time.—Act XXIX. 1841, Sect. 1.

Defendant or respondent to have costs if suit of appeal is dismissed.

148. And it is hereby enacted, that in all cases in which a suit or appeal is dismissed under the preceding section the court shall award to the defendant or respondent the costs he may have incurred in the suit or appeal. But such dismissal shall be no impediment to the institution of a new suit or appeal, where the party is not precluded by lapse of time, or period of appeal, or otherwise than by the mere circumstances of having instituted the suit or appeal dismissed and of such dismissal, and such dismissed suit or appeal shall not prevent lapse of time under the law of limitations being incurred.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Act 29, 1841, applies to all suits pending on the file at the promulgation of the act.

149. With reference to the provisions of Act XXIX. of 1841, I am directed to observe that you should consider them as applicable to all suits pending on your file at the date of the promulgation of the Act, in which parties may neglect to proceed with them for a period of six weeks from such date, which is to be calculated from the day of the receipt in your office of the Calcutta Gazette containing the Act, or of the printed copy of the Act itself, as the case may be. The Act will of course apply to all suits instituted after the date of its promulgation. You are requested to lose no time in making the Native Judges acquainted with the foregoing orders.—Cir. Ord. 24th Dec. 1841.

150. In cases in which the petition of appeal is filed in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the date of institution of the appeal must of course be calculated from the day of filing the petition. In cases, however, in which the petition of appeal is presented to the Court of original jurisdiction, the date of institution must be calculated under Section 3, Regulation 12, 1797, from the date of the filing of the petition of appeal in the Sudder court, that is, from the date of the petition reaching the court. From the date of institution in either case, as above stated, the appellant must, under the provisions of Section 1, Act XXIX. 1841, proceed within six weeks. The question arises, what is "proceeding with a case?" Ruled, that the appellant must be held to have defaulted, and be liable to dismissal of his appeal unless he appears in person or by vakeel, and files his reasons of appeal within the term (six weeks) allowed, and that the mere appointment of a vakeel could not suffice to bar the liability referred to.—Con. 1315, Cal. C. 31st Dec. 1842, West. C. 7th Jan. 1842.

Manner in which the date of the institution of the appeal must be calculated.

From that date the appellant must proceed within six weeks.

If the appellant does not file his reasons of appeal in six weeks from that date, he will be held to have defaulted.

The mere appointment of a vakeel does not bar the dismissal of his appeal.

151. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Cawnpore, in adoption of the rule of Circular order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 25, dated 7th January, 1831, that the interval of the established vacations must not be allowed to be deducted in the calculation of the period beyond which default is incurred under Act XXIX. of 1841.—Con. 1368, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 23d Dec. 1842.

The interval of the established vacations must not be deducted in calculating the six weeks beyond which default is incurred.

152. With advertence to that part of Act XXIX. of 1841, which makes the institution of a new appeal, after dismissal on default under Section 1, conditional on the party not being precluded by "lapse of time and period of appeal :"—It was held on a reference from the Judge of Furruckabad, that the law being general, refers to all appeals ; and that, consequently, if an appellant to the zillah Judge default under Act XXIX. 1841, and his case is, in accordance with its provisions, struck off, his appeal is lost.—Con. 1334, West. C. 15th April, Cal. C. 27th May 1842.

If an appellant default under act 29, 1841, and his case is accordingly struck off, his appeal is lost.

153. Neglect of an order issued in the progress of a suit, which is otherwise carried on, is not a default under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Reg. Cases, 10th May 1847.

Neglect of an order issued in the progress of a suit which is otherwise carried on, is not a fatal default.

154. Held that the failure of the plaintiff to reply to the answer of one defendant, within the prescribed time, while the case was proceeding without neglect or default in regard to other defendants, does not constitute the neglect involving dismissal of the action under Act XXIX. 1841.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 7th Feb. 1846, vol. 7, p. 226.

The mere failure of the plaintiff to reply to one out of many defendants, does not involve dismissal under act 29, 1841.

155. A mere omission to do a particular act, while the plaintiff is otherwise engaged in carrying on his suit, does not incur the penalty of dismissal under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th May 1847.

Mere omission to do a particular act, while the plaintiff is proceeding with his suit does not incur the penalty of dismissal under act 29, 1841.

156. A suit cannot be dismissed both on its merits, and on account of default under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st July 1847.

A suit cannot be dismissed both on its merits and on default.

157. An appeal struck off under Act XXIX. 1841, cannot be revived except within the Within what time

an appeal struck off under act 29, 1841, can be revived.

time first allowed for appealing from the decree of the court whose judgment is appealed against.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th April 1843, p. 48.

Decision of a particular case under act 29, 1841.

158. One of two appellants having demised, and his heir, after appearing, having defaulted, the zillah Judge struck off the appeal under Act XXIX. 1841. The Sudder dewanny adawlut held that the Judge was bound to hear the appeal on its merits, quoad the appellant who had not defaulted.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d July 1843, p. 50.

The absence of a pleader on leave no bar to the dismissal of a case under act 29, 1841.

159. The absence on leave of a pleader engaged in a cause, is no bar to its dismissal under Section 1, Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d Aug. 1842, p. 36.

When an appeal has been dismissed under act 29, 1841, the opposite party will not be entitled to recover his costs, if he appear without having been duly summoned as a respondent.

160. The Judge of Moradabad having enquired, whether with reference to the comprehensiveness of the wording of the provision contained in Section 2, Act XXIX. 1841, viz. "in all cases in which a suit or appeal is dismissed," costs are required to be awarded to respondents who shall have made answer and appointed a vakeel, without having been first summoned to defend an appeal, when such appeal may be dismissed under the Act in question: It was held, that the contingency of the opposite party appearing without being summoned did not appear to be comprehended in the rule adverted to by the Judge, in as much as till the said party be called on to "respond" he cannot in the strict meaning of the word be termed a "respondent." The Judge was further referred to Construction No. 675, in which the designation is accordingly restricted to "opposite party."—Con. 1327, West. C. 18th Feb., Cal. C. 4th March 1842.

When the receiver of the supreme court has been changed, it is not necessary to issue a fresh notice.

161. It is not necessary to issue, to the new officer, fresh notice in a case to which the Receiver of the Supreme Court may be a party, on change of the official incumbent.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th March 1845, p. 66.

Provision in act 29, 1841, relative to the representative of an appellant, in case of his death, who has not previously obtained farther time from the court.

162. Section 1, Act XXIX. of 1841, enacts that a "suit or appeal shall be dismissed as of course, after the expiration of six weeks without any proceeding on the part of the court or of the defendant or otherwise, or assignment of any reasons, unless the plaintiff, or appellant, or his representative in case of his death, upon special application, shall have previously satisfied the court of the propriety of allowing further time."—Cir. Ord. 5th Sept. 1845, par. 1.

The sudder courts, consider that altho' the courts are not directed to notify to the heirs of the appellant, the fact of his decease, they are not prohibited from so doing.

163. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower and North-Western Provinces, having had occasion to deliberate as to the force of these expressions, the majority are of opinion that while they are unambiguous in requiring the representative of a deceased plaintiff or appellant, previous to the expiry of the six weeks in which a certain prescribed act is to be performed, to move the court for an extension of that limited period; and while they admit of no interpretation, by which an intermediate act on the part of the court, notifying to the heirs the fact of the decease of the plaintiff or appellant, can by implication be held to be required, they are not actually prohibitory of the court doing of its own mere motion, previous to the expiry of the six weeks aforesaid, such act of procedure, as the general powers of the court enable it to do.—Ibid, par. 2.

Reasons of justice, equity and good conscience for granting the courts permission thus to notify the fact of decease to the heirs, that they may not lose the right of appeal.

164. The majority of the two Courts further observe, that, in so far as "dismissal on default" is enacted as a penalty on the defaulter, it is not just that that penalty should be inflicted in cases where there exists a moral and physical impossibility of avoiding it, viz. when the date of the plaintiff's or appellant's decease is so near the date when default would occur, and the heir or representative at the same time so distant from the place where the decease took place, as to render it an impossibility that he should fulfil the law's requirements. The right of appeal would thus, in numerous instances be lost altogether, and manifest injustice be done by the law. But it is a maxim that law never enacts an impossibility, and the Court therefore conceive it imperative upon them, in pursuance of their legal privilege to act according to justice, equity and good conscience, to prevent the injustice that would be involved in the infliction of a penalty for failure to perform an impossible act by the institution of a rule of procedure, fitted at least to remove the impossibility of the heir of a deceased party being in court, if he be desirous to prosecute the suit.—Cir. Ord. 5th Sept. 1845, par. 3.

165. The Court are pleased, therefore, to prescribe the following rule of practice for the guidance of all the judicial authorities, and to intimate for general information, that it will be followed in the Sudder dewanny adawlut henceforth: 1stly, Whenever it may be certified to a zillah or city Judge, Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen, or Moonsiff, that a plaintiff or appellant, in any original suit or appeal, pending in the court of such zillah or city Judge, or Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, has deceased, the presiding officer of such court shall be at liberty, if he deem it just and proper, to notify the fact in a publication to be affixed in his own cutcherry, and in the cutcherries of all the judicial authorities and the Collector of the district. The publication shall contain a statement of the several depending cases, in which such plaintiff or appellant was a party, and an intimation to his heirs or representatives, that, unless they attend either in person or by vakeel for the prosecution of the depending suit or appeal before a certain day, to be fixed and named in the publication, not being more than six weeks from its date, such suit or appeal will be dismissed on default under the provisions of Section 1, Act XXIX. of 1841. 2ndly, The above rule of practice shall be considered equally applicable to appeals, pending in the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, with the exception that the publication therein prescribed shall, in such cases, be affixed in the cutcherry of the Sudder court, and in the cutcherries of the several judicial authorities included in the district or districts from which the depending appeals may have been received, and that the zillah and city Judges shall, on receipt of a precept to that effect, cause the said publication to be duly affixed in the places appointed, and certify, with all practicable expedition, the due fulfilment of such order for the satisfaction of the court.—Ibid, par. 4.

166. A form of publication is annexed for general use and the civil Judges are informed, that lithographed forms of the same may be indented for on the Government lithographic press.—Ibid, par. 5.

The following rules of practice are therefore prescribed for the guidance of the judicial authorities.

1. When a plaintiff or appellant dies, the officer presiding in the court may notify the fact in a publication to be affixed in his own and other cutcherries.

Contents of the publication.

2. The same rule will apply to appeals pending in the sudder court.

Cases in which an appeal dismissed under act 29, 1841, may be re-admitted.

167. Whereas the provisions of Act XXIX. of 1841, are inconveniently severe as regards appeals, and it is expedient to mitigate the strictness thereof. It is therefore hereby enacted, that whenever an appeal in any of the courts of the East India Company in the Presidencies of Bengal or Madras, shall, after the passing of this Act, have been dismissed under the provisions of the said Act XXIX. of 1841, it shall be competent to the court which shall have dismissed such appeal to re-admit the case if the appellant shall make application for that purpose on the stamp prescribed for miscellaneous petitions, within three months after the appeal shall have been dismissed, if dismissed by the Sudder Court, and within one month after the appeal shall have been dismissed, if dismissed by any other court, and shall satisfy the court that the dismissal was occasioned by the default of his vakeel or by unavoidable accident.—Act XVI. 1845, Sect. 1.

Period for the re-admission of such appeals.

Appeals which may have been thus dismissed before the pass-

168. .And it is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to any of the said courts to re-admit any appeal which may have been dismissed before the passing of this

Act under the provisions of Act XXIX. of 1841, if the appellant shall make application for that purpose on the stamp prescribed for miscellaneous petitions, within three months after the passing of this Act, and shall satisfy the court that the dismissal was occasioned by the default of his vakcel or by unavoidable accident.—Act XVI. 1845, Sect. 2.

169. Provided always, and it is hereby enacted, that no appeal which has been re-admitted under this Act, and again dismissed under the provisions of Act XXIX. of 1841, shall be again re-admitted.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

170. An appeal lies to the zillah Judge from an order of a Principal Sudder Ameen, refusing to re-admit an appeal under Act XVI. 1845.—Rep. Sum Cases, 20th July 1846, p. 81.

171. The Sudder dewanny adawlut directed a zillah Judge to re-admit, under Act XVI. 1845, an appeal improperly dismissed by his predecessor in office under Act XXIX. 1841.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th Aug. 1846. p. 82.

SECTION XI.

Decisions of the Appellate Courts.

172. Held that an appellate court, interfering with a decree of a lower court, cannot pass any decision unfavorable to parties not appealing therefrom, and not otherwise before the appellate court, without allowing them the opportunity of urging any thing in their behalf.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Aug. 1844. vol. 7, p. 180.

173. An appellate court should not dictate to a lower court what decision it should pass.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th April 1845, vol. 7, p. 203.

174. I beg to be informed whether it is within the competency of a Judge to set aside a decision passed by any of the inferior judicial authorities in a regular suit, when any irregularity or illegality in their proceedings may be brought to his notice by either party, or may transpire incidentally in the course of executing the decree, or in any other miscellaneous proceedings held subsequently thereto.—I am directed to inform you that you are not competent summarily to cancel the decisions of inferior tribunals on the ground of illegality or irregularity, but that you should direct the parties interested to appeal therefrom even although the prescribed period for such appeals should have elapsed.—Con. 1048, Cal. C. 30th Sept., West. C. 21st Oct. 1836.

175. I am directed by the Court to request that you will invariably insert, in all decrees passed by you in appeal, the date in which the suit was referred to the subordinate court for investigation and trial. You will further be pleased to require the uncovenanted Judges, to insert the same information in their original decisions in such suits.—Cir. Ord. 14th Aug. 1840.

176. Where the judgment of the lower court is expressly affirmed in appeal, any inconsistent words, subjoined to the decretal order of the appellate court, should be treated as surplusage, benefiting or prejudicing neither party.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Aug. 1830, vol. 6 p. 62.

The S. D. A., under special circumstances, may overrule a part of the decree of a court of first instance to which no objection had been taken in the appeal stage.

177. Property on which the plaintiff had a mortgage having been sold in execution of a decree obtained by a common bond creditor, the Court held that, notwithstanding the sale, the plaintiff should sue to foreclose the mortgage, instead of for the money lent by him, the sale having made no alteration in his position as mortgage. Held, that it was competent to the Court, under special circumstances, to overrule a part of the decree of the Court of first instance, to which no objection had been taken in the appeal stage.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st July 1841, vol. 7, p. 42.

Appellate courts cannot award less than the legal rate of interest of 12 per cent.

178. Appellate courts are not competent to award less than the legal rate of interest, i. e. twelve per cent. per annum on the sum decreed by the lower court.—Con. 976, West. C. 7th Aug., Cal. C. 18th Sept. 1835.

If any irregularity be apparent in the institution of the suit or the proceedings of the lower court, an order for re-trial should issue.

179. In like manner if in hearing appeals, any irregularity in the institution of the suit, or in the proceedings of the Court of first instance, should be observed, an order for re-trial of the case without any regard to the merits thereof, should issue.—Cir. Ord. 13th Sept. 1843, par. 2.

A decree of a zillah judge reversing a decree of the P. S. A., without summoning the respondent, deemed illegal.

180. A decree of a zillah Judge, reversing a decree of the Principal Sudder Ameen without summoning the respondent, set aside as illegal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Sept. 1841, vol. 7, p. 46.

No final decree can be passed against a respondent, till he has been regularly summoned.

181. No final decision of the court can be passed against a respondent until he has been summoned in the usual course.—Con. 944, West. C. 10th April, Cal. C. 1st May 1835.

SECTION XII.

Security for Costs in Cases appealed.

It is not necessary in any appeal court to take security for costs, but the court may at its own discretion demand it.

182. Whereas, it is not now by law necessary within the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to take any security for costs in appeals before the sudder courts; and, whereas, no security for costs is now required by law in appeals from the decisions of Moonsiffs; and, whereas, it is expedient that appeals from all courts should be put in this respect upon a uniform footing: It is therefore hereby enacted, that within the said territories it shall not be necessary in any Court of appeal of the East India Company to take any security for costs, but it shall be in the discretion of every such Court of appeal to demand security for costs from the appellant or not, as it shall see fit, before the respondent is called upon to answer,—any law or Regulation to the contrary notwithstanding.—Act III. 1845.

Form of bond to be executed when security for costs in cases of appeal is demanded.

183. I am directed by the Court to transmit to you for your information and guidance, the accompanying copy of a resolution this day passed by the Court on the subject of the security for costs required to be furnished by appellants, together with a copy of the form of bond, to be executed in future by all sureties in cases of appeal. The Court are of opinion, that in appeals the appellant's surety for costs binds himself to make good the whole costs which shall be incurred by the appeal, whosoever shall stand in the place of appellant when it shall be decided: consequently, that it is unnecessary, when the death of an appellant, respondent, or surety happens pending an appeal, to incur the delay and inconvenience which would be occasioned by calling for fresh securities.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th July 1832.

What the appellant's surety binds himself to.

184. If security for costs be demanded from an appellant by a Court of appeal, in its discretion under Act III. 1845, the reasons for the same should be recorded.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th Nov. 1845, p. 72.

If security for costs be demanded, the reason must be recorded.

SECTION XIII.

Regular Appeals to the Sudder Court from Zillah Courts and of Principal Sudder Ameens in cases above 5000 Rupees.

185. I am directed to request that the Judges will abstain from recording, on petitions presented to them or in their proceedings, any remarks calculated to hold out encouragement to parties to apply to the Sudder dewanny adawlut in cases in which its interference is barred by the Regulations; the practice alluded to being manifestly improper, as having a tendency needlessly to occupy the time of the court, and to put the applicants to much unnecessary trouble and expence.—Cir. Ord. 1st April 1842.

The judges will not record on petitions presented to them any remarks which might encourage parties to apply to the S. D. A., in cases in which their interference is barred.

186. In all suits originally decided by the zillah or city Judge, an appeal shall lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 28, Cl. 3.

In all suits originally decided by the judge, an appeal to lie to the S. D. A.

187. Into whatever zillah or city the Governor General in Council, under the powers vested in him by Section 2, Regulation 5, 1831, has extended or shall see fit to extend the provisions of that Regulation, the period for preferring a regular or special appeal from the decision of the Judge of the zillah or city to the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall be the same as that prescribed by Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, for appeals from the decisions of the Provincial courts, namely three calendar months.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Appeals from zillah courts under reg. 5, 1831, must be preferred to the S. D. A. within 3 months.

188. You will be pleased to observe that under the Construction alluded to, petitions of appeal in cases of the description in question must be presented to you, (or to the Principal Sudder Ameen, as the case may require) within three months from the date of the decision, without any deduction whatever; otherwise it will not be competent to you (or to the Principal Sudder Ameen,) to certify that they have been duly preferred.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 24th Aug. 1838, par. 2.

Appeals to the S. D. A. must be presented to the judge or P. S. A. within 3 months from the date of decision.

189. And it is hereby enacted, that in all suits exceeding the amount or value specified in clause first, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, which shall, under the authority of Section 1 of this Act, be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen the appeal from the decision of such Principal Sudder Ameen shall be directed to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects according to the same rules as if it were an appeal from the decision of a zillah Judge to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and any application for a review of judgment on such decision shall be made by the said Principal Sudder Ameen directly to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects as if it were an application for a review of a decision of a zillah Judge.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 4.

In all suits exceeding the value specified in cl. 1, sec. 18, reg. 5, 1831, which shall, under section 1 of this act be referred to a P. S. A., the appeal shall lie direct to the court of S. D. A., and shall be conducted as if it were an appeal from a zillah judge, and any application for a review of the decision upon such judgment shall be made by the P. S. A., to the court of S. D. A.

190. The Court observe that in forwarding their certificates of appeal, and in making their returns to the precepts of the Court under Act XXV. 1837, the Principal Sudder Ameens are not guided by any prescribed forms, and that much want of uniformity consequently prevails.

Form in which the P. S. A. will forward the certificate of appeal and make his returns to the precepts of the S. D. A.

This diversity of practice being found inconvenient, the Court are pleased to direct that those officers shall be required to conform to the practice of the Zillah courts in this matter, substituting the Oordoo for the English language.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 10th Sept. 1839, par. 1.

In a suit laid at a sum above 5,000 rs. in which the P. S. A. decrees less than that sum, the appeal will lie to the S. D. A.

Extends sec. 4 of act 23, 1837, to all interlocutory orders passed by P. S. A.

Mode in which the petition of appeal is to be transmitted to the S. D. A.—the certificate—contents of the roobukaree, which accompanies it.

Notice to be at the same time served on the appellant.

Each petition of appeal must be forwarded with a separate certificate and roobukaree.

Printed forms of the two certificates to be submitted with petitions of appeal presented to the lower court.

Mode in which the endorsements on the certificates are to be filled up.

Each petition, roobukaree, notice, &c. to be separately numbered.

Roobukarees to be written on one side only, and the sheets to be joined together with paste or gum.

191. Held on a reference from the Judge of Mymensingh, that in a suit laid at a sum exceeding 5000 rupees, but in which the Principal Sudder Ameen gives a decree for a sum less than that amount, the appeal from the Principal Sudder Ameen's decree lies to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Con. 1282, Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 26th Aug. 1840.

192. And it is hereby enacted, that the provisions of Section 4, Act XXV. of 1837, in respect to appeals from decisions passed by Principal Sudder Ameen's, in suits of the nature specified therein, be extended to all interlocutory orders passed by those officers in such suits.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 2.

193. On the receipt of a petition of appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from a decision passed in an original suit, you will proceed as directed in Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, and transmit it as soon as practicable, with any documents that may be filed with it, to this court, under cover of a certificate, and accompanied by a roobukaree, stating the names of the parties, with an abstract of the decree, the date of the decision, and the date on which the petition of appeal was presented, and the grounds for considering it to have been filed within the prescribed period.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 28th June 1833, par. 2.

194. You will at the same time cause a written notice to be served upon the appellant, informing him that you have forwarded the petition to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and that if he do not proceed in the appeal within six weeks after it may be filed in that court, the appeal will be dismissed, unless he should shew reasonable cause to the satisfaction of the court for not having proceeded in it. This notice, with a certificate that it has been duly served, is also to be forwarded to the court.—Ibid, par. 3.

195. Each petition of appeal should be forwarded with a separate proceeding and certificate.—Ibid, par. 4.

196. I am directed by the Court to forward the accompanying printed forms of two certificates, to be submitted under the Circular order of the 28th June, 1833, with petitions of appeal presented to your court, and to request that you will be particularly careful that the roobukaree accompanying the first certificate contains all the information called for by the second paragraph of the abovementioned circular.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 24th Oct., West. C. 4th Nov. 1834, par. 1.

197. I am further directed to request, that you will with a view to prevent any mistakes or irregularities in the transmission of these papers, indent on this office for blank forms, and that you will fill up the endorsements of the certificates, when requisite, in the manner indicated on those which accompany this letter. In entering the number of enclosures, you will number each petition, roobukaree, notice, &c. separately, although it may be written on more than one sheet. Some of the zillah Judges are in the habit of forwarding roobukarees drawn out on separate sheets of paper and written on both sides : as this practice, however, renders the filing of these documents extremely inconvenient, I am directed to request, that if it obtains in your court, you will discontinue it, and in future submit in all practicable cases copies of proceedings or roobukarees on sheets of paper joined together with paste or gum, and written on one side only, attesting the junction of the sheets with your official signature.—Ibid, par. 2.

198. If any person shall deem himself aggrieved by the decree of a Provincial court of appeal that may be passed subsequent to the 1st May, 1793, for land or other real property being lakhiraj (exempted from the payment of revenue to Government) the annual produce of which shall exceed one hundred sicca rupees; or for any zemindary, independant talook, or other landed estate, being malgoozaree (paying revenue to Government) where the produce shall exceed one thousand sicca rupees per annum, or for any dependant talook, the annual produce of which shall be more than one thousand sicca rupees; and in all other cases where the decree shall be for a sum of money, or personal property, or real property not of the descriptions before mentioned, the amount or value of which shall exceed one thousand sicca rupees, such persons shall be at liberty to appeal from the decision to the Dewanny adawlut, by petition of appeal. The petition is to state (respect being had to the matter decreed) the annual produce of the land whether lakhiraj or malgoozaree, the sum of money, or the value of the property which may be decreed, the name of the person in whose favor the decree may be given, the court in which it may have been passed, when it was made, what was decreed by it, and whether the decree has been executed; and is to assign some cause, special or general, for appealing from the decision. The petition is to be accompanied with an attested copy of the decree of the Provincial court of appeal, or by a written declaration signed by the party desirous to appeal, or his vakeel, that ten days after the decision was passed, he applied to the court for a copy of the decree, and was denied it. The petition is to be presented to the court in which the decree appealed against may have been passed, or to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, within three calendar months after the day on which the decree may be given. But it shall nevertheless be permitted to such person, to prefer his petition of appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, after the expiration of the three months; and the court are authorized to admit the appeal, provided the petitioner can show just and reasonable cause to their satisfaction for not having preferred it within the limited period. But whenever the Sudder dewanny adawlut may admit or reject an appeal, which may be preferred to them after the limited time, they are to enter upon their proceedings their reasons at large for so doing, and in admitting such appeals, they are to observe the caution prescribed in clause second, Section 9, with regard to the trial or admission of the appeals therein alluded to, after the limited period.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 10.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 10, Cl. 8.

199. When the securities hereby required shall have been entered into, the senior Judge of the court is immediately to endorse on the petition in his own handwriting, the day of the month and the year in which it may be presented, and sign it with his name, and cause to be written in the margin of the record immediately opposite to the decree of the court, the word "appealed," and the court are to transmit the petition to the Sudder dewanny adawlut. The court is at the same time to direct notice to be given to the appellant in writing, that within fifteen days the proceedings held in the cause appealed will be certified to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and that if he shall not proceed in the appeal within six weeks after it may be filed in

The vakeel who presents an appeal to the lower court is bound to receive the notice prescribed by sec. 10, reg. 6, 1793, and to give a receipt for it.

200. I am directed to communicate to you, for general information, that it has been held by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Lower and Western Provinces, that the vakeel who presents to a lower court an appeal from its decision to the sudder court, is bound, as the authorized and accredited agent of the appellant, to receive the notice prescribed by Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, and Section 3, Regulation 12, 1797, and that his receipt is a sufficient service upon the appellant.—Cir. Ord. 17th Dec. 1841, par. 1.

Every vakeel will procure the insertion of a clause in his vakalutnamah empowering him to receive the notice.

201. To obviate any doubt or misconception on the point, the Court are pleased to direct that every vakeel presenting a petition of appeal of the nature contemplated, to the lower court, be required to procure the insertion, in his vakalutnamah of a clause specially empowering him to receive the prescribed notice. It is to be observed, however, that the omission of such a clause in the vakalutnamah will not absolve the vakeel from the necessity of receiving the notice for service upon his client.—Ibid, par. 2.

[The orders of the Sudder Court respecting the insertion of the names of all the respondents in the petition of appeal will be found at pages 678—679, Nos. 53 to 58.]

Rules relating to the transmission of records in cases of appeal, modified.

202. The rules contained in Section 13, Regulation 5, and in Section 11, Regulation 6, 1793, are hereby modified. In transmitting the record in cases of appeal as therein provided, it shall be sufficient for the Zillah or City, or Provincial courts, as the case may be, to transmit the original pleadings, depositions, and exhibits filed in the case with a list of them, and it shall not be necessary, in the first instance, to transmit the applications and processes for the attendance of witnesses, the returns of the nazir and other miscellaneous papers and proceedings not material to the trial of the appeal. Provided however, that it shall at all times be competent to the court to which the appeal shall have been made, to call for such miscellaneous papers, or to direct the parties to produce copies of the same, should the court think it necessary to refer to them.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 8.

Proviso.

With the petition of appeal and the prescribed certificate, the lower court will submit tabular statements according to the following form.

203. I am directed to request that in forwarding petitions of appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from the judgment of the Zillah court under the provisions of Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, modified by Section 8, Regulation 9, 1831, you will together with the petition of appeal and the prescribed certificate in every case, submit tabular statements according to the accompanying forms containing clearly and fully the several particulars therein indicated.—Cir. Ord. 26th Dec. 1846, par. 1.

Particulars which the petition of appeal should contain.

204. The petition of appeal should state the court in which the decree appealed against was passed, the date on which it was made, the proportion of the claim in regard to which the appeal may be instituted, the names of all the respondents as required by Circular order No. 21, dated 14th July, 1843, the sum of money, or the value of the property which may have been decreed, and also whether the decree have been executed or not. These particulars must be inserted in form No. 1. The information required by form No. 2 should be furnished by your office.—Ibid, par. 2.

205. Should any petition of appeal be deficient in the specification of the several points which it ought to contain, notice of the same should be given either to the petitioner or his vakeel, an acknowledgment of the service of notice be forwarded with the papers, and a note to that effect, specifying the excepted particulars be inserted in the column of "Remarks" of form No. 1. It is not of course intended that the column of remarks should be limited to this kind of information, as various circumstances which cannot be foreseen, may arise calling for remarks, the proper place for the insertion of which would be the last heading of statement No. 1.—Cir. Ord. 26th Dec. 1846, par. 3.

If a petition of appeal be deficient in the specification of these points, notice must be given to the appellant or his vakeel, and an acknowledgment of the notice forwarded.

206. You are requested to communicate the foregoing instructions to the Principal Sudder Ameen of your district.—Ibid, par. 4.

These instructions to be communicated to the P. S. A.

207. Printed forms for the use of your own office and that of the Principal Sudder Ameen in English and Urdu are herewith forwarded. Statements in both languages should be submitted with each case.

Modification of certificate No. 1.

210. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut having ruled that petitions of appeal from decisions passed by you on original suits, (or by the Principal Sudder Ameen under Act XXV. of 1837,) need not be accompanied, when presented to you, by a copy of the decree appealed against, it is necessary to modify the certificate No. 1, prescribed by the Circular order of the 24th October, 1834. I am accordingly directed to request that in using that form on such occasions, you will in future strike out the three heads noted in the margin of the first paragraph of the certificate.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 24th Aug. 1838, par. 1.

The officers of the court are directed to make no unnecessary delay in preparing the copies of decrees.

The serishtadar will endorse off the back of the copy, the information required by cl. 9, sec. 8, reg. 26, 1814.

211. The Court having observed, that the amlah of the lower courts sometimes keep the stamped paper, supplied by the parties for copies of decrees, for months, without preparing the copies required, thereby unnecessarily prolonging the period allowed for appealing; direct me to request that you will take care that the officers of your court make no unnecessary delay in the execution of this part of their duty, and that you will cause the serishtadar of your court to state, by an endorsement on the back of the copy furnished, the information required by Clause 9, Section 8, Regulation 26 of 1814, with an explanation of the cause of delay, whenever the copy cannot be furnished within one month from the date of the stamped paper being supplied.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 18th May 1832.

Papers which are to be sent to the sudder court with the petition of appeal.

212. In cases appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, copies must be kept of all papers sent down, but only material papers must be submitted such as the original pleadings, depositions and exhibits, with a list of them. Ismnuveesces, nazir's returns, and other miscellaneous papers and proceedings need not be sent until specially called for. The proceedings are not to be copied and sent down till called for by a precept.—Con. 742, 14th Dec. 1832.

Subordinate courts strictly enjoined to record the point or points at issue between the parties, and the ground of their judgment.

213. To enable the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut duly to exercise the powers hereby vested in them, the several courts of subordinate jurisdiction are strictly enjoined to conform to those parts of the Regulations in force which require them to record the point or points at issue between the parties and the grounds on which their judgment or orders may be issued.—Reg. 6, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 7.

The judge and the P. S. A. are particularly desired to submit with appealed cases, the proceeding he is required to draw up by sec. 10, reg. 26, 1814.

214. Several instances having lately been brought to the notice of the Court of the record of appealed cases, submitted agreeably to the rule contained in Section 8, Regulation 9, 1831, being sent up without the proceeding which the Judge is required to draw up by Section 10, Regulation 26, 1814, and the omission being extremely inconvenient, particularly where the appellant pleads that the Judge has omitted to receive documents tendered, or to summon witnesses named by the party ; I am directed to request that you will invariably submit that proceeding in all appealed cases that you may forward to the Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Aug. 1836.

215. It shall further be competent to a single Judge to direct that the execution of any judgment or order passed by an inferior court, in all cases in which that measure may appear to him expedient, may be stayed until a final decision has been passed thereon.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 5.

A single judge of the S. D. A. may stay execution of judgment or order until final decision.

216. You are desired, in all cases of your transmitting petitions of appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, to report at the same time, whether the decree appealed from has been carried into execution, or otherwise.—Cir. Ord. 27th April 1796.

The J. and P. S. A. will also report whether the decree appealed from has been executed, or not.

217. The Sudder dewanny having on special appeal set aside as incomplete the decisions of the Principal Sudder Ameen and zillah Judge (the Courts of first instance and first appeal,) and the Judge having then decided the case himself without further reference to the Principal Sudder Ameen, held that the appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from his decision must be considered as an appeal from a judgment in an original suit, and admissible as a matter of course.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th July 1842, p. 34.

Particular case in which an appeal to the S. D. A., from the judge in appeal, was considered an appeal from a judgment in an original suit.

218. When there are several defendants, and the decree is given against all, without any specification of what is due from each, the person who first appeals must file his petition on the full amount of the decree ; the appeal would not be admissible were he to write on it the amount of his alleged share. If it be stated in the decree, or can be gathered from the proceedings, what is the share of each defendant, each may appeal separately on his own share only. In a case where the separate liabilities of several defendants holding under distinct titles were not mentioned in the decree, the zillah Judge was directed to amend the decree by inserting the amount due by each defendant, in order that they might not be barred their individual right of appeal.—Con. 849, 20th Dec. 1833.

Case in which one of several defendants may appeal on the full amount of the decree, or, separately, on his own share only.

SECTION XIV.

Execution or Suspension of the Decrees of the Uncovenanted Judges during Appeal.

219. When an appeal may be received from the decision of a Moonsiff, the Judge is empowered to suspend the execution of the decree, provided the party appealing against it shall give good and sufficient security within a reasonable period to be fixed by the Judge to perform the decree of the court.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 46, Cl. 5.

In what cases the judge may suspend the execution of decrees passed by moonsiffs, from which an appeal may be admitted.

220. I am now directed to transmit for your information, and for the information of the city Judge, the enclosed copy of a letter from the late Judge of Allahabad, under date the 26th June, 1812, and copy of the letter written in reply on the 10th July following, containing the determination of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that execution of judgment for money or other moveable property must be stayed, if good and sufficient security be given by the appellant for performing the decision which may be passed upon the appeal.—Con. 284, 29th Dec. 1817, par. 3.

Execution of judgment for money or other moveable property to be stayed if good security be given for performing the decision passed in appeal.

The enforcement of the moonsiff's decrees may be stayed during appeal on good security being given.

221. The Court further direct me to observe, that the terms of the 4th and 6th clauses of Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, appear to imply, that if an appeal from a Moonsiff's decree be admitted, and the prescribed security for staying execution in cases of appeal be given, the enforcement of the decree should be suspended during the trial of the appeal.—Con. 284, 29th Dec. 1817, par. 5.

[The above rule (219) is extended to suits decided by Sudder Ameens, by Section 73 of the same Regulation.]

It rests with the judge to whom the appeal from the decision of the S. A. is presented to order or stay its execution.

222. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2d instant and its enclosures ; and in reply to inform you, that the Court are of opinion that the construction of Clause 3, Section 11 of Regulation 13, 1808, suggested by the Judge of Burdwan, is correct, and that it rests with the zillah Judge, to whom the appeal from a Sudder Ameen's decision is preferred, to order or stay the execution of the decision appealed from ; and not with the Register,* to whom the appeal is referred by the Judge for trial.—Con. 646, 8th July, 1831.

[These rules regarding appeal, are also extended to suits under 5000 rupees decided originally by Principal Sudder Ameens, and from which a regular appeal lies to the Zillah courts.]

SECTION XV.

Execution or Suspension of Decrees of the Zillah Courts, when appealed to the Sudder Court, in cases of Landed Property.

Persons suing for such property & obtaining a decree for it to have possession notwithstanding an appeal, on giving prescribed security.

223. Whenever a person claiming the proprietary right in land, houses, or other immoveable property, not in his possession, shall obtain a decree, upon investigation of the merits of the case (whether in a Zillah or City court, or in a Provincial court of appeal, before which the suit may be tried in the first instance) adjudging him to be the proprietor of such land, houses, or other immoveable property ; he shall obtain possession thereof in execution of such decree, notwithstanding an appeal therefrom, provided he shall give good and sufficient security, for performing the decree which may be passed upon the appeal, in a sum equal to one year's produce of the property adjudged, if malgoozary land ; or ten years' produce, if the land be lakhiraj ; or the computed value, if it be a house, or immoveable property of any other description.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 11, Cl. 2.

Unless the court to which the appeal is preferred, see cause for allowing the appellant to retain possession.

224. Provided however, that if the court, to which the appeal may be preferred in such cases, shall, in any instance, see special cause for leaving the appellant in possession during the appeal, it shall be competent to that court to order the same ; requiring, in such case, from the appellant, the same security as is above required to be given by the respondent.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Cases in which the court would be justified in restoring the

225. On the first point, the Court are of opinion, that cases may arise, in which the Provincial court of appeal [now the Sudder court] would be warranted in restoring the appellant

* Though the office of Register has been abolished, this rule is still applicable to the Principal Sudder Ameens.

to possession, after the respondent had been put in possession by the Zillah or City court, in execution of its decree : as for instance, where an appellant had regularly preferred his appeal and tendered proper security to the Zillah or City court, and moved it to suspend execution of its decree until the orders of the Provincial court could be received. Should the Zillah or City court in such circumstances, proceed to execute its decree, and it should appear to the Provincial court, that special ground existed for staying execution : and that court should further judge, that no serious inconvenience would be likely to result from again changing the possession, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut are of opinion, that the Provincial court would be warranted, under such circumstances, in restoring the appellant to possession. The Court likewise observe, that other cases might occur, in which the Provincial court would be competent to exercise the power in question ; but all of which cannot of course be foreseen and defined.—Con. 90, 12th Sept. 1811.

226. Construction 90 is not considered as precluding the lower courts from exercising a discretion to delay, for a reasonable time the execution of their own orders for giving possession to a respondent, until the receipt of instructions from the appellate court.—Con. 1077, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 15th March 1837.

The lower courts may exercise their discretion in postponing delivery of possession to the respondent pending the decision of the appellate court.

227. With regard to the first point noticed by Mr. Smith, the Court observe, that the Construction adverted to in his letter, (No. 90, of the Construction Book) had reference merely to the power vested in the appellate tribunals of restoring an appellant to possession after it had been given to a respondent by the lower court ; though as noticed by Mr. Smith, it incidentally implies a discretion on the part of the lower court to delay for a reasonable period the execution of its own order for giving possession to the respondent in case of an appeal, until the receipt of instructions from the appellate court ; and the Court do not see any thing in the clause under consideration which would preclude the exercise of a sound discretion in particular cases, which may appear to require it.—Con. 1077, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 25th March 1837, par. 2.

Idem.

228. The execution of a decree of a zillah Judge for the forfeiture of an estate to Government for the offence specified in Section 22, Regulation 6, 1795, and Section 22, Regulation 28, 1803, may be stayed during an appeal to the Provincial court on security under Section 11, Regulation 13, 1808.—Con. 198, 8th March 1815.

The execution of a decree under sec. 22, reg. 6, 1795, may be stayed, pending an appeal, on security.

229. In all cases, in which an appeal is allowed by the Regulations, the decree-holder should not be put in possession without furnishing security to abide by the ultimate award, until after the period allowed for the appeal shall have elapsed ; but that possession may, of course, be awarded on the tender of such security, under Clause 2, Section 11, Regulation 13, 1808.—Con. 536, 1st Jan. 1830, par. 2.

The decree-holder will not, without security, obtain possession till the period for appeal has elapsed.

230. With reference to the Court's further construction of the same clause under date the 1st January, 1830, paragraph 2, No. 536 of the printed Construction Book, taken in connection with the rule passed in the latter part of Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5, 1831, for enabling the respondent to take immediate measures for the execution of the decree confirmed in appeal, I wish to be informed, whether it is imperative on the courts, in all cases where the Regulations allow a second or special appeal, to demand from the decree-holder security to abide the ultimate award, in the event of his wishing to obtain possession under the decree within the period allowed for the appeal. A practice the reverse of this has hitherto prevailed in this district.—The Court remark that the second point referred by Mr. Smith, had already been provided for in the letter to the address of the Judge of Cawnpore, dated 1st January, 1830, No. 536 of the Construction Book, and they are of opinion that the rule therein laid down, which they do not consider to have been superseded by Clause 3, Section 16, Regulation 5 of 1831, or any subsequent enactment, should continue to be observed,—Con. 1077, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 25th March 1837.

Forms of security for staying the execution of decrees.

231. The forms of security for staying the execution of decrees of this court shall be invariably drawn up in future agreeably to the annexed forms, marked A. and B.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 17th Feb. 1837, par. 4.

What the surety in cases of execution of decrees, binds himself to;—on the death of appellant, respondent, or surety during appeal, fresh securities not necessary.

232. The surety for staying, or for obtaining execution of the decree appealed against, binds himself and the property pledged by his bond to satisfy the decree which shall be passed on the appeal, whosoever, at the time of its being passed, shall stand in the place of appellant or respondent; and consequently it is unnecessary, when the death of an appellant, respondent or surety happens pending an appeal, to incur the delay and inconvenience which would be occasioned by calling for fresh securities.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 13th July 1832.

Provision for cases of non-payment of revenue of disputed lands during an appeal.

233. Provided further, that whether the appellant or respondent be left in possession of lands paying revenue to Government, during an appeal, if the party in possession of such land shall neglect to pay the revenue due upon the assessment; and a public sale shall in consequence be ordered to take place; the party not in possession, by payment of the revenue due, and giving the prescribed security, previously to the sale, shall be put in immediate possession; and shall be entitled to charge the amount so paid, with interest thereupon, at the rate of one per cent. per mensem, in any adjustment of accounts which may be directed in the final decree upon the cause.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 11, Cl. 4.

Courts of appeal may in particular cases require further security during appeals, if on application of the parties, the security taken appear insufficient.

234. Notwithstanding the appellants in causes depending before the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the Provincial courts of appeal, may have entered into the security required of them by Section 2 of Regulation 13, 1796, those courts are authorized, in cases, wherein from delay in the decision, the security so given may appear insufficient, on the application of the respondent or respondents in all such cases, to require any additional security which they may deem necessary to secure the party who may have obtained a judgment in his favor, from any loss by the non-execution of such judgment during the appeal; and in default of such further security being given within a reasonable period, to be fixed for that purpose, the courts are empowered to direct the judgment in question to be carried into execution, in like manner as if no security had been given by the appellant; provided that in such cases good and sufficient security, as prescribed by the Regulations, be given by the respondent, previous to his being put in possession of the property in litigation.—Reg. 5, 1798, Sect. 3.

In default of such further security being given by appellants, the judgment to be executed.

Provided the prescribed security be given by the respondent.

SECTION XVI.

Rules regarding the Land which is the subject of Litigation during the Appeal.

235. In all instances wherein the plaintiff in a Zillah or City court may obtain a judgment in his favor for land or other real property, and the defendant appealing therefrom to a Provincial court may be left in possession of the property, under the security prescribed by the Regulations, any private transfer of such property by sale, gift, or otherwise, or any mortgage thereof which might be made by such appellant during the appeal to the Provincial court, or during a further appeal to the Court of Sudder dewan-ny adawlut, would, in the event of the judgment against him being confirmed on the appeal, be of course, and is hereby declared to be, null and void.—Reg. 5, 1798, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Any private transfer or mortgage of land, or other real property, during appeals, declared null and void, in the event of the judgment against such property being confirmed on the appeal.

236. But as malgoozary lands (lands assessed with the public revenue) are in all cases, by whomsoever possessed, held answerable for the public revenue assessed thereon, and as according to the general rules established for the collection of the public revenue, such lands, and also lakhiraj lands and other property appertaining to the same estate, may become liable to sale by Government, from the neglect of the party in possession to discharge the revenue due therefrom, by which sale, in cases of appeal, the party to whom the property of the lands is ultimately adjudged, might, notwithstanding be deprived of it, unless he purchased the same at the public sale; to obviate all doubt respecting the right of the party making the purchase in such cases, it is hereby declared, that whenever any land or other property, for which a judgment may have been obtained in any of the established Courts of justice, but which, during an appeal from such judgment by the party cast, may be left in the possession of the appellant, shall, while such appeal is pending, or before the ultimate judgment thereon be put in execution, be sold by Government to make good an arrear of the public revenue due from the appellant; and shall be purchased by the respondent; the party so purchasing, in the event of such property being finally adjudged to him on the appeal, shall be entitled to recover from the appellant, so left in possession, the full amount of his purchase money and of all expences attending the purchase so made by him, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, in addition to any other sum which may be adjudged due to him on account of the profits arising from the land, or other property in question, anterior to the sale.—Ibid.

Provision for the public sale of the property adjudged, in such cases, on account of the public assessment.

Rights of respondent in such cases, who may purchase the property sold by govt., and ultimately adjudged to him on the appeal.

237. It is further declared, that in the case above supposed, if the respondent shall not have purchased the land, or other property, sold by Government to make good an arrear of public revenue due from the appellant left in possession thereof; and if the ultimate judgment on the appeal be in favor of such respondent, he shall be entitled to recover from the appellant left in possession the amount of the purchase money paid for the property so sold, and adjudged to the respondent; with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, in addition to any other sum which may be adjudged to him on account of the profits, arising from the property so sold anterior to the sale of it;

Rights of respondent in such cases, who may not purchase the property sold by govt., and ultimately adjudged to him on the appeal.

unless the property in question shall have been, directly or indirectly, purchased by the appellant himself, or in his behalf, at the public sale ; in which case, on clear proof thereof being made by the respondent to whom such property may be ultimately adjudged, he shall be entitled to the possession thereof, and to all profits arising therefrom, as may be directed by the decree in the case, notwithstanding the fictitious sale supposed.—Reg. 5, 1798, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Enquiry into a fictitious purchase after judgment is a new cause of action.

238. The institution of an enquiry into a plea of fictitious purchase made after judgment passed, by a party to the suit, constitutes a new cause of action under Section 4, Regulation 5 of 1798, and cannot be looked upon as carrying out the original intentions of the court passing the decree.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th June 1840, p. 32.

Principles of the preceding section declared to extend to all familiar cases whether the original plaintiff or defendant or the appellant or respondent, be left in possession of the property during an appeal to the provincial courts, or to the S. D. A., or to the king in council.

239. The principles of the rules contained in the two preceding sections, are to be considered equally applicable to cases in which the plaintiff in a Zillah or City court may be put in possession of land, or other property adjudged to him, during an appeal, in consequence of the defendant's failing to give security for staying the execution of the decree as required by the Regulations ; and generally to all cases in which the possession of property may be transferred by the decree of any Court of justice ; from which decree an appeal may be depending in a superior court ; whether a Provincial court of appeal ; or the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut ; or His Majesty in Council, in the cases for which an appeal to him is provided by Regulation 16, 1797, and the Act of Parliament therein recited.—Reg. 5, 1798, Sect. 5.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 14, Cl. 1.

Provision for cases wherein neither the appellant nor respondent may be able to give the prescribed security for staying the execution of decrees during appeals.

240. As cases may occur wherein neither the appellant nor the respondent may be able to give the prescribed security for staying the execution of decrees, or for the execution thereof in favor of the plaintiff, as provided in Section 2 of Regulation 13, 1796, and Section 3 of this Regulation, it is hereby enacted, that in all such cases, the property adjudged, shall be held in attachment during the appeal, until such time as one of the parties may be able to give the required security, by the Collector of the district wherein the land may be situated, at the expence of the party who may be ultimately declared entitled thereto ; and under the provisions contained in Regulation 45, 1793, relative to the attachment of lands for sale in pursuance of decrees of the Courts of justice, as far as the same are applicable. No attachment, however, is to be made by any Collector in the cases herein supposed until he receive a precept, requiring him to make the same, from the Zillah or City court wherein the original judgment in the cause may have been passed ; which precept shall state specifically the property to be included in the attachment, and shall require the Collector to continue the same till ordered to be withdrawn by a further precept from the court, to be issued either on the prescribed security being given by one of the parties, or on the cause being finally determined.—Reg. 5, 1798, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 12, Cl. 9.

The collectors, under certain restrictions, to hold the adjudged property in attachment, in such cases.

Provisions of the two preceding sections to be held applicable to the provincial courts of appeal and S. D. A., in all cases of the continu-

241. The provisions contained in the two preceding sections, [vide the whole of Section 10, Chapter III.] shall be held equally applicable to the Provincial courts of appeal, and Sudder dewanny adawlut, in all cases wherein an attachment of property, made by a Zillah or City court, may be continued during the trial of an appeal before a Provincial court, or the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut; or in which those courts may judge it proper to order an attachment of property, in default of security being given, as required; either by the appellant or respondent in any depending appeal.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 7.

SECTION XVII.

Execution or Suspension of the Decrees of Zillah Courts, for Money or other Moveable Property, pending Appeal.

242. The provisions contained in the preceding section not being applicable to the execution of decrees for money, or other moveable property, such decrees shall be stayed, or enforced, in cases of appeal, according to the rules now established with the following addition thereto.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 12, Cl. 1.

Present rules for staying the execution of decrees during appeal, in causes for moveable property, to remain in force with the following addition.

243. The word “empowered” in Clause 5, Section 46, Regulation 23, 1814, is not considered as modifying the general rule in Section 12, Regulation 13, 1808, [that money decrees are to be stayed on security pending appeal,] which still is in full force.—Con. 272, 9th April 1817.

The general rule that money decrees may be stayed on security in appeal is still in force.

244. The security to be given by appellants for staying the execution of decrees appealed from, in cases of money, or other moveable property, or by respondents, when such decrees are carried into execution during an appeal, shall be sufficient, in addition to the amount or value adjudged, to cover the interest that may be expected to arise upon the amount payable under the decree, if confirmed in appeal, according to the provision for adjudging interest in such cases, made by Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, and Section 35, Regulation 4, 1803.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 12, Cl. 2.

What security to be given by appellants in such causes.

245. When personal bail or security for money or other property, may be demandable from a party in any original civil suit, or appeal, and he shall tender a deposit of money, or of promissory notes, or other obligations of Government, or any other sufficient money security, to the amount required, such deposit shall be accepted instead of hazirzaminny or malzaninny securities; and shall be carefully kept by the treasurer of the court; to be restored, or disposed of as the court may direct, on the termination of the cause, or whenever the purpose, for which the deposit is made, shall have been accomplished.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 8.

Promissory notes or other obligations of govt. or any other sufficient money security to be accepted, instead of hazirzaminny or malzaninny, when either of those securities may be demandable, from a party in civil suit or appeal.

Such securities to be kept by the treasurer of the court, & disposed of according to the direction of the court after the termination of the suit, or whenever the purpose of the deposit shall have been attained.

246. The Court, having had under consideration the fluctuating practice which obtains with regard to allowing or disallowing appellants to assign or mortgage their own lands in lieu of security pending the appeal, observe that Section 8, Regulation 2 of 1806, which authorizes the “deposit of money or of promissory notes or other obligations of Government or any other sufficient money security” in lieu of personal bail or security for money or other property, is silent in regard to an assignment of the land of the party assured. They further observe that the admission of such assignment is not fair to the respondent, inasmuch as it deprives him of a portion of his security; for, in the event of the appellant being cast, the respondent might always in the first instance come on his lands in satisfaction thereof ; by the formal assignment he obtains no additional hold on them, while he is deprived of the benefit arising from the security of the lands of a third party. Under these circumstances the court deem the assignment or pledge of the lands of the appellant in lieu of security inexpedient, and of but doubtful legality.—Con. 1024, Cal. C. 8th July, West. C. 12th Aug. 1836.

Execution of decrees for money, or moveable property, must be stayed during appeal, if good and sufficient security be given.

247. No discretionary power is vested in the courts, with regard to the enforcement or staying execution of decrees for money, or other moveable property, in cases of appeal ; and in such cases the decree cannot be carried into execution during the appeal, provided the appellant give good and sufficient security under the provisions of clause second, Section 12, Regulation 13, 1808, for performing the decision which may be passed upon the appeal.—Con. 106, 10th July 1812.

SECTION XVIII.

Rules regarding the Property which is pledged as Security, pending an Appeal, and the Registry of it.

Judges taking security in cases of appeal, to be careful that it be good and sufficient.

Measures to be adopted for this purpose.

248. The Judges of the several courts, by which security may be taken from appellants or respondents, for performing the decrees to be passed on appeals, are enjoined to be particularly careful in ascertaining that the security received is good and sufficient ; and they are required, in all cases, to cause the nazir or other officers, by whom the property of the sureties may be ascertained, to deliver in as accurate a statement as can be obtained of such property ; with a full report of the enquiry made respecting it ; informing him, at the same time, that he will be held responsible for any wilful misrepresentation in his statement or report.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 13.

Additional rules regarding security furnished in civil suits.

249. The following provisions are enacted in addition to the rules now in force regarding the security to be required from parties for the execution of decrees of the Civil courts, or for staying the execution of judgments in the civil suits during an appeal in such suits.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 13, Cl. 1.

Securities prohibited from transferring their rights in any immoveable property on which their security may have been accepted.

250. All persons who may enter into security bonds for the purposes mentioned in the preceding clause, are prohibited from transferring, or from causing to be transferred, by sale, gift, mortgage, or otherwise, any land or other immoveable property belonging to them, and specified in the schedule of property on which their security may have been accepted, until the object of their security shall have been completely fulfilled.—Ibid., Cl. 2.

Explaining the purport and intent of the foregoing prohibition.

251. This prohibition, however, shall not be construed to affect the legality of any private transfer or mortgage of such property, in cases in which the amount of any demand on the surety, which may eventually arise under the terms of the security bond, shall be duly discharged by him ; but it is hereby declared, that no private transfer or mortgage of such property which may be made by a surety in the interval between the execution of the security bond and the final and complete enforcement of the judgment, shall be considered to bar the prior right of the court to hold the whole or any part of such property answerable in the first instance for the amount of any demand upon it, which may eventually arise under the terms of the security bond, and which may not be duly discharged by the surety.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 13, Cl. 3.

252. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to inform you that the factory of Serecole and its dependencies, situate in zillah Jessore, was pledged by the late firm of Messrs. Palmer and Co. as security for execution passed by the court in favour of the respondent in the case of Baboo Ramchurn, mooktar of Baboo Madhub Suhai and Baboo Banees Suhai, heirs of Baboo Doarkadoss deceased, appellant, versus Joyekishen Doss, respondent, on its being appealed by Baboo Ramchurn to His Majesty in Council. The said factory being situated within the jurisdiction of the court, cannot, under the Regulations of Government, be sold or otherwise disposed of but with the aforesaid lien on it. I am therefore directed to request that in the event of its being sold or otherwise disposed of by you, you will inform the intending purchaser or person to whom it may be intended to transfer it otherwise than by sale, that the court have a lien on the factory until the appeal to the King in Council is determined in favor of the respondent, or, in the event of a decision being passed in favour of the appellant, until it shall have been fully satisfied by the respondent.—Con. 659, 30th Sept. 1831.

An indigo factory pledged to the court as security for the execution of a decree, pending an appeal to the privy council, can only be sold with the above lien upon it.

253. By Clause 2, Section 13, Regulation 26 of 1814, persons who may have become security for the execution of decrees of court, or for staying the execution of judgments in civil courts, are prohibited from transferring, or causing to be transferred, by sale, gift, or otherwise, any land or other immoveable property belonging to them, and specified in the schedule of property on which their security may have been accepted, until the object of their security shall have been completely fulfilled. Instances have however occurred in which the Court have reason to believe that persons have, unknowingly and unwillingly, purchased such property; and, under the present mode of conducting the proceedings in such cases, individuals have no effectual means of ascertaining whether the property they propose to purchase has, or has not been so pledged.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 17th Feb. 1837, par. 1.

Under the present mode of conducting the proceedings, individuals cannot ascertain whether the property they wish to purchase has been pledged or not.

254. In order therefore to enable individuals to ascertain whether property is hypothecated to the courts, and with a view to check any fraudulent transfers of the same, the Court have considered it proper to adopt the following rules:—1st, Whenever a person shall pledge his land or immoveable property to the court as security, the nazir, after he has satisfied himself of the sufficiency thereof, shall recapitulate the contents of the title deeds in his kyfeut, stating that he has inspected them and that they are sufficient, agreeably to the Persian form annexed, marked C.—2d, The nazir shall also keep a register of all property pledged as security, agreeably to the form marked D., and shall allow persons desirous of ascertaining whether any particular property is pledged to the court an opportunity of inspecting it.

Course which the nazir is therefore to pursue to prevent the fraudulent transfers of property pledged as security.

Register to be kept by the nazir of such property.

FORM D.

When lands paying revenue are pledged to the court, a notification is to be sent to the collector, that if sold for arrears, the surplus may be held in deposit.

255. Whenever estates paying revenue to Government are pledged to the Court, a notification of the same shall be made to the Collector, with a request that in the event of a sale of the same for arrears of public revenue, he will hold the surplus proceeds in deposit, notifying the same to the Court, until the Court shall report that the security is released from responsibility.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 17th Feb. 1837, par. 3.

[All these rules enacted regarding the execution or non-execution of the decrees of Zillah courts, pending an appeal to the Sudder, are by Act XXV. 1837, Section 4, declared equally applicable to suits above the value of 5000 rupees, decided by Principal Sudder Ameens when appealed to the Sudder Court.]

SECTION XIX.

Rules to be observed in the Civil Court in Cases remanded for farther investigation, or to be tried de novo.

When a suit is sent back for re-trial, the whole case is re-opened unless the order restrict the enquiry to certain points.

The sudder court may thus restrict the enquiry to particular points.

A suit ordered to be tried de novo on the original stamp fee, owing to a departure from the regulations.

Case in which a case was returned as incomplete for investigation on a particular point which the lower court had neglected to enquire into.

Zillah & city judges may send back cases for re-trial to the native judges.

When a case is remanded, the judge will call on the vakeels to state if they have received instructions and are prepared to go on with the case.

Notices which the judge is to issue, if the vakeel is not

256. When a suit is sent back for re-trial, unless the order specially restrict the enquiry to any particular point or points, the whole case must be considered as re-opened.—Con. 1073, Cal. C. 10th, West. C. 24th Feb. 1837.

257. It is competent to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in remanding a case for re-trial to the Zillah court, to restrict the enquiry to any particular point or points.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1842, vol. 7, p. 107.

258. The decree of the court below being reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut owing to the proceedings in the Zillah court not having been conducted agreeably to the Regulations, it was ordered that the suit should be tried de novo on the original stamp fees.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th July 1826, vol. 4, p. 173.

259. The defendants in an action having advanced a plea which, if correct, would have barred the jurisdiction of the court trying the suit, but which that court neglected to enquire into, the Sudder dewanny adawlut returned the case as incomplete for investigation on that point.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 21st Jan. 1841, vol. 7, p. 4.

260. The rules contained in Section 18, Regulation 4, 1803, (Section 18, Regulation 4, 1793,) must be considered applicable to the Judges of districts under Regulation 5, 1831, consequently they may send back cases for re-trial to the Native Judges.—Con. 870, West. C. 21st Feb., Cal. C. 27th March 1834.

261. On a case being remanded for further investigation, or to be tried de novo, if the vakeels employed by the parties during the original investigation of the suit be in attendance, the Judge shall immediately on the receipt of the proceedings in his office, call upon such vakeels distinctly to state, whether they have received any instructions from their clients and are prepared to go on with the case, and if their answer be in the affirmative, no further notice to the parties shall be deemed necessary.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 3d, Cal. C. 31st Aug. 1838, par. 1.

262. Where the vakeel of the plaintiff may not be in attendance, or being in attendance may plead either that he has not received any instructions from his client, or that he is not prepared to proceed with the case, the Judge shall not put off the case with a view to the vakeel making a reference to his client on the subject, but shall immediately cause a notice in either of the accompanying forms, marked A. or B., according as the case may be, to be served on the plaintiff in the usual mode, requiring him to proceed according to law; and if the plaintiff, having been duly served with a notice in the manner above stated, shall neglect to prosecute his suit, either in person or by vakeel, for the period of six weeks, calculated from the date of such service, the Judge shall proceed as directed in paragraph 2 of the Circular orders of the 5th November, 1812, declared applicable to original suits by the concluding paragraph of the same circular, by calling on the plaintiff to shew cause for his neglect, and on his failing to do so, shall dismiss his suit on default. [This Circular order of the 5th November, 1812, has been virtually repealed by Act XXIX. 1841.]

Notice to the plaintiff, A.

B.

Whereas the case of _____ versus _____, wherein you are plaintiff, which was decided by this court under date _____, having been remanded by the court of _____ for further investigation, or to be tried de novo, with directions that it be restored to its original number on the file of this court, and it appearing on enquiry that the vakeel retained by you during the previous investigation of the suit, though in attendance, has not received any instructions from you, and that he is not prepared to go on with the case, take notice, therefore, that in the event of your failing to adopt measures for the prosecution of your suit for the period of six weeks, calculated from the date of the service of this notice, the said suit will be dismissed on default, unless you shew good cause to the satisfaction of the court for not having proceeded in it.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 3d, Cal. C. 31st Aug. 1838, par. 2.

Notice to the plaintiff, B.

263. In the event of its not being found practicable to serve a notice on the plaintiff, the Judge, immediately on the receipt of the nazir's return to that effect, shall issue a proclamation, to be stuck up in the court-room, and on the outer door of the plaintiff's dwelling-house, or in some conspicuous place in the village where he resides, in either of the abovementioned forms, according as the one or the other may be applicable, requiring him to proceed according to law; and if the plaintiff shall fail to prosecute his suit, either in person or by vakeel, for the period of six weeks, calculated from the date of the publication, in the prescribed mode of such proclamation, the Judge shall proceed to dispose of the case in the manner laid down in the Circular order above quoted.—Ibid, par. 3.

Proclamation to be issued if notice cannot be served on the plaintiff.

D.

Notice, D.

Whereas the case of _____ versus _____, wherein you are defendant, which was decided by this court under date _____, having been remanded by the court of _____ for further investigation, or to be tried de novo, with directions that it be restored to its original number on the file of this court, and it appearing on enquiry that the vakeel retained by you during the previous investigation of the suit, though in attendance, has not received any instructions from you, and that he is not prepared to go on with the case, take notice, therefore, that in the event of your failing to adopt measures on or before the _____ to make answer in the said suit, the court will proceed to try the same ex-parte, and will give judgment in the same manner as if you had appeared, answered, and entered into proof.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 3d, Cal. C. 31st Aug. 1838, par. 4.

The vakeels originally employed in the suit cannot be exempted from conducting it on its being remanded. They are not entitled to any extra fee for this additional labor.

265. Nothing in the foregoing rules shall be understood as exempting the vakeels, employed during the original investigation of a suit, from conducting the same on its return for further enquiry or to be tried anew, provided such should be the wish of the parties by whom they may have been retained, it being expressly declared by Section 34, Regulation 27 of 1814, that the vakeels are to make all motions, and do all acts that may be requisite relative to any suit in which they may have been entertained, not only during the trial of the suit, but after a decision shall have been passed, until the final judgment shall have been enforced; nor are the vakeels, engaged during the original investigation of a case entitled, under the Regulations, to any additional fee for the extra labor that may be imposed upon them in the further enquiry, or re-trial of the suit, the original fee being considered a full remuneration for their services until the case has been finally disposed of, and the courts should therefore strictly abstain from awarding them any additional compensation on such account.—Ibid, par. 5.

In a remanded case, the S. D. A. refunded the institution fee, and limited the vakeel to a half fee.

266. Where a case was remanded, on appeal, to the lower court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut refunded the whole of the institution fee, and limited the remuneration of the vakeel to one-half.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 22d Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 342.

267. A question having arisen, in regard to cases remanded back for re-trial, as to the competency of the court, to which they may be so referred, to adjudge the costs of the prior investigation inclusive of the costs of appeal, in addition to those incurred in the re-trial of the case, when no order may have been passed upon that point by the appellate court; I am directed to inform you that, with a view to ensure uniformity of proceeding in this respect, and to remove any doubts which might be entertained on the subject, the Court have been pleased to resolve, as a general rule, which they will observe in their future practice, that the order of the appellate court, remanding back a suit for re-trial, shall specify that the court to which it may be so referred, shall pass such order as may appear to it just and proper, subject to appeal in respect to the payment as well of its own costs, as of those already incurred by the parties in the progress of the suit through the different courts before which it may have been brought since the date of the original action; unless any special reasons should exist rendering it equitable, in the judgment of the appellate court, that the costs incurred up to the date of its decision should be borne either by one of the parties, or by the parties respectively, in which case the appellate court will direct the payment of the same accordingly.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 4th Nov. 1836.

The court to which the suit is remanded will adjudge the costs of all the courts; unless it should appear to the appellate court that the costs should be borne by one of the parties, or by them respectively.

268. A Principal Sudder Ameen trying a suit sent back by the Sudder dewanny adawlut for re-trial is competent to adjudge the costs of all the courts in such manner as may appear just, his order being of course open to appeal.—Con. 1037, Cal. C. 10th Aug., West. C. 2d Sept. 1836.

Idem.

269. I am further directed to take this opportunity of noticing to you that cases of the above nature should invariably receive the earliest attention of the courts to which they may have been remanded, and no time should be lost in giving effect to the Court's orders, either for making further enquiry or re-trying the case. The Court observe that there are still several cases of this description pending on the files of some of the courts, which, with reference to the date on which they were returned, should long since have been disposed of; and they direct me to inform you that they will expect to receive from you, at the close of the current year, a full explanation of the causes which may have prevented the decision of any such cases, remaining undisposed of at that time, specifying the dates on which they were received back, and the measures since taken to prepare them for decision, a note should also be given in the monthly statements shewing the progress made subsequent to the date of the last report, towards the determination of any cases of the nature of those in question, which may be depending before yourself, or the courts subordinate to you.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th July 1837, par. 2.

Cases remanded should receive the earliest attention of the courts. Any cause of delay to be distinctly explained.

270. Cases remanded for further investigation, or to be tried de novo, are to be entered according to the years of their original institution, and not under those in which they were sent back. The date of the order remanding such cases, as well as that on which they reached the court to which they may have been remanded, should be given in the column of remarks together with a brief report of the measures adopted since their return to get them ready for hearing. An explanation is also to be given in the same column of the causes of delay in disposing of any cases which may have been pending, at the close of the month or year to which the statement may relate, for a longer period than a twelvemonth.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

A return marked as below No. 4, to be submitted every month.

271. I am directed by the Court to request, that you will submit regularly every month to this office, a return drawn out agreeably to the enclosed form, marked No. 4, commencing from the 1st proximo.—Cir. Ord. 19th March 1841, par. 1.

It will shew the number of suits sent back by the zillah & city judges every month to the uncov. judges.

272. The return will show the number of suits sent back every month by the zillah or city Judges to the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Amcens and Moonsiffs for re-trial. The different headings have been made to correspond with the provisions of Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831, extended to zillah and city Judges by Act VII. of 1838; thus enabling the Court to ascertain the specific grounds on which the judgments appealed against have been considered to be erroneous and defective.—Ibid, par. 2.

This return will enable the zillah and city judges, and the superior authorities to form an accurate opinion of the character and qualifications of the uncov. judges.

273. It appears to the Court, that this return will enable the zillah and city Judges, as well as the superior authorities to form a very correct opinion of the character, intelligence and legal qualifications of the several uncovenanted Judges placed under their control; and as the returns will be carefully examined by the court, and will be invariably referred to in the preparation of the annual civil report, they rely confidently on your exertions to have the same prepared with the greatest possible care.—Ibid, par. 3.

A similar return will be prepared of cases remanded by the S. D. A. to the zillah and city judges, and P. S. A.

274. I am directed to inform you, that a similar return will be prepared in this office of the judgments sent back by order of the Court to the zillah and city Judges, and Principal Sudder Ameens for revision.

275. The Court, having had occasion to notice the absence of explanation in the last column of the statement of cases remanded by the lower courts, prescribed by the Circular order, No. 142, dated the 19th March, 1841, desire me to request that you will, in future, show distinctly the causes which appeared to you to render a further investigation requisite.—Cir. Ord. 23d Aug. 1844.

The zillah and city judges will distinctly explain in their statement, the causes which rendered the further investigation requisite.

SECTION XX.

Review of Judgment by the Zillah Judge.

276. Any persons considering themselves aggrieved by a decree passed in a regular civil suit, or appeal by a Zillah, City, or Provincial court, from which decree no further appeal may have been admitted by a superior court, and who, from the discovery of new matter or evidence which was not within their knowledge, or could not be adduced by them at the time when the decree was passed, or from any other good and sufficient reason, may be desirous of obtaining a review of the judgment passed against them, are at liberty to present a petition for this purpose to the court, in which the decree in question may have been passed; such petition shall be written on stamped paper of the value prescribed in Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, and shall be presented within the period of three calendar months, from the delivery or tender of the decree, which period shall be calculated according to the provisions of clause eleventh of Section 8 of this Regulation.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

Provisions regarding the mode of applying for permission to review judgments from which no appeal shall have been preferred.

277. A plea of insanity set up by the plaintiff, not having been investigated, a review was admitted and the case sent back for a new trial.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th July 1822, vol. 3, p. 162.

Review of judgment admitted when a plea of insanity was not investigated.

278. A claim to birt mahabraminee having been dismissed, a review of judgment was admitted on a suspicion that the pundit, on whose vyavastha the special appeal was decided, had taken a bribe to induce him to give a favorable answer. But it appearing that his exposition of the law was correct, the judgment was confirmed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1825, vol. 4, p. 70.

Review of judgment admitted when the pundit was suspected of having taken a bribe to give a favorable answer.

279. Review admitted ex-parte on the ground of obvious error, without summoning the opposite party to shew cause.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th July 1833, vol. 5, p. 307.

Review of judgment admitted on the ground of obvious error.

280. The rejection by the Sudder dewanny adawlut of an application for a special appeal against a decision of a lower court does not bar a review of judgment by such court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th Aug. 1847.

Review of judgment not barred by the S. D. A. rejecting a special appeal.

281. According to the provisions of Regulation 26, 1814, a special appeal cannot be granted from a decision on the ground of its awarding, to an auction purchaser, possession of certain lands, which lands, not being specified among the auction papers and in the plaint under the denomination given them in the decree, are apparently different from those claimed; but this is a sufficient ground for recommending a review.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th April 1816, vol. 2, p. 176.

Particular case which may form a sufficient ground for recommending a review of judgment.

S. D. A. cannot direct a zillah or city judge to review his order passed in an appeal from the S. A.

Idem.

A summary appeal does not lie to the S. D. A. from the order of a zillah judge rejecting an application for reviewing his judgment.

Reasons on which an application for reviewing a summary order was rejected.

Summary suits open to a review of judgment.

Miscellaneous cases open to a review of judgment.

The order of a zillah judge dismissing a suit on default open to a review of judgment.

Provisions regarding the mode of applying for permission to review judgments from which no appeal shall have been preferred.

Provision for empowering the S. D. A. to grant a review.

282. It is not competent to the Sudder dewanny adawlut to direct a zillah Judge to review his order passed in an appeal, regular or special, from the decision of the Sudder Ameen.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Feb. 1841, p. 3.

283. A zillah Judge having rejected an application for a re-hearing of his own judgment in an appeal from the Sudder Ameen, held that the Sudder dewanny adawlut had no jurisdiction in the case.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 5th Jan. 1842, p. 21.

284. A summary appeal does not lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from the order of a zillah Judge, rejecting an application for a review of his own judgment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Jan. 1842, p. 22.

285. An application for review of a summary order rejected, without enquiry into its merits, because, first, a copy of the order complained of had not been filed with the petition of review, and, secondly, because no reason was given for the delay in making the application.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th April 1842, p. 28.

286. The terms of the clause referred to in the margin [viz. Regulation 26, 1814, Section 4, Clause 2,] apply to "regular suits," but the Court has decided that the spirit of the rule is also applicable to "summary suits."—Con. 216, 27th July 1815.

287. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Behar, that the spirit of Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, is applicable to miscellaneous cases.—Con. 1249, Cal. C. 13th Sept., West. C. 4th Oct. 1839.

288. Held, that the order of a zillah Judge dismissing a suit on default, or without any investigation of its merits, is open to review under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814.—Con. 1269, West. C. 3d Jan., Cal. C. 7th Feb. 1840.

289. The courts are nevertheless authorized to admit applications for a review after the period abovementioned, provided that the parties preferring the same shall be able to shew just and reasonable cause to the satisfaction of the court for not having preferred such application within the limited period; in such case, however, the courts are enjoined to proceed with caution, and to state at large upon the proceedings, their reasons for admitting such applications after the limited period. If the courts shall be of opinion, that there are not any sufficient grounds for a review, they shall reject the petition, and their order to that effect shall be final; but if on the contrary, they shall be of opinion, that the review desired is necessary to correct an evident error, or omission, or is otherwise requisite for the ends of justice, they shall report the same to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, transmitting at the same time, a statement of the grounds of their opinion, with a copy of the petition presented to them, and a copy of the decree passed in the case.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

290. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in cases referred to them under the preceding clause, as well as in all cases, in which a petition may be presented to them for a revision of their own judgments, which may not have been appealed to the King in Council, (or though appealed, the proceedings in which may not have been transmitted to the King in Council,) are authorized to grant the review desired, if upon a consideration of the reasons stated, the circumstances of the case shall appear in justice to require it.

The Sudder dewanny adawlut shall record on their proceedings the grounds upon which a review may be granted by them in each instance, and shall issue any instructions regarding the admission or rejection of new evidence in the case, which they may deem just and proper.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 4, Cl. 3.

291. Whereas, it is expedient that the decisions of Courts of justice and the reasons for the decision should be written and signed by the Judge at the time of pronouncing his decision, and in the vernacular language of the Judge. It is hereby enacted, that in all the Presidencies so much of all decrees as consists of the points to be decided, the decision thereon and the reasons for the decision, and all injunctions for the revision of decrees in regular suits, and all orders for reviews of judgment, which shall be passed by Judges of the Sudder courts, or by Judges of Zillah and City courts, or by subordinate or Assistant Judges of zillahs, shall be written originally in English, and signed by the Judge or Judges at the time of pronouncing such decision and orders; and shall be translated into the vernacular language, commonly used in the court wherein the suit to which the decree or order relates, shall have been instituted; and the translation shall be incorporated in the decree.—Act XII. 1843, Sect. 1.

In decrees of sudder court, &c. the points to be decided, the decision, and reason thereof, injunctions for revision of decrees, and orders for review of judgment, shall be written in English and signed by the judges, and afterwards translated into the vernacular language, &c.

292. The order of a Zillah or City court, or of a Provincial court, or of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, rejecting the petition for a review in the first instance, or of the latter court refusing to sanction a review when applied for by a lower court, shall not be construed to preclude the party from instituting a regular appeal, (if the case be appealable) in a competent court, subject to the conditions and rules prescribed by the Regulations in force for the admission of such appeals.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 4, Cl. 4.

The orders rejecting applications for a review not to bar the right of a party to prefer a regular appeal.

293. An instance having been brought to the notice of the Court, of a Judge erroneously conceiving himself authorized, under Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, to review his orders without the previous permission of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in cases in which the application for review may have been presented within the period of three months from the date of the order; I am directed to request, that if such has been the practice in your court, you will abstain from it in future.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Dec. 1834.

A judge cannot review his own orders without permission of the S. D. A.

294. This applies particularly to applications from civil Judges for permission to review their judgments. Such applications should not be made unless the Judge has fully satisfied himself that a review is necessary for the ends of justice; and the grounds on which he has come to that conclusion should be distinctly stated in the letter. If, for instance, the plea be the discovery of new matter or evidence which was not within the knowledge of the party, or could not be adduced by him at the time when judgment was passed; the manner in which the new matter was discovered, and the cause of the inability of the party to produce the evidence in proper time, with the proof of the fact, should be clearly detailed, as well as the effect which the new matter or evidence would have in impeaching the propriety of the judgment. It is not intended by the foregoing remark to define all the grounds on which a review may be admitted, but to shew the nature of the information required by the Court, to enable them to judge of the necessity or otherwise of a compliance with the recommendation.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 27th Nov. 1835, par. 3.

Grounds on which the zillah and city judge should apply for permission to review his own judgment.

Information which the zillah and city judge is to give in the margin of the report he submits with the application to review his own judgment.

295. The Court request that whenever the Judges in the lower provinces may have occasion to submit an application, for permission to review a former judgment, they will state, in Thus: 1. Date of decree or order.

2. Date on which the decree or order was tendered or delivered.

3. Date on which petition seeking review was presented.

4. Value of stamped paper on which said petition is engrossed.

the margin of the report, which they are required by paragraph 3 of the Circular orders Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 160, dated 27th November, 1835, to forward, the date on which the decree or copy of order, revision of which is sought, was delivered or tendered to the applicants, the date on which the petition soliciting review was presented, and the value of the stamped paper on which the said petition is engrossed. It has not unfrequently happened that, owing to the absence of information on the last head in the copies of papers submitted, a reference to the local Judge has been necessitated, with a view of ascertaining whether the provisions of Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 2 of 1825, have been observed; the precautional measure hereby prescribed will obviate the necessity of such references while the insertion of the particulars mentioned will impose but little, if any, additional trouble on the Judges.—Cir. Ord. 6th Sept. 1843.

Value of the stamped paper on which petitions to the S. D. A. for a review of the order rejecting applications for a review of judge must be written.

296. Whereas it has been customary for parties petitioning for review of orders rejecting applications for a review of judgment to write their petition on stamped paper prescribed for miscellaneous petitions, viz. two rupees' value, on the plea that three months have not elapsed since the date of the order to be reviewed; and whereas such petition, being in fact a second petition on the same subject, ought to be governed by the rules applicable to the petitions for a review in the first instance: it is resolved, that every and each such petition, provided it be presented within three calendar months from the delivery or tender of the decree appealed against, may be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees: but, if preferred after the expiration of that period, all such petitions must be written on stamped paper prescribed in article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, with reference to the amount or order of the property adjudged against the party desiring the review; in like manner as if a regular appeal were preferred from such judgment, as required by clause 1st, Section 2, Regulation 2, 1825.—Con. 842, Cal. C. 1st, West. C. 29th Nov. 1833.

Such petitions in all practicable cases to be received and disposed of by the judge who passed the decision, subject to the regular course of appeal.

297. It being [It is] the obvious intention of the rules referred to, that application for a review of judgment made in pursuance thereof, should, as far as practicable, be received and disposed of by the Judge or Judges who may have passed the decision; subject to the regular course of appeal, if the case be appealable to a superior court.—Reg. 2, 1825, Sect. 3.

Cases in which the officiating judge may receive and act upon applications for reviewing the judgment of his predecessor, absent on leave for more than six months.

298. It having been ruled by the court that in cases where a zillah or city Judge may have obtained, and availed himself of leave of absence for a period exceeding six months, and there may be a reasonable probability of his remaining absent in excess of that period, it is competent to his successor, under the terms of Section 3, Regulation 2 of 1825, to receive and act upon any application which may be presented to him for a review of such Judge's decision without waiting for the expiration of the term of six months, I am directed to communicate the same to you as a rule of practice for your future guidance and observance on occasions of the nature referred to.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June 1839, par. 1.

The judge will state the grounds which exist for not suppos-

299. You will be careful, whenever there may be occasion to apply for authority to admit a review of judgment under the above circumstances, to state the particular grounds that exist for supposing that the Judge who passed the decision will not return until after six months shall have expired from his departure, in order that the superior court may be enabled to form an accurate opinion as to the propriety or otherwise of granting the review prayed for.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June 1839, par. 2.

300. If the zillah Judge dismissed the suit of the plaintiff on the strength of a decree of the Provincial court, and the latter decree should afterwards be reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, this would be a good ground for the zillah Judge to apply for permission to review his judgment, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut would grant it. Had the plaintiff's claim been dismissed by a Sudder Ameen on the strength of a decree of the zillah Judge, subsequently reversed by the Provincial court, the plaintiff might apply for a summary appeal under Section 3, Regulation 26, 1814, as from a dismissal without an investigation of the merits of the case; or had he preferred a regular appeal, the fact stated would have been sufficient to authorize the admission of it, notwithstanding the expiration of the period allowed by the Regulations.—Con. 551, 7th May 1830.

301. On a reference from the Judge of Tirhoot, it was held by the Calcutta Court, in concurrence with the Western Court, that a judgment passed by an additional Judge during the time he officiated for the Judge of the district, is to be reviewed by the former if still attached to the district, and not by the Judge.—Con. 1123, 29th Dec. 1837.

302. Doubts have been entertained whether in a case in which the court has rejected an application for a special appeal from the decision of the zillah Judge in appeal from the original decision of a Principal Sudder Ameen; or in a case in which the court, under the power vested in them by Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831, have confirmed the original decision of a zillah Judge; the last order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut or the decision of the zillah Judge, is to be considered as the judgment which is open to review under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 26 of 1814.—The Court are of opinion that as in the first instance no appeal has been admitted from the judgment of the zillah Judge, the Judge may, under the circumstances stated in Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 15, 1814, apply for permission to review his decision.—When, on the other hand, the Sudder court has confirmed a decision under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 9, 1831, the order is to all intents and purposes a judgment, open to review by it (the Sudder court) only.—Con. 1057, Cal. C. 11th, West. C. 25th Nov. 1836, par. 3.

Case in which the zillah judge would have good ground for applying to the S. D. A. for leave to review his judgment.

A judgment passed by an additional judge while he officiated as judge, will be reviewed by him if still attached to the district, and not by the judge.

Particular decision of the S. D. A. relative to applications for a review of judgment.

SECTION XXI.

Review of Judgment by the Zillah Court—Stamps.

303. Such part of the second clause of Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, as provides that the petition for a review of judgment, in the cases therein mentioned, shall be written on stamped paper of the value prescribed in Section 18, Regulation 1. 1814. [viz. now, the stamp ordained for miscellaneous petitions in Regulation 10, 1829, Article 7, Schedule B,] shall after the promulgation of the present Regulation be considered applicable only to petitions for a review of judgment, which may be presented, as required by the clause above noticed, within the period of three calendar months from the delivery of tender of the decree. Whenever the petition for a review of judgment may be pro-

Such part of cl. 2, sec. 4, reg. 26, 1814, as directs that petitions for a review of judgment shall be written on stamped paper of a prescribed value declared applicable only to petitions presented within a specified period.

After which period they are to be written on the stamped paper, prescribed by sec. 13, reg. 1, 1814, but in case the petitioner be a pauper, the provisions of reg. 28, 1814, are declared applicable.

presented after that period, it shall be written upon the stamped paper prescribed in Section 13, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, the stamp ordained for complaints and petitions of appeal in Regulation 10, 1829, Article 8, Schedule B,] with reference to the amount or value of the property adjudged against the party desiring the revision ; in like manner as if a regular appeal were preferred from such judgment ; unless the party desiring the review be a pauper, in which case the provisions relative to pauper appellants, contained in Regulation 28, 1814, shall be held applicable.—Reg. 2, 1825, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Value of the stamp on which a petition for a review of an order remanding a case for irregularity, must be engrossed.

304. Held, by a majority of the two Courts, that a case, without trial of the merits, being remanded for irregularity, either party being desirous of a review of that order, after the expiration of three months, must move the court by a petition, engrossed on a stamp of the value prescribed for petitions given after the period of three months by Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 2, 1825.—Con. 1375, West. C. 31st Jan., Cal. C. 24th Feb. 1843.

Petitioners whose petitions may be rejected not entitled to receive back the amount of the prescribed stamped paper duty, but the courts empowered in special cases to order a refund of any portion not exceeding three-fourths of it.

305. If the petition for a review of judgment, presented after the promulgation of this Regulation, shall be rejected by the court receiving the same, as not containing sufficient grounds for the review desired, the petitioner shall not be entitled to receive back the amount of the stamp duty, paid for the paper on which the petition may have been written ; but in the event of its having been written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 13, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829,] the court, rejecting the petition, is vested with a discretionary authority (as in the case of special appeals, under the fifth clause of Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814,) in any particular instance, wherein the forfeiture of the entire stamp duty may appear excessive, on due consideration of the circumstances of the case, to order the refund of any portion thereof, not exceeding three-fourths of the total amount, from the public treasury.—Reg. 2, 1825, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Courts empowered to impose a proportionate fine in cases where petitions are found to be groundless or litigious.

306. When the rejected petition may have been written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, article 7, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829,] and shall be found by the court rejecting it, groundless and litigious ; so as to merit a fine, in addition to the small stamp duty paid in conformity with that section, the court is authorized and required (as in the case of litigious summary appeals, by the tenth clause of Section 3, Regulation 29, 1814,) to impose such fine as may be proportionate to the circumstances of the case, and the condition of the party, not exceeding the amount of the stamp duty which would have been payable if the petition had been written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 13, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829.].—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Courts after reviewing the case of a petitioner to pass such orders relative to the stamped duty paid by him as may appear just and equitable.

307. When the petition for a review of judgment may be admitted, the court reviewing the case, will, on deciding it, pass such order relative to the stamp duty paid by the petitioner, as may appear just and proper ; whether for his reimbursement by the opposite party as part of the costs of suit ; or for the refund of any portion of it, not exceeding three-fourths, by Government.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

Though a petition for a review of judgment may be received

308. The enhanced cost attending the presentation of a petition after lapse of three months, is merely with reference to such delay, and the probable inconveniences that may attend it ; and the court, to whom the petition for a review may be presented, is competent to reject it on any ground; it not being requisite, according to the rule contained in Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, to admit a review, unless the parties preferring applications for the same shall be able to shew just and reasonable ground to the satisfaction of the court, for not having preferred such application within the limited period.—Con. 490, 15th Dec. 1828.

on full stamp after three months from the decree, the court is not constrained to receive it without just and reasonable ground for the delay.

309. It was resolved, with the concurrence of the Calcutta Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, that documents filed with applications for a review of judgment under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 26 of 1814, should be considered as exhibits, and made liable as such, to the rule contained in Article 5, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829, in the same manner as if they had been filed or entered on the proceedings of the original suit, or when it was before the court in appeal, whether regular or special.—Con. 1058, Cal. C. 21st Oct., West. C. 18th Nov. 1836.

Documents filed with petitions for a review of judgment are considered as exhibits and liable to stamp duty.

SECTION XXII.

Review of Judgment by Principal Sudder Ameens.

310. The rule contained in clause second, Section 4 of the aforesaid Regulation, [Regulation 26, 1814,] relative to the review of judgments, shall be held applicable to original suits and appeals tried by Principal Sudder Ameens.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 19, Cl. 1.

Review of judgment how to be applied to original suits and appeals tried by P. S. A.

311. If the Principal Sudder Ameen shall be of opinion that the review applied for ought to be admitted, he shall report the case to the zillah or city Judge, who is authorized to grant permission under the same rules as are prescribed by the existing Regulations in cases where similar applications may be made to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, Cl. 2.

Rules regarding review of judgments by P. S. A.

312. The Court are pleased to intimate, for the guidance of the Judges and Principal Sudder Ameens, that the liability of orders, passed by Principal Sudder Ameens in appeal, to be revised in special appeal by the Sudder dewanny adawlut only, does not debar the zillah Judges from receiving and disposing of applications for permission to review such orders in exercise of the authority expressly conferred upon them by Clause 2, Section 19, Regulation 5, 1831.—Cir. Ord. 4th April 1845.

The liability of the orders of the P. S. A. passed in appeal to be revised in special appeal by the S. D. A. does not prevent the judge's disposing of applications to review such orders.

313. The order of a zillah Judge dissenting from a Principal Sudder Ameen as to the propriety of a review of the latter's judgment on a reference made under Clause 2, Section 19, Regulation 5, 1831, is final, and not open to revision on appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Con. 1294, Cal. C. 14th, West. C. 28th May 1841.

The order of a zillah J. refusing to allow P. S. A. to review his judgment is not open to appeal.

314. The order of a zillah Judge refusing to allow a Principal Sudder Ameen to review his judgment, is final.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 23d June 1841, p. 12.

Idem.

315. All applications, for reviews of judgment in suits decided by the Principal Sudder Ameen, will be made direct to that officer, who will proceed agreeably to Section 19, Regulation 5, 1831, and when recommended to be admitted in suits above the value of 5000 rupees,

Applications for a review of his orders will be made to the P. S. A., and in cases above 5000 Rs.

he will refer them to the S. D. A.

the Principal Sudder Ameen will forward the application direct to this court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Feb. 1838, par. 7.

In all suits exceeding the value specified in cl. 1, sec. 18, reg. 5, 1831, which shall, under sec. 1 of this act, be referred to a P. S. A., the appeal shall be direct to the court of S. D. A., and shall be conducted as if it were an appeal from a zillah judge, and any application for a review of the decision upon such judgment shall be made by the P. S. A., to the court of S. D. A.

316. And it is hereby enacted, that in all suits exceeding the amount or value specified in clause first, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, which shall, under the authority of Section 1 of this Act, be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen, the appeal from the decision of such Principal Sudder Ameen shall be direct to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects according to the same rules as if it were an appeal from the decision of a zillah Judge to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and any application for a review of judgment on such decision shall be made by the said Principal Sudder Ameen directly to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects as if it were an application for a review of a decision of a zillah Judge.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 4.

Rules 298 and 299 of this chapter applicable to P. S. A.

317. I am desired to add that the above rule and observations [Rules 298 and 299 of this Chapter] are equally applicable to the court of the Principal Sudder Ameen, to whom you are requested to make known the purport of these orders.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 7th June 1839, par. 3.

SECTION XXIII.

Appeal on an Award of Arbitration.

Petitions of appeal from decisions founded on awards of arbitrators, to be dismissed with costs.

318. If a petition of appeal shall be preferred against the decision of any Zillah or City court founded on an award of arbitration, it is to be dismissed with costs, unless it be fully proved to the satisfaction of the court by the oaths of two credible witnesses, that the arbitrators have been guilty of gross corruption, or partiality, in the cause in which they have made the award.—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 28.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 6.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 28.

Exception to the rule.

Appeals against decisions founded on award of arbitration not to be dismissed without having been admitted.

319. Appeals against decisions founded upon award of arbitration not to be dismissed, under Section 28, Regulation 5, 1793, without having been admitted. See proceedings in case of Davepersaud Sein v. Indrajeet Sing.—Con. 48, 18th Sept. 1809.

An appeal from a decision founded on the award of an arbitrator may be admitted without proof of corruption or partiality.

320. By Section 28, Regulation 5, 1793, an appeal from a decision founded on the award of arbitrators may be admitted without, in the first instance, requiring proof of their corruption or partiality.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th May 1809, vol. 1, p. 288.

When an appeal is made from the decree of a zillah court founded on an award of arbitrators and said to be guilty of corruption, interest will be awarded, if the appeal is dismissed.

321. In the case of an appeal to the Provincial court from the decree of a Zillah court founded on the award of arbitrators alleged to have been guilty of partiality and corruption, should the charge not be proved, and the appeal be dismissed, interest should be awarded from the date of the zillah decree, under the general rule contained in Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, even though the Provincial court did not go into the merits of the case.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th Nov. 1810, vol. 1, p. 312.

The judge's order for the execution of a private award not open to appeal—the only mode in which it can be set aside.

322. The order of a zillah Judge for the execution of a private award of arbitration is not open to appeal. The award can only be set aside on proof, in a regular suit, that the arbitrators have been guilty of partiality or corruption.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th Jan. 1820, vol. 3, p. 4.

CHAPTER VIII.

EXECUTION OF DECREES.

SECTION I.

General Rules for the Execution of Decrees.

1. The Zillah and City courts, the Provincial courts, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall not be required to carry into execution any decree, which may be passed in original suits, or in appeals, subsequently to the 1st of February, 1815, except in conformity with the following rules and provisions.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 15, Cl. 4.

Courts not bound to execute decrees (except in conformity to the following rules) passed subsequently to the 1st of February, 1815.

2. Any party who may be desirous of obtaining the execution of a decree passed subsequently to the 1st of February, 1815, shall appear either in person or by an authorized pleader before the court by whom such decree may have been passed, or if the decree shall have been passed by a Sudder Ameen, before the zillah or city Judge, and shall present a petition written on the stamped paper prescribed in Section 18, Regulation 1, 1814, [now, Regulation 10, 1829,] praying for the execution of the decree.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Parties desiring to have their decrees enforced, to present a petition to the court.

3. The petition shall state the number of the suit, the names of the parties, the date and substance of the decree, whether any appeal has been preferred or admitted from the decision, and whether any and what adjustment of the matter in dispute has been made between the parties subsequently to the decree; it shall further contain a statement of the specific amount due to the petitioner under the decree, whether on account of costs of suit, or otherwise, and the name of the individual, or individuals, against whom the enforcement of the decree is solicited.—Ibid, Cl. 6.

What the petition is to contain.

4. Much delay taking place and inconvenience being sustained by the omission of decree-holders to specify, in the petition presented by them to the Civil courts suing out execution of their decrees, the various particulars enjoined in Clause 6, Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814, the Court are pleased to promulgate the following rules of practice for general information, and to direct that the Judges forward a copy of them to each of the subordinate courts of their respective districts, with instructions to make them as public as possible.—Cir. Ord. 22d April 1842, par. 1.

Decree-holders will specify in their petition, the various particulars enjoined in reg. 26, 1814, sec. 15, cl. 6.

5. It is to be explained that the rules have equal application to petitions suing out execution of decrees of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Zillah and the inferior courts.*—Ibid, par. 2.

The rules apply equally to petitions for execution of the decrees of the S. D. A. & the lower courts.

* Clause 4, Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814; Section 22, Regulation 5, 1831; Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832.

Any petition presented otherwise than in conformity with these rules will be put into the office without farther order recorded on it.

6. Whereas, the rule in Clause 6, Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814, requiring the statement of certain particulars by decree-holders, in the petitions suing out execution of their decrees presented to the several courts, is not generally observed, and its enforcement is requisite, the following instructions are promulgated for general information by the Court, and any petition hereafter presented otherwise than in conformity thereto, will be put into the office without any further order recorded on it.—Cir. Ord. 22d April 1842.

Stamped paper on which the petition for executing a decree must be written.

7. Every decree-holder desirous of suing out execution of his decree, whether a pauper or otherwise, must write his petition on paper of the value prescribed for the court by which the decree may have been passed ; viz. in the Moonsiff's court on plain paper, in the Sudder Ameen's, Principal Sudder Ameen's and Zillah court, on eight anna stamp, and in the Sudder dewanny adawlut on paper value two rupees.—Ibid, Rule 1.

Tabular statement to be given at the head of every such petition.

8. Each petition suing out execution is to have written, at its head, a tabular statement according to the form, and containing the particulars noted below :

Tabular form to be given at the head of every petition suing out execution of a decree.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7*	8
Number of the suit.	Names of the parties.	Date of the decree.	Subject of decree, that is, thing decreed.	Appeal preferred or admitted from the decision.	Any and what adjustment of the matter in dispute since the decree.	Statement of the specific amount due to the petitioner under the decree.	Name of the individual against whom the enforcement of the decree is asked.
1	Seetaram, plaintiff, appellant, vs. Ramshee, &c. defendants, respondents.	1st January 1841.	Possession of mouzah Ramnugur, &c. with mesne profits or rupees 2000 principal and interest.	Not appealed.	No adjustment.	3200 rupees.	Ramshee Perashadee Loil, &c.

Particulars required when the decree-holder moves for the issue of process of arrest, or for the sale of property.

9. When the decree-holder may move for the issue of process of arrest against the opposite party, he will mention in the body of the petition presented to the local court (whether the court by which such decree may have been passed, or to which its execution may be referred) the residence of such party, and where the process of arrest is to be issued. When he may move for the sale of property, a schedule of the property, and where it is to be found, must be given at the foot of the statement, as well as the boundaries of any house, garden, or tract of land included in the schedule.—Ibid, Rule 3.

* At the foot of the petition, the different items of which the specific amount entered in column 7 is composed, whether on account of principal, interest, costs of suit, mesne profits or otherwise, should be given in detail, with a specification of the dates from and to which interest or mesne profits may be claimed; in short, all such particulars as may elucidate the amount of the claim, and, in the event of any objections being taken to such amount by the opposite party, may tend to bring the matter in dispute to a distinct issue with a view to its speedy determination.

10. The court, after causing the purport of the petition to be compared with the decree contained in the original record of the suit, shall proceed to execute the same in conformity with the provisions which are now in force or which may be hereafter enacted. —Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 15, Cl. 7.

The court will then cause the decree to be executed.

11. It is hereby enacted, that it shall be competent to the zillah and city Judges within the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, to refer to the Principal Sudder Ameens subordinate to them, applications for the enforcement of decrees, to be executed by the said Principal Sudder Ameens, under the rules prescribed in the general Regulations, applicable to such cases.—Act V. 1836.

Zillah and city judges may refer to the P. S. A. applications for the enforcement of decrees.

12. The court is then to cause the decree to be executed, if it be for a zemindary, independant or dependant talook, or other estate or real property, by causing possession of the property to be delivered to the person to whom it may be decreed ; if it be for personal property or a sum of money, by causing the specific thing to be delivered, or the value of it, or the sum of money decreed, to be levied by public sale by auction of a sufficient portion, or, if requisite for the satisfaction of the decree, the whole of the lands, houses, and all other effects, either real or personal, belonging to the party against whom the judgment may have been given, or by the attachment of his person or where it may be necessary, both by the sale of his property and effects, and the attachment of his person.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 9.

Decree of the court how to be executed.

13. The Civil courts have the power of issuing process simultaneously against the person and property of a debtor in execution of a decree of court.—Rep. Sum. Cases. 5th July 1847.

The civil courts may issue process simultaneously against the person and property of the debtor.

14. An order passed on the execution of a decree in regard to interest, wasilat, or any other matter in dispute between the parties to the suit, and carrying out the original intentions of such decree, cannot be considered as constituting a new cause of action, and is not subject, therefore, to a regular suit.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 11th Jan. 1839, par. 9.

An order passed in execution of a decree regarding interest, wasilat, &c. is not a new cause of action, and is not subject to a regular suit.

15. Held, by the Western Court, in concurrence with the Calcutta Court, that any order passed in the execution of a decree in regard to mesne profits, interest or other matter in dispute between the parties to the suit, which may be involved in the decision, must be looked upon as a necessary process for carrying into effect the original intentions of the court passing the decree, in respect to a point, in which it may, in fact, be said already to have pronounced a formal judgment, and cannot, therefore, be considered as constituting a new cause of action.—Con. 1129, 9th Feb. 1838.

Idem.

16. Personal property sold in execution of a decree should be paid for before delivery. If the nazir or other officer conducting the sale, deliver the property, and the purchaser refuse to pay the purchase money, the former will be compelled to make good the price, and will have to recover it from the purchaser in the regular course of law.—Con. 787, 3d May 1833.

Personal property sold in execution of a decree must be paid for on delivery. If the nazir disregards this rule, he must make good the price.

17. The Judge is competent, with the consent of the parties, instead of selling the estate of the debtor in satisfaction of the debt, to cause it to be attached until the amount due be realized from the proceeds. Such attachment must be made through the Collector.—Con. 752, West. C. 21st Dec. 1832, Cal. C. 1st Feb. 1833.

With consent of parties, the judge instead of selling the estate, may attach it till the amount is realized.

The civil court cannot stay the sale of a judgment debtor's property without the consent of the creditor.

18. The Civil court cannot stay the sale of a judgment debtor's property, and cause payment of the debt by the attachment of the same without consent of the creditor.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Sept. 1842, p. 39.

In certain cases specified, the courts to make previous enquiries and to pass such orders as may appear just and proper, with regard to the execution of decrees.

19. Provided however, that if the suit shall have been tried ex-parte, or that an interval of more than one year shall have elapsed between the date of the decree, and the application for its execution; or that the enforcement of the decree shall be solicited against individuals being heirs or representatives of the original parties in the suit, or against one only of several individuals equally affected by the decree, or if there shall appear reason to believe that the matter in dispute has been adjusted by the parties subsequently to the decree, either by the voluntary surrender of the thing adjudged, or by the payment of the sum decreed either in whole or in any part, by kistbundy or otherwise, it shall be competent to the court, instead of proceeding to the immediate enforcement of the decree, to issue a notice to the party against whom execution may be sued out, requiring him to shew cause within a limited period to be fixed by the court, why the decree should not be executed against him. If upon such notice the party shall not attend in person or by vakeel, or shall not shew sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the court, why the decree should not be forthwith executed, the court will cause the judgment to be satisfied according to the rules in force. If the party shall attend in person or by vakeel, and shall offer any objection to the enforcement of the decree, the court shall issue such order after a due consideration of the circumstances of each case, as may appear just and proper.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 15, Cl. 8.

Cl. 8, sec. 15, reg. 26, 1814, explained, and the several courts empowered to require security for making good decrees, or in failure thereof to cause an attachment of property.

20. In explanation of the eighth clause of Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814, which provides that, in certain cases, "it shall be competent to the court applied to for execution of a decree, instead of proceeding to the immediate enforcement of the decree, to issue a notice to the party against whom execution may be sued out, requiring him to shew cause within a limited period to be fixed by the court, why the decree should not be executed against him," it is hereby declared that the above provision was meant to be imperative in the cases referred to; and not to leave a discretion with the court; at the same time, with a view to guard against abuses, it is now further provided, that, whenever it may be shewn, by satisfactory evidence, that the party against whom the decree was passed, or in the event of his decease, his legal representative who may have become answerable for the fulfilment of it, is about to remove, or dispose of, the property from which the judgment should be satisfied, the court, proceeding, as directed in the eighth clause of Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814, shall be authorized to require security in such amount as may appear sufficient for making good the decree; and in the event of such security not being given, to cause an attachment of property; as provided for in similar cases, whilst suit is depending, by Section 5, Regulation 2, 1806.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 7.

On the failure to serve notice, as above, on the party, the issue of a proclamation is indispensable; but its purport might be included in the notice.

21. The following reference was made by the Judge of Futtehpore :—"Whether in cases in which an itilehnamah in lieu of a hookemnamah has been issued for the defendant to shew cause, &c. under Regulation 26 of 1814, Section 15, Clause 8, and Regulation 7 of 1825, Section 7, and such defendant be not met with, is it then incumbent on the court issuing the process, to issue a proclamation or not?"—It was held that on the contingency contemplated by the Judge, viz. the failure to serve a notice on the party, occurring, it is incumbent to issue a proclamation, but that the object would be best answered by including its purport in the notice, which should be accompanied by a perwannah to the nazir, instructing him, in the event of personal service being impracticable, to affix the process to the defendant's house.—Con. 1236, West. C. 19th July, Cal. C. 16th Aug. 1839.

22. The preceding rules shall not be construed to prevent the courts from issuing process of execution, for the purpose of recovering any fees or costs which may be due to Government or any fees due to vakeels by a party in a suit, whether decided before or after the 1st of February, 1815. In such cases, as well as in suits, in which a party may have been allowed to plead in formâ pauperis, the courts shall proceed without any application from the parties to enforce execution of the judgment so far as relates to the recovery of the amount of fees, or costs due to Government, or to pleaders in the suit.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 15, Cl. 9.

Provisions for recovering costs due to govt., and vakeels' fees, and for executing decrees in pauper suits.

23. The Court deem it proper that all papers relating to the execution of the same decree be kept in one nuthee, or bundle, with the proceedings in the cause to which the decree has reference; and they direct that you enjoin the observance in future of this practice in all the courts subordinate to your jurisdiction.—Cir. Ord. 28th May 1824, par. 2.

All papers relating to the execution of the same decree to be kept in the same nuthee.

24. They further think it desirable, that the register of applications for execution of decrees and of proceedings held thereupon should be kept in the whole of the Civil courts under this presidency, in a uniform manner; and for this purpose they direct me to forward to you the accompanying form of register to be kept for each court, and in separate books for decrees passed by the zillah and city Judges, their Register, the Sudder Ameens and the Moonsiffs respectively.

But this is not to prevent the judge's introducing into the register, any farther columns or subdivisions, calculated to promote the object.

25. I am desired, however, to state for your information, and that of the several courts within your jurisdiction, that in prescribing this general form for your and their observance, for the sake of uniformity, it is not meant to preclude the Judges of any courts from introducing into their respective registers any further columns or subdivisions which they may on experience find calculated to promote the important object for which the register is proposed, namely, the prompt and due execution of the judgments of the Civil courts, in all cases where-in application may be made for that purpose, in pursuance of Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814.—Civ. Ord. 28th May 1824, par. 4.

36. Supposing the holder of a former decree to have made the prescribed application, and no other property is forthcoming from which the decree passed in his favour can be satisfied, the Court are of opinion, that he would have an equitable claim to attach the property receivable by his debtor, under the judgment in favour of the latter, and to cause execution accordingly, unless good and sufficient reason against the enforcement be shewn by the party against whom such judgment may have been passed.—Con. 293, 9th July 1818, par. 3.

The sale of landed property under a judicial process to be conducted under the same forms as sales of personal property.

77. I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st ultimo, and in reply to inform you that the Court, having considered the wording of the preamble, and of the second clause of Section 2, Regulation 7, 1825, in connection with that of the third clause of Section 2, and of the first clause of Section 3, are of opinion that houses, gardens, orchards, and small portions of land exempt from public assessment, are to be sold in the same manner as personal property by the Civil courts.—Con. 933, Cal. C. 20th Feb., West. C. 20th March 1835.

Houses, gardens, orchards and small portions of free lands will be sold by the civil courts, like personal property.

78. The Judges and Registers of the Zillah and City courts, who usually employ the nazirs of those courts, or the Sudder Ameens at the station of the Judge and Register and the local Moonsiffs in other parts of their jurisdictions, to conduct the public sale of personal property in execution of decrees, or other judicial process, are hereby authorized to employ the same officers, when it may appear expedient, in the public sale of houses, gardens, orchards, or small portions of lakhiraj land, under the provisions of this Regulation.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 1.

The same officers to be employed in the sale of houses, &c. as in the sale of landed property.

79. I am directed to refer you to the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 7, 1825, where you will find recognized the practice alluded to by you, of employing the nazirs in the at-

Nazirs may be employed in the attachment and sale of property, but will receive no commission.

tachment and sale of property ; but the Court are of opinion, that those officers are not entitled to receive any commission on the proceeds of such sales, the rule cited by you with regard to Moonsiffs, who are not, in the discharge of their ordinary functions, ministerial officers of the courts, not being analogous to the case in point.—Con. 509, 29th May 1829.

A proclamation to be issued 30 days previously to the sale of such property.

80. In all cases of attachment and intended sale, whether of personal property, or of the landed property above described, in execution of any decree, or other judicial process, a proclamation of the intended sale, with particulars of the time and place of sale, of the property to be sold and of the amount due, for the recovery of which the sale is ordered, shall be made, in the current language of the country, for at least thirty days, before the appointed day of sale ; exclusive of the day of sale, and the date on which the proclamation may be ordered. Such proclamation shall be made, in the usual mode, by beat of drum, on the spot where the property is attached ; and a written notification, to the same effect, shall also be affixed in some conspicuous place, within the village or town, in which the attachment may take place : as well as in the cutcherry of the local Moonsiffs ; and at the cutcherries of the Collector of the district ; and the zillah Judge, or Register, who may have ordered the sale. When the sale is to be made by a Sudder Ameen the notification shall also be affixed in the cutcherry of such Sudder Ameen.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

Form of proclamation to be used when property is attached & advertised in execution of decrees by the zillah and subordinate courts.

81. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut in the lower provinces request that the annexed form of proclamation may be generally adopted, on all occasions of property, real or personal, being attached and advertised for sale in execution of decrees by the Zillah and all the subordinate courts.—Cir. Ord. 21st Aug. 1843, par. 1.

Lithographed forms of the proclamation to be indented for.

82. The several Judges will use their discretion in indenting on the Superintendent of the Lithographic Press at Calcutta, for a sufficient supply of lithographed forms of the prescribed proclamation, according to the requirements of their respective courts.—Ibid, par. 2.

জায়দাদের তফছীল।

83. It appearing, from several recent instances which have come before the court, that many of the local civil tribunals, in sales held by them in execution of decrees or other judicial process under Regulation 7, 1825, entirely neglect observance of the provisions of Clause 2, Section 3 of that enactment, in respect to the proclamation of sale enjoined therein, both as regards what particulars such proclamation is to contain, and how it is to be made and notified; the Court beg the particular attention of judicial officers to the rules referred to, and desire that proper notice be invariably taken by the Judges of all deviations therefrom on the part of the inferior courts.—Cir. Ord. 15th March 1842.

The courts are strictly enjoined to observe all the rules laid down in reg. 7, 1825, sec. 3, cl. 2, respecting the proclamation to be issued.

84. Held that the failure to publish notice of sale, on the property advertised, the sale having been made by the Collector in execution of a decree of court, vitiates the sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Oct. 1841, vol. 7, p. 48.

The failure to publish notice of the sale on the property advertised vitiates the sale.

85. Failure to deposit the peon's fees for serving notice of sale in execution of a decree held not to affect the legality of the sale.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th Jan. 1843, p. 46.

Failure to deposit peon's fees for serving notice, does not affect the sale.

86. The usual processes for attachment and sale, in such cases, may either be issued successively, or simultaneously, as the Judge, Register, or other judicial officer, directing the sale, may in each instance think proper, with reference to the circumstances of the case.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

The usual processes for attachment, and sale, may be issued simultaneously.

The private purchase of property, after its advertisement for sale, but without the issue of proclamation of attachment cannot be summarily set aside.

Period within which a purchaser of property sold by ameen, in execution of decrees, must pay the amount.

A deposit of 10 per cent. required, or the property must be resold.

The full amount must be made good in 15 days.

The entire sum bid for moveable property must be paid up in 24 hours.

Disposal of the deposit, if the sale does not become final.

No one can be compelled to take charge of property attached or distrained; but any one who does so voluntarily, is responsible for it.

Who is generally answerable for the property distrained or attached during distraint or attachment.

Cases in which the decree-holder is permitted to give his receipt for the amount of his claim in payment of so much of the purchase money; rules to be observed in such cases.

87. Held, that the private purchase of property, after its advertisement for sale in satisfaction of a decree, but without issue of proclamation of attachment under Regulation 2, 1806, cannot be summarily set aside.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d Sept. 1846, p. 84.

88. The law making no provision for any specific period within which a purchaser of property sold by Ameen in cases of execution of decree, shall pay in his purchase money, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower and North-Western Provinces are pleased to determine that the "ishtihar" or notice of sale in such cases, shall contain the following particulars.—Cir. Ord. 12th Aug. 1842, par. 1.

89. A deposit of ten per cent. on the amount proceeds shall be required to be made at the time of sale by the purchaser, on whose failure to comply with this requirement the property shall be forthwith put up again and sold.—Ibid, par. 2.

90. The full amount of the purchase money in sales of real property shall be made good by the purchaser within fifteen days from the day of sale, in default of which the deposit will be forfeited, and the property be resold at the risk of the first purchaser, who shall forfeit all advantages, and make good all losses.—Ibid, par. 3.

91. The entire sum bid for moveable property shall be paid up within twenty-four hours from the time of sale and before delivery of the property, subject to the penalty provided in the preceding rule.—Ibid, par. 4.

92. In the event of a sale not becoming final, the amount of deposit forfeited shall be carried to the credit of the owner of the property, for the benefit of the decree-holder, after deducting therefrom the commission of the ameen on the sale.—Ibid, par. 5.

Vide also Circular order, 21st August, 1843, No. 81 of this Chapter.

93. I am directed to inform you that no person can be compelled against his will to take charge of property distrained or attached in the manner described in your communication [that is, in execution of a decree,] if however any one should take charge of the property voluntarily, he will of course become responsible for the faithful discharge of his engagement and liable to prosecution before the Civil court by a regular suit for damages, which may have arisen from his failing to do so; no summary proceedings however can be instituted against him.—Con. 958. West. C. 19th June, Cal. C. 17th July 1835, par. 2.

94. Generally the person at whose instance the property is distrained or attached must be considered answerable for the safe custody of the property during the period of distraint or attachment.—Ibid, par. 3.

95. Doubts appearing to be entertained as to whether the Civil courts are competent to allow a decree-holder, purchasing property sold at public auction in satisfaction of his decree, to file his receipt to the extent of the sum awarded him, in lieu of paying the whole amount of purchase money into court, I am directed by the Court to acquaint you that it has been ruled that a decree-holder should be permitted, under the circumstances above stated, to give his receipt for the amount of his claim in payment of so much of the purchase money of the property sold; provided the arrangement do not interfere with the equal claims of other parties, and that, as respects the delivery of possession of the property, the same rules are observed in regard to him as would be applied to any other purchaser, and provided also that, where the property sold may be land paying revenue to Government, the demands of Government on the estate are previously settled.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 18th Jan. 1839.

96. With reference to the printed Circular order, No. 30, dated the 18th January, 1839, it was held, on a reference from the Judge of Midnapore, that a decree-holder purchasing his debtor's property at a public sale by the Collector, for a higher sum than the amount of his decree, must deposit fifteen per cent. on the whole amount of the purchase money, or the balance in full; as should the balance above the amount of his decree not be paid, the sale falls to the ground, and the purchaser forfeits the earnest money on the sum total bid by him.—Con. 1350, Cal. C. 15th July, West. C. 5th Aug. 1842.

Case in which the decree-holder purchases his debtor's property at a public sale for more than the amount of his decree.

97. The offer of a decree-holder to take property, sold in the execution of his decree, for more money than was paid by the first purchaser, rejected by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the sale being otherwise unexceptionable.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Dec. 1838, p. 16.

The offer of a decree-holder to take property sold in execution of his decree for more than was paid by the first purchaser, rejected.

98. The vakeel of a judgment creditor having applied on behalf of his client, praying that certain property belonging to his debtor might be publicly sold to him at a specified sum, if more was not bid for it: it was held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that the client was bound by such an application, notwithstanding his subsequent declaration that he had not authorized his vakeel to make it.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d March 1842, p. 26.

Where the vakeel of a judgment creditor made an application on behalf of his client to purchase the property sold in execution of his decree, the client was bound by the offer.

99. A question having arisen as to whether, in executing a decree, if no purchaser be forthcoming, for a house as it stands, and individuals should signify their willingness to purchase the materials, it is legal to detach or cause them to be detached from the building for the purpose of bringing them to separate sale, I am directed to request you will obtain the opinion of the Calcutta Court on the point.—Con. 1227, Cal. and West. C. 2d Aug. 1839, par. 1.

Though there should be no purchasers, it is not lawful to detach and sell the materials.

100. The opinion of this Court is, that such a proceeding is not warranted by law, which seems to require that the property should suffer no detriment in any way prior to sale, the auction purchaser being of course at liberty, on his own responsibility, after the purchase may have been concluded, to remove any part of the same, being at the same time answerable to any other claimants who may contest the extent of right acquired by him at sale.—Ibid, par. 2.

Idem.

101. The Court observe no that hardship could result from the observance of the above rule, as under the construction recently adopted by both Courts (circulated by this Court under date 18th January last) the decree-holder would always have the option of himself becoming the purchaser by filing his receipt for the amount of his claim.—Ibid, par. 3.

Idem.

102. The same principle, the Court remark, would apply to the case of trees in a similar predicament, which ought not to be cut down till after they shall have been sold.—Ibid, par. 4.

Nor ought trees to be cut down till after they are sold.

103. An appeal having been presented to the Court from an order passed by the Judge of zillah Mirzapore, in regard to the attachment and sale of a house situated within the limits of his jurisdiction, in execution of a decree passed by a Court of civil judicature in the Saugor and Nerbudda territories to which the civil regulations of the British Government have not been extended, a question has arisen whether it was competent to the Judge to exercise any interference in the matter, and I am directed, therefore, to request that you will submit the point for the consideration of the Calcutta Court.—Con. 1133, Cal. and West. C. 16th Feb. 1838, par. 1.

Course to be pursued by a holder of a decree of a foreign court, or an extra regulation province who wishes to execute it against property in one of the regulation districts.

He must institute a suit in the court of that district, on the decree passed in his favor in the other court.

104. The Court observe that on a reference being made to the Advocate General under date the 27th June, 1809, to ascertain whether any and what measures could be adopted in the case therein mentioned, to recover from the defendant, who had proceeded to England, the amount of a decree given against him by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta, the following opinion was obtained from that officer: "A foreign judgment is, generally speaking, considered as a prima facie ground of action in our courts, and the judgments of courts in the colonies and dependencies are to this purpose upon the same footing in the Courts in England with foreign judgments. If however a foreign judgment should appear on the face of it to be erroneous, it will not support an action, as we only profess to give effect to those judgments, where they are conformable to justice, and the general principles of law, which is presumed till the contrary appears. The proper course for the appellants under the general rule would be to transmit an exemplification of the judgment of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and of the whole proceedings in the cause under the seal of the court, and the signatures of the Judges, with proper powers of attorney, to some person in England to institute a suit on the judgment of the Sudder dewanny adawlut against the respondent.—Con. 1133, Cal. and West. C. 16th Feb. 1838, par. 2.

Idem.

105. It appears to the Court that the same principle is equally applicable to the case which has given rise to the present reference, and they propose, to act upon it accordingly in disposing of the appeal now before them, by setting aside, as illegal, the whole of the proceedings held by the Judge of Mirzapore, and intimating to the decree-holder that he is at liberty to institute a suit in that court against the opposite party, founded on the judgment passed in his favor by the Civil court in the Saugor and Nerbudda territories.—Ibid, par. 3.

Idem.

106. Mode of proceeding in regard to the decree of a foreign court, when the decree-holder desires to take out execution against property within the jurisdiction of one of the Company's courts.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th Dec. 1842, p. 41.

SECTION V.

Sale of Land in execution of Decrees by the Civil Courts.

Repeal of former regulations.

107. It is hereby enacted, that so much of Sections 10 and 11, Regulation 1, 1793; Section 7, Regulation 27, 1795; Sections 37 and 38, Regulation 25, 1803, and Sections 27 and 28, Regulation 9, 1805, as relates to the adjustment of the Government jumma on lands exposed to public sale in satisfaction of the decrees of the Courts of civil judicature; Regulations 45, 1793; 20, 1795, and 12, 1796; Sections 15 to 26, (both inclusive) Regulation 26, 1803; so much of Sections 27 and 28 of the same Regulation as relates to the satisfaction of decrees; and clauses second and third, Section 4, Regulation 7, 1825, all of the Bengal code, be repealed.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 1.

Idem.

108. And it is hereby enacted, that all Regulations or parts of Regulations which extend any of the Regulations or parts of Regulations hereinbefore repealed, be also repealed.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

How attachments and sales of land in the lower provinces

109. . And it is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, except the North-West Provinces, attachments and sales of land, or of any interest in land in satisfaction of the decrees or other process of the Courts of civil judicature, shall be made by such courts or under their directions, and that the rules now in force for the attachment and sale of such real property as the Courts of civil judicature are now authorized to sell in satisfaction of decrees, without application to the revenue authorities, shall apply to attachments and sales made under the authority of this Act.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 3.

110. And it is hereby enacted, in addition to the said rules, that in the said territories, except as aforesaid, whenever a holder of a decree of any Court of civil judicature shall apply to such court for the sale in execution of any estate paying revenue to Government, or any portion of any such estate, he shall, at the time of making such application, file an authenticated extract from the register of the Collector's office, specifying the jumma of such estate, which shall be inserted in the notification of sale.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

In those provinces the decree-holder, when applying to the court to execute the decree, will file a register of the collector's office specifying the jumma.

111. And it is hereby enacted, in addition to the said rules, that in the said territories, except as aforesaid, the purchaser at any such sale shall be required to deposit immediately either in cash, Bank of Bengal notes, or post bills, or Government securities duly endorsed, fifteen per cent. on the amount of his bid, and in default of such deposit such land or interest therein shall forthwith be put up again and sold, and if the purchaser having paid the deposit required shall neglect or refuse to pay the purchase money, within the period which may be stipulated, the deposit shall be forfeited and shall be applied as if it were purchase money, and the land or interest therein, or such portion thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy what remains due, shall be again put up to sale, due notification having been first given.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

Deposit to be made immediately of 15 per cent.; penalty for default.

Penalty for not paying the purchase money within the stipulated period.

112. If the purchaser refuse to pay the purchase money and take possession, and the property on a resale be sold for a smaller sum, the difference must be realized from the purchaser by the process prescribed for enforcing a decree of court.—Con. 554, 28th May 1830.

How the difference is to be realized from the purchaser, if the property is resold at a loss.

113. The failure of the first purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree, to make good the purchase money, does not relieve the original debtor from his liabilities.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d March 1846, p. 76.

The failure of the first purchaser to make good the money does not release the original debtor.

114. And it is hereby enacted, that in the North-West Provinces of the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, attachments and sales of land or of any interest in land in satisfaction of the decrees or other process of the Courts of civil judicature, shall (except in the case of land which the courts themselves are now by law authorized to attach and sell) be made by the Collector or any of his subordinate officers under his directions, upon the requisition of such courts.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 6.

In the N. W. provinces the attachments & sales of land in satisfaction of decrees shall be made --with exceptions-- by the collector.

115. And it is hereby enacted, that in the last mentioned provinces, every such requisition shall specify the number of the suit, the court which made the decree, the amount to be realized, the names of the parties, distinguishing those whose land or interest it is intended to sell, and the amount for which each is liable, if they are severally liable, and the land or interest which each is alleged in the schedule of the party applying for execution, to be possessed of.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

In the N. W. provinces, the requisition shall state certain particulars—Enumeration of them.

In those provinces the collector will issue a proclamation: what the proclamation will contain. Where it is to be fixed up.

116. And it is hereby enacted, that in the last mentioned provinces the Collector shall issue a proclamation in the current language of the country of any intended sale of land or any interest therein, thirty days at least before the day appointed for the sale, exclusive of the day of sale, and of the day on which the proclamation is issued, and the said proclamation shall specify the name of the person whose land or whose rights and interests in certain land are to be sold, and the jumma of the estate constituting the property, or in which the property is situate; also particulars of the property to be sold, of the time and place of sale, and of the amount due for the recovery of which the sale is ordered, and such proclamation shall be fixed up in some conspicuous place within the village or town in which the said land is situate, or which is nearest to the said land, and in the cutcherries of the local Moonsiff, of the Collector, of the zillah or city Judge, and of the court from which the requisition issued.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 8.

Where the notice of sale must be stuck up, in a sale of lands in execution of a decree.

117. In a sale of lands made in execution of a decree, the notice of sale must be promulgated or stuck up in the principal town or village appertaining to the property to be sold.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Oct. 1844, vol. 7, p. 184.

In sales made by the collector, proclamation by beat of drum not necessary.

118. In sales of revenue lands made by Collectors in execution of decrees of court, proclamation by beat of drum is not required.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th Aug. 1839, p. 23.

The failure to publish notice of the sale on the property vitiates the sale.

119. Held, that the failure to publish notice of sale, on the property advertised, the sale having been made by the Collector in execution of a decree of court, vitiates the sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Oct. 1841, vol. 7, p. 48.

After the civil court has confirmed a collector's sale in execution of a decree, the commissioner of revenue cannot annul it.

120. An order by the Commissioner of Revenue for the annulment of a sale made by the Collector in execution of a decree of court, after it had been confirmed by the Civil court, held by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to be a nullity, and the Zillah court directed to apply to the Collector for the proceeds of sale.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th Feb. 1843, p. 46.

When an order to stay the sale sent by the civil court reached the collector after the sale, it could not be set aside.

121. An order to stay the sale of property, about to be sold by the Collector in execution of a decree, was transmitted by the Civil court, but not received by the Collector prior to its sale.—Held that the sale could not be set aside.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 17th March 1847.

In the N. W. provinces, the provisions of sec. 5 of this act, will apply to sales of land, or any interest in land.

122. And it is hereby enacted, that in the last mentioned provinces the provisions contained in Section 5 of this Act. shall be applicable to sales of land or any interest in land in execution of decrees of court or other judicial process.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 9.

Throughout the presidency of Fort William, the sales of land in execution of decrees will be of the nature of private transfers.

123. And it is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, sales of land or of any interest in land in execution of decrees of court or other judicial process, shall be of the nature of private transfers.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

An order of the zillah judge that a sale of land in execution of a decree did, in a certain case, cancel all leases granted by the former proprietor, overruled.

124. The order of a zillah Judge, declaring that a sale in execution of a decree, which adjudged repayment of a loan previously advanced to protect the same property from public sale for arrears of revenue, had the same effect as such public sale, and cancelled all leases granted by the late proprietor, overruled.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 30th June 1841, p. 13.

In the presidency of Fort William, the courts of S. D. A.

125. And it is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall, from time to time, frame such rules as to them shall seem meet, and as shall not be repugnant to any thing in this Act contained, for the attachment and sale of property in satisfaction of decrees or other process of the Courts of civil judicature, which rules shall after they have been approved by the Governor General of India in Council, have the same force as if they had been part of this Act, until revoked by the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut with the approbation of the said Governor General of India in Council or by the said Governor General of India in Council.—Act IV. 1846, Sect. 11.

126. And it is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, all applications which may have been made by the Courts of civil judicature to the revenue authorities for the sale of land, or of any interest in land in satisfaction of decrees or other process of such courts, previously to the passing of this Act, shall be proceeded upon as if this Act had not been passed.—Ibid, Sect. 12.

127. And it is hereby enacted, that nothing contained in this Act shall affect the process of Her Majesty's Supreme Court of judicature, or of the Court of Requests at Calcutta, or of any court in the settlements in the Straits of Malacca.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

128. Act IV. 1846, Section 3, provides "that the rules now in force for the attachment and sale of such real property as the Courts of civil judicature are now authorised to sell in satisfaction of decrees without application to the revenue authorities, shall apply to attachments and sales made under the authority of this Act." Those rules are to be found in Regulation 7, 1825. They are to be strictly attended to, and especial care taken that the preliminary process therein prescribed, for bringing any property to sale, be duly observed. The following rules, therefore, drawn up under the authority conveyed in Section 11 of the Act IV. 1846, relate only to such points of detail in the conducting of sales as neither the Act itself, nor Regulation 7, 1825, provides for.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846.

129. Every sale of landed property to be made under the authority conveyed in Section 3, Act IV. 1846, shall be conducted by the officer empowered to execute the decree in satisfaction of which the sale is proposed to be made, or under his directions; and the preliminary processes shall all be issued by the said officer.—Ibid, Rule 1.

130. Sales shall ordinarily be advertized to take place at the cutcherry of the officer under whose order the same may be directed; but when a sale is about to be made under the orders of a Moonsiff in the interior, and he may think it expedient that the sale should take place at the sudder station of the district, he shall issue the prescribed processes to that effect, and communicate the same by roobukaree to the Judge, transmitting therewith copy of the lot-bundee, exhibiting all the particulars of the intended sale. In such cases, the Judge will either instruct his nazir to preside at the sale, or do so himself. In either case the result shall be communicated to the Moonsiff.—Ibid, Rule 2.

131. If the property proposed to be sold in execution of a decree by a Moonsiff, should not be situated within such Moonsiff's jurisdiction, but should be situated within the jurisdiction of another Moonsiff in the same district, then the Moonsiff passing the decree shall transmit the sale papers to the Moonsiff within whose jurisdiction the property may be situated, with a roobukaree, requesting him to realize the amount due on the decree. The latter shall shall from time to time make rules for the attachment and sale of lands in execution of decrees.

They must be approved by the G. G. in C. and will then have the same force as this act.

In the presidency of Fort William, all applications for the sale of land made previously to this act shall be acted on as though this act had not been passed.

What courts are not affected by this act.

The following rules are laid down by the S. D. A. under the authority conveyed in sec. 11, act 4, 1846, as above.

The preliminary process, and the sale of landed property, will be made by the officer authorised to execute the decree.

Where the sale is ordinarily to take place.

Course to be adopted if a moonsiff thinks it expedient for the sale to take place at the sudder station.

Course to be adopted when the property to be sold in execution of a moonsiff's decree, lies in the jurisdiction of another moonsiff.

then proceed to effect a sale of the property in the same manner as if the decree had been passed by himself. The result shall be communicated to the Moonsiff ordering the sale to be made.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846, Rule 3.

Form of lotbundee in cases of intended sales.

132. A form of the lotbundee to be used in all cases of intended sales, is annexed, marked A.—Ibid, Rule 4.

When the sales are to take place.

Period to be allowed.

Particulars relative to the appointment of the day.

133. The first Monday in every English month shall be the day fixed for sales under Act IV. 1846, to take place ; care being taken, in issuing the proclamation (form of which marked B. is annexed,) required to be made of intended sales, to allow in every instance the full period of thirty days, exclusive of the date of such proclamation and of the day of sale ; so that when notice of an intended sale is to be issued, should the first Monday in the ensuing month fall within thirty days, the sale must be fixed for the first Monday in the following month. In any instance should the first Monday in the month be an authorized holiday, the sales shall commence on the first court day ensuing.—Ibid, Rule 5.

Case in which the sale will be continued from day to day.

134. Should the sales advertised to take place on a particular date prove in any instance more than may conveniently be concluded on the day fixed, the circumstance shall be recorded by the presiding officer ; and in such cases the sales shall be continued from day to day till the whole shall have been disposed of.—Ibid, Rule 6.

Course to be pursued when the presiding officer is unable from any unavoidable cause to proceed with the sale of the day.

135. The same course shall be adopted when the presiding officer may be unable, through indisposition or other unavoidable cause, to proceed with the sales on the day fixed. In such cases the officer under whose orders the sales may have been directed to be made, may either direct some of his subordinate officers to conduct the sales, or he may adjourn them from day to day till he himself shall be able to preside.—Ibid, Rule 7.

If it be necessary to postpone the sale to a subsequent day, due notice of it is to be given.

136. Should more than a mere adjournment from day to day be requisite, and it be found necessary to postpone a sale to a subsequent date, due notice, viz. at the court where the sale is to be made, and at the Judge's office, shall be given of the day fixed for the postponed sale to take place.—Ibid, Rule 8.

If it be necessary to postpone the sale, through the discovery of an error in the lotbundee or advertisement, it must begin again ab initio.

137. Should it be found necessary to postpone a sale through any error discovered in the lotbundee or advertisement, whether as regards the description given of the property proposed to be sold ; or, if the property consist of land paying rent, of the jumma assessed thereon, in such case, the errors being corrected, process of sale must issue again ab initio.—Ibid, Rule 9.

All may bid. When the bidding has ceased the deposit must be made, and 15 days allowed for paying the balance; when paid, the court will grant a receipt.

138. All persons shall be permitted to bid for the property exposed to sale without previous question. When the bidding* has ceased, for which due time shall be allowed, the officer presiding shall call on the highest bidder to pay down the deposit required under Section 5 of the sale Act. On complying with this requisition the purchaser shall be allowed 15† days from the day of sale reckoning that day as one of them, to make good the balance‡ of the purchase money. On payment of the same within the prescribed time, the presiding officer shall grant

* Should disputes arise as to who may be the highest bidder, before the lot has been distinctly knocked down the previous bids shall go for nothing, and the sale shall be commenced again de novo.

† Should this balance not be paid within the prescribed period, the notification of resale required by Section 5 of the Act, shall be an advertisement at the cutcherry of the officer holding the sale, announcing the property for resale on the first regular sale day in the ensuing month.

‡ If the fifteenth day should be a Sunday, or a close holiday, then the purchaser shall be deemed to have paid the purchase money within the prescribed time if he pay it by sunset of the first court day thereafter ensuing.

the purchaser a receipt for the sum total, and forthwith remit the amount to the treasury of the Judge of the district to which he is himself subordinate.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846, Rule 10.

139. The orders of the zillah Judge who refused to admit, without deposit, the bid of a decree-holder for property under sale in execution of his own decree, reversed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 6th March 1839, p. 18.

The court cannot refuse to receive a bid without a deposit.

140. A bid for property about to be sold by the Collector, in execution of a decree, made to the Civil court, and information thereof given to the Collector, held to be insufficient to set aside the actual sale of the property by the Collector for a lesser amount.*—Rep. Sum. Cases, 30th Oct. 1843, p. 53.

A bid for the property made to the civil court, will not annul the sale for a small amount.

141. Should any objections be made against the sale, within the period allowed for such representation, viz. within one month from the day of sale, the officer by whom the sale may have been ordered, shall dispose of the same with all convenient despatch. If however, no objection should be preferred within the prescribed period; or, if those preferred as above should be overruled, the officer by whom the sale may have been ordered shall declare the sale to be concluded, and immediately grant a bill of sale to the purchaser agreeably to the form C. annexed hereto.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846, Rule 11.

Objections to the sale must be disposed of speedily; if none be made, or they be overruled, the court will grant a bill of sale.

142. Before disposing of the purchase money, due attention must be given to the Circular orders No. 1 of the 6th June, 1828,† No. 16, 2d January, 1836, and No. 42, 26th January, 1844. When the period for disposing of it shall have arrived, the expence incurred by the party in bringing the property to sale shall first be deducted from the proceeds of sale and paid to him or her. The residue, after the further deductions authorised to be made from the proceeds of sale in the subsequent rules, shall then be disposed of according to the rules in force applicable to such cases.—Ibid, Rule 12.

Disposal of the purchase money.

143. When sales may be conducted by persons other than those who may have ordered the same, as for instance under rules 2 and 3, the duty of the officer conducting the sale, shall be purely ministerial, and he shall not take cognizance of any objections which may be urged against the intended sale, nor shall he postpone the sale except at the especial requisition of the officer who may have directed the sale to be made.—Ibid, Rule 13.

Nature of the duty of the officer conducting the sale, when it is conducted by persons other than those who have ordered it.

144. The foregoing rule is not intended to apply to cases in which the property proposed to be sold may be situated in a district other than that to which the court passing the decree, in execution of which the property is proposed to be sold, appertains. In all such cases the rules prescribed by Circular orders Nos. 83 and 167, dated 8th May, 1840, and 24th September, 1841, will remain in force; but there seems no good reason for extending those rules to cases in which one Moonsiff may be employed to sell under the requisition of another Moonsiff, both being subordinate to the same Judge, and consequently under the same appellate jurisdiction.—Ibid, Rule 14.

But this rule does not apply when the property to be sold is situated in a district, other than that of the court ordering the sale.

145. No sale shall commence before noon, nor after sun-set.—Ibid, Rule 15.

No sale to commence before noon, or after sunset.

* The decision of the Sudder Court in this case is as follows:—"The case must be decided with reference entirely to the rules of sale, and as they contemplated bidding only at the time of sale, and the property had been sold to the highest bidder then bidding, the sale could not be set aside on the ground of any bid made to the Civil court."

† Modified by Circular order No. 26, dated 11th August, 1843.

When sales are made by the uncov. judges, a report will be submitted to the judge of the district; and another, at the end of 15 days.

146. When sales are made by or under the directions of a Principal Sudder Ameen, Sudder Ameen or Moonsiff, the result of the proceedings shall be submitted to the Judge of the district at the close of the day, in the form annexed marked D. : at the close of the fifteenth day, a report shall be transmitted to the Judge simply announcing whether the amount purchase money has been paid in full or not. The Judges will be careful to see, that these reports are regularly submitted and within the time prescribed.—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846, Rule 16.

Two registers to be kept, the one of property to be sold, the other of property sold.

147. Two registers shall be kept by every court, according to the forms hereto annexed, marked E. and F. the one of property to be sold, the other of property sold. In the latter register, sales made, but not completed by payment in full of the purchase money, are not to be entered; but payment in full having been made, they are to be entered immediately, without reference to their subsequent confirmation or otherwise.—Ibid, Rule 17.

Mode in which these registers are to be kept, authenticated, and inspected.

148. The registers prescribed in the preceding rule shall be kept in two strongly bound volumes, the pages in each being numbered; and at the close of the volumes the Judge shall certify under his own signature the number of pages contained in each volume. Every entry in these registers shall be authenticated by the presiding officer for the time being of the court to which they appertain, and the Judges will avail themselves of every favourable opportunity of inspecting these registers, and seeing that they are carefully and properly kept up.—Ibid, Rule 18.

Bill of sale to be granted to the purchaser; its effect in every court.

149. The bill of sale to be granted to a purchaser under rule 11, shall be drawn out on stamped paper according to the amount paid for the property, and the cost price of the stamp shall be paid by the purchaser according to rule in note to exemptions, No. 19, Schedule A, Regulation 10, 1829, and the said bill of sale shall be deemed in any Court of justice sufficient evidence of the title acquired thereby being vested in the person or persons named therein from the date specified.—Ibid, Rule 19.

Proclamation to be affixed in various courts that the purchaser has succeeded to the rights of the proprietor.

150. Simultaneously with the grant of this bill of sale to the purchaser, the officer under whose orders the sale may have been made, shall affix a proclamation in the language of the district in his cutcherry, intimating in the terms of the bill of sale, the succession of the purchaser to the rights and interests of the party whose property has been sold; a similar proclamation shall be sent to the cutcherries of the darogahs of Police, within whose jurisdictions any part of the property sold may be situated—and a third to the cutcherry of the zemindar in whose estate the property sold may be situated. And no other process for putting the purchaser in possession shall be necessary, and any disputes which may arise as to the extent of the property sold, or of the rights and interests therein heretofore belonging to the party to whom the purchaser has succeeded, shall be heard and determined as a regular suit under Regulation 4, 1793, and not otherwise, it being clearly understood that sales under Act IV. 1846, convey to the purchaser no right or privilege which was not vested in the person of the late proprietor. Such rights or privileges, therefore, becoming the subject of dispute, can be determined only by the institution of a regular suit.—Ibid, Rule 20.

No other process for putting him in possession necessary.

How disputes regarding the property are to be settled.

151. The Court desire, that whenever you may find it necessary to have recourse to a sale of land, in satisfaction of a decree, or other judicial process, and may in consequence apply to the Board of Revenue, (or Board of Commissioners,) to make the sale as prescribed by the Regulations, you will at the same time adopt the precaution of deputing a chuprassy, or other officer, to attach the land and hold the same in sequestration until the sale shall take place, or be countermanded.—Cir. Ord. 17th Feb. 1816, par. 4.

When application is made to the revenue authorities to sell land in execution of a decree, the land is to be attached and sequestered.

152. The Court direct me to add, that it will not be necessary in such cases, to divest the person who may be in possession of the land, from the management of it, until the Board of Revenue (or Board of Commissioners) may take measures for that purpose, in pursuance of the authority vested in them by the Regulation abovementioned : but that an order under the seal of the Zillah (or City) court, directing the attachment, should after the usual proclamation, be affixed to some part of the property sequestered ; and the officer charged with it should remain on the premises until the attachment is withdrawn after the sale has taken place, or is countermanded.—Ibid, par. 5.

Mode and operation of this attachment and sequestration.

153. In directing the attachment of land or other real property in execution of a decree, the Civil courts shall be competent to exercise a discretion in deputing a chuprassy or other officer to remain in charge of the same. In adopting or omitting this precaution, the courts will be chiefly guided by the wish of the party at whose instance the property is attached, or his vakeel, to whom it will be their duty to explain the possible consequences of the omission. They will also take into consideration the value of the property, and any other peculiar circumstances of the case before them.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Sept. 1834, par. 2.

The civil courts may depute a chuprassy to remain in charge of the land.

155. Such lands or estates [viz. lands attached by order of the executive authorities in cases of offences against the State,] shall not be liable to be sold in execution of decrees of the Civil courts, or for the realization of fines or otherwise, during the period in which they may be so held under attachment.—Reg. 3, 1818, Sect. 10, Cl. 2.

157. I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 5th instant, and in reply to inform you that no execution of a decree will hold beyond the right of the party against whom it may have been passed; consequently, in the case put by you, B. not having been a party to the suit instituted by C. against A., cannot be ousted from his land in execution of the decree passed in favor of C.—Con. 744, 21st Dec. 1832.

SECTION VI.

Sale of Property and Disposal of Objections to it in another Jurisdiction.

Sale of property & disposal of objections to it in another jurisdiction.

158. With reference to the Construction 1000, by which it was ruled that the court which issues a process for the sale of property in another jurisdiction, shall dispose of the objections which may be taken to such order, I am directed to inform you that the court have been pleased to prescribe the following rule for future observance.—Cir. Ord. 8th May 1840, par. 1.

The application will be transferred to the judge of the district in which the property is situated; the whole of the proceedings and investigations will be conducted by him.

159. Upon ascertaining that an application for the sale of property lying in another jurisdiction, should be complied with, the application shall be transferred to the Judge of the district, in which the property to be brought to sale is situated. The whole of the proceedings consequent thereon, as well as any incidental investigations, shall be conducted by that officer, in the same manner as the court issuing the process would have done, had the property been situated within the limits of its own jurisdiction.—Ibid, par. 2.

This rule applicable to all sales.

160. This rule shall be applicable to all sales, whether made with or without the intervention of the revenue authorities.—Ibid, par. 3.

These rules apply to movable and immovable property.

161. Held by the Calcutta and Western Courts collectively, that the Circular order of the 8th May, 1840, applies to movable as well as immovable property.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Sept. 1842, p. 38.

By whom claims to property advertised for sale in execution of a decree are to be investigated.

162. A claim to property advertised for sale, in execution of a decree, must be investigated by the proper judicial authority of the district in which the property is situated.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st Feb. 1842, p. 24.

These rules apply equally to the subordinate as to the zillah courts.

163. The rule laid down in the Circular order No. 83, dated 8th May, 1840, relative to the proper authority for disposing of claims to property advertised for sale in execution of a decree, but situated in a jurisdiction other than that in which the decree was passed, not having been expressly declared applicable to the subordinate, as well as the Zillah courts, it has been deemed proper by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the lower and western provinces, with a view both to uniformity of practice and convenience, to extend it to the inferior tribunals, and such extension is hereby notified accordingly.—Cir. Ord. 24th Sept. 1841, par. 1.

164. The subordinate courts will be guided, as to the mode of acting upon the Circular referred to, by the principle of Construction 1235, the Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens forwarding the application, with a proceeding under their seal and signature, to the Judge of the Zillah or City court, within whose jurisdiction the property lies, while the Moon-siffs will send it through the channel and under the signature of the Judge of their own district.—Ibid, par. 2.

How the subordinate courts will be guided in acting on the above circular order.

Vide also the rules passed by the Sudder Court, in reference to Act IV. 1846, Nos. 128 to 150, pages 747 to 753.

SECTION VII.

Claims or Objections raised to the Sale of Land in execution of Decrees.

165. In the event of any claim being preferred to the property advertised for sale, under the provisions of this section; or of any objection being offered to the proposed sale, within the period of the proclamation; such claim, or objection, shall be enquired into by the Judge, Register, or other officer, who may have ordered the sale, or may be referred for enquiry and report to a Sudder Ameen, or local Moonsiff; and if it appear necessary, the time of sale shall be postponed, till such claim or objection have been investigated; provided that the representation of it, (which, in all instances, is required to be preferred to the Judge, Register, or officer ordering the sale, as soon as practicable after the publication of the intended sale,) shall not appear to have been designedly and unnecessarily delayed, with a view to obstruct the ends of justice. In such cases, when the fraudulent design may appear evident, the sale shall not be postponed; and the claimant shall be left to prosecute his claim, after the sale, by a regular civil suit.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 6.

How judicial officers are to proceed in cases where claims are made to advertised property or objections made to the sale of it.

Provided such claim or objection shall not have been designedly delayed.

But should the claim be urged with a fraudulent design, the sale is to proceed & the claimant left to prosecute in the civil court.

166. The Court having been informed that some of the judicial officers in these provinces have been in the habit of admitting claims to property advertised for sale in execution of decree, after the period of the proclamation prescribed by Clause 2, Section 3, Regulation 7 of 1825, has expired, deem it advisable to point out that such practice is both illegal and inexpedient.—Cir. Ord. 11th July 1847, par. 1.

Claims to property advertised for sale in execution of decrees cannot be admitted after the proclamation prescribed in reg. 7, 1825, sec. 3, cl. 2.

167. Clause 6, Section 3, Regulation 7 of 1825 enacts, that if any claim be preferred to the property advertised for sale in execution of a decree, or any objection offered to the proposed sale, "within the period of the proclamation," it shall be enquired into, provided that the representation thereof shall not appear to have been designedly or unnecessarily delayed, with a view to obstruct the ends of justice. If the Court observe, a sale be postponed pending the investigation of a claim or objection preferred within the period limited, it is obviously proper that, on the said claim or objection being disposed of, another proclamation (the term of Objections may be offered within the period of the proclamation.

When they are disposed of, another proclamation should issue, but no objections can be heard within the period of that second proclamation.

which should not be less than fifteen days) fixing the time and place of sale, with particulars of the property to be sold, and of the amount for the recovery of which the sale is ordered, should be issued for the information of intending purchasers, but it is not competent to the courts to receive new claims or objections to the sale, within the period of that proclamation, or in fact, at any time after the expiry of thirty days from the date of the first, and only proclamation, contemplated by the law. The representation of such claim or objection, after the period of the first proclamation of the intended sale has elapsed, can only be regarded as having been "designedly and unnecessarily delayed with a view to obstruct the ends of justice," and the only proper course is to proceed to the sale, leaving the claimant in the words of the law "to prosecute his claim after the sale, by a regular civil suit."—Cir. Ord. 11th July 1847, par. 2.

If this practice were allowed, sales would be postponed ad infinitum.

168. Where such a practice prevails, a sale may be postponed time after time, pending enquiry into pretended and unfounded claims, and the decree-holder be defeated in his endeavour to realize that which has been judicially declared to be his due.—Ibid, par. 3.

The successor of a judge cannot reverse a sale on the application of the proprietor some months after it had taken place.

169. The petitioner purchased a lot sold in execution of a decree of court, and obtained a deed of sale from the zillah Judge. The successor of the Judge reversed the sale on the application of the late proprietor, presented some months after the sale had taken place. The Court held that he was not warranted in so doing, and reversed his order.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th April 1841, p. 7.

A judge ordered a release of property, and the S. D. A. rejected an appeal because the objections had not been preferred to the judge himself.

170. In an appeal from the order of a zillah Judge for release, on claim preferred, of property attached by the petitioner in execution of a decree, the Sudder dewanny adawlut rejected the application, the objections to the release not having been made in the Zillah court.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Jan. 1842, p. 22.

Appeals from the orders of P. S. A. in execution of their decrees, above 5000 ru. lie to the S. D. A.

171. Appeals from orders passed by the Principal Sudder Ameens, under Clause 6, Section 3, Regulation 7 of 1825, in execution of their own decrees in suits above the value of 5000 rupees, will lie direct to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Con. 1148, West. C. 27th April, Cal. C. 11th May 1838, par. 2.

In the event of any claim or objection against the sale, the collector shall communicate the same to the court, & shall be guided by the instructions he may receive.

172. In the event of any claim being preferred, or objection offered, to the Collector against the sale of the lands proposed to be sold, as not belonging to the person or persons answerable for the amount of the decree, or other process, to be enforced, and consequently not liable to be sold in execution thereof the Collector shall communicate such claim, or objection, with any information which his official records may enable him to furnish on the subject, to the court which may have applied for the sale; and shall be guided by the instructions which he may receive in answer, whether to proceed with the sale, or otherwise.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 4, Cl. 4.

An estate being recorded in the collector's books in the name of another than him against whom execution is sued out, does not authorize the collector to decline the sale.

173. The circumstance of an estate being recorded in the Collector's records in the name of another person than him against whom the execution of the decree was sued, is not sufficient to warrant the Collector to decline to bring to sale, unless a claim were preferred or objection offered, in which case the Collector should proceed in the manner laid down in Clauses 4 and 5, Section 4, Regulation 7, 1825.—Con. 648, 22d July 1831, par. 2.

the collector in execution of a decree, cannot be dispossessed.

175. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 7th ultimo, representing the inconvenience arising from the refusal of the Collector of your division to carry into effect the orders of your court for the sale of landed property, and requesting the decision of the court as to whether the claims advanced for property advertised for sale under orders of a court are to be decided by the Collector, or by the court directing the sale. In reply, I am directed to inform you that, under the provisions cited by you, such claims come exclusively within the cognizance of the court ordering the sale.—Con. 794, West. C. 12th June, Cal. C. 5th July 1833.

Claims to property advertised for sale by order of a court are exclusively cognizable by the court ordering the sale, not by the collector.

176. With reference to a question recently brought before the Court touching a construction of Clause 4, Section 4, Regulation 7 of 1825, in respect to the power of a Collector to postpone a sale under the circumstances contemplated by that clause, I am directed to acquaint you that it has been ruled by the Court that no power is thereby vested in a Collector of postponing the sale, without an express injunction from the court ordering the sale to that effect; and unless such injunction be received, the sale should accordingly take place on the date fixed.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1840, par. 1.

No collector can postpone a sale without the express injunction of the court ordering the sale.

177. In all cases of a claim, or objection, being communicated by a Collector to the court, enforcing a decree or other process, under the foregoing clause, or of a claim to lands proposed for sale in execution of judicial process, being received from the claimant, by the Judge, or other officer, who may have required the sale, it shall be his duty to enter upon an immediate summary enquiry into the truth and foundation of such claim; and if it appear proper he shall instruct the Collector to postpone the intended sale until such enquiry shall have been completed. Provided however, that such postponement shall not be necessary when the claim, or objection, may not have been preferred within a reasonable time, after the Collector's publication of the intended sale, and may appear to have been intentionally delayed, with a view to obstruct the sale. In such cases the court may order the sale to take place; and refer the claimant to a regular suit, in prosecution of his claim.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 4, Cl. 5.

In cases where objections are communicated by collectors, or claims preferred to lands ordered for sale, the judge, &c. to institute a summary enquiry, and if requisite to instruct the collector to postpone the sale.

Such postponement to be held unnecessary if the claim has not been preferred within a reasonable period.

178. Inconvenience has been found to result from the practice, which obtains in some districts, of forming into one case all objections which may be preferred by different parties to the sale or transfer of property, in execution of decrees of court. To obviate this, it has been ordered that every petition containing objections of the above nature should constitute a separate misl, or case, and any documentary or oral evidence adduced in support or refutation thereof, together with the decree-holder's answer, should be carefully filed with such petition, and kept distinct from all other cases involving claims to the same property, each misl being endorsed as in the margin.* In like manner when an appeal may be preferred from orders passed in regard to such objections*, only the proceedings in the particular case to which the appeal may relate, should be forwarded to the appellate court, unless otherwise directed, with copies of the decree, of the decree-holder's application suing out execution of the same, and of the nazir's report relative to the attachment of the property and the issue of the prescribed notices. It will still however, be proper that all papers relating to the execution of the same decree should be kept in one bundle with the proceedings in the case to which the decree has reference, a list being annexed thereto of the number of objections preferred in the course of its execution, with distinguishing marks corresponding with the endorsements above prescribed.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

Cases of resistance of process to be likewise kept separate.

179. Cases of resistance of process should also be kept separate in the same manner ; the report of the resistance forming the commencement of each misl or case.—Ibid.

The order of a judicial officer for the sale of real property in execution of decrees when claims are preferred within the period of the proclamation, will not be carried into effect till the expiration of the period allowed for appeal.

180. The Court having taken into consideration the Circular order, under date the 6th of June, 1828, directing that in case of sales of real property under Regulation 7, 1825, the proceeds be kept in deposit, until the period allowed for preferring objections to the sale shall have expired, and possession given to the purchaser ; and advertg to the abolition of the controlling power of the Provincial courts, and the increased distance to which persons dissatisfied with the zillah and city Judges' order have now to proceed ; direct that the order of a Judge, or other judicial officer, for the sale of real property in execution of decrees, in cases where claims may be preferred to the property advertised, or objections made to the sale of it, within the period of the proclamation, shall not be carried into effect till the expiration of the period of appeal already allowed by Clause 5, Section 3 of the Regulation above quoted, which shall be calculated from the date of the final order of sale ; excluding from the calculation the interval which may have elapsed between the date on which the required stamped paper may have been furnished by the party to the court, and that on which the copy of the order in question may have been tendered or delivered to the party requiring it.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 19th July 1833.

Explanation and application of the words "or objections made to the sale of property within the period of the proclamation."

181. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the Western Provinces to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from you under date the 15th instant, requesting to know whether the following expression in the Circular letter of the 19th July, 1833, "or objections made to the sale of property within the period of the proclamation," is to be understood as including objections made by defendants, against whom the process has been taken out, to the sale of their own property, or those only which may be urged against such sale by claimants of the property of other individuals. In reply, I am directed to acquaint you that the expression in question must be considered equally applicable to defendants as to other individuals, who may have objections to advance to the disposal of property advertised for sale by public auction in satisfaction of a decree of court.—Con. 844, West. C. 22d Nov., Cal. C. 6th Dec. 1833.

The C. O. of 19th July, 1833, does not allow a new postponement on the rejection of every petition objecting thereto, but merely prohibits the order of the sale to be executed for three months.

182. Since the Court's order, to delay sales of real property in satisfaction of decrees for three months from the date of any order disallowing a claim to the same, it has become a practice to cause petitions of claims to be presented the day previous to that fixed for the sale, not with a view of eventually establishing any claim, but for the sole purpose of getting the prayer disallowed, and obtaining a delay of three months, at the end of which, a new petition of claim is ready to be thrown in by another hand, so that the execution of decrees becomes delayed ad infinitum. I request specific instructions on this point, i. e. whether petitions thus dropped in the day before that fixed for sale, without documents or any sort of support, are to be permitted to postpone the sale for three months. I request you will lay this letter before the Judges for their orders ; in the meantime it is my intention to act under the Regulation above quoted.—I am directed by the Court to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, No. 117, and in reply to observe that you have mistaken the intent of their Circular order of the 19th July last, which was not to allow a new postponement of the sale on the rejection of every petition objecting thereto, but merely to prohibit the order for sale being carried into execution for three months, that is, until the expiration of the period prescribed for appealing, with a view of enabling the parties dissatisfied with it, to prefer their appeal within that period.—Con. 877, 27th March 1834.

183. The Court take this opportunity of noticing an erroneous practice which has been found to be generally prevalent, in giving effect to the rule contained in the commencement of the Circular order above alluded to. In disposing of objections preferred by an oozardar, a date should be at once fixed for the sale—the prescribed period for the institution of an appeal being however invariably allowed, and the practice which is found to obtain extensively, of postponing in the first instance the further consideration of the case for the above term, and after its expiry issuing the customary orders for the sale process, should be abandoned as having a tendency to delay unnecessarily the ultimate execution of the decree.—Cir. Ord. 11th Aug. 1843, par. 2.

In disposing of the objections of an oozardar, a date should be at once fixed for the sale, allowing the prescribed period for appeal.

184. I am directed to inform you that the view taken by you in your letter of the 14th May last, No. 20, in regard to the retention of the proceeds of sales in execution of decrees, is in the opinion of the Court perfectly correct, and I am instructed to take this opportunity of briefly stating the measures which should be adopted in such cases.—Con. 1027, West. C. 15th, Cal. C. 29th July 1836, par. 1.

Course to be adopted regarding the retention of the proceeds of sales in execution of decrees.

185. When claims or objections are preferred to the zillah Judge before the sale, and rejected by that officer, the sale must be postponed for three months from the date of the Judge's order.—Ibid, par. 2.

When claims or objections are preferred to the judge before the sale and rejected, it must be postponed for three months.

186. When objections are preferred to a zillah Judge after the sale, and by him similarly rejected and the sale confirmed, the purchase money must be kept in deposit for three months from the date of the order of the Judge rejecting the petition and confirming the sale.—Ibid, par. 3.

When they are preferred after the sale and rejected, the purchase money must be kept in deposit three months.

187. If on the other hand no claims are preferred before the sale, it may take place in thirty days, and if, after the sale, no objections are preferred within thirty days, the purchase money may, in like manner, be paid to the decree-holder at the expiration of that period.—Ibid, par. 4.

If no claims are preferred before the sale, it may take place in 30 days; if no objections are made after the sale, the money may be paid away in 30 days.

188. There is yet another difficulty to which I must allude. The realization of the amount decreed being thus indefinitely postponed, (should my construction of the Court's order be correct,) on whom should the demand for interest accruing thereon be made? Any delay in the non-receipt of the full amount by the decree-holder is not the act of the individual against whom judgment is given, though in many cases perhaps originating in his collusion with connexions or dependants, one of whom is put forward as a claimant as often as the lands are advertised; to charge him therefore with interest would be unjust; the decree-holder, on the other hand, is entitled to interest on his decree till the whole amount is discharged.—With reference to paragraph 5 of your letter of the 18th March last, No. 16, I am directed to inform you that the Court consider it competent to you, under the circumstances stated, to impose the payment of the accruing interest of the debt on any claimant, whose objections may in your judgment be evidently collusive and litigious, or vexatious and unfounded, subject of course to an appeal to this Court.—Con. 1010, Cal. C. 3d, West. C. 24th June 1836.

The court may impose the payment of the accruing interest of the debt on any claimant whose objections appear collusive, litigious, vexatious, or unfounded.

How the accruing interest is to be calculated.

189. The accruing interest, the payment of which may be imposed under Construction 1010, on any claimant, whose objections are evidently collusive and litigious or vexatious, and unfounded, should be calculated upon the amount thereby affected, and not upon the whole amount of the decree.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d March 1846, p. 77.

This interest must be recovered by the decree-holder.

190. The interest, with which a claimant may be charged under Construction 1010, should be recovered from him by the decree-holder.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th March 1847.

A judgment creditor is entitled to interest on money, the payment of which is delayed by frivolous objections.

191. A judgment creditor is entitled to interest on a sum of money, realized by the sale of his debtor's property and deposited in court, but of which payment to the creditor is delayed in consequence of frivolous objections raised by the defendant.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Dec. 1842, p. 42.

The institution of a regular suit to set aside a sale of property, no reason for withholding possession from the purchaser.

192. The institution of a regular suit to set aside a sale of property sold in execution of a decree of court, is no sufficient reason for withholding possession of the property from the purchaser.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Sept. 1841, p. 17.

The court is at liberty, after holding a summary investigation into the claims of objectors to the execution of a decree, to quash any lease which is evidently fraudulent.

193. I am directed by the Court to inform you that Section 4, Regulation 44, 1793, is rescinded by Regulation 18, 1812, but that under the circumstances stated by you, you are authorised in cases of execution of decrees, after holding a summary investigation into the claims of the parties concerned to quash any lease which may be satisfactorily shewn to be fraudulent, leaving the party dissatisfied with your decision to appeal summarily to this Court, or institute a regular suit to recover possession of their alleged rights.—Con. 1059, 2d Dec. 1836.

SECTION VIII.

General Principle for the Guidance of the Courts in disposing of these Claims to Land sold in execution of Decrees.

In all cases of sale of property, the bidders shall be apprised that nothing is guaranteed to them beyond the rights and interests of the individuals answerable for the amount of the decree.

194. In all cases of a public sale of property, under this Regulation, it shall be clearly explained to the bidders at the sale, that nothing is guaranteed to them in the land, or other property sold, beyond the rights and interests therein of the individuals answerable for the amount of the decree, or other process, in execution of which the sale is made.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 7.

Rule of practice when the property to be sold has a prior lien of a mortgage.

195. An erroneous practice being believed to prevail in respect to the mode of conducting sales in satisfaction of decrees, when the property to be sold has on it the prior lien of a mortgage, I am directed to communicate, for the information and guidance of your own and the subordinate courts, the following rule.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1840, par. 1.

No summary investigation will be made into the claims of a mortgagee, as only the defendant's right and interest in the property are sold.

196. It has been recently ruled by the Court that the summary investigation often made into the claims of a mortgagee who may assert a prior mortgage on such property, is irregular and supererogatory; the defendant's right and interest in the property being alone sold with the incumbrance of any prior mortgage, and the law providing that bidders at such sales be clearly apprised that nothing is guaranteed to them in the land or other property sold beyond such right and interest.—Ibid, par. 2.

197. The Court are of opinion that on prior claims being asserted before the completion of the sale, the existence of such claims should be made known by the officer conducting the sale, to the bidders, and be recorded by him in the roobukaree of sale.—Cir. Ord. 4th Sept. 1840, par. 3.

If prior claims are asserted before the completion of the sale, they should be made known to the bidders, and recorded in the roobukaree.

198. With a view to define and fix the practice of the judicial tribunals, in disposing of cases involving objections to the sale of property in execution of decrees, the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad have determined on adopting the following rules hereby prescribed for the guidance of the courts.—Cir. Ord. 10th June 1842.

Rules for defining and fixing the practice of the courts in disposing of objections to the sale of property in execution of decrees.

199. The objections usually brought forward to the sale of property, moveable and immovable, in such cases are of three kinds. 1, That the property advertised for sale is already mortgaged to the objector. 2, That the party liable for the claim in satisfaction of which the property is advertised for sale, has only a limited interest therein, there being other shareholders, including the objector, and the property being undivided. 3, That the party liable for the demand has no interest whatever in the property attached and advertised for sale, never having possessed any, or whatever interest he or his ancestors may have enjoyed therein having been previously transferred by them either to the objector, or other party from whom he may have derived the right, by a deed of sale, gift, or other mode of absolute conveyance.—Ibid, Rule 1.

Those objections are usually of three kinds.

200. It has been already ruled, as regards the first class of objections, in Circular order, No. 106, dated 4th September, 1840, that no summary investigation is to be made into the claim of the mortgagee, the auction purchaser standing in precisely the same position to the property after, as the mortgager did before, the sale, and the rights and interests of the mortgagee being in no way affected by such sale. It was at the same time provided, that the existence of such prior claims should, time permitting it, be made known by the auctioneer to the bidders at a sale. The principle which governs this rule is, that the objector does not deny the fact of the defendant having some right and interest in the property, so that the result of any investigation which should be made, would not be the total prohibition of the sale, but simply the determination of the extent of the objector's right and the validity of his lien, which cannot properly be affected by summary enquiry.—Ibid, Rule 2.

1st objection, that the property advertised for sale is mortgaged to the objector.

No summary claim is to be made into the claim of the mortgagee.

But the existence of such claims is to be made known to the bidders.

201. A similar principle will guide the disposal of objections under the second head, viz. where the objector may claim to have a share in the property attached and advertised for sale, and may pray that such share be exempted from sale, and that the sale may be restricted to the share of the person liable for the demand in satisfaction of which the property has been advertised for sale. The courts will, therefore, refuse to take cognizance of such objections, with a view of determining in the miscellaneous department, the specific amount of the share in the property advertised for sale, of the party liable for the demand, as well as of the objecting parties, in order to the restriction of sale to the share of the former, and the exemption from sale of the share or shares of the latter, since the rights and interests only of the party liable for the demand being sold, such sale cannot affect injuriously the rights and interests of any other shareholders in the property. In such cases, also, intimation should be given by the auctioneer at the time of sale of the claim brought by the objector or objectors to the property.—Ibid, Rule 3.

2d objection, that the objector claims a share in the property to be sold, and that his share may be exempted from sale.

The courts will not take cognizance of this objection in the miscellaneous department, nor exempt the land claimed from sale.

Only the right and interest of the party liable for the demand is sold, and the sale cannot injuriously affect the interests of any other shareholders.

3d objection, that the land is not the property of the debtor, should be summarily investigated.

In the investigation, possession is the sole point to be looked to.

If the possession of the claimant is clearly established, the sale must be stopped.

These sales convey to the purchaser nothing beyond what was enjoyed at the time of the sale by the debtor, and the courts will merely place the purchaser in the position of the defendant.

The above rules apply equally to movable property.

Farther explanation of the rule given above, that possession is the general principle for the guidance of courts in deciding claims to property about to be sold.

The sale will be annulled if the non-existence of any rights and interests of the debtor be established.

Objections to a coming sale, alleging possession on the part of the objector must be enquired into before the sale.

202. With respect to the third class of objections, viz. claims founded on unconditional purchase, or other absolute acquisition of the property put up for sale, the plea advanced being that the latter is not the property of the debtor, the courts have ruled that such claims should be made the subject of a summary investigation, because on the result depends whether the contemplated sale shall take place at all or not. The principle, however, which will govern all such enquiries shall be that possession is the sole point to be looked to and determined in the miscellaneous department, and that, should the possession of the objector or claimant, prior to the attachment of the property or advertisement of sale be satisfactorily established, sufficient ground will be held to exist for stopping the sale, without enquiry into the validity of the alleged title, any dissatisfied party being left to bring a regular suit.—Cir. Ord. 10th June 1842, Rule 4.

203. It must be expressly borne in mind that sales of the description contemplated convey to the purchaser nothing beyond what was enjoyed at the time of sale by the person whose interests are sold; and the court, in the execution of its process, will only place the purchaser in the position, with respect to the thing sold, in which it found the defendant.—Ibid, Rule 5.

204. The above rules will be considered equally applicable to movable and unmovable property.—Ibid, Rule 6.

205. The Court having observed that considerable misapprehension exists as to the right construction of paragraph 4 of the Circular order, No. 205, of the 10th January, 1842, direct me to communicate to you the following remarks and instructions for future guidance. The object of the rule adverted to was to lay down a general principle for the guidance of the judicial authorities, in deciding upon claims to property attached in execution of decrees of court. The principle was that possession was the sole point to be looked to and determined in the miscellaneous departments. This, however, did not contemplate that execution was to be stayed, if for instance, the heir of a debtor, who died after judgment given, was in possession of the estate of the deceased, nor indeed did it contemplate anything but an actual bonâ fide possession (as far as that could be summarily ascertained,) under a title adverse to the right of the debtor, and therefore such a right as would bar execution of the decree obtained; nor was it intended to deprive the Courts of justice of that discretionary power vested in them to decide upon the fact according to the evidence adduced, as to whether the claim of the objector rested upon an actual and bonâ fide possession, or involved merely the allegation of a fictitious and fraudulent transaction. The Court therefore desire that in adjudicating such claims, the judicial authorities will still act upon the principle laid down in the rule adverted to, the application of the principle must be left to the discretion of the courts, with reference to the merits of each particular case.—Cir. Ord. 21st May 1847.

206. The purchaser at a sale in satisfaction of a decree of court, of a party's rights and interests, is entitled to have the sale annulled, and recover the sale proceeds on the non-existence of any rights and interests being established.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 8th June 1846, vol. 7, p. 262.

207. Objections to a coming sale in satisfaction of a decree, alleging possession on the part of the objector, must be enquired into before the sale can take place.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Jan. 1846, p. 75.

SECTION IX.

Cases in which the Sale of Lands sold in satisfaction of a Decree may, or may not, be reversed—Institution of a Regular Suit.

208. The usual processes for attachment and sale, in such cases, may either be issued successively, or simultaneously as the Judge, Register, or other judicial officer, directing the sale, may in each instance think proper, with reference to the circumstances of the case. But no sale shall, in any instance, take place without a previous proclamation, for the period specified in the preceding clause; and any material irregularity in the sale, which may be established, on a summary enquiry to the satisfaction of the Judge, Register, or other officer, by whom the sale may have been ordered, shall be sufficient to invalidate the sale; provided that a petition, written on the stamped paper required for miscellaneous petitions to the Zillah and City courts, and stating circumstantially the irregularity which may have taken place, be presented to the Judge, Register, or other officer, by whom the sale may have been ordered, within one month after the sale.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 3, Cl. 3.

The usual processes for attachment, and sale may be issued simultaneously.

No sale to take place without the specified proclamation being made; and any material irregularity will render the sale liable to be declared invalid.

If a petition on stamped paper be presented within one month after the sale.

209. Whenever a public sale may be set aside, as invalid, under the preceding clause, or on any account whatever, and no collusion, or fraud shall appear on the part of the purchaser, he shall be entitled to receive back his purchase money, on restoring any property delivered over to him, with or without interest, in such manner as it may appear proper to direct in each instance.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

In cases where sales are annulled and no collusion appears, the purchaser to have his purchase money returned with or without interest as may appear proper.

210. The summary decision passed by the zillah or city Judges, or Registers, under this section, shall be open to a summary appeal to the Provincial [now Sudder] courts, under the general rules for such appeals.—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Summary decision passed by judges or registers appealable to the provincial courts.

211. A doubt having been entertained whether public sales of land, made by the revenue officers of Government, in satisfaction of decrees or other process of the Courts of judicature, can be summarily set aside, without a regular civil suit, or proof of irregularity in publishing and conducting the sale, or otherwise; it is hereby declared, that the Zillah or City court, or other judicial authority, who may have ordered the sale in such cases, shall be competent to declare the same null and void, and to order a resale in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, if, on summary enquiry, any material deviation therefrom, and consequent irregularity in the sale, be satisfactorily established; provided that a petition containing a circumstantial statement of such irregularity, and written on the stamped paper required for miscellaneous petitions in the Zillah and City courts be presented to the court by which the sale may have been ordered, within a month after the sale. In such cases the Court directing the sale to be set aside shall further be competent to direct a return of the purchase money, with or without interest as provided for in similar cases, by the fourth clause of Section 3 of this Regulation.—Ibid, Sect. 5, Cl. 1.

All judicial authorities who may have ordered sales of lands by revenue officers empowered to declare such sales null and void, and to order a resale, if on summary enquiry, any material irregularity be satisfactorily established.

Proviso.

In certain cases the purchase money to be returned with or without interest.

Summary decisions passed under this section appealable to the provincial courts.

Inadequacy of price is not a legal ground for annulling an auction sale in execution of a decree.

213. The Court are of opinion that the practice alluded to in this extract, of ordering a resale of property, on the ground that the sum realized has, for special reasons, been extremely small, is illegal; the Judge is competent to take every precaution to prevent the sale of property for less than its marketable value, but after the sale has been once closed and the bidder •been given to understand that he is the purchaser for the sum offered, the property cannot on this ground be again offered for sale, having become the right of the purchaser.—*Con. 829, West. SECTION X.

Disposal of the Proceeds of the Sale of Lands sold in Execution of Decrees.

222. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut having lately had occasion to consider the rules connected with the sale of lands, and with a view to the protection of the rights of individuals who may be subsequently discovered to have an interest in such property, deem it expedient to direct, that in every case of a sale of real property taking place under Regulation 7, 1825, the proceeds may be kept in deposit until the period allowed by Clause third, Section 3, and Clause first, Section 5 of that Regulation for preferring objections to the sale with a view to its immediate annulment shall have expired, and until possession shall have been given to the purchaser.—Cir. Ord. 6th June 1828.

The proceeds of the sale will be kept in deposit till after the period for preferring objections to the sales has elapsed.

223. The Court notify for the information and guidance of the zillah and city Judges in the lower provinces, that that portion of Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 1, dated 6th June, 1828, which prescribe the retention of proceeds of sale in deposit "until possession shall have been given to the purchaser," has been ruled, by the concurrent opinion of both Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, to be beyond the requirements of the law, and practically inexpedient and inconvenient, and has been accordingly cancelled.—Cir. Ord. 11th Aug. 1843, par. 1.

The words "until possession shall have been given to the purchaser" in the above order cancelled.

224. The rule contained in the Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, 6th June, 1828, for retaining the purchase money in deposit until the period for preferring objections to the sale has elapsed, and possession been given to the purchaser, does not apply to the case of a purchaser who refuses to take possession when tendered. In such case the money should be paid to the decree-holder and the purchaser warned that he must abide the consequences of his refusal.—Con. 532, 4th Dec. 1829.

But this rule does not apply to the case of a purchaser who refuses to take possession, when tendered. In this case, the money must be paid to the decree-holder.

225. An instance having lately been brought to the notice of the Court, in which a zillah Judge had inadvertently paid away the amount proceeds of the sale of real property in direct opposition to the Circular order on this subject, dated 6th June, 1828; I am directed by the Court to call your particular attention to the instructions laid down in that letter, and to inform you that the Court must hold any zillah Judge paying away money from his treasury contrary to the Regulations of Government, or to the express orders of this Court, personally responsible for the same.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d Jan. 1836, par. 1.

The Judges are strictly enjoined not to pay away the money, the proceeds of the sale, till the period for preferring an appeal has expired.

[Vide also Construction 1027, paras. 1, 3 and 4, Nos. 184, 186, 187, of this chapter.]

226. With a view to prevent the occurrence of similar irregularities in future, I am further directed by the Court to forward you a form of proceeding, which you will be pleased to vary to record in your Persian roobukaree in all sale cases, following the words of the form as far as may be practicable in each individual case.

To prevent this irregularity the S. D. A. prescribes a form of proceeding which the Judge will invariably record in all sale cases.

* Miscellaneous orders passed in execution of decrees carrying into effect the original intention of the court, must be considered as final and not constituting a new ground of action.—Con. 1129, Cal. and West. C. 9th Feb. 1838.

Form to be recorded in the Persian Roobukaree.

Form.

"For the above reasons objections of the claimant, [or of the oozardar,] are in the judgment of the Court, without foundation, or fraudulent. It is therefore ordered, that, agreeably to Section 5, Regulation 7, 1825, the sale be confirmed, and a copy of this proceeding be sent to the Collector for his information ; and it is further ordered, that the nazir do put the purchaser into possession of the property purchased, and that a purwannah be sent to the treasurer to hold, agreeably to Circular order of the 6th June, 1828, the amount proceeds of the sale in deposit for three months from the date of this roobukaree : at the expiration of which date the nazir will report whether the purchaser has been placed in possession or not, when a final order will be issued for the payment of the money."—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 2d Jan. 1836, par. 2.

It is improper to deduct from the sale price any arrears of revenue due from the mehal, in which the rights of any one may be brought to sale.

227. The Sudder board of revenue having had under consideration the practice which obtains in regard to the disposal of the proceeds of sales made by orders of the Civil courts, are of opinion that as by Regulation 7, 1825, such sales are declared to convey only "the rights and interests of the individuals answerable for the amount of the decree in execution of which the sale is made," they should be treated, so far as Government is concerned, as mere private transfers ; and that it is alike unnecessary and inexpedient to deduct from the sale price any arrears of revenue due from the mehal, in which the rights and interests of any person or persons may be brought to sale. Such a course is obviously unfair and inequitable when the party against whom the process is enforced, possesses only a limited share in a joint undivided estate, and it is in all cases objectionable, as tending to confuse two very different processes, and to infringe the great principle of the hypothecation of the land itself for the revenue assessed upon it.—Cir. Ord. S. B. of Rev. 15th Oct. 1841, par. 1.

The collector will be careful to explain that the purchaser succeeds to the liabilities of the former proprietor and that the govt. claims are not affected by the sale.

228. The board are therefore pleased to direct that the practice above alluded to be discontinued, and that the Collectors be instructed to be careful in causing it to be distinctly understood, in every case of sale held in satisfaction of a decree of court or other similar claim, that it is a condition of the sale, (see Section 15, Regulation 45, 1793,) that the purchaser succeeds to all the liabilities of the former proprietor, and that the Government claims against the mehal are in no degree affected by the sale.—Ibid, par. 2.

SECTION XI.

Limitation of Time for instituting a Suit for the Execution of a Decree.

The limitation of time for instituting a suit for the Execution of a Decree is founded upon the following enactment .

Courts not to try the merits of any suit where the cause of action shall have arisen before the 12th Aug. 1765.

Nor any suit where the cause of action shall have arisen

229. The Zillah and City courts are prohibited hearing, trying, or determining the merits of any suit whatever, against any person or persons, if the cause of action shall have arisen previous to the 12th of August, 1765 ; or any suit whatever against any person or persons, if the cause of action shall have arisen twelve years before any suit shall have been commenced on account of it ; unless the complainant can shew by clear and positive proof, that he had demanded the money or matter in question, and that the defendant had admitted the truth of the demand, or promised to pay the money: or that he directly preferred his claim within that period for the matters in dispute, to a court of competent jurisdiction to try the demand; and shall assign satisfactory reasons to the court why he did not proceed in the suit; or shall prove that either from minority, or other good and sufficient cause, he had been precluded from obtaining redress.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 14.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 4.

twelve years before a suit shall have been commenced for it.

Exception to the rule.

230. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in reply to a reference from the Dacca Provincial court, determined, on the 8th of April, 1802, that a decree not enforced during a period of twelve years and upwards, might be put in execution, on application for that purpose, without a fresh suit; provided the party holding it explain satisfactorily the cause of the delay, and no valid objections are offered by the adverse party.—Con. 3, 8th April 1802.

A decree may be executed after 12 years, if good & sufficient cause be shewn for the delay.

231. A decree not carried into execution, at the time of its being passed, may be executed on application being made for that purpose, within twelve years from the date of the decision after calling upon the opposite party to show cause why the judgment should not be carried into effect against him; should the party, however, holding the decree, neglect to make application for enforcing the judgment in his favour within the period above specified, the Court are of opinion, that the application ought not to be admitted, without his establishing, to the satisfaction of the court, good and sufficient cause for the delay.—Con. 136, 28th Oct. 1813.

Rule regarding the execution of a decree within 12 years of its being passed, and, also, after that time.

232. Execution of a decree thirteen years after the date thereof disallowed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Nov. 1818, vol. 2, p. 280.

Execution after 13 years, disallowed.

233. Claim to the amount of a decree in favour of the ancestor of the plaintiff, passed twenty-four years before, disallowed on presumption, arising from lapse of time and other circumstances, that it had been satisfied. No institution fee levied, and one-fourth only of the regular costs made payable as in summary suits.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th March 1811, vol. 1, p. 317.

Claim to the amount of a decree passed 24 years before, in favor of plaintiff's ancestor, disallowed.

234. The orders of the Zillah court rejecting the summary application of the petitioners to execute their decree sixteen years after date thereof, affirmed on appeal by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 9th April 1839, p. 19.

A summary application for the execution of a decree 16 years after the date of it, rejected.

235. In a suit to cause execution of a Moonsiff's decree, the cause of action must be considered to have arisen from the expiration of one year from the date of the decree, and such suit instituted 14 years after the date of the decree would be inadmissible, unless good and sufficient cause were shewn for the delay.—Con. 495, 27th Feb. 1829.

In executing a moonsiff's decree, the cause of action arises from the expiration of one year from the date of the decree. A suit instituted 14 years after, inadmissible.

236. On a reference from the additional Judge of Benares, as to the right of Government to take out execution of a decree in its favor, after the expiration of 12 years from the date of judgment, it was held that the terms of Section 2, Regulation 2, 1805, which Section declares claims on the part of Government to be cognizable by the courts, if preferred within 60 years from the origin of the cause of action, have reference to "hearing, trying, and determin-

The rule of limitation regarding sixty years refers to claims preferred, not to claims adjusted.

ing" by the Courts of civil justice of all claims preferred on the part of Government, but do not extend to the case of claims already adjudged; and that, therefore, Construction No. 136, declaring that decrees may be executed after 12 years, provided good and sufficient cause for the delay be shewn, must be the rule of guidance in all cases whether the decree be in favor of Government or a private individual.—Con. 1348, West. C. 1st, Cal. C. 22d July 1842.

SECTION XII.

Aid of the Collector and of other Courts in the execution of Decrees.

The civil courts may require the aid of the collectors in the enforcement of decrees relating to malgoozaree land, whenever it may appear conducive to their speedy and complete execution.

237. By the existing Regulations the Judge of the Zillah and City courts, are required to transmit to the Collectors of their respective jurisdictions, (as well as to the Board of Revenue) copies of all decrees which may be passed by them, or by their Registers; or which may be sent to them for enforcement by the superior courts; affecting the proprietary right to, or possession of, any lands paying revenue to Government, or held exempt from the payment of revenue; for the purpose of enabling them to make the requisite entries and alterations in the periodical registers of land. The Judges of the several Civil courts are further hereby authorized to require the aid of the local Collector, in the enforcement of all such decrees, whenever it may appear conducive to their speedy and complete execution; whether by giving possession to the parties entitled thereto; or by the adjustment of a wasilat account, or otherwise.—Reg. 7, 1825, Sect. 6.

The judicial officers should avail themselves of the assistance of the revenue officers in the enforcement of decrees regarding the proprietary right of land.

238. The Court entirely concur in the opinion expressed in the letter, [letter of the secretary of the Sudder Board,] as to the expediency of the judicial authorities availing themselves, so far as may be practicable, of the assistance of the revenue officers, under the provisions of Section 6, Regulation 7 of 1825, in the enforcement of decrees relating to the proprietary right or possession of land, as obviously calculated to conduce, in a very material degree, to their speedy and satisfactory execution, to which department of the administration of civil justice, the Court, as you are aware, attach the utmost importance.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 30th Sept. 1836, Cal. C. 6th Jan. 1837, par. 2.

A quarterly statement of unanswered requisitions made to the collector relative to the execution of decrees, is to be forwarded to the commissioner of revenue.

239. In pursuance of the order contained in the sixth paragraph of the Secretary's letter, you will be pleased to forward to the Commissioner of Revenue of the division to whose authority the Collector is subject a quarterly statement of requisitions made relating to the execution of decrees, in the form B. This need not be submitted to the Sudder court; but any particular case of delay, without sufficient cause, will be brought by you to their notice.—Cir. Ord. 12th Dec. 1834, par. 4.

If any great delay subsequently takes place without sufficient cause assigned, the judge will bring it to the notice of the S. D. A.

240. It only remains to be added that in pursuance of the orders contained in the 6th paragraph of the letter from the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department under date 21st July, 1834, which was circulated for general information on the 12th December of that year, a quarterly statement of unanswered requisitions made to the Collector relating to the execution of decrees, is to be forwarded in the form noted in the margin, to the Commissioner of the division to whose authority the Collector may be subject, and in the event of any great delay subsequently taking place without any sufficient cause being assigned for it, the same is to be brought by the Judge specially to the notice of the Court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

C. plaintiff, versus D. defendant.	10th Jan. 1834.	To sell defendant's land in mouzah Alum-pore, purgunnah Alum-pore, 111 bigahs, 10 biswas.

241. The Court direct, in modification of paragraph 4 of the Circular order, No. 127, of the 12th December, 1834, that no other cases be included in the quarterly statement of requisitions to the Collector relating to execution of decrees, which is transmitted to the Commissioner of the division, than those in which delay is imputable to the Collector, and is not satisfactorily accounted for by the explanatory remarks which that officer is required to append to the statement.—Cir. Ord. 8th Nov. 1844.

What cases are to be included in the quarterly statement of requisitions to the collector relating to the execution of decrees which is to be transmitted to the commissioner.

242. The zillah and city Judges are also required to report any instances of great delay which may occur on the part of other courts called upon to assist in the execution of their decrees as well as on the part of the Principal Sudder Ameens, Sudder Ameens, and Moonsiffs, in executing decrees of their own or other courts, when the admonition or orders of the zillah or city Judges enjoining greater diligence and attention to this part of their duty, may prove ineffectual.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

The judges will report cases of delay in executing decrees by the uncovenanted judges.

243. The Court annex for the information and future guidance of the several civil Judges in the Lower Provinces, extract (par. 2) of a letter addressed by the Western Court to the Judge of Ghazepore, touching the execution of decrees through the agency of the revenue authorities who will be guided in their conduct by the Circular orders particularized in the margin. The issue of these instructions has been intimated to the Sudder Board of Revenue Lower Provinces,

The delay in complying with these requisitions arises often from the default of the decree-holder. If, therefore, he fail to comply with any requisition, which is necessary to the execution of the decree, the collector must strike his case off the file.

Circular order, No. 163, dated 11th December, 1835, which was incorporated with Circular order, No. 28, dated 21st December, 1838, under heading No. 10, corresponding with Circular order, 7th December, of the Lower Provinces.

who have been requested to address corresponding orders to the authorities subordinate to them.—Extract of a letter dated 28th March, 1843, to Judge of Ghazepore.—It is evident from the explanations offered by the Collector, that the delay of which you complain, has been, in the majority of instances, occasioned by the default of the decree-holder in advancing ameen's fees, or his failure in other necessary process. In such a contingency, the Court see no objection to the adoption of the course suggested in the second paragraph of your letter above cited, if the case be pending before the Collector, and the decree-holder fail to comply with any requisition, obedience to which may be a necessary preliminary to the execution of his decree, the Collector might strike the case off his file and give intimation to the Judge of his having done so. The Judge on receipt of such intimation, might adopt a similar course of procedure, and leave to the decree-holder the option of reinstituting proceedings at his discretion.—Cir. Ord. 16th June 1843.

Courts of justice to direct payment of the expences of divisions in decrees awarding the proprietary right in disputed cases.

244. Whenever the Courts of justice may pass a decree awarding to any person the proprietary right in a portion of an estate paying revenue to Government (whether fractional or consisting of specific lands) and may issue a precept to the Collector requiring him to divide the estate, and (provided it be not held khaus, or let in farm by Government) to put the parties in possession of the shares, to which they may be entitled under the decree, they shall make it a general rule to direct at the same time that the party or parties who may have withheld the right so decreed, shall defray the whole of the expence which may be incurred in the subsequent process of dividing, separating, and giving possession of, and apportioning the public revenue on the portion of the estate or lands so decreed. Provided however, that if any special reasons shall appear for a deviation from this general rule, the courts shall be at liberty to direct the expence in question to be defrayed by all, or any of the parties to the decree, in such proportions as the court passing the decree may, from a consideration of the particular circumstances of the case, deem equitable. Copies of all orders which the courts may pass under this section, are invariably to be transmitted to the Collector for his guidance, together with the precept which the court may issue to him, requiring him to divide the estate, and to put the parties in possession of the shares to which they may be entitled under the decree.—Reg. 19, 1814, Sect. 5.

Penalty for ameens convicted of corruption in opposition to their oaths.

245. If the ameen shall be convicted before the Magistrate of the zillah of receiving or allowing any other person to receive, directly or indirectly, any money or effects, or other property from the sharers, or from any person or persons on their behalf, in opposition to his oath, he shall be sentenced to pay a fine to Government of three times the amount of the money or value of the property so received by him, or by any other person with his permission, and to imprisonment not exceeding six months; and all prosecutions before the Magistrate under this clause shall be for a criminal misdemeanor at the instance of the Collector of the district, through the vakeel of Government. It is, however, at the same time hereby further declared, that the ameen shall be also liable to a suit for the same offence in the Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, and shall on conviction be compelled to restore the money or property to the party from whom it may have been received with all costs to the party prosecuting, and be imprisoned until he shall make good the decree or the amount of it shall be liquidated by the sale of his property.—Ibid. Sect. 13, Cl. 2.

How the butwarah of an estate, the joint property of govt. and of private individuals, is to be made.

246. The butwarah of an estate, partly the property of Government, and partly of private individuals, must nevertheless be made by the revenue authorities.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th March 1844, p. 57.

SECTION XIII.

Default of the Decree-holder.

247. Applications for the execution of decrees are to be considered as disposed of when the decree has been completely executed, or the case ordered to be struck off the file and placed in the record office in consequence of the failure of the decree-holder to take proper measures for the enforcement of the award passed in his favor.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

When applications for the execution of decrees are to be considered as disposed of.

248. The practice of keeping on the file cases, in which the decree-holder has neglected to proceed in the execution of his decree, or in which his endeavour to point out property liable for the satisfaction of his award have proved fruitless, is inconvenient and unnecessary. Whenever the decree-holder fails for a period of six weeks to carry on the execution of his decree, or when the whole of the property pointed out by him has been either sold and the proceeds paid to the party entitled to receive the same, or released from attachment in consequence of other claimants proving their right thereto, the case should be struck off the file. In the event of a fresh application being made by the decree-holder, the case will again be brought on the file as a new or revived case of execution, and will bear the date of its re-admission, and not of its original institution, the length of time it may remain on the file being calculated accordingly.—Ibid.

When the decree-holder fails for six weeks to carry on the execution of the decree, or when all the property pointed out by him is disposed of, the decree must be struck off the file.

It may be reinstated, and will then bear the date of its re-admission.

249. The Court have reason to believe that much misconception exists in regard to the 3d paragraph of Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 127, dated 12th December, 1834, (recapitulated in the appendix to Circular order, No. 28, dated Lower Provinces, 7th and Western Provinces, 21st December, 1838,) which requires that an application for execution of decree in which the decree-holder may fail to carry on execution for a period of six weeks, shall be, after its expiry, struck off the file : it has been found, that some functionaries have understood the Circular order in question to prohibit the expunction from the file of cases, in which the decree-holder has failed in filing schedules of property or in other necessary process within a prescribed and notified period because the “period of six weeks” had not elapsed.—Cir. Ord. 14th Oct. 1843, par. 1.

Misapprehension of the purport of the above circular order.

250. The Court, therefore, hereby notify, that the object of the Circular order above cited, was to prescribe a maximum period, beyond which, in the event of neglect in prosecution, or default of any description for that period on the part of a decree-holder the case should not be allowed to remain on the file, and not to prohibit the immediate expunction of the case on the omission of the decree-holder to attend to the requisitions of the court within a specific and stated space of time.—Ibid, par. 2.

The object of it is, to prescribe a maximum period, after which the case will be struck off; but it may be intermediately expunged for disregard of any specific requisition.

251. The distinction consists simply in this—that whereas, in the event of a decree-holder entirely neglecting for six weeks to carry on execution of his decree, it is obligatory on the Judge to dismiss the case on default, and strike it off his file, it would in the other event of inattention to the requisition of the court for a period allowed for any purpose, be discretionary with the said court to pursue the same course, or to give the decree-holder another opportunity of presenting schedules of property, pointing out its location, or satisfying any other requisite process.—Ibid, par. 3.

Explanation of it. It does not prohibit the immediate expunction of the case, if the decree-holder, neglects any requisition of the court, within the time fixed for its completion.

But the S. D. A. does not insist on the practice of prescribing fixed periods for the completion of every process and striking the case off the file for default.

252. It is, on the present occasion, the desire of the Court, simply to explain the provisions of a Circular order, which appears to have been misunderstood, and not to insist on the invariable adherence to a practice of prescribing fixed periods for the completion of every process in the course of execution, and in the event of default of striking the case off the file without further question or enquiry.—Cir. Ord. 14th Oct. 1843, par. 4.

SECTION XIV.

Of the respective Right of Decree-holders to share in the Proceeds of the Sale.

Rule for adjudicating conflicting claims of decree-holders to share in the proceeds of the sale.

253. With a view to fix the practice in respect to the proper authority for adjudicating conflicting claims advanced by decree-holders, to share in the proceeds of sales made in satisfaction of decrees passed by the subordinate courts, I am directed by the Court to communicate to you the following rule, established by judicial precedent, for the information and guidance of the covenanted and uncovenanted Judges.—Cir. Ord. 20th Nov. 1840.

All claims to share in the proceeds of the sale of property will be disposed of by the court ordering the sale.

254. All claims to a share in the proceeds of sales of property made in execution of decrees of court should, in the first instance, be preferred to, and disposed of by the court ordering the sale, whether such decrees may have been passed by that or by any other court, that tribunal passing an order in favour of whichever of the decree-holders it may consider to be entitled to the preference; and any party dissatisfied with such order having his remedy in an appeal to the Judge, (or Sudder dewanny adawlut, as the case may be) it not being competent to the higher court to interfere, with the view of adjudicating any matter of this nature, till the point come regularly before it in appeal.—Ibid.

Any party dissatisfied, may appeal.

Mere priority of date gives no preference to a decree. All decrees for which process of attachment has issued, will entitle the holders to share in proportion to their claim.

255. As it appears that much diversity of opinion and practice prevails with regard to the rules for distributing in liquidation of claims under various decrees of court, sums of money which may be in deposit and are inadequate to meet the whole demand, the Court direct me to request that you will bring the subject to the notice of the Judges of the Presidency Court. The Court understand the present practice, under the sanction of the Presidency Court, to be as follows; the mere priority of date gives no preference to a decree, but that all decrees under which process of attachment has been issued, provided they are dated previous to the distribution of the deposit, entitle the holders to share in proportion to the amount of their claim; with the exception of cases in which a bonâ fide mortgage of the deposit in favor of a particular claim may exist.—In reply, I am directed to observe that the practice, as generally followed, appears to be as stated by you.—Con. 935, Cal. and West. C. 22d Feb. 1835.

All decrees under which process of attachment has been issued entitle the holders to share in proportion to their claims, except bonâ fide mortgages.

256. I am directed by the Court to inform you that it has been ruled by both Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut that all decrees, under which process of attachment has been issued, provided they are dated previous to distribution, entitle the holders to share in proportion to their claims, (exception being allowed in case of bonâ fide mortgages,) in preference to the claimants under decrees in which no such process has been issued.—Con. 1056, Cal. and West. C. 21st Oct. 1836.

Farther explanation of the rules for the distribution of assets among the decree-holders.

257. The Court, having observed much diversity of practice in the distribution of assets among several decree-holders under the rule prescribed by Constructions of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, Nos. 935 and 1056, are disposed to attribute it principally to a misunderstanding of the term "process of attachment" therein occurring, and are pleased accordingly, to promulgate for general information and observance the result of a correspondence which has lately passed between the two Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut on the subject.—Cir. Ord. 26th Jan. 1844, par. 1.

258. It has been ruled that "the process of attachment" referred to in the Constructions cited is the process issued by any judicial authority, for attachment of property, on the application of any decree-holder suing out execution of his decree; and that all decree-holders, who may have procured the issue of such order, prior to the distribution of assets realized by a sale of property, made in execution of a former order, are entitled to a rateable share in those assets.—Ibid, par. 2.

259. The distribution, however, of assets realized by sale of property, is directed by Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut, No. 1, dated 6th June, 1828, to be held in abeyance, until the period allowed by Clause 3, Section 3, and Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 7 of 1825, for preferring objections to the sale with a view to its annulment, shall have expired, and is further liable to other impediments, which it is frequently impossible to foresee or prevent. With the object, therefore, of obviating the embarrassment too often occasioned by the multitude of claimants, who are by the present system encouraged to come forward, the Court direct that thirty days after the sale has been holden, award of distribution, in regard to the claims of all decree-holders theretofore admitted, (without reference to the possibility, or otherwise, of giving immediate effect to such award,) shall invariably issue, and that on the finality of the sale, the assets in deposit shall be distributed in accordance therewith. Subsequent to the declaration of the "award of distribution," no claims to participation in the proceeds of sale, shall be received.—Ibid, par. 3.

260. The civil Judges will be careful to see that their subordinates fully understand the purport of these instructions, and strictly adhere to them in practice.—Ibid, par. 4.

261. Under the Circular order of 26th January, 1844, a suing out of attachment is essential to a decree-holder being permitted to share in the proceeds of sale. It is competent to the courts to exercise a discretion in awarding costs of execution before distribution of assets.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th May 1847.

262. In an action for recovery of a debt due on a mortgaged property, a third party appears and claims a large sum under the decision of the Sudder dewanny adawlut. The Provincial court awarded to plaintiffs a certain part of their claim; after that was paid, it was ordered that the holder of the decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut should receive what was due to him thereon, and that the plaintiffs should then receive the balance of their claim. The third party appealing to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, it was ordered that he should receive the whole of the sum due under the decree, before the plaintiffs were paid any part of their debt.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 27th Jan. 1825, vol. 4, p. 15.

263. A decree-holder who has not previously taken out execution of his decree cannot share with other decree-holders, (who have taken out process of attachment) in the proceeds of the sale of the debtor's property.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 27th Dec. 1842, p. 43.

264. In the case of a joint decree without specification of the sums payable to each of the plaintiffs, payment of the portions of the other decree-holders by one of them who has

All decree-holders who have procured the issue of an order of attachment before the distribution of assets, are entitled to a rateable share in them.

Thirty days after the sale, award of distribution regarding the claims of decree-holders which have been admitted, shall issue.

On the finality of the sale, the assets will be distributed according to that award.

No claims to share in the proceeds will be admitted after "the award."

These rules to be explained to the subordinate courts and adhered to.

Suing out of attachment is essential to a decree-holder's sharing in the assets.

Costs of execution may be awarded before the distribution.

Case of distribution of assets decided by the S. D. A.

A decree-holder cannot share with the others who has not taken out execution of the decree.

The payment of the portions of other decree-holders by one who has realized the whole property, cannot be summarily enforced.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 22d March 1841, p. 4.

One of the heirs of a creditor having realized the amount of a decree, another heir cannot summarily recover his portion. 265. One of the heirs of a judgment creditor having realized the amount of the decree, held that another heir cannot summarily recover his portion of the debt from the party to whom payment has been made : the remedy is by a regular action.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th May 1841, p. 9.

Case in which one decree-holder has a preferable claim. 266. In the case of lands sold to satisfy a decree for rent due on* their account, the decree-holder has a preferable claim to the proceeds of sale.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 1st Sept. 1846, p. 84.

SECTION XV.

Execution of Decrees by Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens and Principal Sudder Ameens.

Decrees passed by the P. S. A., how to be executed. 267. Decrees passed in the Courts of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall be executed by those courts under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by the zillah and city Judges. Provided however, that in such cases an appeal from the orders of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall lie, in the first instance, to the zillah and city Judges, and specially to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, [that is, in suits under 5000 rupees.]—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 22.

The rules in Circular order, 22d April, 1842, Nos. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, pages 729 and 730, apply to petitions for the execution of decrees presented to the Native courts.

Modifies sec. 22, reg. 5, 1831.

Decrees passed on appeal in the courts of judges or P. S. A. shall be executed by the court in which the original decree was passed, &c. In appeal from order of moonsiffs or S. A., the decree of zillah or city judge to be final. 268. And it is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 22, Regulation 5 of 1831, that decrees passed in the courts of the Judges or Principal Sudder Ameens, in cases of appeal from the decisions of the Sudder Ameens or Moonsiffs, shall be executed by the courts in which the original decisions were passed, under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by those courts—applications for the execution of such decrees shall be presented, together with a certified copy of the decree of the Judge or Principal Sudder Ameen to the Court of original jurisdiction. In appeals from the orders of the Moonsiffs or Sudder Ameen in such cases, the decision of the zillah or city Judge shall be final.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 5.

All cases of execution of decrees now pending, will be immediately transferred to the uncov. judges for prosecution and adjustment.

269. It having been enacted, by Section 5, Act VI. of 1843, that “decrees passed in the courts of the Judges or Principal Sudder Ameens in cases of appeal from the decisions of Sudder Ameens or Moonsiffs, shall be executed by the courts in which the original decisions were passed,” and that “applications for the execution of such decrees shall be presented to the Court of original jurisdiction,” the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad are pleased to direct that all cases of decrees of the nature above described, which may now be pending in the courts of the Judges or Principal Sudder Ameens be immediately transferred to the Courts of first instance, respectively, for prosecution and eventual adjustment.—Cir. Ord. 26th May 1843.

S. A. and moonsiffs competent to execute their own decrees.

270. Section 11, Regulation 5, 1831, is hereby repealed. The rule contained in Section 22, Regulation 5, 1831, authorizing the Principal Sudder Ameens to execute their own decrees, is declared applicable to all Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs who may be appointed under that Regulation. Provided, however that the rule in question as regards all the officers above named, shall not be considered to warrant their issuing any order on their own authority for the confinement of a defendant in execution of civil process. Where such order may be requisite, the officer by whose authority the party may have been apprehended shall forward him, together with the subsistence money lodged for his detention, to the zillah or city Judge, who, unless he see reason to the contrary, shall direct his commitment to jail by means of his own officers. In appeals from the orders of the Moonsiff or Sudder Ameen in such cases, the decision of the zillah or city Judge shall be final.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 7.

Proviso.

The order of the judge on appeals from the moonsiffs and S. A., final.

271. The Court are of opinion that petitions presented to Moonsiffs under Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, for the execution of their decrees, as well as vakalutnamahs filed in cases before them, should be received on plain paper.—Con. 798, Cal. C. 14th June, West C. 19th July 1833.

Petitions to moonsiffs for execution of decrees will be received on plain paper.

272. Moonsiffs may be employed in giving possession in execution of their own decrees of all property not being land paying revenue to Government. They are also competent under Section 51, Regulation 23, 1814, with the authority of the Judge to give possession of land paying revenue to Government, in execution of any decree which may not have been passed by the Moonsiffs themselves. [See Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832; also Construction 962, page 735.]—Con. 701, 6th July 1832.

What property in execution of decrees moonsiffs may, and may not, give possession of.

273. Held on a reference from the Judge of Allahabad, that parties, objecting to the sale or transfer of property in execution of decrees, may petition the Moonsiff's courts on plain paper.—Con. 1278, West. C. 5th, Cal. C. 26th June 1840.

Parties objecting to the sale of property in execution of decrees may petition the moonsiff on plain paper.

274. The Court are of opinion that Moonsiffs, in common with the other judicial officers are competent to try the fact of possession of lakhiraj land attached by them in execution of their decrees.—Con. 798, Cal. C. 14th June, West. C. 19th July 1833.

Moonsiff may try the fact of possession of lakhiraj lands attached by him in execution of his decree.

275. On a reference from the Judge of Beerbhoom, it was held by the two Sudder Courts concurrently, that Section 5, Regulation 5, 1831, does not restrict Moonsiffs from taking cognizance of claims to lakhiraj lands attached in execution of their own decrees.—Con. 1054, Cal. C. 14th Oct., West. C. 4th Nov. 1836.

Idem.

276. Held that Act I. of 1839 does not deprive Moonsiffs of the power of selling property in satisfaction of decrees passed by themselves, in regular suits for recovery of arrears of rent.—Con. 1219, Cal. C. 31st May, West. C. 21st June 1839.

Moonsiffs may sell property in satisfaction of decrees passed by them in regular suits for rent.

277. A Moonsiff may depute an officer to sell property in execution of his own decree, but not when directed by a superior authority to perform that duty.—Con. 1050, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 30th Sept. 1836.

When a moonsiff may depute an officer to sell property in execution of decrees.

278. Moonsiffs are not entitled to receive commission on sales conducted in execution of their own decrees; but only on those which they may hold in execution of the decrees of other courts.—Con. 861, West. C. 7th, Cal. C. 28th Feb. 1834.

When moonsiffs are entitled to a commission on sales conducted in execution of decrees.

Collector cannot issue a perwannah to a moonsiff to sell personal property and houses attached for arrears of the public revenue.

279. I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th instant, No. 380. The Court, understanding your question to be whether a Collector can without application to the Judge, issue a perwannah to a Moonsiff to sell personal property and houses attached by his nazir, for arrears of public revenue, direct me to communicate their opinion that he is not competent to do so.—Con. 918, Cal. C. 28th Nov., West. C. 26th Dec. 1834.

The execution of moonsiffs' decrees must proceed, notwithstanding an appeal, unless the appellate court stays execution.

280. The decrees of Moonsiffs must be executed in the same manner as those of other courts, viz. the execution must be proceeded on by the Moonsiff notwithstanding an appeal having been preferred from the decree, unless orders should have been issued by the appellate court for staying the same. The mere fact of having preferred an appeal is not to be considered to entitle the appellant, as a matter of course, to a suspension of execution.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Nov. 1835.

Idem.

281. I am instructed further to remind you that the Circular order, No. 157, dated 6th November, 1835, which is equally applicable in principle to the courts of the Native Judges of every grade, has made full provision on the subject of the execution of decrees, in the absence of an order from the appellate court to stay such execution; and a proper observance of the rule contained in it is sufficient to prevent any undue advantage being taken by an appellant of delay in the hearing of his petition of appeal. [Vide also No. 11 of this Chapter.].—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 23d Aug. 1839, par. 3.

P. S. A., S. A. and M., may receive and act on applications for executing decrees, without reference to the judge.

282. Adverting to the terms of Section 22, Regulation 5, 1831, viz. that "decrees passed in the courts of Principal Sudder Ameens shall be executed by those courts, under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by the zillah and city Judges;" the Court are of opinion that Principal Sudder Ameens and Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs to whom the power is extended by Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, are competent to receive and act upon applications for execution of decrees of their respective courts without reference from the Judge, under the restriction laid down in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 26th July, Cal. C. 1st Nov. 1833, par. 6.

The judge will not interfere in the execution of decrees of S. A. and moonsiffs, unless in appeal from the orders passed therein.

283. The Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs being now competent under Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, to execute their own decrees, the Court consider it highly desirable that this duty should, as far as possible, be left entirely to them. They accordingly direct me to request that you will not, except in cases which you may think proper for special reasons to execute yourself, interfere in the execution of decrees of Sudder Ameens or Moonsiffs, unless in appeal from the orders passed therein. They observe that the orders passed by you in appeal from the orders of the lower courts in such cases are final; but that if you take them up in the first instance, the person dissatisfied with your order must come to this Court to appeal, and the time of this Court will be unnecessarily occupied with matters of comparatively trifling moment.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Sept. 1833.

The judge cannot of his own authority transfer to the P. S. A., applications for the execution of moonsiffs' decrees. They will be executed by the moonsiffs themselves.

284. Held, that as by Section 7, Regulation 7 of 1832, the rule regarding the execution, by Principal Sudder Ameens, of their own decrees, contained in Section 22, Regulation 5, 1831, is declared applicable to all Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs who may be appointed under the latter Regulation, and as the first named section unqualifiedly declares that decrees passed in the courts of Principal Sudder Ameens "shall be executed" by those courts, without any reservation or exception, a civil Judge is not competent to transfer, of his own authority, to the Principal Sudder Ameen, applications for the execution of Moonsiffs' decrees, (such Moonsiffs having been appointed, under the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831,) and that all decrees passed by Moonsiffs must, under the above law, be enforced by those officers, except under such circumstances as would have precluded them by law from themselves hearing and determining a regular suit.—Con. 1223, West. C. 7th June, Cal. C. 12th July 1839.

285. The following rules, relating to the execution of decrees under Act IV. 1846, passed with the sanction of the Supreme Government, are published for general information. The district Judges are requested to communicate to the Moonsiffs the purport of the annexed extract, (paragraph 6,) of the orders of the Supreme Government, No. 469, dated 4th instant : “The tulubanaḥ for peadaḥs and all costs of process are in the first instance advanced by the decree-holder, and finally deducted out of the proceeds of the sale ; and this is the proper course. The reports to the Judges from the Moonsiff's courts, should be sent as far as possible by the public dawks : if peadaḥs are required, they must be paid at the Judge's court, and charged in contingent bills.”—Cir. Ord. 17th July 1846.

Tulubanaḥ for all objects must be advanced by the decree-holder, and in the end deducted from the proceeds of sale.

How the reports from the moonsiff's courts are to be sent to the judges.

286. All orders passed by the Principal Sudder Ameen in execution of their own decrees, in cases referred to them under the provisions of Sections 1 and 4, Act XXV. of 1837, must, in the opinion of the Court, follow the same law of appeal as the decrees themselves, and are consequently appealable directly to the Sudder dewanḥ adawlut.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th June 1838, par. 2.

An appeal lies to the S. D. A. on all orders passed by the P. S. A., in execution of their own decrees, above the value of 5,000 rs.

287. With the records of regular suits the Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameen, and Principal Sudder Ameen, will also transmit, for deposit, the records of all cases of execution of decrees and other miscellaneous cases that may have been disposed of in the preceding month, with exception to cases of enforcement of decrees, struck off the file in that period, in which an application may have been made, to sue out execution anew, prior to the date of transmission, in which event they will send in lieu of the record copies of the order striking the case off the file, of the petition for revival, and of the proceeding thereon.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 20th Sept. 1839, par. 10.

What records of cases of execution of decrees, the uncov. judges will transmit for deposit to the zillah court.

SECTION XVI.

Custody and Payment of Money received by Moonsiffs in execution of Decrees.

288. The Moonsiffs shall keep an account of receipts and disbursements of money on account of execution of decrees in the form annexed. This account shall be entered in a book containing the best and strongest paper procurable in the vicinity, and properly bound. Before commencing their entries in any new book, the Moonsiff shall transmit the same to the Judge of his district, having numbered each page in the Persian language ; the Judge will certify the number of pages in each book or register, and return the same to the Moonsiff. Registers of deposit which have been completed should be transmitted in original to the Judge of the zillah, who will retain them among the records of his office.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Feb. 1833, par. 2.

Book in which the moonsiffs will keep an account of receipts and disbursements of money, on account of execution of decrees.

289. Whatever sum of money is paid into the Moonsiff's court should, if possible, be immediately delivered by him to the person entitled to receive it. If that person, or his authorized agent, is not present, it should be transmitted, through the officers of the nearest thannah establishment, to the Judge of the zillah. There appears to be no necessity for a Moonsiff's retaining such sums paid into his court for any considerable period. The account should be closed at the conclusion of each month, and an extract from the register, including the entries and disbursements for the past month, transmitted for inspection and record in the Judge's office. The Judge should examine these extracts and note any irregularity observable, calling on the Moonsiff for explanation when it may appear necessary.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th Feb. 1833, par. 3.

The decree-holder's application for the payment of the money should be made to the moonsiff, who will transmit it to the judge.

290. With regard to the Moonsiffs, who hold their cutcherries at the same station as that of the Judge, or within a few miles of it, no alteration in the present practice would appear necessary, except that the decree-holder's application for the payment of the money should be made direct to the Moonsiffs, who would apply to the Judge for the transmission of the same to his court, and thus obviate the necessity of any application on the part of the decree-holder to the Judge's court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 22d March 1839, par. 2.

SECTION XVII.

Confinement of the Person in execution of Decrees by Zillah Courts.

Decree of the court how to be executed.

291. The court is then to cause the decree to be executed,—by the attachment of his person or, where it may be necessary, both by the sale of his property and effects, and the attachment of his person.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 9.

In the first instance the process should be executed on the property of the debtor and his surety.

292. An application is required for the confinement of a party under civil process ; and in the first instance, after demand made, the process should be executed upon the property of the person from whom the amount is due, and the property of his surety.—Con. 21, 25th July 1806.

Case in which a civil prisoner may be confined in fetters.

293. A civil prisoner cannot be confined in fetters, unless he be suffering under a criminal sentence for having broken jail ; in other words, fetters cannot be imposed on a civil prisoner merely to insure his safe detention in jail.—Con. 624, 25th Feb. 1831.

A mere arrest, without commitment to jail, does not bar subsequent arrest.

294. A mere arrest, without commitment to jail, is no bar under Section 3, Regulation 6, 1830, to the subsequent arrest and imprisonment of a judgment debtor.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 21st March 1842, p. 25.

The imprisonment of the debtor against the will of the creditor, and his release under sec. 3, reg. 6, 1830, does not bar his arrest by the creditor.

295. The imprisonment of a debtor by the Civil court against the will of his creditor, and his subsequent release in default of deposit of diet money, is no bar, under Section 3, Regulation 6, 1830, to the issue of process of arrest against the debtor on the motion of the creditor.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 16th Jan. 1843, p. 45.

The civil court cannot demand from the magistrate delivery on civil process of the person of a prisoner after the expiry of his confinement in jail.

296. Held, on a reference from the Judge of Mymensingh, that the Civil courts cannot require the Magistrate to deliver up, after the expiration of his term of imprisonment, a prisoner against whom a process had been taken out while yet in confinement, and that the process should issue, on the release of the prisoner, according to the established form.—Con. 1276, Cal. C. 20th March, West. C. 24th April 1840.

297. The only authority, however, possessed by the Civil courts under the Regulations of releasing a prisoner, confined in execution of a decree of court, is in cases coming under the provisions of Section 11, Regulation 2 of 1806, where the insolvency of the prisoner may be clearly established in the mode prescribed in that enactment ; and the Court are therefore of opinion, that it is not competent to a Judge to liberate a civil prisoner solely on the ground stated in Mr. Morrison's letter, [that is, on the ground of illness,] unless with the consent of the party at whose instance he was confined.—Con. 1114, Cal. and West. C. 24th Nov. 1837.

The judge cannot without the consent of the creditor release a debtor, solely on the plea of illness, or on any other ground than the insolvency.

298. The Court having had before them some of the statements (No. 9, required by the Circular order of the 6th April last,) of civil prisoners confined in the several jails on the 30th June last, are of opinion, that a brief explanation of the cause of detention should be given when any prisoner has been in confinement one year.—Cir. Ord. 13th Sept. 1833.

When a prisoner has been in jail a year, a brief explanation of the cause should be given.

299. With reference to your letter of the 10th March last, on the subject of the difference of opinion existing between yourself and the officiating Magistrate of Banda, as to the extent of that officer's jurisdiction over prisoners confined in the Dewanny jail under civil process, I am directed to acquaint you that under the provisions of Regulation 3 of 1826, you [that is, the zillah Judge,] are vested with no legal right to be considered as the medium of communication on the part of the Magistrate with such prisoners.—Con. 1021, Cal. and West. C. 8th July 1836, par. 1.

The judge is not the medium of communication with civil prisoners, on the part of the magistrate.

300. At the same time the Court direct me to observe that under Section 6 of the foregoing enactment, you are fully at liberty to communicate with the prisoners in question whenever you may have occasion to do so, without reference to the Magistrate.—Ibid, par. 2.

The civil judge may communicate with civil prisoners without reference to the magistrate.

301. Prisoners confined under civil process may petition on plain paper, only in matters relating to their treatment in jail.—Con. 553, 28th May 1830.

In what cases civil prisoners may petition on plain paper.

302. If a civil prisoner, sentenced to a reduction of his allowance for two months for breach of the prison rules, satisfy his creditor, with a view to obtain his release, the Magistrate cannot commute the punishment so awarded to fine and imprisonment ; but the prisoner, on payment of the demand against him, must be immediately released.—Con. 426, 14th July 1826.

If a civil prisoner, sentenced to punishment for breach of the prison rules, satisfy his creditor, he must be released ; the magistrate cannot commute his punishment to fine and imprisonment.

303. A prisoner confined in jail in execution of a decree may be released, with consent of decree-holder, on bail for his personal appearance, and the surety may be summarily proceeded against on failing to produce the party bailed.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 14th April 1842, p. 27.

A civil prisoner may be released on bail with the consent of his creditor ; his surety is answerable for producing him.

304. The Judge who issued the process of arrest can alone order the release of a prisoner, and not the Judge in whose district he may have been arrested.—Con. 1000, West. C. 5th Feb., Cal. C. 11th March 1836.

The judge who ordered the arrest can alone order the release of the prisoner.

SECTION XVIII.

Confinement in execution of Decrees by Moonsiffs, Sudder Ameens, and Principal Sudder Ameens.

S. A. and M. competent to execute their own decrees.

Proviso.

The orders of the judge on appeal from the moonsiffs and S. A., final.

305. Section 11, Regulation 5, 1831, is hereby repealed. The rule contained in Section 22, Regulation 5, 1831, authorizing the Principal Sudder Ameens to execute their own decrees, is declared applicable to all Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs who may be appointed under that Regulation. Provided however, that the rule in question as regards all the officers abovenamed, shall not be considered to warrant their issuing any order on their own authority for the confinement of a defendant in execution of civil process. Where such order may be requisite, the officer by whose authority the party may have been apprehended shall forward him, together with the subsistence money lodged for his detention, to the zillah or city Judge, who, unless he see reason to the contrary, shall direct his commitment to jail by means of his own officers. In appeals from the orders of the Moonsiff or Sudder Ameen in such cases, the decision of the zillah or city Judge shall be final.—Reg. 7, 1832, Sect. 7.

A P. S. A. cannot confine a defendant without the sanction of the judge.

306. I am directed to inform you that in the opinion of the Court the proviso contained in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, was intended to apply to Principal Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs, and that consequently the former are not competent to confine a defendant without the sanction of the Judge.—Con. 947, West. C. 1st, Cal. C. 22d May 1835.

In suits above 5,000 rs., the P. S. A. may order the confinement of the prisoner. The judge will direct the civil jailor to receive or release him, on the requisition of the P. S. A.

307. A recent instance having occurred in which on a Principal Sudder Ameen, in execution of a decree of his court above 5000 rupees in amount, sending the defendant with a requisition of his confinement in jail under the provisions of Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, to the Judge's court, the latter officer sent the defendant back with an opinion recorded that in suits exceeding 5000 rupees he possessed no jurisdiction, I am directed to communicate to you the following rule. It has been ruled by a majority of the Allahabad and Calcutta Courts that by Act XXV. 1837, the Principal Sudder Ameen has full power to pass any order connected with the case before him that the Judge himself could pass, subject to an appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut: he is therefore competent to order the imprisonment of a defendant in suits above rupees 5000; and it is not necessary that the Judge should have jurisdiction in the case to enable him to direct the civil jailor to take charge of the defendant or to release him on the requisition of the Principal Sudder Ameen, the Judge's duty, in such case, being merely to issue the warrant, the jailor to receive (or release) the prisoner in the same way that he was required to give lodgment to prisoners under revenue process, before the issue of Circular order, No. 76 of the 4th January, 1833, which empowers Collectors to issue their own orders for the imprisonment and release of their own defaulting assamees.—Cir. Ord. 18th Sept. 1840.

In cases above 5000 rs., the mode of proceeding laid down in reg. 7, 1832, sec. 7, will be followed when prisoners are confined by the P. S. A.

308. The mode of proceeding laid down in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, is to be followed in the case of defendants ordered into confinement by the Principal Sudder Ameens in suits exceeding 5000 rupees.—Con. 1284, Cal. C. 7th Aug., West. C. 7th Sept. 1840.

309. I am directed by the Court to request that you will lay before the Honorable the Vice President in Council the accompanying copy of a letter from the Judge of zillah Dacca representing the inconvenience and danger attendant on a strict observance of the rule contained in Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, in the case of persons arrested in execution of decrees under the orders of the Principal Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs of that part of the district which is under the Joint Magistrate of Furreedpore. The Court are of opinion that, except in cases in which the debtors might wish to be sent to Dacca, if the Principal Sudder Ameen and Moonsiffs were required, on forwarding any person to the Joint Magistrate at Furreedpore for confinement in the civil jail, at the same time to report the circumstances to the Judge at Dacca, who would confirm or cancel the order, as might appear just and proper, the form required by the Regulation would be sufficiently observed; and they propose, should Government see no objection, to instruct the Judge of Dacca accordingly.—The Vice President in Council sees no objection to the instructions which the Court propose to issue on this subject.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 21st March 1834.

Particular instructions regarding the confinement of civil prisoners by the P. S. A. and moonsiff of Furreedpore.

This rule will of course apply to other courts similarly situated.

SECTION XIX.

Subsistence Money of Persons confined in the Civil Jail.

310. In modification of such part of Section 8, Regulation 4, 1793, extended to Benares by Section 2, Regulation 8, 1795, and re-enacted for the Ceded Provinces by Section 10, Regulation 3, 1803, or of any other Regulation in force, relating to the subsistence allowance to be paid to persons confined in execution of decrees, or other civil process, it is hereby declared, that no process of arrest shall hereafter issue from a Civil court, unless the party applying for the same and entitled thereto, shall deposit in court (independent of the charge for executing the process) a sum sufficient to provide for the subsistence of the individual against whom the process may issue, for a period of thirty days, from the date of his commitment to jail, in execution thereof. On the expiration of thirty days after such commitment, a further deposit shall be made in advance for the next ensuing thirty days, and so on, till the defendant's discharge.—Reg. 6, 1830, Sect. 2.

Part of sec. 8, reg. 4, 1793, (extended to Benares by sec. 2, reg. 8, 1795, and re-enacted for ceded provinces by sec. 10, reg. 3, 1803, and other provinces,) modified.

Previously to the arrest of a debtor in satisfaction of a decree, a sum for the subsistence of the debtor for 30 days must be deposited.

On the expiration of 30 days, after the commitment of the debtor to jail, a further deposit of 30 days shall be made.

311. The amount of deposit shall be fixed by the Judge at the time of issuing the process of arrest—subject to future revision on sufficient grounds shewn, and shall be regulated according to the rules heretofore in force—that is, the allowance is not to exceed four annas nor to be less than one anna per diem, consideration being had to the rank and situation in life of the defendant, and the circumstances of the plaintiff. Provided however, that if any special circumstances should exist for increasing the rate beyond four annas, it shall be competent to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, on a report from the Judge, or other sufficient information before them, to order such increase as may appear to that court, to be just and proper, not exceeding in any instance one rupee per diem.—Ibid.

The amount of deposit to be fixed by the judge, not less than one, or more than four annas per diem.

Except under special circumstances.

The judge may settle the amount of subsistence money of defaulters confined at the suit of collector.

The judge cannot reduce the subsistence money of a prisoner merely on the application of the creditor.

Deposit to whom to be paid.

In default of the payment of the deposit on or before the day on which it may become due, the debtor shall be released.

Debtor released in default of payment of deposit not liable to a second arrest on the same matter and at the instance of the same party.

Except in certain cases provided.

A. is confined at the instance of B. who is a debtor of C. If B. neglects to pay the subsistence money of A., C. may deposit it and detain him.

Diet money for a debtor, confined for several decrees obtained by one creditor, need not be deposited in each case.

When a debtor was arrested and kept in custody 7 days, and released because the diet money was not deposited, this did not bar his farther arrest, because he had not been in jail.

Any future alterations in the rules regarding the allowance to debtors in jail to be made by the S. D. A., subject to the approval of govt.

312. The Judge is competent to settle the amount of subsistence money of defaulters confined at the suit of the Collector.—Con. 77, 31st Jan. 1811.

313. Held, that the zillah Judge was not authorized in reducing the subsistence allowance of a prisoner confined in the zillah jail, merely on the application of the creditor, and without sufficient cause being shown.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Jan. 1841, p. 1.

314. The allowance required under the foregoing rules, is to be made payable as heretofore to the nazir of the court, who is to give monthly receipts for it to the plaintiff, dated on the day on which the money may be paid. If the plaintiff shall neglect or refuse to pay the prescribed allowance on or before the day on which it may become due, the nazir is immediately to report the same in writing, under his signature, to the Judge, who is forthwith to order the defendant's discharge, and such defendant shall not again be liable to personal arrest and confinement on the same matter, at the instance of the same party, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that he has been guilty of dishonest conduct in the fraudulent concealment, or transfer, of any property that would otherwise have been available for the satisfaction of the decree or other demand on account of which he may have been originally confined.—Reg. 6, 1830, Sect. 3.

315. A. is confined in execution of a decree at the instance of B., who is, under a decree of court, a debtor of C. Held that, on B.'s neglecting to deposit the subsistence money for A., C. may deposit it, and detain A. in custody to enforce payment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th June 1841, p. 11.

316. Diet allowance for a debtor, confined on account of several decrees obtained against him by one creditor, need not be deposited in each case.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 12th Aug. 1845, p. 70.

317. Section 3 of Regulation 6, 1830, states, "that if the plaintiff in any case shall neglect to pay the diet allowance for any defendant on or before the day on which it may become due, such defendant shall forthwith be discharged, and shall not again be liable to personal arrest and confinement in the same matter, &c. &c." Now in the case under report, it appears that Mirtunjoy was once before (in July, 1825,) arrested and brought in this very matter and kept under charge of the nazir's chuprassies for seven days, when (no diet allowance being paid) he was released; and what I wish to know is, whether, under these circumstances, the said Mirtunjoy can again be arrested and confined for the same debt, or in other words, whether temporary confinement under charge of peadahs, &c. is to be considered as a bar to all further personal arrest towards defendants in all such cases.—I am directed by the Court to inform you that under the circumstances stated, Mirtunjoy, never having before been confined in jail on account of the demand against him, is liable to be arrested and committed to jail under the decree of the late Calcutta Court of appeal.—Con. 1090, Cal. C. 19th May, West. C. 2d June 1837, par. 2.

318. In the event of any future alterations becoming necessary in the rules relating to the subsistence allowance of debtors confined in the civil jails, it shall be competent to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to direct the same, subject to the approval of the Governor General in Council, without the necessity of a new Regulation being passed for that purpose.—Reg. 6, 1830, Sect. 5.

319. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th instant, requesting the Court's opinion as to whether the terms of Section 2, Regulation 6, 1830, preclude the issue of a dustuk, for the arrest of a defaulter, under Regulation 7, 1799, until subsistence money for thirty days shall have been paid into the nazir's hands. In reply, I am directed by the Court to observe, that the object of the Regulation in question being to modify the provisions of Section 8, Regulation 4, 1793, so as to prevent debtors confined in jails suffering additional hardships from the failure of their creditors, to furnish them with subsistence, the terms of the section quoted by you cannot be considered as barring the issue of a dustuk against a defaulter, under Regulation 7, 1799; though no defaulter can be committed to jail, until the subsistence money for thirty days has been deposited. — Con. 575, 24th Sept. 1830.

Reg. 6, 1830, sec. 2, does not preclude the issue of a dustuk for the arrest of a defaulter under reg. 7, 1799, till subsistence money has been deposited.

But no defaulter can be confined in jail till 30 days' diet money has been deposited.

320. Plaintiffs are not to be required to pay any allowance to defendants who may be committed to custody for disobedience to an order of the court.—Reg. 4, 1793, Sect. 8. — Benares Reg. 8, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 3, 1803, Sect. 10.

Plaintiffs not to pay any allowance to defendants confined for disobedience to the orders of the court.

321. A question having arisen, whether the amount paid for the subsistence of persons in confinement, under judgments of the Civil courts, as prescribed by Section 8, Regulation 4, 1793, and Section 10, Regulation 3, 1803, is to be repaid by the party confined, on his release; it is hereby explained that such repayment is to be made, in common with the reimbursement of other costs of suit and process, when any property may be forthcoming from which the amount can be levied. But when no property can be pointed out for the reimbursement of the subsistence money paid to prisoners, they shall not be detained in confinement for the repayment of such money only.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 12.

Explanation that the amount paid for the subsistence of persons in confinement in satisfaction of the judgments of the civil courts, is to be reimbursed in common with other costs of suit when there may be any property forthcoming.

But persons are not to be detained for the reimbursement of the subsistence money only, when no property can be pointed out.

The diet money of prisoners confined under civil process is payable by the party at whose instance they are confined.

322. On a reference from the Patna Provincial court, to ascertain by whom the allowance for subsistence to prisoners is payable, when parties are confined in execution of process for rakeel's fees, or the stamp duty on paper used for decrees, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut informed them that, in pursuance of the spirit and intention of Section 8, Regulation 4, 1793, the subsistence of prisoners confined under civil process, is payable by the persons at whose instance they are confined. That, therefore, in the cases stated, it is payable by the vakeels, if the party be confined for their fees, and at their instance, or by Government, if the confinement be ordered on account of the stamp duty, or other item payable to Government. That, however, in all cases, an application for the confinement of the party under civil process is requisite, and that in the first instance, after demand of the amount due, such process should be executed upon the property of the party from whom the amount is due, and the property of his securities.—Con. 21, 25th June 1806.

323. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, having been referred to, in more than one instance for the purpose of ascertaining in what manner the usual allowance for the subsistence of prisoners confined in the jails of the Civil courts should be provided for, persons so confined at the instance of a Collector, or other public officer on the part of Government, whether for arrears of revenue, or on any other account sanctioned by the Regulations; I am directed to acquaint you, for your information and guidance, that the Court are of opinion, the spirit and substance of Section 8, Regulation 4, 1793, (though not the exact mode of proceeding therein prescribed with respect to individual plaintiffs,) are applicable to all such cases; and that the Subsistence money of prisoners confined by the collector or other officer for arrears of revenue, or on any other account.

Collector, or other public officer who may have caused the confinement of the prisoner in each instance should be called upon for the due payment of such rate of allowance as the Judge by whom the prisoner is confined may consider it proper to fix, within the discretion vested in him by the rule above mentioned — Civ. Ord. 20th April 1818.

The provisions of reg 6, 1831, regarding the deposit of diet money of prisoners apply to the officers of Govt. as well as to private individuals

324. In reply to your letter of the 1st instant, I am directed by the Court to inform you that the provisions of Regulation 6, 1830, regarding the deposit of the subsistence money of persons confined in the civil jails, apply to the officers of Government as well as to private individuals — Con 647, 15th July 1831.

SECTION XX

Liquidation of the Amount of the Decree by Instalments.

Declaration that the civil courts are restricted from granting indulgence of time when there may be property sufficient and available to satisfy the judgment, unless the party in whose favor the judgment is passed, shall consent to waive his right of the immediate enforcement of the judgment, or unless a short postponement of the sale of the property shall appear equitable 325 Doubts having been entertained whether any of the established City courts are competent to provide, in their decrees, for the payment by instalments of money adjudged by them, or to make such provision, in cases of indigence, at any period after passing their decrees, it is hereby declared that the Civil courts in general are restricted from granting indulgence of time, in the satisfaction of a final judgment, when property, from which such judgment can be satisfied (whether belonging to the party against whom the judgment is given, or to his surety or sureties for the performance of such judgment) may be forthcoming; unless the party in whose favour the decree is passed, shall consent to waive his right of immediate enforcement under an engagement for gradual payment or otherwise, or unless a short postponement of the sale of property shall under any particular circumstances, appear just and equitable. — Reg 2, 1806, Sec 10.

Provision when no property to satisfy the judgment may be pointed out, and the party against whom the decision is passed or his surety may be willing to engage for the liquidation of the amount due by instalments under sufficient malzami or haznaminy, as one or the other may be tendered or required. Competency of the courts to receive such engagements declared.

326. But when no property may be pointed out from which the judgment can be enforced, and the party against whom it is passed, or his surety, if he have given any, may be willing to engage (under sufficient malzami or haznaminy security, as one or the other may be tendered or required) for the liquidation of the amount due, by instalments within such period, as the court passing the final decree or entrusted with the execution of it, shall deem reasonable and proper, it shall be competent to the court, by which the final judgment is given, or to a Zillah or City court enforcing the decision of a Native Commissioner, and to any superior court reviewing the proceedings of an inferior court, to accept the engagement so offered, and to cause execution of the decree in conformity therewith, so long as the conditions of it shall be duly fulfilled — Ibid

In such cases, if the person delivering the engagement shall have been arrested, he is to be immediately released, & not again arrested in execution of the same judgment, except on failure to perform his engagement. Nor shall any interest be chargeable in such instances beyond what the engagement provides for.

327 In such cases, if the person delivering the accepted engagement shall have been taken into custody, he shall be immediately discharged, and shall not be liable to further arrest in execution of the judgment to which such engagement may refer, except on failure to perform the terms of it, nor shall any interest be chargeable in such instances beyond what may be provided for in the engagement. — Ibid.

328. In answer to a query from the Judge of zillah Jungle Mehals, "Whether in the case of a party, at whose suit a debtor may be confined, having consented to discharge such debtor from confinement, on his executing an agreement to pay the amount of the debt by instalments, and such engagement having been acknowledged and accepted by the parties, and attested by their signatures, in presence of the Judge; on failure of the performance of the conditions of such engagement, any process can be issued by the court for enforcing its payment; or, if it be necessary, that a new suit be instituted by the plaintiff for the recovery of any claim which may be due under such agreement?" the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut determined, on the 7th December, 1808, that the spirit and intention of Section 10, Regulation 2, 1806, appear to include the above case, provided the kistbundy have been given in execution of a decree, and the enforcement of the decree have been suspended in consequence; but that if any payment under the kistbundy be alleged by the party or his surety, he should be allowed to prove the same, if not admitted by the opposite party.—Con. 44, 7th Dec. 1808.

Course of procedure if a debtor confined in execution, executes an agreement to discharge the debt by instalments.

329. If a defendant make an offer that his lands be attached, in satisfaction of a decree against him, and that the sum due be discharged gradually from the collection of the rents, and if the debtor agree to this arrangement, the court is competent to (must) sanction it; and order the Collector to hold the lands in attachment, to collect the rents, and to pay them into court.—Con. 752, 1st Feb. 1833.

The judge may, with the consent of parties, instead of selling an estate in execution, cause it to be attached (thru' the collector,) till the debt is realized from the proceeds.

SECTION XXI.

Relief of Insolvent Debtors.

330. For the relief of insolvent debtors and their sureties, who may be in confinement for the satisfaction of the decrees of the Civil courts, and may have no means of discharging the amount demandable from them, by instalments or otherwise, the Judges of the Zillah and City courts, the Provincial courts of appeal, and the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, are further empowered, on receiving from the person, or persons confined, in such cases, a statement upon oath containing a full and fair disclosure of all property belonging to them, whether in land, money, or effects, or of whatever description; and whether held in their own names, or in the names of any other persons, or jointly with others; to cause enquiry to be made for the purpose of ascertaining the truth of such statement, or the validity of any objections thereto, which may be offered by the party at whose instance the prisoner or prisoners may be in confinement.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 11.

The zillah and city civil courts, the provincial courts, & the S. D. A. are empowered to afford relief to insolvent debtors and their sureties on receiving a statement on oath, containing a fair disclosure of all property belonging to them.

Enquiry to be made to ascertain the truth of such statements, or the validity of any objections to them.

331. If the result of such enquiry shall satisfy the court, that the statement of property so delivered is true and faithful, and that the persons confined possess no other means of discharging the amount demandable from them, and the property included in the statement, or such part thereof as the court may deem it proper to sell, in satisfaction of the judgment passed, shall be given up for sale; the court, on receiving such surrender of property, may cause it to be sold, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations; and may order the release of the person or persons, in confinement, either with or without hazirzamy security, for his or their appearance when required.—Ibid.

If the statements appear true & faithful, and the person in confinement has no other means of paying the amount due, and shall make a surrender of his property; the court after causing it to be sold, may release the debtor with or without security for appearance.

Provided that no debtor or surety in confinement shall be entitled to release, who may appear to have been guilty of a fraudulent concealment of property, or any manifest fraud or misdemeanor.

332. Provided however, that nothing in the section, which is meant to grant relief in cases of real inability and fair dealing only, shall entitle any debtor or surety, confined under the judgment of a Civil court, to be released, without full satisfaction of such judgment, if he shall be guilty of any fraudulent concealment of property; or shall have committed any manifest fraud or misdemeanor, which may appear to the court to render him an improper object of the relief intended for persons acting with good faith; and willing to surrender all the property in their possession for the benefit of their creditors.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 11.

Where property was attached by the sheriff of Calcutta, & not sold for three years, no fraud could be imputed.

333. Certain property was under attachment by the Sheriff of Calcutta without being sold for three years. Held that no fraud could therefore be imputed to the owner so as to subject him to arrest, under Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th Feb. 1844, p. 56.

Nor shall the release of the debtor under this section prevent the creditor from bringing to sale any property which may be subsequently possessed by the party released, in full payment of the sum adjudged against him or from causing the party to be again confined on its being proved that he fraudulently concealed any property in his own name, or in that of others at the time of his discharge.

334. Nor shall release from confinement, in any instance, under this section, prevent this creditor from bringing to sale (by application to the court,) in full payment of the sum, adjudged due to him, any property which may be subsequently possessed by the party released; or from causing such party to be again confined until the judgment be fully satisfied, when it may appear, by sufficient proof, that he had fraudulently concealed any property actually belonging to, and known to have been possessed by him, either in his own name, or that of others in his behalf, at the time of his discharge. Provided further, that all proceedings held and orders passed, by the Judges of the Zillah and City courts, under the discretion vested in them by this section, shall on representation of the parties affected thereby to the Provincial courts of appeal, [now the Sudder court] be open to the revision and determination of those courts; and in like manner, all orders passed by the Provincial courts under this section, shall be open to the final decision of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 2, 1806, Sect. 11.

Provided further that all orders passed by the civil courts, shall on representation from the party affected, be open to the revision of the provincial courts; & in like manner any orders passed by the latter courts under this section shall be open to the final decision of the S. D. A.

The insolvent rules apply to prisoners in confinement for arrears of rent.

But not to those who are confined under a process in cases where there has been no decree of a civil court.

335. Doubts having been entertained whether the provisions for the relief of insolvent debtors, contained in Regulation 2, 1806, should be considered applicable to the cases of persons in confinement for arrears of rent, I am desired to acquaint you, that, in the opinion of the Court, the rules contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, extend to all persons in confinement under decrees, regular or summary, of the Civil courts; but not to those in confinement under any process in cases wherein the decree of a Civil court has not been passed. You are accordingly desired to adopt this construction in future, whatever construction may have been heretofore given in your court to the section in question.—Con. 372, 31st Dec. 1824.

The insolvent rules apply to all prisoners under confinement under a decree, summary or regular.

336. The Sudder dewanny adawlut have had before them your letter, dated the 8th instant. I am directed to state, that the Court in former instances have held that the terms of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, ("in confinement for satisfaction of decrees of the Civil courts,") being general, the benefit of the section might be claimed by all persons in confinement under a decree, regular or summary; but not, where no sentence of the Civil court, regular or summary, had issued.—Con. 319, 21st July 1820.

337. In reply to a question submitted by the Judge of the Jungle Mchals, "Whether the provisions contained in Regulation 2, 1806, for the release of insolvent debtors, were to be considered applicable to cases of persons in confinement on account of demands of rent decreed under summary investigation, or whether the operation of those rules in favour of insolvent debtors, was limited to persons confined under decisions of the courts passed on regular suits; the Court gave it as their opinion, on the 22d of May, 1810, that the provisions of rule above quoted for the release of insolvent debtors, were applicable to cases of persons in confinement for arrears of rent under summary decrees.—Con. 60, 22d May 1810.

The insolvent rules apply to all prisoners under confinement under a decree, summary or regular.

338. The provisions of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, for the relief of insolvent debtors are applicable only to persons confined under a decree of court whether regular or summary, and not to those confined under judicial process against whom no final decision or award has been passed.—Con. 24, 20th Sept. 1806.

Idem.

339. A debtor confined in the jail of 24-Purgunnahs, in execution of a decree of the Calcutta Court of Requests, is entitled to the benefit of the rules of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, in favour of insolvents.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 18th Sept. 1837, p. 15.

A debtor confined in the 24-purgunnah jail for a decree of the court of requests, is entitled to the benefit of the insolvent rules.

340. The provisions of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, are intended, as appears from the preamble thereof, solely for the relief of insolvent debtors who may be in confinement; consequently Mr.— not being in confinement, cannot be relieved from his present difficulties under that section.—Con. 1196, Cal. and West. C. 26th Aug. 1836, par. 2.

The insolvent rules apply only to debtors who are in confinement.

341. Section 10 of this Regulation however expressly provides, that "when no property shall be pointed out from which the judgment can be enforced and the party against whom it is passed, may be willing to engage for the liquidation of the amount due by instalments, it shall be competent to the court to accept the engagement so offered, and to cause execution of the decree in conformity therewith, as long as the conditions of it shall be duly fulfilled." The previous confinement of the debtor is not necessary in this case; for the section provides that "if the person delivering the accepted engagement shall have been taken into custody, he shall be immediately released."—Ibid, par. 3.

But when the party against whom the decree has passed, offers to liquidate the debt by instalments, the court may accept the offer, though the debtor is not in confinement.

342. In conclusion I am directed to inform you that under the existing Regulations none of the Civil courts have the power of granting a general release to a debtor, and that the Government and private individuals are on precisely the same footing in regard to the realization of debts from the property of released insolvents; for the private creditor, under Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, may at any time after the release of the debtor bring to sale any property which may subsequently be found in the possession of the latter.—Ibid, par. 5.

After the release of a debtor, a creditor may bring to sale any property which may be subsequently found in his possession.

343. In this case, [of Baboo Govind Dass v. Koosager,] the point submitted is, how far there is or is not, a discretion in the Civil courts, as to enlarging imprisoned persons under the rules contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, regarding insolvent debtors confined in execution of decrees of the Civil courts. The Court are of opinion, that under those rules a debtor is entitled to his release on making what the Civil courts [subject to the control of the Court of appeal] shall deem a fair discovery and surrender of all the property he possesses, without regard to the amount of his debt, or the time he may have been imprisoned under the decree.—Con. 308, 19th Nov. 1819, par. 2.

A debtor is entitled to his release on making what the court deems a fair discovery and surrender of his property, without regard to the amount of his debt, or the time he has been in jail.

344. The Judge of the 24-Purgunnahs was informed, on the 11th April, 1811, in reply to certain queries put by him, regarding the construction of Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806,

The insolvent rules do not apply to the case of a defaulter in confinement for arrears of revenue, by a collector, against whom no judgment has passed.

that the Court were of opinion, that Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, was applicable only to persons in confinement under decisions passed by the Civil courts; and consequently that the provisions of the above section, though applicable to revenue defaulters, as well as other persons, when confined under a judgment of court, had no reference to the case of a defaulter in confinement for arrears of revenue, at the instance of a Collector against whom no judgment had been passed.—Con. 86, 11th April 1811.

The insolvent rules are not applicable to abkars confined on the collector's process.

345. To Abkars, confined on the process of a Collector under Section 15, Regulation 6, 1800, Section 11, Regulation 2 of 1806, cannot be applicable.—Con. 95, 12th Dec. 1811.

Collectors are competent to release debtors confined on summary suits for rent, on their presenting petitions and proving their insolvency.

346. Doubts having been entertained as to the authority by whom the relief prescribed by Section 11, Regulation 2 of 1806, is to be afforded to insolvent debtors, confined under summary decrees for rent; I am directed to inform you, that it has been ruled by the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Government, that, as the whole of the powers, vested in the Judges in regard to summary suits for rent, have been transferred by Regulation 8, 1831, to the Collectors of revenue, those officers are competent to release such debtors, on their presenting petitions and proving their insolvency under the section before cited.—Cir. Ord. 18th Nov. 1836.

Idem.

347. The Collector is competent to release a person confined in execution of a summary decree for rent on proof of insolvency.—Con. 784, Cal. C. 19th April, West. C. 17th May 1833.

A pauper plaintiff who on the dismissal of his suit is confined on account of costs is entitled, like other debtors, to the benefit of the insolvent rules.

348. A person who has been admitted to sue as a pauper, and whose suit has been dismissed with costs, is liable to confinement at the instance of the defendant, and on the deposit of the prescribed subsistence money, if he fail to pay the amount adjudged against him by a decree, in like manner with any other suitors, and of course, in common with all insolvent debtors, equally entitled to the benefit of the rules introduced by Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806.—Con. 110, 3d Sept. 1812, par. 4.

Should the defendant ultimately be confined only for costs of suit the benefit of the insolvent rules may be granted.

349. I am directed to add that in respect of the costs of suit, should the defendants ultimately be confined for these solely, the other parts of the sentence having been got over, the benefit of the insolvent rules may be granted.—Con. 309, 17th Dec. 1819, par. 5.

A zillah court executing a decree of the S. D. A. and confining a debtor may release him on proof of insolvency, without referring to that court.

350. I am directed to communicate to you the Court's opinion that when the execution of a decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut has been entrusted to the zillah Judge, he is competent, without referring the case to the court, to apply the rule contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, to any defendant who may be confined in execution of the decree.—Con. 1062, Cal. C. 16th, West. C. 30th Dec. 1836.

Wilful concealment of bond debts due to an insolvent examined on oath, is punishable as wilful perjury.

351. The Court are of opinion that the wilful concealment of bond debts due to an insolvent debtor, examined on oath under the rules contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, is punishable on conviction as wilful perjury under Clause 1, Section 13, Regulation 17, 1817.—Con. 1086, Cal. C. 14th, West. C. 28th April 1837, par. 2.

Mode in which prisoners confined on the application of the unconv. judges may obtain release on proof of insolvency.

352. I am directed by the Court to inform you that in cases of insolvency where individuals have been imprisoned on an application from a Native court, the Judge presiding in such court is evidently the proper person to determine whether or not the debtor ought to be released. The petition should, however, be presented to the European Judge, who may either take the deposition of the prisoner himself, or refer it to the officer presiding in such Native court for investigation ; and if the decision should be for a release, then an application should be made to the Judge for an order on the jailor to that effect, leaving any parties dissatisfied with the decision of the lower court, the option of an appeal.—Con. 1108, Cal. C. 8th, West. C. 22d Sept. 1837.

353. I am directed by the Court to transmit to you for your information and guidance, the accompanying copy of the opinion given by the Advocate General, as to the manner in which decrees of the Mofussil courts are affected by an adjudication of insolvency in the Calcutta Insolvent court :—I conceive that all courts, consequently those of the mofussil, within the British territories in the East Indies, are bound by the Act for the relief of insolvent debtors ; and that in a cause before them the plaintiff must discontinue his suit, if his claim is admitted in the schedule of the insolvent or disputed as to amount only. This is clear from the Act 9, G. 4, C. 73, S. 41. But the application of the law must depend on the circumstances of each particular case. For example, it is not said, as I believe, whether the two cases mentioned to me are in the schedules of the insolvents or not. And supposing them to be so, I should probably come to a conclusion in the one case different from that in the other. I am not aware of any decisions which have been come to on the subject either by the Court for the relief of insolvent debtors in England or by that in Calcutta. But arguing from analogy to the bankrupt laws, I should say that a mere decree made before the adjudication of insolvency will not authorise the complainant to seize the property of the insolvent, but that he must prove his debt in common with other creditors. Such undoubtedly is the rule in bankruptcy, and I presume in insolvency, in England, when a judgment has been obtained. But execution actually executed is a different thing. And I conceive the party who has executed is entitled to the payment of his debt out of it.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 25th Aug., West. C. 30th Oct. 1837.

Manner in which decrees of the mofussil courts are affected by an adjudication of insolvency in the Calcutta insolvent court.

354. It is an insufficient reason for the discharge of a debtor from confinement without taking his oath of insolvency, that the creditor cannot point out any property belonging to him.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d Sept. 1844, p. 60.

A debtor is not to be discharged without the oath of insolvency, because the creditor cannot point out any property belonging to him.

355. The Sudder dewanny adawlut ordered the arrest of a debtor, discharged from confinement by the zillah Judge pending the sale of his property.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th July 1844, p. 60.

Case in which the S. D. A. ordered the arrest of a debtor discharged from confinement by the zillah judge.

SECTION XXII.

Limit of Confinement for Decrees under Sixty-four Rupees.

356. With a view to prevent the protracted imprisonment of persons confined in execution of decrees for sums of inconsiderable amount, it is hereby provided in addition to the rule contained in Section 11, Regulation 2, 1806, that no person from and after the 1st February, 1815, shall be liable to personal confinement, in satisfaction of a decree for any sum, not exceeding sixty-four sicca rupees, beyond a period of six months; but that at the expiration of that period, any person so confined shall be entitled to be released; but any property which may belong to such person shall at all times, either during his imprisonment, or subsequently to his release, be liable to attachment and sale for the purpose of realizing the amount of the judgment, or such part thereof as may remain due.—Reg. 23, 1814, Sect. 45, Cl. 7.

No person to be imprisoned in execution of a decree not exceeding 64 sa. rs. for a longer period than six months.

But any property belonging to such person liable to be sold in execution of the judgment.

The above regulation only fixes a maximum of time during which a debtor can be confined for a sum not exceeding 64 rs.

The rule in reg. 23, 1814, sec. 45, cl. 7, does not apply to a person confined for arrears of abkaree tax due to govt.

357. The provisions of Clause 7, Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, make no alteration in the above rules, [namely in the rules of Regulation 2, 1806, Section 11,] except in fixing a maximum of time, during which a debtor shall be subjected to imprisonment in satisfaction of a decree for a sum not exceeding sixty-four rupees.—Con. 308, 19th Nov. 1819, par. 2.

358. The rule contained in Clause 7, Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, cannot be held applicable to the cases of individuals in confinement, at the requisition of the Collector; it being provided for by that clause, "that no person, from and after the 1st February, 1815, shall be liable to personal confinement in satisfaction of a decree for any sum not exceeding sixty-four rupees, beyond a period of six months."—Con. 302, 28th May 1819.

The rule in Regulation 23, 1814, Section 45, Clause 7, has never been declared applicable to decrees in summary suits.

The execution of a kistbundy for a greater sum than 64 rs. including costs & interest, will not prevent the release of a debtor, after six months' confinement, in execution of a decree for a sum not above 64 rs.

359. I am directed by the Court to inform you, that according to the provisions above quoted, it is incumbent on the Civil courts to release a debtor with the consent of his creditor, on the execution, by the former, of a kistbundy. The Court, however, observe, that the execution of a kistbundy for a larger sum than 64 rupees, including interest and costs of suit, cannot be considered as depriving the debtor of his claim to be released, under Clause 7, Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, after he has been confined for the space of six months, in execution of a decree for a sum not exceeding 64 rupees.—Con. 569, 23d July 1830, par. 2.

The civil court may, at its discretion, release a person, confined in default of paying a fine, under reg. 23, 1814, sec. 45, cl. 7.

360. The Court propose to inform the Judge that the limit of imprisonment, laid down in Clause 7, Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, is applicable only to debtors confined under a decree of court. As however it cannot be intended that persons confined by order of the Civil court in default of payment of fine should remain in prison for life, the Court are of opinion that in such cases the Judge is competent to use his discretion in releasing the prisoner, due regard being had to the circumstances under which the fine was imposed.—Con. 964, West. C. 10th, Cal. C. 31st July 1835, par. 2.

The benefit of the insolvent rules may be allowed within the six months which is the limit of confinement for 64 rs.

361. The rules of Clause 7, Section 45, Regulation 23, 1814, make no alteration in this respect, except, that when the amount due under the decree does not exceed 64 rupees, six months is the maximum of imprisonment in satisfaction of it. It does not follow, that the benefit of the insolvent rules may not be allowed within the six months under the Regulation of 1806.—Con. 328, 1st Sept. 1820.

SECTION XXIII.

Execution of Decrees against Persons connected with the Manufacture of Salt.

Decrees against native officers & persons employed in salt manufacture, how to be executed.

362. If a decree shall be passed against a Native officer, or any person under engagements on account of the salt manufacture and actually employed in it, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced at any time between the commencement of Kartick and the end of Assar, recourse may be had to his property, but his person shall not be attached or molested during that period. At the close, however, of the manufacturing season, the agent shall be responsible for his appearing before the court, if required, but the salt, or the advances, or any implements belonging to the Company, which may be in his hands shall not be liable for the decree. But during Sawun, Bhadoon and Assin, and also in the manufacturing season, if the Salt Agent shall signify to the Judge, through an authorized vakeel of the court, that their attendance is not required in the business of the manufacture, the persons of all such individuals so employed, shall be equally liable with their property for decrees.—Reg. 10, 1819, Sect. 22.

363. If a decree shall be passed against an officer of a salt chowkey, and the court shall order the decree to be enforced, recourse may be had to his property ; but his person, if attached, shall not be removed without previous notice being given to the party under whose superintendence the officer acts, that another person may be immediately deputed to take charge of his place during his absence.—Ibid, Sect. 29.

Decrees against chowkey officers how to be executed.

SECTION XXIV.

Execution of Decrees against Government.

364. The costs and damages that may be awarded against Government in suits instituted under this section, are to be defrayed from the public treasury.—Reg. 3, 1793, Sect. 11.

How costs and damages awarded against govt. are to be defrayed.

365. The Court observe, that the rules in force relative to public suits, contain no specific provision for the execution of decrees against Government ; and that the general rules of process, for execution of decrees in favour of individuals amenable to the Zillah and City courts, viz. those contained in Section 7, Regulation 4, 1793, for the Lower Provinces, and Section 9, Regulation 9, 1803, for the Upper Provinces, cannot, to their full extent, be applied to the enforcement of decrees against Government.—Cir. Ord. 16th April 1818, par. 2.

The rules for the execution of decrees in favor of private individuals cannot be applied to enforcing decrees against government.

366. The Court further observe, that in the event of a judgment being passed against Government in any public suit, the officer entrusted with the management of the suit is required to send a copy of the decree and proceedings to the Governor General in Council, (or to the board under whose immediate authority he may have acted, and who are directed to forward the same to Government,) with any objections he may have to the decision, for the express purpose of enabling the Governor General in Council to determine whether an appeal from the decision should be preferred or otherwise.—Ibid, par. 3.

A copy of every decree against govt., and of the proceedings, is to be transmitted to the superior authority with objections, that it may be determined whether to appeal or not.

367. It is also provided, (in Section 9, Regulation 2, 1805,) “ that in all original suits or appeals, wherein Government may be one of the parties, the court which may pass judgment, whether for or against Government, shall, in addition to the copies of decrees required by the existing Regulations to be delivered to the parties, transmit a copy of the decree, as soon as the same can be prepared, to the Secretary to Government in the Judicial department, for the information of the Governor General in Council.—Ibid, par. 4.

The court passing the judgment is also required to transmit a copy of the decree to the secy. to govt.

368. The manifest intention of the provisions above noticed is, to inform the Governor General in Council, of all decrees passed by the Civil courts, in original suits or appeals, wherein Government may be one of the parties ; and to enable the supreme executive authority to judge and direct, whether such decrees should be appealed to a superior court, if open to appeal, (either regular or special,) or carried into execution, if final and conclusive ; or though appealable, if there be no sufficient ground for an appeal.—Ibid, par. 5.

The manifest intention of these provisions.

It is not to be supposed that govt. would refuse to sanction the executive authorities to carry into effect the decision passed against it.

It can never therefore be necessary to attach money in any of the public treasuries by judicial process; cogent reasons against such a procedure.

The collector or officer who has conducted the suit on the part of government should be directed, by precept, to comply with the final decision. In case of disobedience the court will make a report to govt.

Case in which the collector states objections to the immediate execution of the judgment under instructions from the G. & G. in C.

S. B. of revenue may authorize the payment of money, in compliance with a decree of court.

369. It cannot be supposed that the Governor General in Council, in a case regularly tried and finally decided by the Courts of judicature, in conformity with the laws and Regulation in force, would refuse the sanction of his authority to the proper executive officer for carrying into full effect the decision so passed against Government.—Cir. Ord. 16th April 1818, par. 6.

370. The Court, therefore, are of opinion, that it can never be requisite, for the ends of justice, to attach money in any of the public treasuries by judicial process from a Zillah, City, or Provincial court, in execution of decrees against Government; and that such unnecessary mode of proceeding is open to serious objection, both as derogatory to the ruling power of the country, and as liable to create public embarrassment, by the appropriation of funds intended for a different purpose.—Ibid, par. 7.

371. The Court are not aware of any objection to a continuance of the established practice, in directing, by precept, the Collector, or other public officer who may have conducted the suit on the part of Government, to comply with a final decision given against Government; and any wilful disobedience on the part of the Collector, is sufficiently provided against by the existing rule, that if a Collector shall omit or refuse to obey any order or decree of a Court of judicature, the court from which the process shall have issued, is to fine him according to the nature of the offence. In the event of the Collector refusing or omitting to pay the fine, the court is to report the circumstances to the Governor General in Council, who, provided he shall approve of the fine, will order the amount to be stopped from the allowances which may be receivable by such Collector from Government.—Ibid, par. 8.

372. The Court are of opinion, however, that the above rule would not be applicable to a case in which the Collector might state objections to the immediate execution of a judgment against Government, under special instructions from the Governor General in Council. If such objections be not admitted by the court receiving the same, and no appeal be open to a superior court, it may be concluded that the Governor General in Council would order the decree to be carried into effect. If not, a report of the circumstances of the case, with a copy of the decree and other papers connected with it, should be transmitted to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for such order, or reference to Government, as on due consideration may appear proper, and consistent with the general provisions of the Regulation in force, in cases for which no specific rule may exist.—Ibid, par. 9.

373. The Sudder Board of Revenue is competent to authorize any disbursements ordered by a regular decree of a Court of justice, and to sanction the adjustment in the Collector's account of advances on account of law charges, when such advances prove irrecoverable, either from the suit being decided against Government, or from the death or poverty of the parties, reporting the same for the information of Government.—Sud. Bd. Rev. 27th June 1842, Rule 27.

SECTION XXV.

Execution of the Decrees of the Supreme Court by the Zillah Courts.

The courts are not required to execute a decree of the supreme court unless a writ directing execution issue from that court.

374. I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th instant, requesting their opinion as to whether an application by Mr. E. Macnaghten, acting as receiver on the part of Kistonund Biswas, to carry into execution a decree of the Supreme Court, accompanied by copy of the decree, is sufficient to authorize your interference ; or whether a formal order of the Supreme Court, calling on you to give possession of the lands situated within your jurisdiction, should not issue, in order to bring the matter under your cognizance. In reply, I am directed to inform you that you should not interfere with the execution of decrees of the Supreme Court, unless a writ directing execution be issued by that court.—Con. 567, 23d July 1830.

375. The plaintiff who had obtained a decree from the Supreme Court for a sum of money secured by a mortgage on property which had been sold in execution of a decree of a mofussil court, sued to have the property re-sold in satisfaction of the decree of the Supreme Court.—Judgment in favour of plaintiff.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Aug. 1841, vol. 7, p. 43.

Property resold in satisfaction of a decree of the supreme court which had already been sold in execution of the decree of a mofussil court.

376. Claims which may be preferred in the course of executing a decree of the Supreme Court, by individuals not parties to the suit before that court, may be received and conducted in a summary form as authorized by the general regulations in force in executing decrees of the established mofussil courts.—Con. 636, 20th May 1831.

Claims preferred in the course of executing decrees of the supreme court by individuals not parties to the suit before that court, how to be dealt with.

377. In execution of a decree of the Supreme Court in favour of A., founded on a deed of mortgage executed by B., the Magistrate was considered to have acted judiciously in refusing to use forcible means to oust a third party from property in their possession, which they held under a decree of the Provincial court founded on a deed of agreement executed by B. ; and was told he should confine his aid and assistance to the Sheriff's bailiff to prevent any breach of the peace, leaving the mortgagee to sue the third party in the Zillah court for the property claimed by him under the decree of the Supreme Court.—Con. 800, 21st June 1833.

Case in which the magistrate, in reference to the execution of the decree of the supreme court, was directed to confine himself simply to aid the bailiff and to prevent a breach of the peace.

SECTION XXVI.

Execution of the Decrees of the Calcutta Court of Requests in the Mofussil.

378. If the defendant in any suit decided by the Court of Requests for the town of Calcutta, the plaintiff in which shall have obtained a judgment, shall retire before execution of the same, into the jurisdiction of the Judge of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs, the Judge of the said court, upon receiving a written application from the said plaintiff, either in person or by vakeel, setting forth the above circumstances, and accompanied by a copy of the judgment duly authenticated, is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to execute the said judgment in the mode prescribed by the existing Regulations for executing his own decree.—Reg. 16, 1812, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

The judge of the zillah of the 24-purgunnahs, ordered under certain circumstances, to execute judgments of the commissioners of the court of requests for the town of Calcutta.

379. Provided always, that if the defendant in such case shall allege any cause against the execution of the judgment which shall appear to the Judge to require the determination of the Commissioners of the Court of Requests, the Judge shall upon such defendant entering into sufficient security to satisfy the judgment, if the Judge should deem this precaution necessary, allow the said defendant a reasonable period to apply to the said Commissioners ; upon the expiration of which, unless the said defendant should produce an order properly authenticated from the said Commissioners, certifying that the judgment ought not to be put into execution ; the Judge shall forthwith proceed to execute the judgment as prescribed in the preceding clause.—Ibid. Cl. 2.

The judge upon the defendant alleging any cause against the execution of the judgment, which may require the determination of the commissioners, how to proceed.

Defendants who have been confined by the commissioners, but liberated under the rules established by govt. on the 11th February, 1805, not again to be confined by the judge in execution of the same judgment; execution in such cases to proceed against the property only.

How the courts are to proceed in executing decrees of the court of requests.

380. Provided further, that no defendant who shall have been confined in the jail of the said Commissioners, and shall have been liberated under the rules established for the guidance of the said Commissioners by the Governor General in Council on the 11th February, 1805, in consequence of having received diet money for a given period, shall again be confined by the Judge of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs in execution of the same judgment; but that in all such cases, execution shall proceed against the property only of the defendant.—Reg. 16, 1812, Sect. 2, Cl. 3.

381. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st ultimo, and in reply to inform you that in executing decrees of the Court of Requests under Regulation 16 of 1812, you should proceed in all respects in the same manner as you would in executing a decree of your own court, and to refer you to the Circular order of the 25th January, 1833, from which you will perceive that the fact of both parties being Europeans does not in any way affect your cognizance of the matter.—Con. 932, 6th Feb. 1835.

SECTION XXVII.

Execution of the Decrees of the 24-Purgunnahs by the Court of Requests in Calcutta.

Execution of the decrees of the 24-Purgunnahs within the limits of the court of requests.

382. Whereas execution of the decrees of the Courts of justice of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs is often defeated, by the parties against whom the same have been obtained absconding from the limits of the said zillah into the town of Calcutta; and whereas by Regulation 16 of 1812, of the Bengal code, provision is made, where the like inconvenience occurs by parties absconding from the town of Calcutta into the said zillah, for the Judge of the said zillah enforcing the judgments of the Court of Requests of the town of Calcutta.—Act XXVII. 1839, Sect. 1.

If the defendant in any suit in any court of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs retire within the jurisdiction of the court of requests, that court may execute the decree, if decree is for a cause of action which would have been originally cognizable by such court.

383. It is hereby enacted, that if the defendant in any suit decided by any Court of justice of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs, the plaintiff in which shall have obtained a decree, shall retire before execution of the same into the jurisdiction of the Court of Requests, that court, upon receiving a written application from the Judge of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah of the 24-Purgunnahs, setting forth the above circumstances, and accompanied by a copy of the decree duly authenticated, is hereby authorized and directed to proceed to execute the said decree in the mode prescribed for the execution of judgments obtained in the Court of Requests, and on payment of the like costs as are demanded for the execution of such judgments in ordinary cases. Provided always, that nothing in this Act contained shall be held to authorize the said Court of Requests to execute any decree except the cause of action in respect of which such decree was obtained were such that if it had occurred within the local jurisdiction of the said court, it would have been cognizable by the same.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

CHAPTER IX.

SUDDER DEWANNY ADAWLUT.

SECTION I.

Jurisdiction and Constitution of the Calcutta Court of Sudder Dewanny Adawlut.

1. And it is hereby enacted, that from the said day, and within the said territories, no person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be in any civil proceeding whatever, excepted from the jurisdiction of any of the courts hereinafter mentioned:—that is to say—The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal.—Act XI. 1836, Sect. 2.

No persons, by reason of place of birth or of descent, shall be exempt from the jurisdiction of the courts enumerated.

2. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamut adawlut shall in future consist of a Chief Judge, and of as many Puisne Judges, as the Governor General in Council may from time to time deem necessary for the despatch of the business of those courts.—Reg. 12, 1811, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

What number of judges the courts of S. D. A. and N. A. shall in future consist of.

3. The denomination of Chief or Senior Judge in the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, and in the Provincial courts, as well as the official designation of first, second, third, fourth and fifth Judges in those courts, respectively, shall be discontinued.—Reg. 3, 1829, Sect. 2.

The denomination of chief or senior judge in the courts of S. D. A. and N. A., and in the provincial courts, and designation of first, second, third, fourth or fifth judges in the provincial courts, discontinued.

4. The Chief Judge, and each of the Puisne Judges, who may be appointed to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, previous to entering upon the execution of the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe before the Governor General in Council, the same oath, as is required to be taken and subscribed by the Judges of the Provincial courts of appeal, according to the form prescribed in Section 2, Regulation 5, 1793.—Reg. 2, 1801, Sect. 4.—Form of Oath.—“ I, A. B., appointed Judge of the Provincial court of appeal for the division of —, solemnly swear, that I will administer justice conformably to the Regulations that have been, or may be, passed by the Governor General in Council, according to the best of my ability, knowledge, and judgment, without fear, favour, promise, or hope of reward; that I will not receive, directly or indirectly, any present, nuzzur, either in money or effects of any kind, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided in the Court of appeal of which I am appointed a Judge; that I will not knowingly permit any person or persons under my authority, or in my immediate service, to receive, directly or indirectly,

The judges to take an oath similar to that prescribed for judges of the provincial courts of appeal.

Oath to be taken by the judges.

any present or nuzzur, in money, or effects of any kind, from any party or person whomsoever, on account of any suit to be instituted, or which may be depending, or have been decided, in the court; that I will render a true and faithful account of all sums of money that may be paid into the court, or disbursed from it; that I will not be concerned, directly or indirectly, in the purchase of goods or commodities in the British dominions in Bengal for the purpose of remitting money to Europe, or in any commercial transactions; and that I will not derive, directly or indirectly, any emoluments or advantages from my station, excepting such as the orders of Government do or may authorize me to receive. So help me God."—Reg. 5, 1793, Sect. 2.—Benares Reg. 9, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 4, 1803, Sect. 2.

The rules requiring the judges of the courts of S. D. A. & N. A. to take the oaths of office before the G. G. in C., rescinded.—The judges or other public officers shall in future be sworn in before the court of N. A., or before any person who may be commissioned to administer them.

5. gular or summary suit, may appear to them manifestly unjust or illegal, or on any other of the grounds defined in the clause first cited. In such cases a revision of the proceedings is obviously unnecessary to the determination of a fact which is clear and manifest in the face of the order or decision itself, or can be shewn to be so by documents accompanying it. And you will observe that the following clause of the same section provides for cases wherein the court may see cause of doubt by giving them a discretion to call for the proceedings of the lower court, or such parts of them as may appear necessary, and by the 7th clause of the same section, with the view of enabling the court duly to exercise the powers vested in them by the said section, the several courts of subordinate jurisdiction are strictly enjoined to conform to those parts of the Regulations in force, which require them to record the point or points at issue between the parties and the grounds on which their judgments or orders may be issued.—Con. 839, West. C. 11th Oct., Cal. C. 8th Nov. 1833.

57. No final decision of the court can be passed against a respondent until he has been summoned in the usual course.—Con. 944, West. C. 10th April, Cal. C. 1st May 1835.

58. It shall further be competent to a single Judge to direct that the execution of any judgment or order passed by an inferior court, in all cases in which that measure may appear to him expedient, may be stayed until a final decision has been passed thereon.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 5.

Power of a single judge of the S. D. A. when he dissents from part of the decision of a lower court, and agrees to the rest.

59. A single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut found part of the disposition of a judgment of the lower court untenable, and concurred in the rest. On assent of the party benefiting, by such untenable part to forego its benefit, final judgment, essentially judgment of amendment, is passed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Sept. 1833, vol. 5, p. 328.

Case in which a single judge of the S. D. A. passed a decision reversing that of the lower court.

60. In a case, in which a razeenamah and soolehnamah were executed by both parties, a decision in conformity therewith, although in reversal of the judgment of the lower court, was passed by a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th April 1845, vol. 7, p. 202.

SECTION VI.

Reversal of the Order or Decree of a Lower Court by the Sudder Court.

Case in which it is not competent to a single judge to alter or reverse a decree or order of a lower court.

61. Provided however, that if the decree or order appealed against shall have been passed in a regular suit or appeal after a full investigation of the merits, and the ultimate judgment to be passed on the case may rest on a mere difference of opinion as to the facts or evidence, or on a disputed or doubtful point of law, or construction of any Regulation in force, it shall not be competent to a single Judge to alter or reverse such decree or order. In such cases the single Judge will be guided by the rules and practice heretofore in force.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 4.

Provision when the single judge may be of opinion that a decision, or order, appealed against should be reversed, or altered.

62. In the trial of appeals from decisions or orders of any Provincial, Zillah or City court, if a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, sitting upon the appeal, shall be of opinion, that the decision, or order, appealed against, ought to be reversed, or altered, he shall not pass any decree, or final order thereupon, until one or more of the other Judges of the court can sit with him upon the appeal in question.—Reg. 13, 1810, Sect. 6, Cl. 3.

63. A. obtains a decree in the Zillah court against B., who appeals to the Provincial court. The Judges of the latter court call for a bewustah, and upon this only the decision of the Zillah court is reversed. A. appeals to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, where the bewusteh appears to be at variance with the shasters and inadmissible, but the evidence is esteemed sufficient to establish the right of B. On this evidence one Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut proposed to confirm the reversal of the Zillah decree, the bewustah of the Provincial court being rejected. Held, that the rejection by the sitting Judge of the law opinion delivered in the court below, rendered it necessary that the case should be referred to another Judge for his concurrence.—Con. 538, 29th Jan. 1830.

The rejection by the sitting judge of the bewustah of the pundit of the lower court, renders it necessary to refer the matter to another judge.

64. In modification of the third clause of Section 2, Regulation 13, 1810, requiring the sitting of two Judges to reverse or alter a decision or order appealed to a Provincial [the Sudder] court, and of such part of any other Regulation in force, as directs that decrees are to be signed by the Judges passing the same; it is hereby provided, that when a single Judge of a Provincial [the Sudder] court, trying a case in appeal from a zillah or city Judge, Assistant Judge, or Register, shall be of opinion, that the decision appealed from ought to be reversed, or altered, and shall record his sentiments to that effect; and another Judge of the Provincial [the Sudder] court, sitting afterwards upon the same appeal, shall concur in the opinion so recorded, it shall be competent to the second Judge to pass the decree, or final order, in conformity thereto, and to cause the same to be carried into execution, in the mode prescribed by the Regulations, without waiting for a sitting of both Judges, when circumstances may not conveniently admit of it. In such cases, the decree or order shall be signed by the Judge present at the final sitting; and the signature of the Judge who first sat shall not be considered requisite; but his opinion, as recorded by him, shall be recited in the decree or final order, and in the copies of it delivered to the parties.—Reg. 25, 1814, Sect. 8.

Powers of single judges of the provincial courts sitting upon appeals in succession, and concurring in opinion.

These rules were extended to the Sudder Court by Section 16 of that Regulation.

65. It is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 16, Regulation 25, 1814, that when a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, trying a case in appeal, regular or special, from any subordinate court, shall be of opinion that the decision appealed from ought to be reversed or altered, he shall always call in two other Judges of the court to sit with him, and that the appeal shall be then heard by the three Judges sitting together, and be decided by them without any additional voices. In such cases the decree or final order shall be signed by the three Judges, if they agree together; but, if one of them dissent from the view taken by the majority, by the two Judges who agree together, and the signature of the third Judge shall not be considered requisite, but his opinion shall be recited in the decree or final order.—Act II. 1843, Sect. 1.

If a single judge of S. D. A., trying an appeal, regular or special, is of opinion that the decision appealed against ought to be altered or reversed, he shall call in two other judges to sit with him, & the three shall decide the case, & if they agree, sign, or the opinion of him who differs shall be recited in the decree.

66. Provided, that the above rule shall not be applicable to summary appeals, or to appeals in miscellaneous cases, nor shall it be held to interfere with the powers of a single

Act not to apply to summary appeals, nor appeals in miscellaneous cases, nor to powers of a single judge under cl. 2, sec. 2, reg. 9, 1831.

Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under Clause 2, Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831.—

Act II. Sect. 2.

Rule regarding a difference as to some of the reasons of the decree of the lower court, while there is agreement in others.

67. Difference as to some of the reasons of the decree of a lower court, while there is agreement as to others, does not constitute the difference of judgment, which requires the single Judge thus partially differing, to refer the case for the decision of a full court, under Act II. 1843.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Jan. 1846, vol. 7, p. 223.

In cases of difficulty or importance, a single judge may refer the case to two or more judges after recording his own opinion.

68. Provided however, that nothing in the foregoing clauses of Section 2 shall be understood to prohibit a single Judge in any case of difficulty or importance in which he may deem it expedient and proper that the matter at issue should be decided by two or more Judges of the court from recording his own opinion thereon and referring the case to another Judge.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 2, Cl. 6.

After a judge has recorded his opinion and referred the case to another judge, a petition objecting to the recorded opinion cannot be received.

69. After a Judge has recorded his opinion on a case and referred it to another Judge, it is contrary to Clause 3, Section 6, Regulation 26, 1814, which prescribes that no supplementary pleading shall be admitted without the express sanction of the court for the parties or their vakeels to file a petition objecting to the recorded opinion.—Rules S. D. A. 11th Nov. 1836.

But if the parties think a supplementary petition necessary to elucidate their case, it will be referred to the judge who decided the case, for his decision.

70. In the event, however, of the parties or their vakeels considering a supplementary petition necessary to elucidate their case, the petition shall be referred to the Judge who may have disposed of the case in the first instance, who after perusal thereof, will pass such orders, as on consideration of the contents of such supplementary pleading or representation, may in his judgment be required, for the ends of justice.—Ibid.

When two judges concur in amending a decree of the lower court, but differ as to the grounds, their judgment becomes final.

71. Two Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut concur in amending the decree of the Provincial court, but differ as to grounds. Final judgment passed notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th March 1831, vol. 5, p. 96.

A judge before confirming the decision of the lower court may provide for submitting the case to another judge.

72. Under Clause 6, Section 2, Regulation 9, 1831, a Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, confirming the decision of the lower court, may previous to signing his judgment, provide for the submission of the case to another Judge.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th Nov. 1834, vol. 5, p. 369.

SECTION VII.

Reference of Original Suits or Petitions by the Sudder to the Zillah Court.

Cases in which the S. D. A. is empowered to refer original suit or complaints to the zillah or city court.

73. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered to receive any original suit or complaint which may be cognizable in any Zillah or City court, and to command the Judge of such court, by a precept under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register, to receive the suit or complaint, and to proceed to hear and determine it, provided proof shall be previously made to their satisfaction that the Judge refused or omitted to proceed in it. If the plaintiff shall refuse or neglect to proceed in the suit or complaint, for the period of six weeks after the order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut may be received by the Zillah or City court, and notified to the complainant, the Judge is authorised to dismiss it, notwithstanding the order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut. In such cases, the Judge, within one Suit or complaint to be dismissed, if the party preferring it shall refuse or omit to proceed in it for six weeks.

Judge to notify the week after the dismissal of the suit or complaint, is to certify to the Sudder dewanny adawlut under his hand and the seal of the court, that the suit or complaint has been dismissed, and the grounds of the dismissal.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 4, Cl. 1.

74. The Sudder dewanny adawlut are vested with authority to receive any petitions respecting suits or matters that may be depending or have been decided, in any Zillah or City court, and provided it shall be proved to their satisfaction, that the petition was presented to the Judge of such court and that he refused or omitted to receive it, and to proceed on it,.....the court are empowered to issue a precept under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register, commanding the Judge to receive the petition, and to proceed respecting it according to the Regulations.—Reg. 2, 1798, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 11, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 2.

Cases in which the S. D. A. may receive petitions respecting suits and matters depending or decided in any zillah or city court, and how to proceed with such petitions.

SECTION VIII.

Summary Appeals and Miscellaneous Petitions to the Sudder Court.

75. It shall be competent to the Sudder dewanny adawlut to receive a summary appeal from the orders or decrees of the Provincial courts, [Zillah courts, or Principal Sudder Amceens in cases above 5000 rupees in value,] in all cases in which the latter may have refused to admit an original suit or appeal, regularly cognizable by them ; or having admitted such suit, or appeal, may have dismissed it on the ground of delay, informality, or other default, without an investigation of the merits of the case.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 3, Cl. 2.

Cases in which the S. D. A. may admit a summary appeal.

76. In all the preceding cases, the summary appeal shall be preferred within the same limited period as is prescribed for the admission of regular appeals, and subject to the provisions contained in the following clauses. [The provisions of those clauses will be found at Chapter VII, Section 1.]—Ibid, Cl. 5.

Limitation of time for the admission of summary appeals.

77. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will admit a summary appeal from an order of nonsuit. Property claimed under separate deeds must be separately sued for. But any number of decree-holders, attaching the same property, may be sued in the same plaint by a party laying claim to it.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st Jan. 1842, p. 23.

Summary appeal from an order of nonsuit admitted. Property claimed under separate deeds must be separately sued for. Several decree-holders attaching the same property may be sued in the same plaint.

78. Though the zillah Judge's order in execution of a Moonsiff's decree is final, yet in a case in which the Moonsiff had omitted to provide in his decree for the payment of interest, and the Judge, on the decree-holder's applying to him to supply the omission under the Circular order of 11th September, 1839, rejected his application, it was held that as the order originated with the Judge, and was not passed in appeal from the order of a lower court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut were competent to receive an appeal therefrom, and either direct the Judge to allow interest, or reverse his decision and pass a modified order according to the Circular cited.—Con. 1055, West. C. 17th Oct., Cal. C. 25th Nov. 1836.

Case in which a summary appeal was received from a judge's order passed in execution of a moonsiff's decree though that order was, by law, final.

Where a judge had passed a summary order without having summary jurisdiction, the S. D. A. admitted a summary appeal.

79. A summary appeal was admitted from the summary order of a Judge under the provisions of Clause 1, Section 5, Regulation 5, 1830, in case of an application by a ryot, to settle his accounts with an indigo factory before the expiration of his contract, the Judge having no summary jurisdiction in such case.—Con. 1130, Cal. and West. C. 9th Feb. 1838.

SECTION IX.

Regular Appeals to the Sudder Court—Suits in which Appeals may be preferred—General Rules.

The Judges are forbidden to record on petitions any remarks which would encourage parties to apply to the S. D. A. in cases in which their interference is barred.

80. I am directed to request that the Judges will abstain from recording, on petitions presented to them or in their proceedings, any remarks calculated to hold out encouragement to parties to apply to the Sudder dewanny adawlut in cases in which its interference is barred by the Regulations; the practice alluded to being manifestly improper, as having a tendency needlessly to occupy the time of the court, and to put the applicants to much unnecessary trouble and expence.—Cir. Ord. 1st April 1842.

In all suits originally decided by the judge, an appeal to lie to the S. D. A.

81. In all suits originally decided by the zillah or city Judge, an appeal shall lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 28, Cl. 3.

In all suits exceeding the value specified in cl. 1, sec. 18, reg. 5, 1831, which shall, under sec. 1 of this act be referred to a P. S. A., the appeal shall be direct to the court of S. D. A., and shall be conducted as if it were an appeal from a zillah judge, and any application for a review of the decision upon such judgment shall be made by the P. S. A., to the court of S. D. A.

82. And it is hereby enacted, that in all suits exceeding the amount or value specified in Clause 1, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, which shall, under the authority of Section 1 of this Act, be referred to a Principal Sudder Ameen, the appeal from the decision of such Principal Sudder Ameen shall be direct to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects according to the same rules as if it were an appeal from the decision of a zillah Judge to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and any application for a review of judgment on such decision shall be made by the said Principal Sudder Ameen directly to the said Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall be conducted in all respects as if it were an application for a review of a decision of a zillah Judge.—Act XXV. 1837, Sect. 4.

Decrees adjudging forfeiture of lands, or fines for resistance of process, may be appealed to the S. D. A.

83. By Clause 3, Section 28, Regulation 5, 1831, all suits originally decided by the Judge of a zillah, into which the provisions of Regulation 5, 1831, have been introduced, are appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and an appeal would lie from his decree adjudging forfeiture of lands or fines, in cases of resistance or evasion of process, without reference to the amount of the annual jumma, or produce, or fine; and that in such cases the Judge should await the period of appeal to this court in the same manner as by the enactments quoted by you, they were directed to await an appeal to the Provincial court.—Con. 780, Cal. C. 12th April, West. C. 10th May 1833.

Appeal from the decision of the court of wards against a collector, guardian, or manager will lie to the sudder.

84. The Court of Wards are to transmit copies of any judgments [for fraud] which may be given by them under this clause, against a Collector, guardian, or manager, to the Court of Dewanny adawlut of the zillah, and they shall be considered as judgments of the court, and be enforced accordingly. An appeal, however, shall lie from such judgments immediately to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, provided the petition of appeal be preferred to the Zillah court, or to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or to the Court of Wards, within three months after the date of the decision; and the Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered to admit an appeal after that period, provided the petition of appeal be presented to that court, and the appellant shall shew good cause to its satisfaction, for not having preferred the appeal within the prescribed time.—Reg. 10, 1793, Sect. 32, Cl. 2.—Benares Reg. 6, 1822, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 52, 1803, Sect. 36, Cl. 2.

85. As by Clause 1, Section 28, Regulation 5, 1831, the decisions of zillah Judges in appeals from the decisions of Sudder Ameens are final; and as by Section 7, Regulation 7, 1832, the orders of the Judges in the execution of such decisions are also final; interlocutory orders passed by the zillah Judges on the hearing of such appeals are not appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Rules S. D. A. 13th Dec. 1833.

Interlocutory orders passed by the judges in hearing such appeals, final.

86. A resolution of the Court for expediting the disposal of appeals in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, is transmitted to you by this opportunity, and you are requested to cause the same to be made known by every possible means to those who are parties in cases pending in this court.—Cir. Ord. 16th April 1841, par. 2.

Resolution of S. D. A. for expediting the disposal of appeals.

87. The Court having taken into consideration the great delay that occurs in filing the usual security bonds, the reasons of appeal, and the replies thereto, deem it proper to notify to parties and to their pleaders that they must proceed with greater expedition, and in strict conformity to the rules laid down on this subject by the Regulations of Government. Applications of parties or of their pleaders praying for the postponement of their cases, or soliciting a longer period for the preparation of their pleadings, cannot, except on very urgent and unexceptionable grounds, be complied with.—Ibid.

Applications of parties for postponing their cases, or for longer time, cannot be granted.

Exception.

88. The petition of appeal, pleadings, depositions, and exhibits in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, are to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed by the Register, in the same manner as the complaint, pleadings, depositions and exhibits are ordered to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed by the Register in the Zillah and City courts.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 28.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 28.

Proceedings of the S. D. A. how to be numbered, marked, dated, and signed.

89. In matters which the Sudder dewanny adawlut may be empowered by any Regulation to try in the first instance, and also in appeals that may be preferred to the Court from decisions of the Provincial courts of appeal, (excepting as to hearing witnesses and receiving evidence,) the court is to proceed in the same manner, and with the like powers and authority, and subject to the same restrictions, limitations, and exceptions, as are prescribed to the Zillah and City courts.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 7.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 7.

In trying matters in the first instance, and in appeals, the S. D. A. to be guided by the rules prescribed to the zillah and city courts.

Exceptions to the rule.

90. A party having applied for a review of judgment, under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, in a case open to appeal, but in which no appeal may have been preferred, and such application having been rejected, is not entitled of right to the deduction of the time, during which his application for a review was pending before the lower court, in calculating the period allowed him under the Regulations for preferring a regular appeal from the original decision; but where such party may plead as the reason of his not having presented his petition of appeal within the period prescribed by law, that the case was pending before the lower court on an application for a review of judgment, it will be the duty of the appellate

In calculating the period of appeal, the party is not entitled to a deduction of the time a petition for review was pending.

But the appellate court may take it into consideration.

court to take such plea into consideration, and to admit it or not, according as, under all the circumstances of the case, it may appear just and proper, in like manner with any other cause assigned for delay.—Con. 1127, 2d Feb. 1828.

[The rules regarding regular appeals from Zillah courts and Principal Sudder Ameens in cases above 5,000 rupees to the Sudder Court will be found at Chapter VII, Section 13.]

SECTION X.

Rules regarding the Pétition of Appeal and Course of Procedure.

The names of all the respondents must be inserted in the petition of appeal, and they must not be referred to by the words "oghyra," "& others."

91. The preparation of cases in the Sudder dewanny adawlut for hearing, is often delayed by the omission of parties to insert in their petition of appeal, whether presented to the local courts or to the Sudder court, the names of all the respondents, (some of whom are referred to by the words "oghyra" "and others,") and the consequent inability to issue the prescribed process on the whole of them. As such practice is opposed to the rule of Section 10, Regulation 6, 1793, (Clause 3, Section 10, Regulation 5, 1803, for Ceded Provinces,) petitions of appeals deficient in the respect adverted to must be considered as incomplete and inadmissible under the Regulations, and not to be acted upon as in any way having the effect of a petition of appeal, with reference to the calculation of the period allowed for appeal.—Cir. Ord. 1st July 1842, par. 1.

If this defect be not supplied within the period of appeal, the appeal will be rejected as incomplete.

92. Whenever, therefore, in future an appellant shall omit the names of any persons who were opposed to him in the lower court, (without stating grounds for such omission,) he shall be allowed to supply the defect within the period of appeal, but in the event of neglect so to do, his appeal shall be rejected as incomplete.—Ibid, par. 2.

The judges and P. S. A. will apprise appellants of the foregoing orders.

93. The Judges and Principal Sudder Ameens, to whom such incomplete petitions of appeal may be presented, for transmission to the Sudder court, will apprise the parties of the foregoing orders.—Ibid, par. 3.

The record of every case appealed must be sent in two months from the day of receiving the precept.

94. I am directed to request that you will be careful, in future, to cause the record of every case appealed to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, from decisions passed in your court, or that of the Principal Sudder Ameen, to be copied and despatched within two months from the date of receipt of a precept calling for the papers.—Cir. Ord. 16th April 1841, par. 1.

When the petition of appeal is filed with the decree of the lower court, the deputy register, will see if it be correct, and place it on the file of the court.

95. If the appellant shall file in person, or by vakeel, or authorised mooktar, his petition of appeal, together with copy of the decree of the lower court, within the period of appeal allowed by the Regulations, the Deputy Register will ascertain whether the petition be correct with regard to stamped paper and other particulars, and in the event of its being so, will place the appeal on the file of the court.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 1.

Notice to be given to respondent—record of the case to be called for in two months.

96. On the appeal being registered on the file of the court the Deputy Register shall cause the usual notice to be served on the respondent, and the record of the case to be called for allowing two months from the date of the receipt of the roobukaree for its transmission by the Zillah court. The itileknameh and istiharnamah (the notice and proclamation) for the attendance of the respondent are to be sent simultaneously to the zillah Judge.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

97. Should the petition of appeal contain also the reasons of appeal and be filed with a copy of the decree of the lower court, the Deputy Register will retain the case in his own office until the receipt of the returns from the Zillah court to the instructions forwarded under the preceding rule.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 3.

When the petition of appeal contains also the reasons, the dep. register will retain the case on his own file till the returns are received.

98. In the event of the petition of appeal being filed without the reasons of appeal and copy of the decree of the lower court, the Deputy Register shall allow to the appellant a period of six weeks from the date of filing the petition of appeal to file the reasons of appeal and a copy of the decree appealed from.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

If the decree of the lower court and reasons are not filed with the petition, 6 weeks allowed for doing so.

99. If the documents called for be filed within the time allowed by the preceding rule the Deputy Register will retain the case in his own office, until the receipt of the returns from the Zillah court to the instructions forwarded under Rule 2.—Ibid, Sect. 5.

If those documents are received in time, the dep. register will retain the case on his file till the returns arrive.

100. In the event of the reasons of appeal and copy of the decree not being filed within the time prescribed, the Deputy Register, on the expiration of the time allowed, will lay the case before one of the Judges selected by the court as the referee in all cases from the Deputy Register.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

If those documents are not received in time, the matter will be referred to one of the judges.

101. In cases in which the petition of appeal has been filed in the Zillah court, the period of six weeks for filing the reasons of appeal and copy of the decree, shall be calculated from the date of the receipt of the petition in the office of this court.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

From what date the six weeks to be calculated when the petition was presented to the lower court.

102. In the event of the appellant applying for further time to file his reasons of appeal under the provisions of Section 1, Act XXIX. of 1841, the Deputy Register will immediately lay the application, together with the petition of appeal, before the Judge selected as above stated.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

If the appellant apply for more time, the application will be referred to one of the judges.

103. When the case on the part of the appellant has been completed, and the necessary returns and record received from the Zillah court, the Deputy Register will allow fifteen days to the respondent to file his answer.—Ibid, Sect. 9.

When the case of the appellant is completed, 15 days to be allowed the respondent for his answer.

104. On the filing of the answer, or otherwise on the expiration of the time allowed for filing it, the Deputy Register will place the case on the list of cases ready for distribution. Should the answer be presented after the date fixed, but before the distribution of the case to any of the Judges, it shall be received by the Deputy Register, and filed with the record of the case.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

On his answer being filed, the case will be placed on the list of cases for distribution.

105. Applications for the admission of appeals, preferred after the expiration of the period allowed for appealing, shall be laid before the Judge selected as referee.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

Applications for appealing after the period allowed, will be submitted to the judge.

106. It will be the duty of the Deputy Register to note any irregularities committed by the lower courts in the preparation and endorsement of the copies of the decrees of their courts, and submit his report of such irregularities to the Judge selected as referee.—Ibid, Sect. 12.

The dep. register will report any irregularities in the lower courts to the judge.

107. In the event of the demise of a party to an appeal, the Deputy Register will take the necessary steps for causing the attendance of his or her representatives. Should this enquiry involve a question as to who are the representatives of the deceased, the Deputy Register will lay the case before the Judge selected as referee.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

Course to be pursued on the death of a party to an appeal.

Also where the legal representative of the deceased is a minor or lunatic.

108. In the event of the legal representative of a deceased party being a minor or lunatic, the Deputy Register will lay the case before the Judge as above, in order that the necessary measures may be taken for having a guardian appointed.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 14.

Course to be pursued if the representatives of the appellant should fail to attend, or to act, in six weeks.

109. What documents the appellant is allowed to file with his petition of appeal, & what must be given with a separate petition.

115. It has been the practice of the Sudder court to allow the appellant to file, with his petition of appeal, the mooktarnamah under which the vakalutnamah may be executed, and the security bonds for costs for staying or enforcing execution, as well as the vakalutnamah and copy of the decree appealed against; all other documents are given in with a separate petition on the usual stamp.—*Con. 961, Cal. 118. In the event of a vakeel absent on leave, wishing to obtain additional leave of absence, he shall send in his application to the court for such additional leave, in time enough to enable him, in the event of such additional leave being refused, to rejoin the court by the expiration of the leave originally granted. Any prolonged absence without the sanction of the court previously obtained, in the manner above stated, will render a vakeel liable to be struck off the list of vakeels.—Ibid.

Rule regarding a vakeel's obtaining additional leave of absence.

119. When any pleader may apply for leave of absence for a period exceeding ten days, he shall give in a statement of the number of cases in which he is engaged, both singly, and jointly with another vakeel.—Rules S. D. A. 15th July 1842.

SECTION XII.

Witnesses and Evidence in the Sudder Court.

Cases in which the S. D. A. is empowered to take new evidence in appeals, or to refer them back for further evidence to the provincial courts.

133. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered in cases of appeal, in which it shall appear to them that the original suit has not been sufficiently investigated in the Provincial court of appeal, [lower court] or for any other cause that may be deemed reasonable by the court, either to receive such further evidence as they may think necessary for the just determination of the suit, and to give judgment upon it ; or, to refer the suit back to the [lower] court in which it originated, accompanied by such special directions to the [lower] court with regard to the new evidence they are to receive respecting it, as may be deemed by the court most conducive to justice, and the convenience of the parties and witnesses. But in every case in which the Sudder dewanny adawlut may exercise the power above vested in them by this section, they are to enter upon the record of the trial their reasons for having exercised it. In cases in which the court may judge it proper to receive such further evidence themselves, they are empowered, according as they may deem most conducive to justice (respect being had to the nature of the cause and the evidence) either to examine the witnesses to be produced, vivâ voce, in open court, first causing the witnesses to be sworn, and their depositions to be reduced into writing, and signed by the deponents respectively ; or, to authorise their Register to swear the witnesses and take their depositions, and to cause the deponents to sign them, and to authenticate them with their signatures. The Register in such case is to examine the witnesses in the presence of both parties, of their vakeels, who are to be at liberty to put any questions to the witnesses that they may think proper, and the questions, with the answers to them, are in the same manner to be reduced into writing, signed, and authenticated. But if due notice be given to the parties or their vakeels, of the examination of any witness or witnesses before the Register, and he or they shall not attend at the time of the examination, the Register is to proceed in the examination as before directed, and the depositions are to be received as good and authentic evidence.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 16.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 16.

S. D. A. to state their reasons on the record of the trial, whenever they may exercise the powers above vested in them.

134. Where witnesses may be women of the description specified in Section 6, Regulation 4, 1793. or shall reside out of the jurisdiction of the court, and at a distance from it exceeding fifty coss, the court may grant such commissions as the Zillah and City courts are authorised to grant for the examination of such witnesses upon similar occasions. And the Sudder dewanny adawlut may issue such commissions to creditable women, and send such letters to the [lower] courts for the examination of witnesses, in the cases in which the Judge of the Zillah or City courts are authorized to send such commissions and letters.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 17.

Or direct their evidence to be taken by commission.

The rules relative to the examination of absent witnesses, given at Chapter III, Section 22, page 297, will also be applicable in such cases.

135. If a witness duly summoned shall not attend, or attending shall refuse to be sworn or give evidence, or to subscribe his deposition, or if such witness, or any person shall be guilty of wilful or corrupt perjury in a cause depending in the court, or any contempt of court in open court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut are to proceed with such witness or person in the same manner as the Provincial courts are authorised to deal with witnesses or persons in like manner offending.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 18.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 18.

S. D. A. how to proceed where witnesses do not attend, or refuse to be sworn or to give evidence, or sign their depositions, or any persons are guilty of contempt of court, or perjury.

136. If the Judges of the Provincial courts, or of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or any single Judge of those courts respectively, in cases within the competency of a single Judge, shall be of opinion that there are sufficient grounds, on any civil proceeding before them for bringing a party or witness to trial, on a charge of perjury, or subornation of perjury, they shall record their sentiments to that effect ; and at the same time direct whether the party accused shall be admitted to bail, or kept in custody :—

And in cases wherein the proceedings may be held before the judges of the provincial courts, or of the court of S. D. A. or any single judge of those courts.

an authenticated copy of the order so passed, with the whole of the original papers relative to the case, shall then be transmitted to the proper zillah or city Magistrate, for the purpose of being proceeded upon as stated in the preceding clause.—Reg. 17, 1817, Sect. 14, Cl. 3.

Rules regarding the evidence of witnesses required by the S. D. A. in summary cases.

137. The Court, having frequent occasion, when hearing summary appeals, to require parties to substantiate their assertions by the evidence of witnesses, are pleased to establish the following rule of practice, for the observance of the civil Judges, and officers in charge of the current duties of Judge's offices.—Cir. Ord. 28th March 1845.

Mode in which the zillah judge will proceed to take the depositions of such witnesses.

138. Whenever a petition may be presented in any Zillah court, with a copy of a roobukaree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, authorising a party to prove any point which he may have asserted, it will be the duty of the Judge, or officer in charge of his office, without requiring any express orders, to take the depositions of the witnesses who may be produced before him, and record his opinion, as to whether the point in question has been proved or not, allowing the applicant to take an authenticated copy of his roobukaree.—Ibid.

A document dishonestly suppressed by a party, & directly contradicting his plea, will not be received by the S. D. A.

139. The Sudder dewanny adawlut will not receive in evidence a document dishonestly suppressed by a party in a suit, and directly contradicting the plea on which his original defence rested.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Nov. 1805, vol. 1, p. 112, Note.

The S. D. A. will receive fresh evidence in a suit on clear proof that it could not be discovered before the decree of the lower court.

140. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut will receive fresh evidence in appeal, on clear and unquestionable proof that it could not be discovered until after the decree of the Provincial court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Sept. 1806, vol. 1, p. 159.

Every such process, rule, and order, is to limit a certain time in which it is to be served, executed, and returned to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid.

144. I am directed by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to inform you, that it is the intention of the Court, in pursuance of Section 13, Regulation 6, 1793, to issue to your court, and the Zillah and City courts within your division, all process to parties and witnesses, and all decrees and orders of the court in causes, in the Native languages, but enclosed in an English precept. You will accordingly adopt a similar mode of communication with the court.—Cir. Ord. 20th April 1801.

Mode in which the S. D. A. intends to issue all processes to parties and witnesses, and all decrees and orders.

145. In all cases in which process, either to a party or witness, and all process whatever, and every rule or order, for the execution of any decree or final order, or any order relating to a cause depending in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which may be directed by such court to any Provincial court of appeal, the court to which the process may be directed, is to execute the order contained in the process, rule, or order, and return it so executed within the time limited, or return to the Sudder dewanny adawlut good and sufficient reason why it has not been served or executed.—*Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 14.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. To return the process executed, or reasons why it has not been executed.

146. You will be careful yourselves, and instruct the several Judges within your division to be careful on their part, to insert no information certified by them to the court in the cases in question, in English certificates or returns; but to let such information be entirely comprehended in the extracts from their proceedings, and the original documents to which the extracts may relate, so that the whole matter which it may be necessary to lay before the court may be understood, without any reference to the English certificate or return which accompanies.—Cir. Ord. 25th June 1801, par. 2.

How the lower courts are to certify to the S. D. A., the information it requires.

147. When any process, rule, decree, or order for the execution of any decree or final order, or any order whatever, shall be transmitted by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to a [lower] court to be served or executed, the return to such process, rule, order, or decree, is to be made by the court, either by endorsement on the process, rule, order, or decree, or to be written on a paper firmly annexed to it; and, if the return be made in the last mentioned manner, there is to be an endorsement on the process, rule, order, or decree, referring the Sudder dewanny adawlut to the return contained in such annexed paper, and the court is to cause a copy of the process, rule, order, or decree, together with the return to it, to be deposited among the records of the court.—*Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 14.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795.—Ced. and Cong. What the writing is to contain.

that if the party shall not obey the exigence of it within the time limited, the Sudder dewanny adawlut will, without further notice, process, or order, proceed ex-parte to hear, try, and determine the cause to which such process or order may relate; and the court is likewise to cause a copy of such writing to be fixed up with all practicable despatch on the outer door of the house in which the party may have commonly dwelt, or in some conspicuous place in the village in which he may have usually resided, and to return to the Sudder dewanny adawlut in the manner before directed how he has executed the process.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 14.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795.—*Ced. and Cong. 150. And, whereas, it is expedient that the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and Nizamut adawlut, or other Provincial courts, however denominated, exercising the highest jurisdiction within the provinces respectively subject to the Governments of Fort William, Fort Saint George, and Bombay, should have power and authority to execute process of arrest, either civil or criminal, within the town of Calcutta and Madras, and the town and island of Bombay, notwithstanding the jurisdiction of His Majesty's courts established at those places respectively; be it, therefore, enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the said Court of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, or other Provincial courts aforesaid, to execute or cause to be executed upon all persons subject to the jurisdiction of such courts respectively, all manner of lawful process of arrest, within the respective limits of the towns of Calcutta and Madras, and of the town and island of Bombay, in the same manner as the said courts respectively may, by virtue of any power now vested, or hereafter to be vested in them, lawfully execute, or cause to be executed, such process in any place situate without the said limits; any Act, Charter, or other matter or thing whatsoever to the contrary notwithstanding; provided always, that all such process which shall be executed within the limits aforesaid, shall be in writing, and shall have underwritten or endorsed thereon, or otherwise annexed thereto, a translation thereof, or of the substance thereof, in the English language and character, signed by one of the Judges of the court from whence the same shall issue.—Act 53, George III. Chap. 155, Sect. 113.

SECTION XIV.

Precepts and Returns.

151. The Court, having had occasion to notice instances of very great delay on the part of the zillah and city Judges in making returns to precepts issued to them, direct me to call your particular attention to the subject; and to desire that whenever you may be unable to execute fully any order or process within the time limited, you will submit, with a certificate, a report of what has been done, and of what remains to be done, and of the period by which you will submit a full return, transmitting a further definite report in case the period first certified be unavoidably exceeded.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 25th July 1834, par. 1.

The lower courts, when unable fully to execute a process of the S. D. A. within the time limited, will submit a report with a certificate. What the certificate will contain.

152. The particular attention of the court is directed to the reduction of their heavy arrears of pending suits, and to expediting the general business before them. Their utmost endeavours must however prove ineffectual, unless the zillah and city Judges co-operate with them by paying prompt attention to their orders. They, therefore, direct me to state, that they must hold you personally responsible for any delay which may in future occur in your office not satisfactorily reported and explained.—Ibid, par. 2.

The lower courts will be held personally responsible for any delay that may occur in their offices not satisfactorily explained.

153. With a view to obviate the delay which occurs in registering certificates, containing partial returns to the Court's precepts, in consequence of their not bearing the numbers of the precept register, which are always to be found in the precepts themselves; I am directed to request that you will in future, in addition to the number of the cause in which the precept is issued, and names of the parties, invariably insert the number of the precept register agreeably to the accompanying form, whenever you may have occasion to transmit such certificate in reply to precepts issued since the 1st of April last.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 17th July 1835.

How the certificates which are sent from the lower courts in reply to precepts are to be numbered.

154. With a view to secure uniformity in respect to the form of communications to the court, connected with their precepts not requiring returns, but in which the zillah Judge may wish to communicate to the court some information or remarks, or in which further instructions may be requisite; I am directed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut and Nizamut adawlut to transmit to you the accompanying form (No. 9.) for adoption, whenever you may find it necessary to make references to them, connected with the precepts in question.

Form in which the lower courts will make references to the S. D. A. connected with the precepts sent to them.

Ord. West. C. 20th July, Cal. C. 10th Aug. 1838.*

The P. S. A. will use the same form which is prescribed for the practice of the zillah courts in forwarding their certificates of appeal, substituting Oordoo for English.

157. The Court observe that in forwarding their certificates of appeal, and in making their returns to the precepts of the Court under Act XXV. 1837, the Principal Sudder Ameens are not guided by any prescribed forms, and that much want of uniformity consequently prevails. This diversity of practice being found inconvenient, the Court are pleased to direct that those officers shall be required to conform to the practice of the Zillah courts in this matter, substituting the Oordoo for the English language.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 10th Sept. 1839, par. 1.

Consolidated Rules regarding Precepts and Returns, promulgated by the Sudder Court.

Form in which precepts will be drawn out.

158. All precepts shall be drawn out according to the annexed forms (Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, and 7).—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, par. 1.

The order for issuing a precept will state if a return is required, and within what period.

159. All orders directing the issue of precepts shall state whether a return is required, and within what period.—Ibid, par. 2.

Date from which the period will be calculated.

160. The period shall be calculated from the date of the despatch of the precept from this office.—Ibid, par. 3.

What date the precepts and returns will bear.

161. Precepts and returns shall bear the date of despatch, not the date of proceedings which accompany them, as heretofore; and the subordinate courts will be expected to despatch their returns within the period allowed.—Ibid, par. 4.

Course of proceeding in the sudder court after the judge has signed a chittch directing the issue of a precept.

162. When a Judge of the Court has signed a chittch, directing the issue of a precept, it shall be the duty of his paishkar to prepare a copy of the roobukaree, duly attested by his signature, together with such other papers as should accompany the same, and to send them by a mohurrir, to the English clerk in the precept department, within seven days from the date on which the chittch was signed by the Judge. The roobukaree shall bear a list of the accompanying papers at the foot of it; and the paishkar shall be responsible that they are correct and complete.—Ibid, par. 5.

Duties of the English clerk.

163. The English clerk will note on each proceeding the date of receipt, and after preparing the precepts, will submit them for the Register's signature; he will then enter them in the proper books, and will despatch them on the same day if possible; if not despatched till the next day, or later, the date of the receipts shall be altered to correspond with that of despatch.—Ibid, par. 6.

164. If the officer to whom the precept may be addressed find it impracticable to send a complete return within the prescribed period, he will transmit a proceeding with a certificate according to the annexed form, (No. 5,) stating the reason, and the additional period which he may require to carry the court's orders into effect.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 6th Feb. 1835, par. 7.

The duty of the officer to whom the precept is addressed, if he cannot send a complete return within the prescribed period.

165. Such returns and certificates when received in this office shall, after having been endorsed and entered in the proper books, be sent by the precept clerk to the paishkar of the Judge by whom the precept was issued, who will note on each the date of receipt, and bring it forward in the usual course.—Ibid, par. 8.

Course of procedure after the returns and certificates have been received in the sudder court.

166. If the period allowed in a precept, together with the number of days occupied by the letter dawk, expire before a return or explanatory proceeding and certificate be received, the Register shall send a letter calling for explanation within a specified term; should this term also expire without receiving a reply, the circumstance shall be brought to the notice of the Judge who issued the order, for such further measures as he may deem advisable.—Ibid, par. 9.

Duty of the register if the period allowed in a precept together with the days required for the post, expire before a return or explanatory proceeding is received.

167. The officer by whom a return or certificate may be sent will cause a list of the papers which accompany it to be written at the foot of the roobukaree.—Ibid, par. 10.

A list of the papers sent with the return or certificate will be written at the foot of the roobukaree.

168. If the papers, &c. which should accompany a precept or return are too heavy for the letter dawk, they shall be sent by dawk banghy, with a note stating the case and precept or return to which they belong; the precept or return itself with the proceedings of the court being sent as usual by the letter dawk.—Ibid, par. 11.

Course of procedure if the papers, which should accompany a precept are too heavy for the letter dawk.

169. The precept clerk will at the close of each week, submit to the Register a list of unanswered precepts, and letters, to which returns are due.

The precept clerk will submit weekly a list of unanswered letters and precepts.

SECTION XV.

Neglect of Duty, and Resistance and Disobedience of the Court's Orders by the Lower Court.

Judge of the provincial courts liable to be suspended by the S. D. A., for refusing or omitting to obey, or to conform to, their process or requisitions. *

S. D. A. to report to the G. G. in C., the suspension of judges under this section within 10 days.

170. If any [lower] court, to whom any process, rule, or order whatever may be directed, shall wilfully disobey, or neglect to perform the commands contained in it, or make a false return, the Judges of the court who may commit such offence, shall be liable to be suspended from their office, by the Sudder dewanny adawlut. If the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall suspend any Judge of a Provincial [lower] court under this section, they are to notify the suspension to the Governor General in Council within ten days after it may take place, together with the cause of it ; and certify under the seal of the court, the proceedings, depositions, and exhibits, and all other matters which may be necessary to enable the Governor General in Council to pass a determination upon the suspension, and to transmit to him on his requisition, any further papers and proceedings respecting the cause which he may deem necessary for his information.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 13.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 4.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 13.

In what cases court to report to the G. G. in C.

171. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut is directed to report to the Governor General in Council, all instances of wilful neglect of duty or aggravated misconduct by a covenanted servant of the Company, employed in any of the Civil courts, whether in a judicial or ministerial capacity ; and whether such neglect or misconduct may have been reported to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, by a Provincial, Zillah, or City court or may otherwise appear from the proceedings and papers before the court. But if the case should appear to the court to involve an error of judgment only, or a slight default for which an admonition from the court may be deemed a sufficient correction, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in the former case, is authorised to notice the error for the information and guidance of the party who may have committed it ; or, in the latter case to advise him of his default, and to admonish him accordingly.—Reg. 2, 1801, Sect. 7.

Errors of judgment or slight defaults how to be corrected.

[The penalties for resisting any process, order, rule, or decree of the Sudder court are the same as those enacted for similar resistance of the process of the Zillah courts, which will be found detailed in Chapter III. Section 14.]

SECTION XVI.

Special Appeals to the Sudder Court.

172. In all suits originally decided by the Principal Sudder Ameens, an appeal shall lie to the zillah or city Judge, and a further or special appeal, under the provisions of the Regulations applicable to such cases, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Reg. 5, 1831, Sect. 28, Cl. 2.

In suits decided by the P. S. A., a regular appeal to lie to the judge—a special appeal to the S. D. A.

173. Decrees passed in the court of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall be executed by those courts under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by the zillah and city Judges.—Provided however, that in such cases an appeal from the orders of the Principal Sudder Ameens shall lie, in the first instance, to the zillah and city Judges, and specially to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, that is, in suits under 5000 rupees.—Ibid, Sect. 22.

Decrees passed by the P. S. A., how to be executed. To whom an appeal will lie.

174. With respect to orders passed by the Principal Sudder Ameens, in miscellaneous cases referred to them under the authority of Section 8 of the Act in question, [Act XXV. 1837, Section 8,] the Court are of opinion, that the proviso contained in that section being general must be held to include cases in which the amount or value of the matter at issue may exceed 5000 rupees equally with those under that sum, and that, consequently, the appeal in such cases from the order of the Principal Sudder Ameen lies in the first instance to the zillah or city Judge, and specially to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Cir. Ord. Cal. and West. C. 5th June 1838, par. 4.

A regular appeal from the P. S. A. in miscellaneous cases, will lie to the zillah judge, and a special appeal to the S. D. A.

175. After the promulgation of this Regulation the Provincial courts, and Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, shall be guided, in their admission of special or second appeals by the rules contained in Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814 ; Section 7, Regulation 19, 1817; and Sections 3, 4 and 5 of Regulation 9, 1819.—Reg. 2, 1825, Sect. 4, Cl. 2.

By what rules the S. D. A., and provincial courts are hereafter to be guided in admitting second or special appeals.

176. In modification of the provisions contained in Section 24, Regulation 49, 1803, Section 10, Regulation 2, 1805, and clauses second and third, Section 9, Regulation 8, 1805, it is hereby enacted, that from and after the 1st of February, 1815, no special or second appeal shall be admitted by a zillah or city Judge, by a Provincial court, or by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, unless upon the face of the decree, or of documents exhibited with it (assuming all the facts of the case as stated in the decree,) the judgment shall appear to be inconsistent with some established judicial precedent, or with some Regulation in force, or with the Hindoo or Mahomedan law, in cases which are required to be decided by those laws, or with any other law or usage which may be applicable to the case, or unless the judgment shall involve some point of general interest, or importance, not before decided by the superior courts.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 2, Cl. 1.

Provisions in modification of the rules in force regarding the mode of admitting special appeals.

177. When a party upon any of the grounds specified in the preceding clause may be dissatisfied with a judgment passed on a regular appeal, by a competent Civil court, and may in consequence be desirous of obtaining a further investigation of the suit by a Party to present a petition to the court competent to admit such special appeal.

second or special appeal, he shall, within the limited periods prescribed for the admission of regular appeals, present a petition to the court, which under the provisions of Regulations 24 and 25, 1814, may be competent to admit a special appeal in the case.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 2, Cl. 2.

Such petition to be written on stamped paper of what description, and what it is to contain.

178. Such petition shall be written upon the stamped paper prescribed in Section 13, Regulation 1, 1814, [now Regulation 10, 1829,] with reference to the value or amount of the suit calculated according to the provisions of Section 14 of that Regulation, or any provisions which may be hereafter enacted for the valuation of property sued for in the Civil courts; the petition shall state distinctly the specific ground or grounds under Clause first of this section, on which the special appeal is solicited, and shall be presented either by the party in person, or by an authorized pleader of the court. In the latter case the petition shall be signed by the pleader, who shall certify on the back of the petition, that he has duly considered the grounds stated for admitting a special appeal under Clause first of this section and believes them to be well founded and sufficient.—Ibid, Cl. 3.

Special appeals allowed in cases where decrees passed by one or more courts are inconsistent with each other.

179. The restrictive provisions for second, or special appeals, prescribed in the first clause of Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814, allow of such appeals being admitted, when the judgment, against which the appeal may be preferred, shall appear to be inconsistent with some established judicial precedent: but this is not understood to include the case of two opposite or inconsistent judgments passed by the same court, or by two courts having jurisdiction in the same suit, or in suits founded on a similar cause of action; though in such cases it is obvious, that one or both of the opposing judgments should be revised. It is therefore hereby provided, in addition to the grounds on which second or special appeals are declared admissible, in the first clause of Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814, that such appeals may be admitted, when the judgment against which the appeal is preferred shall, from the exhibition of another decree of the same court, or of another court having jurisdiction in the same suit, or in a suit founded on a similar cause of action, clearly appear to be in opposition thereto, or inconsistent with such other judgment.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 7, Cl. 1.

Special appeals lie to the S. D. A. at Calcutta and Allahabad, the S. D. A. at Madras and S. D. A. at Bombay from all decisions passed in regular appeals in civil courts subordinate to them.

180. It is hereby enacted, that from and after the first day of May next, a special appeal shall lie to the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Calcutta and Allahabad respectively, to the Court of Sudder adawlut at Madras, and to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut at Bombay, from all decisions passed on regular appeals in the Civil courts subordinate to them respectively, which shall appear to be inconsistent with some law, or usage having the force of law, or some practice of the courts, or shall involve some question of law, usage, or practice, upon which there may be reasonable doubts.—Act III. 1843, Sect. 1.

Applications for special appeals must be presented in the same time as for regular appeals.

181. And it is hereby enacted, that applications for special appeals shall not be admitted unless they are presented to the proper court as aforesaid within the period limited for the presentation of regular appeals.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

182. And it is hereby enacted, that every application for a special appeal shall be accompanied by copies of the several decrees previously passed on the case.—Act III. 1843, Sect. 3. And be accompanied by copies of the decrees previously passed.

183. And it is hereby enacted, that every application for a special appeal duly presented to the proper court as aforesaid shall be heard by a single Judge of the court in presence of the special appellant or his vakeel or agent, and it shall be competent to the Judge at his discretion, to call for and peruse any document forming a part of the record of the cause, and to summon the opposite party to answer the application.—Ibid, Sect. 4. And be heard by a single judge, who may call for any document of record, &c.

184. And it is hereby enacted, that if it shall appear to the Judge that a special appeal is admissible under this Act he shall pass an order accordingly, and shall at the same time reduce the point or points to be determined to writing in English in the form of a certificate, which shall be translated into the vernacular language, in use in the court, and the special appeal shall then be brought on the file of the court to be heard and determined in due course. Provided that it shall not be necessary to call for or refer to any part of the proceedings the reading of which is not required for deciding the point or points of law stated in the certificate.—Ibid, Sect. 5. If judge deems a special appeal admissible, he shall order accordingly, and reduce in the form of a certificate the points to be determined to writing in English, which shall be translated into the vernacular language used by the court, & the appeal shall be brought on in due course.

185. And it is hereby enacted, that if it shall appear to the Judge that a special appeal is not admissible under this Act he shall reject the petition, and his order so rejecting a petition for a special appeal shall be final.—Ibid, Sect. 6. Judge's order rejecting a petition for a special appeal shall be final.

186. And it is hereby enacted, that in every case of special appeal admitted as aforesaid the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut shall determine the point or points, certified as above enacted, and no other point or part of the case whatever.—Ibid, Sect. 7. Upon special appeal, the S. D. A. shall determine the points certified and no other part of the case.

187. Provided that when the special ground of appeal may have been incorrectly or incompletely certified, it shall be competent to the court to amend the certificate. Provided that such amendment shall relate only to the point or points originally stated in the certificate and it shall not be lawful for the court to received or add any new point or points.—Ibid, Sect. 8. If the special ground of appeal has been incorrectly certified, the court may amend the certificate, but such amendment shall relate only to points originally certified, &c.

188. And it is hereby declared, that the existing laws and Regulations of the Presidencies of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, relating to special appeals, shall continue in force so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 9. Save existing laws as to special appeals, so far as they are not inconsistent with this act.

189. And it is hereby enacted, that nothing contained in this Act shall affect the hearing of second or special appeals which shall have been admitted and be pending in appeal before the said 1st day of May next, and that all such second or special appeals shall be heard and decided in the same manner as if this Act had not passed.—Ibid, Sect. 10. Act not to affect pending appeals, &c.

190. I am directed by the Court to communicate to you the following rule, regarding the admission of special appeals from the province under your control to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which, as you will perceive from the accompanying copy of the orders of the Government No. 529, of the 18th instant, and its enclosure, have been sanctioned by the Supreme Government:—Rule.—Under the spirit of Act III. 1843, no special appeals are to be admitted from the decisions of the authorities in the extra Regulation provinces without the sanction of the Court. Nevertheless in order to promote facility of access to the court, applications for special appeals may be presented to and received by the local authorities within the prescribed period of three months, to be transmitted, with the proceedings of the Courts of first and second instance, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut; and it shall not be obligatory on the appellants to appoint vakeels in such cases till after notice given to the appellants of their appeals having been admitted.—Cir. Ord. 20th March 1846.

Special appeals may be received by the S. D. A. from the extra regulation provinces.

No applications for the admission of special appeals will be received by the zillah courts after May 1st, 1843.

The judges will dispose as speedily as possible of all special appeals then pending.

In cases of special appeal, copies of the several decrees previously passed must be submitted within the period allowed for the presentation of regular appeals; otherwise the appeal must be rejected.

The widest publicity is to be given to the above construction of the law, the provisions of which are imperative.

A mere application to lodge a special appeal within three months, does not save its rejection.

The grounds of appeal, when inadvertently omitted in the petition, may be given in a supplementary petition.

191. Under Act III. 1843, which comes into operation on the first May next, no applications for the admission of special appeals will be receivable by the Zillah courts. As this will afford the Judges leisure to decide more appeals from the decisions of the Sudder Ameens and Moonsiffs than they were able to do, when they had to receive petitions for special appeals and to try the appeals specially admitted, the Court are desirous that the Judges should bestow their primary attention on the disposal of the special appeals and the petitions for the admission of such appeals which may be pending on their files at the date above mentioned, to admit of a judgment being formed of the extent to which they are able to try regular appeals from the orders of the lower grades of Native Judges.—Cir. Ord. 28th April 1843.

192. As misconception appears to prevail in regard to the period allowed by law for the institution of special appeals, and the obligation resting on such appellants, of submitting, together with their petitions, copies of the several decrees passed on the case, by both the inferior courts, the Court deem it right to declare, that agreeably to the unqualified terms of Section 2, Act III. of 1843, no application for special appeal can be legally admitted, unless it be presented "within the period limited for the presentation of regular appeals," and that the required copies of the previous decisions must be exhibited within the same period. A strict interpretation of the law, which enacts that "every application for special appeal shall be accompanied by copies of the several decrees previously passed on the case," might perhaps justify the conclusion that unless the petition praying for special appeal be so "accompanied," that is unless the petition and the copies of decrees previously passed be simultaneously submitted, it cannot be recognized as a legal application for special appeal; but without intending to rule this point, the Court intimate that the documents in question must be invariably exhibited within the period allowed for the presentation of regular appeals and that failure to observe this injunction will necessarily involve a rejection of the petition praying for special appeal, even though the latter may have been filed within the limitation above mentioned.—Cir. Ord. 23d May 1845, par. 1.

193. The civil Judges are requested to take every proper means for giving the widest publicity to this construction of a law, the provisions of which are imperative, and confer upon the Sudder dewanny adawlut no authority to admit special appeals, not legally instituted within the period allowed by law for the presentation of regular appeals.—Ibid, par. 2.

194. A mere application for permission to lodge a special appeal in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, presented within three months from the date of the decree of the Zillah court, is not sufficient to bring the applicant within the time.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th July 1842, p. 34.

195. A person having inadvertently omitted in his petition of special appeal to state the grounds on which he appealed, may be allowed to supply the omission by a supplementary petition on the stamp prescribed by Section 17, Regulation 1, 1814.—Con. 248, 8th May 1816.

196. Failure to state the grounds of appeal, within the same period, without good cause for the neglect, subjects the application to be struck off the file.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 13th July 1842, p. 34.

If the grounds are not stated within the appointed period, the application is liable to rejection.

197. Where an appeal from a judgment affecting the interests of Government was admitted after a lapse of 5 months and 13 days from its date, appellant justified delay by the necessity of reference to and sanction of the superior functionaries of Government.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Sept. 1833, vol. 5, p. 331.

Case in which an appeal affecting the interests of govt. was admitted, after the lapse of five months.

198. The Provincial court having refused to admit an appeal in formâ pauperis, on the merits of the case, and without reference to the question of pauperism, held that such order is final, and not open to special appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 16th Jan. 1826, vol. 4, p. 104.

When a prov. court refused to admit a pauper appeal on the merits of the case, the order was deemed final.

199. Special appeals (after admission) to be dealt with in regard to the preparation of the cases for trial, the same as regular appeals.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 19.

How special appeals are to be dealt with.

200. If on a consideration of the circumstances of the case, the court shall see reason for admitting a special appeal on any of the grounds stated in the first clause of this section, [the appellant shall be required to furnish the prescribed security, and to deposit the amount of the fees payable to his pleader under the rules in force, within a reasonable period to be fixed by the court; when the required security and deposit shall have been duly furnished,] the court will admit the special appeal, and proceed to investigate the suit under the same rules as are prescribed for the trial and determination of regular appeals.—Reg. 26. 1814, Sect. 2, Cl. 4. [The rules included within brackets have since been repealed.]

Mode of proceeding when a special appeal may be admitted.

SECTION XVII.

Grounds on which Special Appeals have been admitted or refused.

201. Adverting to the practice, adopted in frequent instances of applications for the admission of special appeals, of urging pleas on the grounds of informality and departure from the law of procedure in the Court of first instance, which have not been urged in the Court of first appeal, the Court resolve—That as a general principle, the Court will not consider, as a sufficient ground for the admission of a special appeal, any plea urged upon the ground of mere informality or departure from the law of procedure occurring in the Court of first instance, unless the same shall have been urged in the Court of first appeal, and unless the certificate endorsed on the petition shall specify that such plea was urged in and rejected by such court.—Res. S. D. A. 16th July 1847.

No special appeal will be admitted on the ground of mere informality or departure from the law of procedure in the court of first instance, unless it was urged in the court of first appeal.

202. Two Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut admitted a special appeal because the lower courts had decided the case, in which a question of Hindoo law was involved without reference to the law officer. The Judges, who heard the case in appeal, differing from these facts in the lower courts, adjudged the case [without reference to their law officer,] on usage and Hindoo law applicable to facts found by them.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Dec. 1833, vol. 5, p. 335.

Special appeal admitted because the lower court had decided a case involving a question of Hindoo law, without any reference to the pundit.

203. The circumstance of a rent-free suit reported upon by a Collector having been referred for decision to a Sudder Ameen, was held to be a good ground for admitting a special — And because a rent-free suit had been referred to a S. Ameen for decision.

— And because a case had been decided without reference to an award of arbitration.

Case in which the S. D. A. allowed six suits to be consolidated, and admitted one special appeal from the six decrees.

Special appeal admitted from a decision relative to money borrowed which had been applied, generally, to the benefit of an undivided family.

A special appeal admitted, to settle a doubt whether an ameen's being sworn after his report, was sufficient.

— And on the ground of defect of investigation in the lower court.

— And against a fine of 100 rs. imposed by a judge, for "the temerity of the defence."

— And where a course of procedure prescribed by the regulations, had not been observed.

— And because the lower court had not enquired into the state of an account or the service of the notice under reg. 17, 1806, sec. 8.

— And because the S. D. A. doubted the accurate finding of a fact operating a legal forfeiture.

A special appeal cannot be admitted to reverse an error in the determination of facts; they must be assumed as stated in the decree.

appeal; as also was the fact of a case having been decided without reference to an award of arbitration.—Con. 499, 27th March 1829.

204. Six different actions having been instituted, for as many villages, to set aside a single deed of conveyance of the whole, and having been decided together by the Courts of original jurisdiction and first appeal, the Sudder dewanny adawlut, under the circumstances allowed the cases to be consolidated, and admitted one special appeal from the six decrees.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 3d June 1835, p. 8.

205. The appellants were adjudged by the Provincial court to pay a debt borrowed by their brother, on the ground of the family being undivided and the money borrowed being applied to the benefit of the family generally; but the decree at the same time, allowed them to sue for the recovery of the sum so adjudged from the estate of their brother. A special appeal was admitted against this part of the decree, as inconsistent, and so much of the decree as gave the option was annulled by the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 14th Aug. 1817, vol. 2, p. 247.

206. A special appeal admitted from a doubt whether, in a case in which an ameen not having been sworn, previous to deputation under Section 17, Regulation 4, 1793, the defect was cured by his being subsequently sworn to his report.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 10th Jan. 1833, vol. 5, p. 261.

207. A special appeal admitted on the ground of defect of investigation which appeared from the decision of the lower court.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Feb. 1833, vol. 5, p. 266.

208. A special appeal admitted because the order of the zillah Judge, imposing a fine of 100 rupees on appellant for the temerity of his defence, was unjust and contrary to judicial practice.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 15th April 1833, vol. 5, p. 290.

209. Where a course of procedure prescribed by Regulation had not been observed, [e. g. that directed in Clause 2, Section 3, Regulation 2, 1805, where fraud is alleged as a bar of limitation] the Sudder dewanny adawlut admitted a special appeal.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th Sept. 1833, vol. 5, p. 323.

210. In an action to recover on a conditional sale, the plaintiff recovered in the lower courts on ground that the sale had become absolute by default of vendor to repay all, within the legal time, but vendee had received rent from the sold property, and had continued to receive partial payments after default, and vendor had deposited in court a sum as balance due to the vendee. A special appeal was admitted because the lower courts had not enquired into the state of account, nor as to disputed service of notice under Section 8, Regulation 17, 1806, on vendor.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 28th Feb. 1834, vol. 5, p. 346.

211. The Sudder dewanny adawlut admitted a special appeal, perceiving reason to doubt the accurate finding of a fact operating a legal forfeiture, but decided that the case should not be held as a precedent.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Dec. 1830, vol. 5, p. 79.

212. Upon the first question proposed by your fourth Judge, viz. whether a special appeal may be admitted to reverse an error in the determination of facts, when the judgment may appear to be manifestly without, or contrary to, evidence, the Court are of opinion, that a special appeal cannot be admitted on such grounds under Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814; which requires that all the facts of the case must be assumed as stated in the decree.—Con. 246, 1st May 1816, par. 2.

213. Upon the second point, viz. when exorbitant damages may appear to have been given, the Court can offer no opinion without more particular information of the case, and the damages awarded ; such as might enable them to judge, whether the case is within any of the special grounds stated in the first clause of Section 2, Regulation 26, 1814. The Court, therefore, can only suggest, that you should exercise your own judgment on the case, in determining whether it falls within any of the prescribed grounds for the admission of special appeals or otherwise.—Ibid, par. 3.

But whether it can be admitted when exorbitant damages have been given, must depend on the judgment of the judge.

214. A special appeal having been admitted in a case originally decided on the evidence of a deed bearing an improper stamp, or requiring a stamp but written on plain paper, the decisions of both the lower courts should be set aside, and the Court of first instance directed to restore the case to its original number on the file, and after exercising its discretion in regard to granting or not granting the party who presented the deed an opportunity of remedying the defect in it in the mode laid down in rules 1 and 2, (as either may apply), to dispose of the case accordingly.—Cir. Ord. 7th Jan. 1842, par. 7.

Course to be pursued where a special appeal has been admitted in a case originally decided on the evidence of a deed improperly stamped.

SECTION XVIII.

Stamp Fees, Pleadings, &c.

215. In applications for special appeal no exhibit fee is leviable on documents filed with the petition until the appeal is admitted.—Con. 961, West. C. 26th June, Cal. C. 7th Aug. 1835.

No fee is leviable on documents filed with the petition of special appeal, till it is admitted.

216. It has been the practice of this court to allow the appellant to file, with his petition of appeal, the mooktarnamah under which the vakalutnamah may be executed, and the security bonds for costs for staying or enforcing execution, as well as the vakalutnamah and copy of the decree appealed against ; and that all other documents are given in with a separate petition on the usual stamp. In applications for special appeals no exhibit fee is required with the documents filed (according to a general roobukaree dated the 13th January, 1830, copy of which is annexed,) until the special appeal be admitted, when the fee is levied on such documents as are put on record in the proceedings.—Ibid.

What documents the appellant is allowed to file with his petition of appeal, & what must be sent in with a separate petition on the usual stamp.

217. On the special appeal being admitted, the exhibit fees due under the general Regulations are to be paid within six weeks on all papers (whether copies or original) not on the record of the case appealed.—Rules S. D. A. 7th May 1841.

The exhibit fee must be paid within six weeks after the special appeal has been admitted.

218. In the event of failure of payment, the case will be dealt with as any other case of default.—Ibid.

Penalty for failure.

219. Parties engaging pleaders to present application for the admission of special appeal, must distinctly state in their vakalutnamahs, whether the pleader is merely to make the preliminary application, or to conduct the case to its final issue.—Rules S. D. A. 25th Nov. 1842.

What the parties must state in their vakalutnamahs when engaging pleaders to present applications for special appeals.

Stamp duty refunded in cases where appeals are referred for further investigation.

Limitation as to the fee to be paid to the pleaders in such cases.

220. In the special appeals provided for by the foregoing section, as well as in all other appeals, regular or special, under the Regulations in force, if the suit in appeal be referred back for further investigation and decision, without a judgment upon the merits of the case the stamp duty paid by the appellant on his petition of appeal shall be returned to him; and if the appellant, or respondent, have appointed a pleader, his fee shall be limited to such sum as may be deemed an adequate compensation for his labour, not exceeding one-fourth of the established fee in a regular suit.—Reg. 19, 1817, Sect. 8.

Courts authorized to refund a portion of the stamp duty in certain cases when the petition for a special appeal may be rejected.

221. If the court shall not see sufficient reason for admitting the special appeal, and shall in consequence reject the petition, the appellant shall not be entitled to receive back the amount or value of the stamp on which the petition may have been written under clause third; the courts are however vested with a discretionary authority in any particular instance of hardship to refund any portion not exceeding three-fourths of the amount of such stamp duty to the party who may have paid the same, or to his legal representative.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 2, Cl. 5.

Orders of the S. D. A. where the original notice of appeal had been mislaid.

222. Where the original notice of appeal (special) had been mislaid, the Sudder dewanny adawlut directed renewal, and the respondent was allowed to appear and defend after proceedings had in the appeal ex-parte.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th Feb. 1833, vol. 5, p. 266.

SECTION XIX.

Review of Judgment by the Sudder Court.

Provision for empowering the S. D. A. to grant a review.

223. The Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, in cases referred to them under the preceding clause, as well as in all cases in which a petition may be presented to them for a revision of their own judgments, which may not have been appealed to the King in Council, (or though appealed, the proceedings in which may not have been transmitted to the King in Council,) are authorized to grant the review desired, if upon a consideration of the reasons stated, the circumstances of the case shall appear in justice to require it. The Sudder dewanny adawlut shall record on their proceedings the grounds upon which a review may be granted by them in each instance, and shall issue any instructions regarding the admission or rejection of new evidence in the case, which they may deem just and proper.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 4, Cl. 3.

The orders rejecting applications for a review not to bar the right of a party to prefer a regular appeal.

224. The order of a Zillah or City court, or of a Provincial court, or of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, rejecting the petition for a review in the first instance, or of the latter court refusing to sanction a review when applied for by a lower court, shall not be construed to preclude the party from instituting a regular appeal, (if the case be appealable) in a competent court, subject to the conditions and rules prescribed by the Regulations in force for the admission of such appeals.—Ibid, Cl. 4.

The rules regarding Stamps on petitions for a review of judgment will be found at Chapter VII, Section 21, page 725.

225. In addition to the rules contained in Section 4 of Regulation 26, 1814, relative to petitions for a review of judgment in regular original suits and appeals, decided by the Zillah, City, and Provincial courts, or by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, it is hereby provided, that whenever the Judge or Judges, who may have passed the decree or if the decree have been passed by two or more Judges, when any of such Judges shall continue attached to the court, at the time when the petition for a review is received, and shall not be precluded, by absence or other cause, for a period of six months after the receipt of the petition from considering and recording his order or opinion upon the same, it shall not be competent to any other Judge or Judges of the same court, to enter upon a consideration of the merits of the petition, and record an order or opinion thereupon, it being the obvious intention of the rules referred to, that application for a review of judgment made in pursuance thereof, should, as far as practicable, be received and disposed of by the Judge or Judges who may have passed the decision, subject to the regular course of appeal, if the case be appealable to a superior court. Provided however, that this restriction shall not be considered applicable to cases not open to a further appeal, in which a single Judge, whether of a Provincial court or of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, may appear, on the face of the decree, to have exceeded the powers vested in him by the Regulations. In such cases the decree being imperfect, and irregular, it shall be competent to a majority of the Judges of the Provincial court, or of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, concurring in opinion as to such irregularity, to proceed upon the petition for a review, in the manner prescribed by Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, and by the present Regulation.—Reg. 2, 1825, Sect. 3.

Additional rules relative to the consideration of petitions from review of judgment in regular original suits & appeals,

Such petitions in all practicable cases to be received and disposed of by the judge who passed the decision, subject to the regular course of appeal.

Whose restriction however declared inapplicable to cases where the judge in passing a decision may have exceeded the powers vested in him.

Rule of proceeding to be observed by the judges in correcting such irregularities.

Regarding the language in which the order for the review of judgment is to be written vide Chapter III, Section 1, No. 10, page 218.

226. Held that an application for a review of judgment is not cognizable by the Court after the lapse of twelve years from the date of the final decision passed in the case.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 25th May 1840, p. 31.

An application for a review of judgment not cognizable after 12 years.

227. On the 30th December, 1820, a Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut struck an appeal off the file, on the compromise of the guardian of an infant appellant with respondent. On the application of appellant, at the end of eleven years (three after the age of 16 attained,) review was admitted by a single Judge and appeal revived on the ground that there was no apparent benefit by the withdrawal of the appeal. Review admitted ex-parte on ground of obvious error without summoning opposite party to shew cause.—S. D. A. Sel Rep. 19th July 1833, vol. 8, p. 307.

Review admitted after 11 years.

228. An application to review the order rejecting the admission of a special appeal must be preferred within three months from the date of the order of rejection.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 28th Sept. 1842, p. 39.

Within what time an application to review an order rejecting a special appeal must be preferred.

229. A question having arisen in a case decided by two Judges, both of whom continue attached to the court, whether on an application for a review of judgment such application should be submitted for the opinion of both of the judges, or whether the opinion of one for the admission or rejection of the review is final, the Court are of opinion, on due consideration and with reference to the rule laid down in the case of Musst. Ujgnasee regarding the admission of a review of judgment in the Provincial court of Patna, but in such cases the petition of review should be laid before the Judges who passed the decrees ; and that in the event of a difference of opinion between them, as to the admission or rejection of the review, the matter should be referred to one or more Judges of the court, until the question be determined by a majority of voices.—Con. 756, Cal. C. 8th Feb., West. C. 15th March 1833.

Course to be pursued in the event of a difference of opinion between them.

When in a case decided by a single Judge, he rejects an application for a review, his rejection is final, unless he changes his opinion.

No other Judge can subsequently authorize a review.

230. It was resolved in concurrence with the Western Court that when, in a case decided by a single Judge, the deciding Judge shall have rejected an application for a review of the judgment, his rejection is to all intents and purposes final; unless he himself shall see grounds, on a subsequent application, to admit a review, and that it is not competent to the court (the said Judge being absent and incapable of hearing a second petition within six months) to authorize a review of the order rejecting the review.—Con. 982, Cal. and West. C. 16th Oct. 1835.

Two judges pass a decision; both admit a review of it; one leaves the court before the rehearing; the decision of the other, if confirmatory of the former judgment, is final.

An application for review rejected by the deciding Judge cannot be admitted by another Judge.

Case of review of judgment where two judges differed from two other judges.

231. Two Judges of the Sudder confirm the decree of a Provincial court. The same two Judges admit a review ;—one of them leaves the court ; the other confirms the decision previously passed by the two. Under those circumstances the Court resolved that the second decision of the remaining Judge is final, and that a second concurring voice is not necessary to render it so.—Con. 683, 16th March 1832.

232. An application for a review of judgment rejected by the deciding Judge, cannot be admitted by any other Judge.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 26th March 1838, vol. 6, p. 224.

233. In a case of review of judgment, two Judges being of opinion that the decree reviewed should be reversed, and two that it should be affirmed, one of the latter having joined in passing the decree reviewed, and the Judge who concurred with him in that decision having since died; held, that the opinion of the deceased Judge should be taken into the account so as to create a majority without the necessity of calling in a fifth Judge.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 5th July 1823, vol. 3, p. 234.

Case of a review admitted by a single Judge.

234. The Zillah court, on plaintiff's suit, adjudged a conditional sale made by defendant to be absolute. The appeal was heard by two Judges of the Provincial court in succession : the last adopted the judgment of reversal proposed by the former on the ground of redemption by the vendor, but the first Judge by order on petition of the respondent had retracted the verdict, whence the case was sent back to him, and he now reverted to his first verdict and passed judgment in conformity. Again moved by the vendee, by an order on his petition he directed an application to the Sudder dewanny adawlut for review, because vendor had not redeemed and no provision had been made for the balance due, and he ~~staid~~ execution. This order had not been sent to the other Judge for concurrence, when the Provincial court was abolished under Regulation 2 of 1833. On application to the Sudder dewanny adawlut by original defendant for a special appeal, review of judgment was admitted by a single Judge [who had consulted his colleagues under Section 5 of that Regulation].—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th March 1834, vol. 5, p. 352.

Case in which a question of review came up before two

235. Messrs. Rattray and Turnbull admitted a review of the judgment passed by themselves. Mr. Rattray on hearing the review proposed to confirm the judgment, and, as Mr.

Turnbull had left the court, sent on the case for another voice. Messrs. Shakespear and Walpole were of opinion that Mr. Rattray was competent singly to confirm, and that the reference to another Judge was unnecessary.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th Feb. 1830, vol. 5, p. 16, Note.

236. Though the rejection of a petition of review by the deciding Judge is final, yet the deciding Judge having waived his objection to the appeal being re-heard, the review was admitted.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 20th July 1836, vol. 6, p. 88.

237. A plea of insanity set up by the plaintiff, not having been investigated, a review was admitted and the case sent back for a new trial.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 24th July 1822, vol. 3, p. 162.

238. A claim to birt mahabraminee having been dismissed, a review of judgment was admitted on a suspicion that the pundit, on whose vyavastha the special appeal was decided, had taken a bribe to induce him to give a favorable answer. But it appearing that his exposition of the law was correct, the judgment was confirmed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1825, vol. 4, p. 70.

239. Review admitted ex-parte on the ground of obvious error, without summoning the opposite party to shew cause.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 19th July 1833, vol. 5, p. 307.

240. The Sudder dewanny adawlut had confirmed the decision of the Provincial court, which dismissed a claim as barred by prescription; but afterwards, on review, held that valid exception existed, and directed that the suit revived should be tried on its merits. Held, that the lower court and the Sudder dewanny adawlut in appeal, cannot again go into the question of prescription; nor try any alleged fraud and imposition, by which, on review, the order for the revival of the case had been obtained.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 31st Jan. 1832, vol. 5, p. 168.

241. Application for a review of judgment, on grounds already decided upon by former Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, rejected.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 10th Feb. 1841, p. 3.

242. The opinions recorded by Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut on a first decision are not set aside merely by the admission of a re-hearing, or review of judgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d April 1842, vol. 7, p. 81.

243. A review of judgment having been admitted in consequence of a slight difference in the opinion of the deciding Judges, held that their opinions are not thereby cancelled, but are to be taken into account in the final disposal of the case.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 18th June 1840, vol. 6, p. 290.

244. To enable the Sudder dewanny adawlut to receive an application for a review of judgment on paper of the value prescribed for miscellaneous petitions, it should be filed complete within three months, accompanied by all the necessary papers.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 23d Aug. 1842, p. 37.

judges, one of whom having left the court, the other was deemed competent to decide the question singly.

When the deciding judge, having rejected a petition for review, waived his objection, the review was admitted.

Review admitted because a plea of insanity had not been investigated.

— And because of a suspicion that the pundit on whose vyavastha the special appeal was decided, had been bribed.

— And on the ground of obvious error.

Particular case of a review decided by the S. D. A.

Application for review on grounds already decided by the former judges of the S. D. A., rejected.

The opinions of the judges on a first decision are not set aside by admitting a review.

A review being admitted in consequence of a slight difference, the opinions of the judges are to be taken into account in the final disposal of the case.

Application for review must be filed complete in three months, to secure its being received on the stamp for miscellaneous petitions.

Case in which the S. D. A. strictly construed the terms of a final decree of a lower court.

245. The Sudder dewanny adawlut, dissenting from the principle on which a final decree of the lower court was passed, construes strictly its terms.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 13th Jan. 1834, vol. 5, p. 338.

Mode of correcting an evident error in the decree of a former Judge without a review.

SECTION XX.

Decrees of the Sudder Court.

Decrees to be signed by the judges, and attested by the register, and copies to be delivered to the parties.

247. The decrees are to be signed by the Judges present in the court when the decrees may be passed, and attested by the Register, and copies so signed and attested are to be delivered to the parties.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 28.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 28.

If a single Judge of S. D. A., trying an appeal, regular or special, is of opinion that the decision appealed against ought to be altered or reversed, he shall call in two other Judges to sit with him, and the three shall decide the case, & if they agree, sign it or the opinion of him who differs shall be recited in the decree.

248. It is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 16, Regulation 25, 1814, that when a single Judge of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, trying a case in appeal, regular or special, from any subordinate court, shall be of opinion that the decision appealed from ought to be reversed or altered, he shall always call in two other Judges of the court to sit with him, and that the appeal shall be then heard by the three Judges sitting together, and be decided by them without any additional voices. In such cases the decree or final order shall be signed by the three Judges, if they agree together; but, if one of them dissent from the view taken by the majority, by the two Judges who agree together, and the signature of the third Judge shall not be considered requisite, but his opinion shall be recited in the decree or final order.—Act II. 1843, Sect. 1.

Regarding the language in which the decree is to be written, vide Chapter III, Section 1, No. 10, page 218.

The provisions of the three preceding causes applicable to copies of decrees or orders from which a party may desire to prefer a special or a summary appeal.

249. The principles of the rules contained in clauses eighth, ninth, and tenth of this section, are to be considered applicable to all copies of decrees, from which a party may be desirous of preferring a special or a summary appeal; and to all copies of orders passed by the Judges and Registers of the Zillah and City courts, by the Provincial courts, and by the Sudder dewanny adawlut, which those courts may be required to furnish to parties under the provisions of any Regulation.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 11.

Decrees of the S. D. A. are to be final except.

250. The decrees of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, are to be final in all suits whatever, [except in cases of appeals to the Privy Council].—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 29.

The S. D. A. will not admit any appeal to the privy council except those provided for by reg. 16, 1797.

251. The Court, having taken into consideration the papers laid before them, concur in opinion with Mr. Smyth, that the orders of the Court in all miscellaneous cases are final. Accordingly it is resolved that the Court will in future decline to admit any appeals to the King in Council, excepting such as are expressly provided for by Regulation 16 of 1797.—Con. 1102, Cal. C. 18th Aug., West. C. 15th Sept. 1837.

252. To prevent an abuse of the above rule, and the encouragement of litigious appeals, the Provincial courts of appeal in all cases wherein they may confirm the decree of a Zillah or City court, and the Sudder dewanny adawlut, in all cases wherein it may confirm the decree of a Provincial court, are to adjudge interest at the rate of one per cent. per mensem on all sums receivable by the respondent under the decree passed in his favour, from the date of such decree, and are authorized to punish appeals which may appear to them litigious, by a fine to Government, proportionate to the condition of the party and the circumstances of the case.—Reg. 13, 1796, Sect. 3.

Interest to be allowed on sums adjudged by decree appealed from, if confirmed, and litigious appeals to be punished by fine.

253. Where the fine may be imposed for a litigious appeal in conformity to Section 3, Regulation 13, 1796, the amount, if not immediately forthcoming, should be realized under the same rules as are applicable to the execution of decrees of court.—Con. 1096, Cal. and West. C. 7th July 1837.

How the above fine for a litigious appeal should be realized.

SECTION XXI.

Execution of Decrees of the Sudder Court.

254. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is empowered in every case in which a sum of money is decreed to be paid by a zemindar, independant talookdar, or other actual proprietor of land, to issue an order to the proper court, to execute the decree in the same manner as the courts are authorized to execute decrees by which a sum of money may be decreed to be paid by any of the descriptions of persons abovementioned.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 21.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Cong. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 21.

S. D. A. empowered to order the provincial courts to enforce decrees for sums of money against proprietors of land by the same process as those courts may enforce such decrees passed by themselves.

255. The Deputy Register will receive all applications for the execution of decrees, and after comparing them in the usual manner, will forward them for execution to the Zillah court, —Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 20.

The deputy register will receive applications for execution of decrees and forward them to the zillah judge.

256. Whenever it may be necessary under any of the circumstances stated in Clause 8, Section 15, Regulation 26, 1814, to issue a notice calling on the party against whom execution issued, to show cause why it should not be executed, it will be sufficient to direct the zillah or city Judges to issue the required notice. If no objections be made by the party against whom execution issued, the zillah or city Judge will proceed to execute the decree in the usual manner, without further reference to this court. Should any objection be urged, the Judge will make the necessary investigation, reporting the result for the orders of the court and staying further proceedings in execution pending the reference.—Rules S. D. A. 4th July 1834.

Notice to shew cause against execution will be issued by the zillah judge.

If there be no objections, he will execute it; if there be, he will investigate them.

257. The Deputy Register shall record in a proceeding any errors that may appear in an application for execution of a decree, for the information of the decree-holder or his vakeel, and the decree shall not be forwarded to the Zillah court for execution, until such errors have been corrected. Should any objection arise or be raised to the execution of a decree, the Deputy Register will lay the case before the Judge selected as referee.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 21.

How any error in the application for execution is to be dealt with; any objections raised are to be disposed of by the deputy register.

Course of procedure where the zillah judge returns the decree before it is executed.

— And when applications for execution are preferred by any other than the party who has obtained the decree.

When the zillah judge has dismissed a case of execution of decree, on default, he cannot of himself readmit the case.

The judge will return the precept, certifying the execution, as far as lies in his power.

The court which passed the decree can alone direct its re-admission.

How applications for the revival of decrees are to be disposed of.

All intermediate returns from the zillah judges to be discontinued.

A quarterly return to be made of the unexecuted decrees of the court by the zillah judge, according to a particular form.

258. When a decree has been returned by a Zillah court before completion of execution and application for revival of execution has been made to this court, the Deputy Register shall submit such application to the Judge selected as referee.—Rules S. D. A. 21st Jan. 1842, Sect. 22, but see Rule 27, No. 171.

259. Applications for the execution of decrees preferred by any other than the person or persons named in the decree as the party in whose favor the decree was given, are to be laid before the Judge selected as referee.—Ibid, Sect. 23.

260. A case involving the execution of a decree passed by the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, having been referred in the usual course for execution to the Judge of the zillah or city in which the cause of action arose, and having, after due notice served on the decree-holder either in person or by vakeel, been dismissed on default in consequence of the neglect of the party to proceed in the matter within the period allowed, the zillah or city Judge is not competent of his own authority to readmit the case, or to restore it to the file of his court.—Cir. Ord. Cal. C. 7th, West. C. 21st Dec. 1838.

261. But whenever after the service of notice as above required, and which should be invariably and carefully attended to, a zillah or city Judge may find it necessary to dismiss a case of this nature on default, his proper course of proceeding is immediately to return to the court the precept issued to him in the matter, certifying the execution of it, as far as lay in his power, as well as what he may have done in pursuance of the court's orders; and if the decree-holder should at any future period, renew his application for the enforcement of the award, he should be referred to the court by whom the decree was passed, and who alone are competent under such circumstances to comply with the prayer of the petition, and to direct the readmission of the suit on the file of the lower court.—Ibid.

262. The Court resolve that applications for the revival of decrees of the Sudder dewanny adawlut and Provincial courts, struck off on default, be referred to the Deputy Register under Act XVII. 1841, who will admit the applications, provided they be made within twelve years from the date on which the cause of execution was struck off, and no objection be raised by the opposite party, or refer them to the Judge who has been appointed as referee, should any objections exist.—Rules S. D. A. 31st March 1845.

263. The Court having had under consideration the unnecessary delay and additional trouble that is occasioned to the zillah Judges and their amlah, by the preparation of intermediate or meadee returns to precepts issued by this court in the execution of their decrees, are pleased to direct that such returns be entirely discontinued from the 1st of May next.—Cir. Ord. 2d April 1841, par. 1.

264. In order to enable the Court to exercise a proper superintendence over this important department, and also to ascertain the exact progress made in the execution of their decrees, they request that you will submit a return every quarter of the unexecuted decrees of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to this office, agreeably to the annexed form, both in English and in the vernacular, commencing from the first April instant. Full details must be given in the column appropriated to remarks, that the Court may at once see to what authority any unnecessary delay in the non-execution of their decrees is attributable.—Ibid, par. 2.

268. The Circular order, No. 1100, dated 2d April last, having omitted to make specific reference to cases of unexecuted decrees of the Sudder dewanny adawlut before the Principal Sudder Ameens, in which precepts are wont to issue direct from the court to those officers, the Court, in continuation of the above Circular, are pleased to notify that the same rule enjoining the submission of quarterly, and dispensing with intermediate returns, is applicable to the Principal Sudder Ameens, who are to transmit the requisite information to the Judge in the prescribed form, in time for its incorporation in English in the statements ordered to be sent up quarterly by the latter.—Cir. Ord. 16th July 1841.

269. The column for explanations in the statements of unexecuted decrees, called for under the Circular order, No. 1100, of the 2d April last, has not been filled up, in many instances, in such a manner as to show the successive steps taken by the authorities to give effect to the decrees of the superior courts. To facilitate the preparation of the statements in a satisfactory manner, the Court are pleased to direct that a register book be kept in future by the decree-jaree mohurrir of the Judge's and Principal Sudder Ameen's courts, in which an abstract of all orders shall be entered at the time they are passed, and the results of the orders similarly recorded.—Cir. Ord. 20th Aug. 1841.

SECTION XXII.

Appeals from the Sudder Courts to the Privy Council.

Preamble.

270. Whereas, by an Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of his late Majesty King William the Fourth, entitled "An Act for the better Administration of Justice in His Majesty's Privy Council," it is amongst other things enacted, that "it shall be lawful for His Majesty in Council from time to time to make any such rules and orders as may be thought fit, for the regulating the mode, form, and time of appeal to be made from the decision of the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or any other Courts of judicature, in India or elsewhere, to the eastward of the Cape of Good Hope (from the decisions of which an appeal lies to His Majesty in Council), and in like manner from time to time to make such other Regulations for the preventing delays in the making or hearing such appeals, and as to the expences attending the said appeals, and as to the amount or value of property in respect of which any such appeal may be made." And, whereas, his said late Majesty did, by his order in council, on the 16th day of January, 1836, approve certain rules and orders for regulating the mode, form, and time of appeal from the decisions of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, and also certain Regulations for the preventing delays in the making or hearing of such appeals, and as to the expences attending such appeals; and the said rules, and orders, and regulations, were set forth in certain Schedules, A. and B., to and by the said order in council of the 16th January annexed and approved. And, whereas, his said late Majesty did, by his further order in council made on the 10th day of August, 1836, alter and amend the said Schedule B., by cancelling the rule No. 5 of the said Schedule B. so approved as aforesaid, and ordering that, in lieu of the said fifth rule thereof, a certain other rule in such last mentioned order set forth should be substituted. And, whereas, the Queen's most excellent Majesty in Council hath deemed it expedient to cancel and rescind all the said rules, orders, and regulations, and to make and substitute others in lieu thereof.—Rules passed by Her Majesty in Council, 10th April 1838.

271. Period within which the appeal must be made to the privy council, and the amount for which an appeal will lie.

273. That in all such cases in which any of such courts shall admit an appeal to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors in council, it shall specially certify on the proceedings that the value of the matter in dispute in such appeal amounts to the sum of ten thousand Company's rupees or upwards, which certificate shall be deemed conclusive of the fact, and not be liable to be questioned on such appeal by any party to the suit appealed.—Schedule, par. 2.

Courts admitting the appeal will certify the value of the matter in dispute.

But nothing shall derogate from the power and authority of Her Majesty to admit an appeal upon other terms.

274. Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to take away, diminish, or derogate from the undoubted power and authority of Her Majesty, her heirs and successors in council, upon the petition at any time of any party aggrieved by any judgment, decree, or decretal order of any of the aforesaid courts to admit an appeal therefrom upon such other terms, and upon and subject to such other limitations, restrictions, and regulations, as Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, shall in any such special case think fit to prescribe.—Ibid, par. 3.

On the arrival of the papers, an officer of the Court of Directors will give notice of it to the Clerk of the Council.

275. That on the arrival of the transcripts of proceedings in an appeal to Her Majesty, her heirs and successors in council, from any of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or any other courts in the East Indies constituted by the East India Company, or any of their Governments from which an appeal lies to Her Majesty in Council, such officer of the East India Company as the Court of Directors of the said Company shall from time to time appoint, shall forthwith give notice to the clerk of the Council thereof, stating at the same time the names of the parties to the appeal, and the date of the decree appealed from, and that such notice shall be duly registered in the Council office.—Ibid, par. 4.

Where those transcripts are to be kept.

276. That the said transcripts of proceedings shall be kept at the East India house, or at such other convenient place within the cities of London or Westminster as the said Court of Directors shall from time to time appoint; the agents respectively conducting and defending such appeals in this country, being at liberty to take all the necessary copies and extracts from the said proceedings, and to examine the same from time to time; and it shall be the duty of such officer, by himself or his sufficient deputy, to produce the original transcripts before the Judicial Committee, upon the hearing of such appeal, upon due notice for that purpose previously given, and upon all other occasions when thereunto required by the Privy Council or the Judicial Committee.—Ibid, par. 5.

Penalty for default.

277. That in default of the petition of appeal of the appellants being lodged in the Council Office within three calendar months from the registrations of the arrival of such transcripts, or in default of the appellant's case being carried in within one year from the time of such registration, the respondent shall be entitled in either case to move to dismiss the appeal for want of prosecution; and in the event of the respondent's not bringing in his case within one year from the time of such registration, the appellant shall be entitled to apply to have the case heard ex-parte.—Ibid, par. 6.

Act to amend the act of the 3d and 4th William the 4th.

278. An Act to amend an Act passed in the third and fourth years of the reign of his late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled an Act for the better Administration of Justice in his Majesty's Privy Council.

(30th June, 1845.)

Preamble.

Whereas by an Act passed in the Session held in the third and fourth years of the Reign of his late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled an Act for the better Administration of Justice in His Majesty's Privy Council, after reciting that various appeals to His Majesty in Council from the Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut at the several Presidencies of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, in the East Indies, had been admitted by the said courts, and the transcripts of the proceedings in appeal had been from time to time transmitted under the seal of the said courts through the East India Company, then called the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies, to the office of His Majesty's said Privy Council, but that the suitors in the causes so appealed had not taken the necessary measures to bring on the same to a hearing, it was enacted that it should be lawful for His Majesty in Council to give such directions to the said Company and other persons, for the purpose of bringing to a hearing before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council the several cases appealed or thereafter to be appealed to His Majesty in Council from the several Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut in the East Indies, and for appointing agents and counsel for the different parties in such appeals, and to make such orders for the security and payment of the costs thereof as his said Majesty in Council should think fit, and thereupon such appeals should be heard and reported on to His Majesty in Council, and should be by His Majesty in Council determined, in the same manner, and the judgments, orders and decrees of His Majesty in Council thereon should be of the same force and effect, as if the same had been brought to a hearing by the direction of the parties appealing, in the usual course of proceeding : Provided always, that such last mentioned powers should not extend to any appeals from the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut other than appeals in which no proceedings then had been or should thereafter be taken in England on either side for a period of two years subsequent to the admission of the appeal by such Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut : And whereas by certain orders in council, made under certain powers contained in the said Act, provision is made for registering in the Council Office, the arrival in this country of the transcripts of the proceedings in appeals from the said courts : And whereas it is considered advisable that the said Act should be amended in manner hereinafter mentioned : Be it therefore enacted, by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords spiritual and temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that the hereinbefore recited provisions of the said Act shall not apply to the case of any appeal which shall be admitted by any of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut after the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six.—Act of Victoria, Chap. 30, Sect. 1.

279. And be it enacted, that any appeal to be admitted by any of the said Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut after the said first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, shall be considered and be held to be abandoned and withdrawn by consent of the parties thereto unless some proceedings shall be taken in England, in the same by one or more of the parties thereto within two years after registration at the Council Office of the arrival of the transcript ; and any such appeal as aforesaid shall be held to be abandoned and withdrawn in like manner under any other circumstances which Her

When the appeal shall be held to be abandoned.

Majesty in Council may from time to time by any orders or rules in that behalf direct to be taken and considered as a withdrawal thereof; and the East India Company are hereby required from time to time to ascertain and certify to the proper courts in the East Indies, all appeals which may from time to time become abandoned and dropped under the provisions of this clause.—Act of Victoria, Chap. 30, Sect. 2.

The provisions in the preceding clauses applicable to appeals from decisions passed by the provincial courts, and by the S. D. A.

280. In like manner any parties who may be desirous of appealing from the judgments passed by the Provincial courts in suits regularly appealable to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, or from the judgments of the Sudder dewanny adawlut in suits which may be regularly appealable to the King in Council, shall be at liberty to present their petition of appeal, without an authenticated copy of the decree to the court, by which the judgment may have been passed, in conformity with the provisions contained in the preceding clauses of this section.—Reg. 26, 1814, Sect. 8, Cl. 6.

Petitions of appeal to the king in council shall be presented to the S. D. A. within six months.

And such appeal to be admitted provided the judgment appealed against shall, exclusive of costs, amount to 5,000£ [now 1000£] sterling.

281. All persons desirous of appealing from a judgment of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut to the King in Council, under the authority for this purpose contained in the 21st section of the Statute 21, George III., Chapter 70, are required to present their petition of appeal to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, either themselves or through one of the authorized pleaders of that court, duly empowered to present such petition in their behalf, within six calendar months from the date on which the judgment appealed against may have been passed; under which provision, and provided also the judgment appealed against shall, exclusive of costs of suit, be to the value of five thousand pounds (to be calculated as hereafter mentioned) the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut are to admit the appeal; and proceed upon it as directed in the following sections of this Regulation under the several restrictions therein prescribed.—Reg. 16, 1797, Sect. 2.

Appealable sum to be computed at the rate of ten current rs. per £ sterling.

Value of property to be computed according to the general rules prescribed in like cases for the guidance of the S. D. A.

282. For the purpose of determining what causes are appealable to His Majesty in Council, under the limitation of five thousand pounds and upwards, the pound sterling shall be computed at the rate of ten current rupees, being about the medium of the usual rates of exchange; and consequently making five thousand pounds equivalent to fifty thousand current rupees or (excluding fractions) sicca rupees forty-three thousand one hundred and three. Under this computation the value of the property constituting the subject of the judgment appealed against, is to be determined according to the nature of such property, whether land, money, effects or otherwise, according to the general rules prescribed in like cases for determining the value of the same property when constituting the cause of action in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and the several Civil courts subordinate thereto.—Ibid, Sect. 3. [The sum has been reduced by the schedule given above to 10,000 Company's rupees]

S. D. A. cannot admit an appeal to the privy council after six months from the passing of the judgment appealed from.

283. The Sudder dewanny adawlut cannot admit an appeal to the judicial committee of the Privy Council after the expiration of six calendar months from the date of the judgment complained of. An application for review of judgment forms no ground for extension of period of appeal.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th Sept. 1842, p. 39.

284. No appeal lies from an interlocutory order of the Sudder dewanny adawlut to the Queen in Council.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 29th June 1840, p. 45.

No appeal lies from an interlocutory order of the S. D. A. to the privy council.

285. A party, dissatisfied with a decision of the Sudder dewanny adawlut in a case open to appeal to the Queen in Council, and applying for a review of judgment, is not of right entitled to the deduction of the time during which his application for a review of judgment may be pending in calculating the period allowed for the appeal. The Court, however, resolve that an intending appellant be permitted to file his petition of appeal merely to save his time of appeal, notwithstanding that his application for review may not have been disposed of. In such case the petitioner must recite the fact of the application for review having been made, and its being still pending, and request permission to file his petition, intimating his intention to appeal from the original decree should the application for review be rejected.—Rules S. D. A. 17th June 1842.

How the party must proceed if he wishes for a review of judgment in a case he intends to appeal to the privy council.

286. On the filing of the petition, the usual orders shall immediately be passed for enquiry into the validity of security for costs. In the event of the ultimate rejection of the application for review, the usual order will be passed for making a translate of the proceedings, and the appeal proceed in due course.—Ibid.

Orders which the S. D. A. will pass in this case.

SECTION XXIII.

Appeals to the Queen in Council—Security for Costs, or for execution or suspension of Decree.

287. In cases of appeal to His Majesty in Council, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut may either order the judgment passed by them to be carried into execution taking sufficient security from the party in whose favor the same may be passed for the due performance of such order or decree as His Majesty, his heirs or successors, shall think fit to make on the appeal; or to suspend the execution of their judgment during the appeal, taking the like security in the latter case from the party left in possession of the property adjudged against him: but in all cases security is to be given by appellants to the satisfaction of the Sudder dewanny adawlut for the payment of all such costs as the said court may think likely to be incurred by the appeal, as well as for the performance of such order or judgment as His Majesty, his heirs or successors, may think fit to give thereupon; and after receiving such security, the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut are to declare the appeal admitted, and to give notice thereof to the appellant and respondent respectively; that they may take measures the one to prosecute, the other to defend, the cause in appeal before His Majesty in Privy Council, according to the established mode of proceeding in similar cases.—Reg. 16, 1797, Sect. 4.

The court may either order their judgments to be carried into execution, taking security from the party in whose favor the decree may have been passed to abide the event of the appeal, or Suspend the execution, taking the like security from the party left in possession.

Appellants in all cases to give security for payment of costs and for the performance of the final order or judgment on the appeal.

Appeal to be declared admitted on receiving such security, and notice to be given to the parties to prosecute and defend the same according to the established mode of proceeding.

288. Under the provisions of Section 11, Regulation 13 of 1808, the Sudder dewanny adawlut will direct a greater amount of security, equal to one year's produce of the adjudged property, to be entered into by the respondent during an appeal to the King in Council, than

S. D. A. will increase the amount of security beyond that which the zillah judge had admitted.

what the Zillah court had accepted as good and sufficient to answer the judgment.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 15th Aug. 1839, p. 25.

If the court to which the appeal is preferred, see cause for allowing the appellant to retain possession, it may order the same.

289. Provided however, that if the court, to which the appeal may be preferred in such cases, shall, in any instance, see special cause for leaving the appellant in possession, during the appeal, it shall be competent to that court to order the same; requiring, in such case, from the appellant, the same security as is above required to be given by the respondent.—Reg. 13, 1808, Sect. 11, Cl. 3.

Parties desirous of appealing, to deliver good security for the costs that may be awarded on the appeal, including fees of pleaders, if it be intended to employ any.

No appeal to be admitted without such security, or proof of inability to find the same.

Presenting a petition of appeal, without the required security, before the expiration of the time limited for appealing declared not to preserve the right of appeal.

Security bond to be given for all costs of suit by the appellant.

It will be sent to the zillah judge to be verified.

Course to be pursued if the appellant does not satisfy the S. D. A. in 6 months that the security is good.

Case in which, in default of giving good and sufficient security in due time, the right of appeal is forfeited.

Course to be pursued if the security is discovered to be bad.

290. In all authorized cases of appeal, the party desirous of appealing, is, with his petition of appeal, to deliver good and sufficient security for the payment of the costs that may be awarded on the appeal, including the fees of his pleader in case he shall intend to employ any on his appeal. Without such security, or without proof of inability to find the same, as required with respect to paupers by Regulation 46, 1793, no appeal shall be admitted; and in like manner as has been declared in Section 6 of Regulation 6, 1797, with respect to the fees on appeals prescribed by that Regulation; it is hereby declared, that the presenting a petition of appeal, without the security required by this section, before the expiration of the time limited for appealing, shall not be considered as preserving to the appellant his right of appeal, as far as respects the limitation in question.—Reg. 2, 1798, Sect. 10.

291. In cases appealed to the Queen in Council a security bond for the payment of all such costs of suit as are likely to be incurred by the appeal shall be filed with the petition of appeal, within six calendar months from the day of the date of the judgment or decree complained of; or otherwise the appellant shall not be considered to have preserved his right of appeal. The security bond shall then be sent to the Judge of the zillah, to ascertain that the same is good and sufficient, and a further period of six calendar months shall be allowed to the appellant for this purpose. If, at the expiration of that period, the appellant shall not have satisfied the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut that the security is good, he shall be called upon to deposit in court, the amount of security required, in money or Government promissory notes, and in default of doing so within a further period of three calendar months, he shall be considered as having forfeited his right of appeal to the Queen in Council, under the provisions of Regulation 16, 1797.—Rules S. D. A. 30th Dec. 1836, and 24th Dec. 1841.

292. In cases in which a security bond for the payment of costs shall not be filed with the petition of appeal, or within six months from the day of the judgment or decree complained of, and the appellant shall not move the court within the above period for permission to deposit, in money or Government promissory notes, within three months from the date of the expiration of the period allowed for an appeal, the amount of security required, his appeal shall be struck off. Should he, however, move the court for permission to deposit money security, he shall be allowed three months calculated as above for that purpose, and in default of deposit, shall be considered as having forfeited his right of appeal.—Rules S. D. A. 15th July 1842.

293. Should any security be discovered to be bad, after having been admitted by the court, the appellant shall be called upon to furnish further security and to satisfy the court that the same is good, within three calendar months, or in default of doing so, within that period, to deposit the amount of security required in court within a further period of three calendar months, otherwise his appeal will be struck off the file of the court, and he will be considered to have forfeited all right of appeal under Regulation 16, 1797.—Rules S. D. A. 30th Dec. 1836.

294. With reference to the resolution of the Court it has been the practice to forward to the Zillah court the security tendered by an appellant to Her Majesty in Council, in order that it may be verified and returned to this court, the time given for such enquiry being six months, frequent intermediate returns being sent to the court, stating the progress made in the verification and ascertainment of the validity of the security.—Cir. Ord. 25th Feb. 1842, par. 2.

The present practice is to allow six months for verifying the security, and to send intermediate returns stating the progress made.

295. In modification of the present practice, the Court intend in future to require, by their precepts in such cases, a complete return on or before the expiration of six months and to stay all intermediate returns, save one quarterly, in the English and Native languages, exhibiting what may have been done in each case, according to the form herewith annexed. This measure will save the time of the officers of the courts, sudder and mofussil, and relieve them of much unnecessary trouble.—Ibid, par. 3.

In future there should be one full return at the end of six months, and one quarterly return.

296. At the same time the Court request that you will pay strict attention to this part of your duties, endeavouring in every instance to have the enquiries into the security completed at as early a period as possible, and taking care never to exceed the prescribed time. This is the more necessary, as the order for the complete return to be made in six months will be peremptory and unconditional, and conveying no authority to the Zillah Judge to enhance the time for enquiry, the application for which must in every instance be made to this Court. In the event of the enquiry not having been completed within the period allowed, you will state fully and specifically in your final return the cause of such incompleteness, shewing clearly the party to whose neglect it is to be attributed.—Ibid, par. 4.

The securities to be verified as speedily as possible. The zillah judge cannot enlarge the time for enquiring into the validity of them.

297. You will of course not consider the foregoing orders as precluding your transmitting to the court any proceedings or reports that may be filed by the nazir, or other officer directed to make the enquiry, subsequently to the despatch of the return to be made within the period of six months.—Ibid, par. 5.

But this will not preclude the transmission of any reports or proceedings of the nazir, after the six months have expired.

298. I am directed to request your attention to the following rules for the guidance of the district Judges, in the investigation of the validity of the security tendered in cases of appeal to the Privy Council.—Cir. Ord. 19th May 1843, par. 1.

Rules for the guidance of the judges in investigating the validity of securities.

299. When security bonds, for costs of appeal to England, are transmitted by the Sudder dewanny adawlut to the Zillah courts for enquiry, the Zillah courts shall take any objections offered to such bonds, enquire into them, and report on their validity, as is the practice in issue of process for execution of ex-parte decrees, &c.—Ibid, par. 2.

On the receipt of security bonds, the zillah courts will receive and investigate any objection and report on their validity.

300. Should objections be offered in time enough to admit of their being investigated, within the period of six months now allowed for the investigation into the validity of the security, the Judge will make the enquiry, and forward the record within the time prescribed — Ibid, par. 3.

The judge will enquire into the validity of these objections if there be time before the expiry of the six months, and forward the record.

301. Should the objections however be offered at such a period as to render it impracticable to enquire into them within the six months allowed for investigation of the security, the Judge shall allow three months from the date of the expiration of the six months, to the objec-tor to prove his objections, on the expiration of which further period, he shall forward the record to the Sudder court.—Cir. Ord. 19th May 1843, par. 4.

Objections urged after the six months, inadmissible.

302. Objections urged after the expiration of the six months allowed for the investigation of the security will not be admitted by the Judge.—Ibid, par. 5.

When objections are offered, the judge will forward them with his order thereon to the S. D. A.

303. Whenever objections are urged to the security tendered, the Judge shall immediately forward a copy of the petition of objections, together with a copy of his order thereon, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut.—Ibid, par. 6.

The judge will at the same time intimate their despatch to the objector, and desire him to appear before the S. D. A. within fifteen days.

304. On the papers being ordered for despatch to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, the zillah Judge shall give intimation of the same by notice to the objector, if present, or his vakeel or agent, desiring the objector to appear, within fifteen days from the date thereof, in the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and shall forward his acknowledgment of service of notice together with the records.—Ibid, par. 7.

A sudder putnee talook may be received as security in such cases.

305. Resolved, with the concurrence of the Western Court, that a sudder putnee talook unexceptionable in all respects, as such, shall be considered as sufficient security in cases appealed to the King in Council, to the extent of the surplus proceeds thereof.—Con. 1004, 25th March 1836.

How the expenses incurred by the court of directors in such appeal cases are to be recovered.

306. For the recovery of expenses incurred by the Court of Directors on account of appeals to the Queen in Council, the Government pleader, under instructions from the Government is to sue out execution in the Zillah or City court, in the same manner as in cases in which Government is a party.—Rules S. D. A. 29th Sept. 1837.

The S. D. A. cannot levy costs which the decrees of the privy council do not provide for.

307. The Sudder dewanny adawlut cannot levy costs in an appeal to the Privy Council, which the decree of the Privy Council does not provide for.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 11th Sept. 1840, p. 48.

Costs are to be remitted at the exchange of the day.

308. The Governor General of India in Council having referred to the Honourable Company's Attorney, in order to learn the manner in which costs when awarded by Her Majesty's Privy Council in cases of appeal from judgments of the Supreme Court of Calcutta are realized and remitted, and at what rates of exchange, has been informed that such costs, if not settled by the attornies in England, are, when the amount is realized in India, remitted at the exchange of the day.—Govt. Ord. 11th Jan. 1837.

Rule regarding the demand of interest on costs paid by the court of directors.

309. In cases of a demand of interest on costs paid by the Court of Directors in England the Government pleader to set forth in each case the rate demanded on account of interest, the opposite party being at the same time allowed an opportunity of urging any objection he may entertain to the claim so asserted.—Cir. Ord. West. C. 5th July 1839.

Pauper appellants to the privy council must furnish two securities of 5,000 rs. each.

310. I am directed by the Court to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 22d ultimo, No. 680, and in reply to inform you that the Court concur in the rule of practice proposed to be adopted by the Judges of the Western Court, viz. that persons wishing to appeal to the King in Council in forma pauperis shall be required equally with other appellants, to furnish security (malzaminee) to the extent of five thousand sicca rupees, to cover the original costs of appeal; and in a further sum of five thousand sicca rupees to reimburse the Honourable the Court of Directors, any expenses to which they may be put in the event of their being called upon, under the provisions of Section 22, 3d and 4th, William IV. Cap. 41, to conduct the appeal on the part of the party.—Con. 1032, 12th Aug. 1836.

Extent of security required in pauper appeals.

315. A person whose security had been tendered in a cause about to be appealed to the King in Council, petitions the Sudder dewanny adawlut against its acceptance, and prays that the security bond may be cancelled and returned to him. The appellant who filed the bond prays that it may be restored to him. The majority of the court held that the document should be returned to the appellant as the party by whom it was filed, and a copy of it retained in the office; and rejected the petitioner's application.—Cbn. 524, 4th Sept. 1829.

Course to be pursued when the person whose security has been tendered, petitions against its acceptance.

SECTION XXIV.

The Register to the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall also, on the application of the appellant, or respondent, furnish him or them with one or more copies of the proceedings held, and judgments or orders passed in the case appealed, provided they respectively agree to defray such expence as may be incurred thereby, but not otherwise; and the Register is not to deliver such copies when prepared without the previous payment of the expence incurred thereby, the amount of which is to be carried to the credit

322. Provided always, that nothing in this Regulation is to be understood to bar the full and unqualified exercise of His Majesty's pleasure upon all appeals to him from the decisions of the Sudder dewanny adawlut; either in rejecting any he may consider inadmissible, under the statute respecting such appeals; or in receiving any he may judge admissible, notwithstanding the provisions made in this Regulation, which has reference to the local jurisdiction only, and particularly to that of the Sudder dewanny adawlut as a necessary rule for their guidance, subject, in the whole of its provisions, to the ultimate determination of His Majesty in Council.—Ibid, Sect 7.

Where they have not gone on, the deed of agreement need not be transmitted.

328. I am instructed to state, that it has been usual to forward the decrees [of the Privy Council] in question to the Judges of the districts in which the cause of action may have arisen, with an order, generally to carry the same into effect, in the same manner, and under the same rules, as those prescribed for the execution of other decrees of court, leaving any party, dissatisfied with their proceedings or orders, to appeal therefrom in the usual form.—Con. 1066, West. C. 13th Jan., Cal. C. 17th Feb. 1837.

The decrees of the P. council are usually sent for execution to the judges of the districts in which the cause of action arose.

329. I am further directed to state that the Court entirely concur in the opinion expressed in the fifth paragraph of your letter, regarding the adjudication of costs and mesne profits. Adverting, however, to the terms of His Majesty's decision, the Court are of opinion that it must be presumed to be the intention of it that the parties should be placed in precisely the situation in which they would have been but for the decree of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and that, consequently, the decree-holder is entitled, upon the principle laid down in the Circular order of the 11th September, 1829, to receive from the respondent, without a fresh suit, the amount with interest of the mesne profits refunded by him by order of the Sudder court, as well as for the whole period of his subsequent dispossession, together with the costs of the appeal to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, and that the court, in the execution of the present decree, are competent to award him the same.—Ibid.

352. It is the province of the Registers and Assistants to the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts, to make all translations required from these courts respectively, and it is expected they will at all times perform this duty, as far as may be in their power, consistently with the due discharge of their other duties. But if at any time their other public avocations will not admit of their preparing the translates of proceedings required to be transmitted to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, within the prescribed period, the Judges of the respective courts are to represent the same to the Sudder dewanny adawlut, with information of the period required to enable their Registers and Assistants to make such translations without material impediment to the discharge of their other duties; and if the Sudder dewanny adawlut shall judge it necessary to have the translation before them at an earlier period, they are empowered to authorize the employment of any person or persons, possessing an adequate knowledge of the original language, to make such translations, subject to the revision of the Register of the Provincial, Zillah, or City court from which such translation may be demandable, who, in all such instances, is to countersign the translation, as compared by him, and will be held responsible for the accuracy of it.—Reg. 19, 1797, Sect. 4.

In transmitting the record in cases of appeal, as therein provided, it shall be sufficient for the Zillah or City, or Provincial courts as the case may be, to transmit the original pleadings, depositions, and exhibits filed in the case with a list of them, and it shall not be necessary, in the first instance, to transmit the applications and processes for the attendance of witnesses, the returns of the nazir and other miscellaneous papers and proceedings not material to the trial of the appeal. Provided however, that it shall at all times be competent to the court to which the appeal shall have been made, to call for such miscellaneous papers, or to direct the parties to produce copies of the same, should the court think it necessary to refer to them.—Reg. 9, 1831, Sect. 8.

Rules relating to the transmission of records in cases of appeal, modified.

Proviso.

357. I am directed to request that in future you will submit all applications and bills for the entertainment of temporary mohurrirs to copy proceedings in cases appealed to this court whom it may be necessary to employ in consequence of a press of business or other cause, to this court. After approval, the bills will be countersigned by the Register of the court, and returned to you as authority for the Civil Auditor. The rate of pay for extra mohurrirs will not exceed ten rupees per mensem. You will of course be careful that applications of the nature alluded to, are made only in cases of urgent and unavoidable necessity.—Cir. Ord. 24th Nov. 1837.

Employment and remuneration of temporary mohurrirs to copy the proceedings of cases appealed to the sudder court.

358. The Court being apprehensive that the mode of payment for temporary mohurrirs employed in copying proceedings of appealed cases, which was prescribed by the Circular order, No. 217 of the 24th November, 1837, may lead to an increase of expence as well as loss of time, are pleased to direct that in future all such copies be paid for at section rates, viz. 4,000 words per Company's rupee for copying, whether the proceedings be in Persian, Oordoo or Bengalee.—Cir. Ord. 28th June 1839, par. 1.

Rate at which the papers thus copied will be paid for.

359. You are requested to specify in the bills which you send for audit, the proceedings which are charged for, and the number of words in each case; and each nuthee forwarded to the Court is to be accompanied with a memorandum under the signature of your serishtadar, of the number of words contained in it, and the exact sum which has been paid for copying it.—Ibid, par. 2.

The proceedings charged for, and the number of words in each case, are to be distinctly specified, and the serishtadar will notify the exact sum paid.

360. The foregoing rules are to be considered applicable to cases called for by the Court, direct from the court of the Principal Sudder Ameen, to whom you are requested to communicate instructions accordingly, directing him at the same time to apply to you for permission to employ extra mohurrirs when the officers on his own establishment are unable to make the required copies.—Ibid, par. 3.

When references are made to the court copies of documents will be sent instead of the original papers; when the originals are sent, copies will be made by the officer sending them.

362. In consequence of public officers, when making references to this Court, sending, instead of copies as heretofore, original papers which they request may be returned, much inconvenience has of late been experienced, arising from the delay which the examination of the copies prepared in this office occasions in the dispatch of the regular current business, I am, therefore, directed by the Court to request that, on such occasions you will send the copies, except when you may think it more proper to send originals; in which case, if you deem it necessary to preserve copies for record in your own office, you will be pleased to have them prepared before submitting the originals.—Cir. Ord. 16th Nov. 1833.

SECTION XXIX.

Correspondence of the Sudder Court with parties.

S. D. A. not to correspond with parties in suits, or any person, respecting matters before the court, or cognizable by it.

363. The Sudder dewanny adawlut is prohibited corresponding by letter with parties in suits or process or matters depending before them, or coming within their cognizance. If a party in a suit, or any person amenable to the jurisdiction of the court, shall have any matter to represent to the court, he is either to appear in the court in person, and represent the matter in writing, or to make the representation in writing through an authorized vakeel. The court are to pass whatever order upon the representation may appear to them proper consistently with the Regulations, and to cause a copy of the order to be delivered to the person making the representation, or to his vakeel, under the seal of the court, and attested by the Register.—Reg. 6, 1793, Sect. 6.—Benares Reg. 10, 1795, Sect. 2.—Ced. and Conq. Prov. Reg. 5, 1803, Sect. 6.

SECTION XXX.

Construction of the Regulations by the Sudder Courts.

Zillah & city judges and magistrates may state objections to precepts of the provincial courts, or courts of circuit if considered contrary to, or unwarranted by, the regulations.

And suspend execution till receipt of a second precept.

364. In all instances wherein a precept issued by a Provincial court of appeal, or a Court of circuit, to a zillah or city Judge or Magistrate, shall appear to such Judge or Magistrate to be contrary to, or unwarranted by, the existing Regulations, he is authorized to state to the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, in what respects he considers their precept to be in deviation from the Regulations, and suspend execution till receipt of a second precept in reply to his objections. But if the second precept of the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, in reply to the objections of the zillah or city Judge or Magistrate, shall confirm their first precept in whole or in part, and shall require the zillah or city Judge or Magistrate to execute the same without further reference, he shall immediately comply with such requisition. In case, however, the second precept of the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, should not satisfy the zillah or city Judge or Magistrate, that the Regulations have been rightly construed by the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, he is at liberty at the same time that he certifies the execution of the order of the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, to request that they will transmit copies of their precepts to him and his returns thereto, with such other papers as may be necessary for the information of the circumstances of the case, to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or to the Court of Nizamut adawlut, according as the case in question may relate to the civil or criminal department; and the Provincial court or Court of circuit shall accordingly transmit such papers, as requested, without any unnecessary delay. Provided, nevertheless, that nothing in this Regulation be understood to authorize any zillah or city Judge or Magistrate to question the propriety of any order issued by a Provincial court, or Court of circuit, in cases clearly left to the discretion and judgment of the Provincial court, or Court of circuit, by the Regulations; the reference to them, and eventually to the Courts of Sudder dewanny and Nizamut adawlut, meant to be authorized by this Regulation, being confined to cases in which the sense of the Regulations, from a difference of construction or otherwise, may appear doubtful and uncertain.—Reg. 10, 1796, Sect. 2.

Second precept to be carried into immediate execution if required.

But the zillah or city judge or magistrate may for his satisfaction request a reference of the case to the nizamat or S. D. A.

Proviso.

Excepting cases clearly left by the regulations to the discretion and judgment of the prov. courts, or courts of circuit.

365. In all instances wherein a reference to the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, or the Nizamut adawlut, may be made under the preceding rule, the determination of those Courts, who are empowered to prescribe the forms and conduct to be observed by the Provincial, Zillah, and City courts of Dewanny adawlut, the Courts of circuit, and the zillah and city Magistrates, in all cases provided for by the Regulations agreeably to their construction thereof, is to be held final and conclusive.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

Determination of the Nizamut or S. D. A. to be conclusive.

366. Should any doubt occur to the Sudder dewanny, or the Nizamut adawlut, with respect to the meaning of any part of the Regulations; or should it appear to them, on occasion of any reference from the Provincial, Zillah or City courts, the Courts of circuit, or the zillah or city Magistrates, that the Regulations do not sufficiently provide for the case submitted to their decision, they are in the former case, to report the circumstances of it to the Governor General in Council that a new Regulation may be framed in explanation of such doubt; and in the latter case, are to propose a new Regulation in the manner prescribed by Regulation 20, 1793.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

N. and S. D. A. to report to the G. G. in C. any case in which they have doubts on the meaning of the regulations.

Or if the case be not provided for by the regulations to propose a new regulation agreeably to Regulation 20, 1793.

367. On the first point, I am directed to communicate to you the opinion of the Court, that the Regulation above cited was only intended to apply to difference of opinion relative to the proper construction of Regulations in miscellaneous matters, and not to the provisions of a decree; the remedy against which, if deemed erroneous by either of the parties interested, consists in appeal or review, to be applied for in the mode prescribed by the Regulations.—Con. 479, 1844 April 1828, par. 3.

The above regulation applies to difference of opinion regarding the construction of regulations in miscellaneous matters, not to the provisions of a decree.

Course of procedure where a reference is made respecting the meaning of any regulation to either court of Sudder Dewanny.

368. In modification of Section 3, Regulation 10, 1796, Section 3, Regulation 22, 1803, and corresponding enactments, and with a view to preserve uniformity in the interpretation of the law, it is hereby provided, that in all instances wherein a reference respecting the meaning and intent of any Regulation may be made to either Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut or Nizamut adawlut under Section 2 of the abovementioned enactments, or otherwise ; the court shall respectively communicate such reference with their sentiments thereon, each to the other ; and no construction on the point so referred, shall be promulgated, until the same shall have received the sanction of both courts.—Govt. Resolutions, 22d Nov. 1831.

APPENDIX.

Whereas it is deemed expedient, with a view to the benefit of the agricultural community, to regulate the number of periodical sales of estates for arrears of revenue ; to discontinue the levy of interest and penalty upon such arrears; to provide for the sale at fixed and known periods of mehals, the whole of the land revenue due from which may not have been discharged on or by appointed days ; and otherwise to amend the laws for the realization of the land revenue ;—It is hereby enacted, that Section 2, Regulation 14, 1793 ; Section 2, Regulation 3, 1794 ; Regulation 11, 1822, except Sections 36 and 38, and Regulation 7, 1830, are rescinded, except in so far as they rescind other Regulations or parts of Regulations.—Act XII. 1841, Sect. 1.

Repeals sec. 2, reg. 14, 1793; sec. 2, reg. 3, 1794; reg. 11, 1822, except sec. 36 & 38, and reg. 7, 1830.

2. And it is hereby enacted, that there shall be no demand of interest or penalty upon any arrear of land revenue which shall fall due after the date specified in Section 35 of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

No demand shall be made of interest or penalty upon arrear of land revenue after the 1st January, 1842.

3. Whereas it is found expedient to amend the existing law^{*} for the realization of the land revenue,—It is hereby enacted, that from the last day of February, 1845, the third and following sections of Act No. XII. of 1841 are repealed.—Act^{} I. 1845, Sect. 1.*

Preamble.

4. And it is hereby enacted, that if the whole or a portion of a kist or instalment of any month of the era according to which the settlement and kistbundy of any mehal have been regulated, be unpaid on the first of the following month of such era, the sum so remaining unpaid shall be considered an arrear of revenue.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

If the whole or a portion of a kist of any month be unpaid on the first of the following month, it is to be considered an arrear.

5. In compliance with a suggestion of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut, the Sudder Board of Revenue desire me to request that you will bring to the notice of the Collectors of your division, that the new sale law (as indeed was the case with Regulation 11 of 1822,) has reference only to arrears of Government revenue, or other claims of Government recoverable as arrears of revenue ; and that the rules in force for the sale of lands in execution of decrees of court are those prescribed in Regulation 45, 1793.*—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 27th April 1842.

The new sale law has reference only to arrears of govt. revenue, or claims recoverable as arrears of revenue.

6. And it is hereby enacted, that, upon the promulgation of this Act, the Sudder Board of Revenue at Calcutta shall determine upon what dates all arrears of revenue and all demands, which by the Regulations and Acts in force are directed to be realized in the same manner as arrears of revenue, shall be paid up in each permanently settled district or zillah under their jurisdiction, in default of which payment the estates in Form in which the advertisements of estates sold for arrears of revenue are to be drawn up.

7. The Sudder Board of Revenue having observed a want of uniformity and precision in the advertisements of estates to be sold for arrears of revenue under Act I. of 1845, published in the Government Gazettes, commencing with the 2d instant, and in some cases a misapprehension of the law on the part of the Collector,* direct me to enjoin that all future such advertisements shall be made in the following form :

* For instance, the Collector of Mymensing and the Deputy Collector of Bancoorah advertise the sales as conditional on the arrears not being intermediately liquidated obviously misconceiving or overlooking the first principle of the sale law, viz. that no arrears are to be received after the fixed last day of payment, and the very object of the advertisement, viz. to give notice of estates to be unreservedly sold.

And it is hereby enacted, that in districts not permanently settled and in the province of Benares no sale shall take place for arrears of land revenue or other demands of Government without the special sanction of the Sudder Board of Revenue previously obtained in each several case of sale. With reference to an instance brought to the notice of the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut for the North-Western Provinces of the annulment of a sale on account of revenue arrears in consequence of delay that occurred in a Judge's office in forwarding the notices of sale prescribed by Section 8, Act XII. 1841, as soon as received from the Collector to the lower courts, the Court call the attention of the Civil courts to the necessity of using despatch and avoiding all delay in the distribution, affixation, and certificate of receipt of sale notices sent under the provisions above quoted. Judges will be pleased to call the attention of the subordinate courts to this Circular.—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 2d Dec. 1842, pars. 1 and 2.

No delay whatever is to be allowed to take place, in the distribution or affixation of these notices, in the various courts of the district.

11. And it is hereby enacted, that the Collector or other officer duly authorised to hold sales under this Act shall, as soon as possible after the latest day of payment fixed in the manner prescribed in Section 3 or 4 of this Act, issue notifications in the language of the district, to be affixed in his own office, and in the court of the Judge of the district, and to be published in the official Gazettes, specifying the estate or estates which will be sold as aforesaid, and the day on which the sale of the same will commence, which day shall Collector will then notify in various ways and places the estates to be sold and the day of sale. All estates so specified will be put up, and sold to the highest bidder. No payment or tender after sunset of the latest day will be of avail.

12. In continuation of Circular order, No. 9, of the 18th of April last, and to obviate the variety of practice which appears to prevail on the subject, I am desired by the Sudder Board of Revenue to request that you will instruct the several Collectors of your division that the notice of sale enjoined by Section 6, Act I. of 1845, should be published in the language of the district, and according to the form prescribed by the board's Circular above quoted, both in the English and the Vernacular Government Gazette, and that an English version of the notice, in the said form, should also be published in the English Gazette.—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 20th June 1845.

The official sale advertisements in the Bengalee language to be sent direct to Serampore.

13. Inconvenience and delay having arisen from the practice adopted by Collectors of sending their official sale advertisements, both English and Bengalee, in the first instance, to the Calcutta Gazette press, I am directed by the Sudder Board of Revenue, to request that you will instruct those officers to transmit the Bengalee copy in future direct to Mr. Marshman at Serampore, and the English version, as heretofore, to the address of the printer of the Calcutta Military Orphan Press.—*Cir. When an estate is thus notified, a proclamation will be put up in various places forbidding the ryot to pay rent to the defaulting proprietor.

14. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever an estate is notified for sale as provided by Section 6 of this Act, the Collector or other officer as aforesaid shall affix a proclamation in the language of the district, in his own office, and as soon thereafter as may be in the Moonsiff's courts and Police thannahs within which the estate, or any part of it, is situated, and also at the cutcherry of the malgoozar of the estate, or at some conspicuous place upon the estate, forbidding the ryots and under-tenants to pay rent to the defaulting proprietor or proprietors from the date of the day after that fixed for the last day of payment, on pain of not being entitled to credit in their accounts with the purchaser for any sums paid after the date aforesaid.—Act I. 1845, Sect. 7.

No claim to abatement or remission, on any ground, will bar or void a sale, unless it stands in his name alone & without dispute, and the collector has refused to bring it to account.

15. Rules regarding the power of unconv. deputy collector to hold sales.

20. With reference to your letter No. 207 of the 6th June last, submitting, in consequence of a reference from Government the board's opinion on the power of uncovenanted Deputy Collectors to hold sales under Act XII. 1841, I am directed by the Honourable the Deputy Governor of Bengal to request that the following rules may in future be observed on the subject.—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 24th Oct. 1842, par. 1.

21. No uncovenanted Deputy Collector should be allowed to hold sales without express authority from Government in each instance, if there be time to obtain authority. The application for authority should specify the name of the Deputy Collector who may have been selected for the purpose, and if there be more than one such officer in the district, the reasons for the selection.—Ibid, par. 2.

When, in case of urgency, the Com. empowers an unconv. deputy collector to hold the sales, a report must be made on the subject.

22. If owing to urgent circumstances, the Commissioner, or in cases still more urgent, the Collector find it necessary to empower a Deputy Collector, without previous reference to higher authority, to hold sales under Clause 6, Act XII. 1841, a report of the circumstances is immediately to be made, through the proper channel, for the confirmation of Government.—Ibid, par. 3.

If the collector is unable from sickness, or other cause to commence the sale, or to complete it on the day fixed, he may adjourn it to the next day, not being Sunday or a holiday.

23. And it is hereby enacted, that in case the Collector, or other officer as aforesaid, shall be unable from sickness, from the occurrence of a holiday, or from any other cause, to commence the sale on the day of sale fixed as aforesaid, or if, having commenced it, he be unable, from any cause, to complete it, he shall be competent to adjourn it to the next day following, not being Sunday or other close holiday, recording his reasons for such adjournment, forwarding a copy of such record to the Commissioner of Revenue, and announcing the adjournment by a written proclamation stuck up in his cutcherry, and so on, from day to day, until he shall be able to commence upon, or to complete the sale, but with the exception of adjournments so made, recorded, and reported, each sale shall invariably be made on the day of sale fixed in the manner aforesaid.—Ibid, Sect. 13.

24. And it is hereby enacted, that on the day of sale fixed according to Section 6 of this Act, sales shall proceed in regular order; the estate to be sold bearing the lowest number on the towjee or registers in use in the Collector's office of the district being put up first, and so on, in regular sequence; and it shall not be lawful for the Collector or other officer as aforesaid to put up any estate out of its regular order by number, except where it may be necessary to do so on default of deposit, as provided in Section 15 of this Act.—Ibid, Sect. 14.

Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 27th April 1842.*

39. Any collector, in respect to sales, may punish contempt with a fine of 200 rupees, commutable to one month's imprisonment, and subject to an appeal to the revenue commissioners.

42. And it is hereby enacted, that any Collector or officer exercising the powers of Collector, in respect to sale, shall be competent to punish any contempt committed in his presence in open cutcherry or office for the time being, by fine to an extent not exceeding Co.'s Rs. 200, commutable, if not paid, to imprisonment in the civil jail for a period not exceeding one month; and the Magistrate to whom such an offender may be sent by a Collector as aforesaid, shall carry his sentence into effect: provided, that an appeal from any order passed under this section shall lie to the Revenue Commissioner, whose decision shall be final.—Ibid, Sect. 31.

The collector cannot issue a perwannah to a moonsiff to sell personal property and houses attached for arrears.

45. The Presidency Court held, on a reference from the Judge of Dacca, that a Collector is not competent without application to the Judge, to issue a perwannah to a Moonsiff to sell personal property and houses attached by his nazir for arrears of public revenue.—Con. 989, Cal. C. 28th Nov., West. C. 26th Dec. 1835.

Case in which the sharers of an estate were deemed to have received part of the purchase money, and were thus precluded from contesting the validity of the sale.

46. Of several sharers of an estate sold for arrears of revenue, one received his share of the surplus proceeds; two others moved the Commissioner of Revenue and the Civil court to have their shares applied to the satisfaction of decrees against them; the shares of the rest were similarly applied after issue of notice to them, and no objection offered. Held that, under Clause 1, Section 27, Regulation 11, 1822, [corresponding with Act I. 1845,] the sale could not be contested by any of the sharers.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d Aug. 1846, vol. 7, p. 274.

A suit against an auction purchaser, & the late proprietor, must be instituted as a regular suit.

49. The mere fact of an estate having been sold at a public sale for arrears of revenue, does not exempt the purchaser from liability to an action for mesne profits during the period of his possession, in the event of the sale being set aside by a civil action.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th June 1842, vol. 7, p. 107.

If a sale is set aside in the civil courts, the purchaser is still liable to an action for mesne profits during his possession.

50. Property, supposed to belong to a public defaulter, being attached and about to be sold, in satisfaction of dues of Government, should another person claim that property, it is sufficient that previously to the sale a summary enquiry be made into the merits of the claim. A formal investigation is not in the first instance necessary. But it is at the option of the claimant to institute subsequently a regular suit; and if his title be proved the sale will be void, and the property adjudged to him, with costs.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 25th Nov. 1815, vol. 2, p. 162.

Course to be pursued if property belonging to a defaulter, when attached and about to be sold, is claimed by another party.

51. An auction sale of a defaulter's lands, set aside on the ground that the Collector had purchased the lands on account of Government, and that he had refused a higher bid. Plea that the latter circumstance could only entitle the defaulter to compensation, overruled.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 17th May 1824, vol. 3, p. 351.

Auction sale of lands set aside because the collector had purchased them on account of govt. and refused a higher bid.

52. A public sale annulled, on the ground that villages assessed at the decennial assessment as distinct mehals in the name of different persons, though they may subsequently become the property of one and the same individual, cannot legally be sold to realize balances of revenue as a single estate, unless an union of estates had been formally applied for and effected under Section 6, Regulation 25, 1793, and Section 6, Regulation 19, 1814.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Dec. 1829, vol. 4, p. 348.

A sale annulled because mehals assessed separately at the decennial settlement were sold as a single estate, though no union of estates had been made under the regulation.

53. A sale may be annulled by reason of its having been made on a day different from that which was advertised.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th April 1821, vol. 3, p. 88.

A sale may be annulled if made on a day different from that advertised.

54. A revenue sale of an estate is set aside on the suit of part only of the owners.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 29th July 1834, vol. 5, p. 358.

A sale set aside on the suit of part only of the owners.

55. Judgment of lower court in favor of plaintiff, affirmed, and sale set aside on the suit of one only of the owners.—Ibid.

Sale set aside on the suit of only one of the owners.

56. On a claim by A., to hold, at a fixed rent, certain lands in a mehal purchased at public sale by B., judgment for A., on proof of an hereditary right to the tenure. B. declared at liberty to relinquish his purchase, in consequence of the rent of those lands having been erroneously described at the time of sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 23d Jan. 1807, vol. 1, p. 176.

A purchaser at liberty to relinquish his purchase, because the rent was not accurately described at the time of sale.

57. Suit to reverse the sale of an estate sold for arrears of revenue. The plea was, that the estate sold for a demand in excess of what was due, notwithstanding tender of the real balance before proceeding to sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th March 1848.

Suit to reverse the sale because it was sold for a demand of more than was due, the real balance having been tendered.

58. Payment by the Civil court of the debts of a co-sharer out of the proceeds of sale, held not to bar a right of action by plaintiff, who was not shewn to have acquiesced in any way, either expressly or tacitly, in such payment.—Ibid.

Payment by the civil court of the debts of a co-sharer from the proceeds of sale does not bar the plaintiff's right of action, he not having agreed to the payment.

59. The purchasers of an estate sold for arrears of revenue, having relinquished it on the reversal of the sale by a decree of Zillah court, the Collector alone appealed. Held that the

Collector cannot deduct from the amount of purchase money, the sum due for revenue, between relinquishment of the estate, and the dismissal of the appeal against the reversal of the sale.

Collector was not justified in deducting from the amount of purchase money, the sum due on account of Government revenue for the period intervening between the date of the relinquishment of the estate by the purchasers and that of dismissal of his appeal against the reversal of the sale.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 9th March 1848.

PREVENTION OF AFFRAYS CONCERNING LAND, AND RELIEF IN CASES OF FORCIBLE DISPOSSESSION.

Preamble.

1. Whereas it is expedient to remove doubts which have arisen upon the interpretation of Regulation 15 of 1824, and to amend the law for preventing affrays concerning the possession of land and for giving relief in cases of forcible dispossession, and to extend it to cases not hitherto provided for, and to make it applicable to persons of every class or description, whether British-born subjects or others.—Act IV. 1840.

* Repeals reg. 40, 1793; reg. 14, 1795; reg. 32, 1803, sec. 5; reg. 6, 1813; reg. 15, 1824; reg. 2, 1829; & so much of any reg. extending the above, &c.

2. It is hereby enacted, that Regulation 49 of 1793; Regulation 14 of 1795; Regulation 32 of 1803; Section 5, Regulation 6 of 1813; Regulation 15 of 1824, and Regulation 2 of 1829, of the Bengal code, together with so much of any Regulations as extends any of the above Regulations or parts of Regulations to any places within the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, be repealed.—Ibid, Sect. 1.

If magistrate is certified of a probable breach of peace from dispute concerning any land, water, &c.; he shall record a proceeding, &c. and call all parties concerned to attend his court, &c. & to state their claims, &c. Magistrate, without reference to the merits, shall ascertain who was in possession, and declare him entitled to retain, until duly ousted, &c.

3. And it is hereby enacted, that whenever any Magistrate or other officer exercising the powers of a Magistrate may be certified that a dispute likely to induce a breach of the peace exists concerning any land, premises, water, fisheries, crops, or other produce of land, within the limits of his jurisdiction, he shall record a proceeding, stating the grounds of his being so certified, and shall call on all parties concerned in such dispute (whether proprietors, dependent talookdars, farmers, under-farmers, ryots or other persons) to attend his court in person, or by agent, within a reasonable time, and to give in a written statement of their respective claims as respects the fact of actual possession of the subject of dispute. And the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall, without reference to the merits of the claims of any party to a right of possession, proceed to enquire what party was in possession of the subject of dispute when the dispute arose, and after satisfying himself upon that point, shall record a proceeding declaring the party whom he may decide to have been in such possession to be entitled to retain possession, until ousted by due course of law, and forbidding all disturbance of possession until such time; and if necessary the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall put such party into possession, and maintain him in possession, until the rights of the parties disputing be determined by a competent court.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Magistrate, if unable to satisfy himself as to who was in possession, may attach the subject of dispute until the rights are determined, &c.

4. And it is hereby enacted, that if the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall, in the cases mentioned in Section 2 of this Act, be unable to satisfy himself as to what party was in possession of the subject of dispute when the dispute arose, he may attach the subject of dispute until the rights of the parties be determined by a competent court, giving the Collector information of the attachment ; and if the subject of dispute be land, the provisions of Regulation 5 of 1827, regarding attachment by order of a Zillah or City court shall apply to attachments by order of a Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid made under this section.—Act IV. 1840, Sect. 3.

5. And it is hereby enacted, that if any party shall complain to a Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid, that he has been without authority of law forcibly dispossessed of any land, premises, water, fisheries, crops, or other produce of land within the jurisdiction of such Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid, whether the same were possessed by such party as proprietor, dependant talookdar, farmer, under-farmer, ryot or otherwise, the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall require the party or parties complained against, and any other parties concerned, to appear and make defence in person or by agent within a reasonable time ; and if, after the examination of the necessary witnesses and documents, the complaint appears to him to be substantiated, he shall record a proceeding, ordering the party complaining to be put again into possession of the subject of dispute, and maintained in possession until the right to possession be determined by a competent court : provided that no such order shall be passed unless the party complaining of having been so dispossessed prefer his claim within one month from the time of such dispossession.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

Magistrate to summon parties complained against for having taken forcible possession ; party complaining to be restored if complaint is substantiated, until the right is determined.

6. And, whereas, by Section 4 of Act IV. of 1840 it is enacted, that if any party shall complain to a Magistrate, or other officer exercising the powers of a Magistrate, that he has been without authority of law forcibly dispossessed of any land, premises, water, fisheries, crops or other produce of land, within the jurisdiction of such Magistrate, or other officer as aforesaid, whether the same were possessed by such party as proprietor, dependant talookdar, farmer, under-farmer, ryot, or otherwise, the Magistrate, or other officer as aforesaid, shall require the parties complained against, and any other parties concerned, to appear and make defence in person or by agent within a reasonable time ; and if after the examination of the necessary witnesses and documents the complaint appears to him to be substantiated, he shall record a proceeding ordering the party complaining to be put again into possession of the subject of dispute, and maintained in possession until the right to possession be determined by a competent court ; provided that no such order shall be passed unless the party complaining of having been so dispossessed prefer his claim within one month from the time of such dispossession. And, whereas it is just that when the party complaining is a Native officer or soldier, a longer period than one month from the time of dispossession should be allowed for preferring his claim : it is therefore hereby enacted, that so much of the above recited Section of Act IV. of 1840, as provides that no such order as is therein mentioned shall be passed unless the party complaining of having been dispossessed in the manner therein mentioned prefer his claim within one month from the time of such dispossession, is repealed so far as regards complaints preferred by Native officers or soldiers.—Act XV. 1845, Sect. 6.

If the party dispossessed be a native officer or soldier, a longer period than a month is to be allowed him for preferring his claim.

Such period shall be allowed the native officer or soldier as the magistrate considers reasonable.

7. And it is hereby enacted, that no such order as is mentioned in the above recited Section of Act IV. of 1840, shall be passed, when the party complaining of having been dispossessed is a Native officer or soldier unless such party prefer his claim within such period as may be considered by the Magistrate reasonable, with reference to the distance of the party and the difficulty of communication.—Act XV. 1845, Sect. 7.

In case of newly formed land whereof no one ever had possession, magistrate shall award possession to party entitled.

8. And it is hereby enacted, that if, in cases instituted under this Act, the subject of dispute be newly formed land, whereof it shall appear to the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid that no party has ever had possession, the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall award possession to the party to whom the right of possession belongs according to law or custom, and shall maintain that party in possession until the right to possession be determined by a competent Court.—Act IV. 1840, Sect. 5.

Disputes concerning use of land are to be decided in like manner, subject to trial of right of use. Magistrate not to interfere unless right has been exercised within 3 months, &c.

9. And it is hereby enacted, that if a dispute arises concerning the right of use of any land or water, the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid within whose jurisdiction the subject of dispute lies may enquire into the matter, and if it shall appear to him that the subject of dispute was open to the use of the public, or of any person, or of any class of persons, the said Magistrate or other officer may order that possession thereof shall not be taken or retained by any party to the exclusion of the public, or of such person, or of such class of persons, as the case may be, until the party claiming such possession shall obtain the decision of a competent court adjudging him to be entitled to such exclusive possession. Provided that the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid shall not pass any such order as aforesaid, if the matter be such that the right of use is capable of being exercised at all times of the year, unless that right shall have been ordinarily exercised within three months from the date of the institution of the enquiry, or in cases where the right of use exists at particular seasons, unless such right has been exercised without discontinuance before the dispossession of which complaint is made.—Ibid, Sect. 6.

Persons opposing by force the execution of orders under this Act, &c. and persons aiding and abetting, &c. to be imprisoned not exceeding six months, or fined not exceeding 200 rs., commutable to a period not exceeding six months.

10. And it is hereby enacted, that any person opposing by force the execution of an order for possession or use, given under this Act, or refusing obedience thereto, or knowingly contravening the same, as long as it shall remain in legal force, shall, together with all persons aiding and abetting, be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate or other officer with the powers of a Magistrate, to be sentenced to simple imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or to fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, commutable if not paid to a period of simple imprisonment not exceeding six months, or to both imprisonment and fine as aforesaid.—Ibid, Sect. 7.

Orders under this Act may be appealed against, &c.

11. And it is hereby enacted, that all orders passed under this Act shall be appealable in the usual manner under the Regulations and laws that are or may be in force relating to appeals from the orders of Magistrates or other officers exercising the powers of Magistrates.—Ibid, Sect. 8.

Magistrate, with consent of parties, may refer the matter in dispute to arbitration.

12. And it is hereby enacted, that in cases instituted under this Act the Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid is authorised, with the consent of all the parties, to refer the matter in dispute, so far as it is cognizable under this Act, to an arbitrator or arbitrators for decision, whose award shall be executed as if it were the award of such Magistrate or other officer as aforesaid.—Act IV. 1840, Sect. 9.

13. And it is hereby provided that nothing in this Act contained shall affect the legal exercise of any right of attachment or seizure vested by law in any parties.—Ibid, Sect. 10.

This Act not to affect the legal exercise of right of attachment or seizure.

14. And it is hereby further provided, that this Act shall not extend to any place beyond the limits of the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, or to the Settlements of Prince of Wales's Island, Singapore, or Malacca, or to any place situated within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court at Calcutta.—Ibid, Sect. 11.

Act not to extend beyond presidency of Fort William, nor to Straits settlements, nor to any place within local limits of Supreme court.

15. It is hereby enacted, that in the territories subject to the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, Assistant Magistrates vested with special powers, shall be competent to decide cases under the provisions of Act IV. of 1840, when such cases are referred to them by the Magistrates to whom they are subordinate, and that such Assistants shall deal with such cases in the same way as Magistrates are competent to deal with them under the said Act.—Act XXVII. 1845, Sect. 1.

Assistant magistrates vested with special powers, may decide cases under Act 4 of 1840, when referred to them.

16. Provided always, that the Magistrates may at all times recal from such Assistants any depending cases which may have been referred to them under this Act, and which for the more speedy administration of justice or for any other reason, the Magistrates may deem it proper to determine themselves in the first instance.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Magistrates may always recal cases thus referred, from their assistants.

17. I am directed by the Court to inform you that it has been ruled, in supersession of Construction 1344, that none but Magistrates, Joint-Magistrates, and persons lawfully exercising the powers of a Magistrate, can decide suits under Act IV. of 1840.—Cir. Ord. 28th Feb. 1845.

What officers may decide suits under Act 4 of 1840.

18. And it is hereby enacted, that Magistrates are prohibited from taking cognizance under Act IV. of 1840 of boundary disputes of the nature for which provision is here made, [that is in the North West Provinces] but whenever they have reason to apprehend any breach of the peace in consequence of a disputed boundary, they shall certify the circumstances to the Collector of land revenue, who shall be bound immediately to mark off the boundary in the mode here indicated, and to uphold the possession of the parties according to the demarkation.—Act I. 1847, Sect. 6.

Magistrates cannot, under Act 4 of 1840, take cognizance of boundary disputes under Act 1 of 1847.

19. In a dispute between a proprietor of an estate, and a mortgagee of an orchard situated therein, the Magistrate of Bareilly, considering the possession of the latter to have been satisfactorily established directed him to be maintained in possession. The proprietor appealed, and the Session Judge reversed the decision of the Magistrate, directed him to maintain the proprietor in possession, and referred the mortgagee to the Civil court.—Con. 1366, West. C. 2d, Cal. C. 23d Dec. 1842.

In a dispute between a proprietor of an estate and the mortgagee of an orchard in it, the civil court ordered the magistrate to maintain the proprietor in possession and refer the mortgagee to the civil court.

20. A Magistrate may interfere in disputes between mortgagers and mortgagees, when such disputes appear likely to terminate in a breach of the peace; and it does not in any way affect the question, whether the mortgage have been registered or not.—Con. 1006, West. C. 15th April, Cal. C. 20th May 1836.

Magistrate may interfere in disputes between mortgager and mortgagee where there is likely to be a breach of the peace.

A magistrate cannot attach, or require a collector to attach lands paying revenue, before the decision of a case under Act 4 of 1840.

21. Held, on a reference from the Session Judge of 24-Purgunnahs, that a Magistrate is not authorised to attach lands, (paying revenue to Government, or under-tenures,) pending the decision of a case under Act IV. of 1840, or to call on the Collector to attach lands according to Regulation 5 of 1827, before he has come to a decision in a case under the above Act.—Con. 1347, Cal. C. 24th June, West. C. 2d Aug. 1842.

Duty of the magistrate, where in a suit under Act 4 of 1840, an auction purchaser pleads that he is exercising his legal rights.

22. The Magistrate of Nuddea was of opinion, with reference to Sections 7—10, Regulation 5, 1812, and Sections 32 and 33, Regulation 11, 1822, that the auction purchaser of an estate could not cancel putnee talooks, created by the former proprietor, by merely attaching them, without having previously established his right to do so in a Court of justice; and advertent to Act IV. 1840, he saw no resource but to refer the auction purchaser to the "usual legal mode of obtaining possession." Held, that where, in a suit instituted under Act IV. 1840, an auction purchaser of an estate pleads that he is exercising his legal right, it will be the duty of the Magistrate, under Section 10 of that enactment, to satisfy himself whether the contested tenure is of that description which is protected by law, and that, in cases in which the tenure is not of that description, the purchaser is not obliged to apply to any court for the enforcement of his rights.—Con. 1312, Cal. C. 2d Oct., West. C. 26th Nov. 1841.

How disputes of zemindars and kuthenadars for the right of management and collection of estates should be governed in reference to Act 4, 1840.

23. Disputes between zemindars and kuthenadars, not for possession of defined portions of land, but for the right of management and collection of estates, should be governed by Section 10, Act IV. 1840; the zemindar who possesses the right of attachment should be held in possession—the other party being referred to a civil suit to determine whether the zemindar has justly exercised that right.—Con. 1333, West. C. 15th April, Cal. C. 27th May 1842.

Resolution of the S. N. A. of the extent to which the provisions of Act 4 of 1840 are applicable.

24. The Court transmit for the information and guidance of the criminal authorities, copy of a Resolution recorded by them and concurred in by the Nizamut Adawlut for the North Western Provinces, regarding the extent to which the provisions of Act IV. 1840, are applicable :

Resolution of the Presidency Court of Nizamut Adawlut, under date the 21st October, 1842.

Present.

R. H. Rattray, C. Tucker, and J. F. M. Reid, Esquires, Judges.

It having been brought to the notice of the Court that a Session Judge has over-ruled the proceedings of a Magistrate in which he held the provisions of Act IV. 1840 to be applicable to a case involving disputes for the possession of land between a landlord and putneedar, on the ground that by the rule laid down in Construction No. 579, of the 17th December, 1830, such cases could not be brought under Regulation 15 of 1824, and because he conceived the zemindar entitled to the privileges of an auction purchaser, and therefore entitled to oust the putneedar, they deem it proper to record the following Resolution explanatory of their construction of Act IV. of 1840, for the future guidance of the several Session Judges within their jurisdiction : Resolution. With reference to the very general terms of Act IV. of 1840, the Court are of opinion that its applicability cannot be confined within the narrow circle of Regulation XV. 1824, which has been repealed by the present law, by which it is evidently intended to empower the Magistrates to enquire into disputes relating to the possession of lands of which, before the passing of that enactment, they were not competent to take cognizance.—Cir. Ord. 29th Dec. 1842.

25. A Magistrate cannot refer suits under Regulation 15, 1824, [Act IV. of 1840,] to Sudder Ameens under Clause 6, Section 18, Regulation 5, 1831, those provisions applying to cases of a strictly criminal nature.—Con. 689, West. C. 26th April, Cal. C. 18th May 1832.

Suits under Act 4 of 1840 cannot be referred to sudder ameens.

26. In a dispute for chattels or other movable property, if the fact of illegal and forcible dispossession have been established, the Magistrate is competent to interfere : but not otherwise.—Con. 1349, West. C. 1st, Cal. C. 29th July 1842.

Case in which a magistrate may interfere in a dispute for chattels, or other movable property.

27. A., a ryot, asserting himself to be under engagements to B., an indigo planter, complains that C., another planter, who states that he made advances to A., is about forcibly to cut the crop. Held that A. being in possession, may deliver the disputed plant to either B. or C. and that the Magistrate under Act IV. 1840, may prohibit C. from attempting to take forcible possession ; C. having his remedy in the Civil court under Regulation 6, 1813, and Act X. 1836.—Con. 1359, Cal. C. 5th Aug., West. C. 2d Sept. 1842.

Application of Act 4 of 1840 to the case of a ryot who complains that while under engagements to one planter, another threatens forcibly to cut his crop.

28. A Civil court cannot stay execution of an award under Act IV. 1840, pending the decision of a suit instituted to reverse it.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 26th April 1847.

A civil court cannot stay execution of an award under Act 4 of 1840, pending a suit to reverse it.

29. A single suit may be brought to reverse several awards under Act IV. 1840, involving the same grounds of action.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 2d Aug. 1847.

A single suit may be brought to reverse several awards under Act 4 of 1840.

30. In deciding upon claims to property attached in execution of decrees of court, it is competent to the Civil courts to determine whether an award under Act IV. 1840, adduced in proof of possession, be a decision in a bonâ fide or fictitious case.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 31st Jan. 1848.

The civil courts may determine whether an award under Act 4 of 1840, be a decision, in a bonâ fide, or a fictitious case.

31. The purchaser of property sold in execution of a decree having been forcibly ejected, by the party complained against, within a month of obtaining possession under the orders of the Civil court, the Sudder dewanny adawlut held that the court could summarily interfere to uphold the possession of the purchaser.—Remarks.—The dispossession in this instance took place within a month of obtaining possession from the court's officer. The spirit of the precedent is, not to limit the summary interference of the court to one month, but to authorize such interference when the dispossession is sufficiently recent to bring the case, as it were, under the head of "resistance of the court's process," regarding which the Judge, after hearing both sides, must exercise a sound discretion.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 19th Aug. 1835, vol. 7, p. 9.

The civil court can summarily interfere to uphold the possession of a purchaser of property sold in execution of a decree, who had been forcibly ejected, within a month of possession.

175a. Whereas it was enacted, by Clause 3, Section 9, Regulation 23 of 1814, of the Bengal code, that in cases of misconduct and neglect of duty which might not be of a nature to require the suspension or dismissal of a Moonsiff from his office, the Judge should be authorized to impose on the Moonsiff a fine not exceeding twenty rupees in amount, and that the order of the Judge in such case should be final.—Act XII. 1817, Sect. 1.

Recapitulation of reg. 23, 1814, sec. 9, cl. 2.

175b. And whereas by Section 67 of the said Regulation the provision above recited, was declared amongst other things to be applicable to the office of Sudder Amcens, as well as to that of Moonsiffs.—Ibid, Sect. 2.

Ditto of reg. 23, 1814, sec 67.

175c. And whereas the provision above recited, is no longer adapted to Moonsiffs and Sudder Amcens, in the more elevated judicial position which they now occupy.—Ibid, Sect. 3.

The provisions in those enactments are no longer applicable to S. A. or moonsiffs.

175d. It is therefore hereby enacted, that Clause 3, Section 9, Regulation 23 of 1814, and Section 67 of the said Regulation, so far as it declares the said clause to be applicable to Sudder Amcens, are repealed.—Ibid, Sect. 4.

The judge will no longer be at liberty to fine a moonsiff or S. A. for misconduct or neglect of duty

Held that A. may sue B. for breach of contract, either in Mynpooree where the cause of action arose, or in Cawnpoor where B. resided at the time of instituting the suit. The failure of delivery in Furruckabad is not a circumstance, which, under the Regulations, would give jurisdiction to the court of that district.—*Con. 866, West. C. 14th, Cal. Property, belonging to a public defaulter, being attached and about to be sold, in satisfaction of the dues of Government, should another person claim that property, it is sufficient that previous to the sale a summary enquiry be made into the merits of the claim. A formal enquiry is not in the first instance necessary. But it is at the option of the claimant to institute, subsequently, a regular suit; and, if his title be proved, the sale will be void, and the property adjudged to him with costs.—*S. D. A. Sel. The nazir must enter into a penal obligation for the good behaviour of the peons under him.

91a. The civil Judges are hereby reminded that by Section 2, Regulation 12 of 1803, corresponding with Section 2, Regulation 13 of 1793, and Section 12, Regulation 5 of 1804, the nazir of every Civil court is required to enter into a penal obligation for the good behaviour of the peons under his control, and as it is probable that this rule may have been overlooked in the recent changes of the law regarding the entertainment of nazirs in the Moonsiffs' courts, the Court desire that steps may be at once taken to ascertain whether such is the case, and if so, to enforce the aforesaid provision of the law generally.—Cir. Ord. 13th March 1848.

Appeals lie to the S. D. A. from the orders of a judge dismissing a ministerial officer of his own, or of a lower, court.

Circular orders Nos. 23 and 178, dated 5th September, 1838, and 25th February, 1842, respectively. The precedent, therefore, must be held as superceded, and it is hereby declared, that appeals lie to the Sudder dewanny adawlut from the orders of a zillah Judge dismissing a ministerial officer, whether of his own or of any of the subordinate courts.—Cir. Ord. 21st March 1848.

Page 158.

273a. The Courts of Sudder dewanny adawlut, for the Lower and North Western Provinces having considered the present state of the law regarding the dismissal by zillah Judges of vakeels of their own and subordinate courts, are of opinion that since the enactment of Act I. 1846, the rule contained in Clause 2, Section 10, Regulation 27, 1814, must again be acted upon, which requires that the dismissal of a vakeel attached to a Zillah court or to that of a Principal Sudder or Sudder Ameen, must be reported for the confirmation of the Sudder dewanny adawlut, pending the receipt of whose orders he can only be suspended from practice. The same rule is also made applicable to the vakeels of the courts of Moonsiffs by Section 11 of the Act cited. Under this exposition of the law, so much of Circular order No. 43, dated 13th April, 1832, as regards the removal of vakeels, and Construction No. 846, must be considered as no longer in force.—Cir. Ord. 21st March 1848.

The dismissal of a vakeel of a zillah court or that of the P. S. A. or S. A. or moonsiff, must be reported for confirmation to the S. D. A. pending whose orders he can only be suspended.

realized by them; and that they should also give security to the amount of their average receipts for three months. At present, the only security they give is that for the personal appearance, and as no sum is specified in the bond, as demandable from the security, in the event of any malversation on the part of the ameen, the document is worth nothing. The form in question was introduced by my predecessor, Mr. Glyn. If amended, agreeably to my suggestion, it would be expedient to include these officers in the statement No. 9. Should this measure be adopted, the object of the Circular order, Sudder dewanny adawlut of the 13th January, 1837, will be fully attained.—Extract paragraph 10 from the Report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the District of Meerut, during the year 1847.—Ibid.

Undiscovered Defaults in the prosecution of Suits.

Every default shall be held cured when the opposite party, passing over the default, has taken any step in a suit or appeal, and when the court shall have passed judgment in it.

It is hereby enacted, that in the said courts every default of a plaintiff or appellant, in all suits or appeals now pending or hereafter to be brought, and in all suits which have been decided but are still open to appeal, shall be held to be cured whenever the opposite party, passing over the default, shall have taken any step in the suit or appeal, and whenever the court shall have passed judgment in the suit or appeal, whether such opposite party shall or shall not have taken any such step.—Act XVII. 1847.

With a view to defeat the purposes of those who collusively obtain decrees on confession of judgment, to the injury of bona fide decree-holders the Court have resolved, Firstly, that in suits in which judgment is confessed, the claim must be proved, as in cases decided ex parte. No decree shall therefore be given simply on the admission of the claim by the defendant without also proof of it by the plaintiff. Secondly, that no decree for real property founded on confession of judgment, shall be admitted to bar the sale of rights and interests in such property in execution of a money decree. SECTION XLII*a*.

Trial of Suits by Moonsiffs—Consolidated Rules regarding Stamps.

Recapitulation of certain constructions.

715*a*. To correct erroneous practices, whenever they may be found to prevail, in certain points connected with the procedure of the Moonsiff's courts, the court deem it expedient to promulgate, for general information, certain constructions, as follows.—Cir. Ord. 13th Aug. 1841, par. 1.

Petitions to moonsiffs for the execution of their decrees, & vakalutnamahs, should be on plain paper.

715*b*. Construction No. 798 declares, that "as by Clause 2, Section 9, Regulation 5, 1831, pleadings, applications for filing exhibits and for the attendance of witnesses, and copies of decrees in suits tried by Moonsiffs, need not be written on stamped paper, the court are of opinion that petitions presented to Moonsiffs under Section 7, Regulation 7 of 1832, for the execution of their decrees, as well as vakalutnamahs filed in cases before them, should be received on plain paper." The same rule is repeated in Construction No. 950.—Ibid, par. 2.

Petitions to moonsiff agreeably to reg. 5, 1831, sec. 6, cl. 4, may be on plain paper.

715*c*. Under Construction No. 706, petitions presented in the Moonsiffs' courts, agreeably to Clause 4, Section 6, Regulation 5, 1831, are not required to be written on stamped paper.—Ibid, par. 3.

Razeenamahs in moonsiffs' courts may be written on plain paper.

715*d*. By Circular order, dated 20th July (Western Provinces 3d August) 1838,* razeenamahs filed in the Moonsiffs' courts, whether in regular suits or in cases of execution of decrees, are allowed to be written on plain paper.—Ibid, par. 4.

Petitions of parties objecting to the sale and transfer of property in execution of moonsiff's decrees may be on plain paper.

715*e*. It was ruled by the concurrent opinion of the two courts, on the 26th June, 1840, that petitions of parties objecting to the sale or transfer of property in execution of Moonsiffs' decrees, may be received by those functionaries on plain paper.—Ibid, par. 5.

The above rules equally apply to suits within a moonsiff's competency, referred for trial to a P. S. A. or a S. Ameen.

715*f*. The court, at the same time, call attention to the fact of the above rules equally applying under Section 5, Act XXV. 1837, to suits within a Moonsiff's competency to decide, which may be referred for trial by the Judge to a Sudder Ameen, or Principal Sudder Ameen, who, in such cases, are to be guided thereby.—Ibid, par. 6.

These rules to be generally promulgated.

715*g*. The Judges are requested to make these rules known to the several judicial officers of their districts, who will be directed to alter any practice at variance with them, that may be found to obtain in their courts.—Ibid, par. 7.

The tulubana rules for moonsiffs do not hold good when a suit cognizable by a moonsiff is referred to a P. S. A.

849a. This rule has been thus modified by Act VI. 1843, Section 5.

And it is hereby enacted, in modification of Section 22, Regulation 5 of 1831, that decrees passed in the courts of the Judges or Principal Sudder Ameen, in cases of appeal from the decisions of the Sudder Ameen or Moonsiffs, shall be executed by the courts in which the original decisions were passed, under the general rules prescribed for the execution of decrees passed by those courts—applications for the execution of such decrees shall be presented, together with a certified copy of the decree of the Judge or Principal Sudder Ameen to the Court of original jurisdiction. In appeals from the orders of the Moonsiff or Sudder Ameen in such cases, the decision of the zillah or city Judge shall be final.—Act VI. 1843, Sect. 5.

Decrees passed on appeal in the courts of judges or P. S. A. shall be executed by the court in which the original decree was passed, &c. In appeal from order of moonsiffs or S. A., the decision of zillah or city judge to be final.

954a. I am directed by the Court to transmit to you an extract (paragraph 14,) from the Report on the Administration of Civil Justice in the district of Futtehpoore during the year 1847, communicated by the Western Court, and to request, that should the practice referred to therein exist in the Moonsiff's courts in your district, you will order it to be discontinued.—Extract Para. 14.—I found, from one or two appeals which had come before me, that the Moonsiffs were in the habit of giving copies of witnesses' depositions and other papers, bearing their signature and seal, to parties requiring them on plain paper; and these copies were received by the Moonsiffs in other cases pending before them, and, in calling on them for an explanation of the authority under which the practice prevailed, they quoted the Court's Circular letter, No. 58, of the 16th January, 1840, as entitling parties to obtain copies of papers, such as I have referred to, on plain paper, and to receive them as evidence. The Moonsiffs appeared to me to have misunderstood the meaning of the Circular letter, which only mentioned that copies of final orders, in miscellaneous cases as well as all interlocutory orders, were to be granted on plain paper. They are the only exemptions named in that letter, nor can I discover, in Regu-

Moonsiffs cannot give copies of the depositions of witnesses, and other papers, to be used in other cases, on plain paper.

lation 10 of 1829, that copies of depositions parties wish to file in support of their claims, are exempted from being written on stamped paper. The Moonsiffs, therefore, in allowing these papers, which were not written on the prescribed stamp, to be presented and received as evidence, acted, it seemed to me, contrary to Regulation last cited; and I, therefore, directed them to put a stop to the practice; and I now bring the subject before the court, that my order may be recalled should I be found to have taken an erroneous view of the law.—Cir. Ord. 9th March 1848.

Course to be pursued by public officers on the institution of actions against them for official acts.

11a. The following orders of Government are published by authority, for the information of officers of the Government as to the course to be pursued on the institution of actions against them for acts done by them in their public capacity.—Cir. Ord. S. D. and N. A. 12th May 1848.

At present they are left to defray the expense of these prosecutions themselves and are reimbursed only when they appear to have conducted themselves legally and properly.

11b. I am directed by the Right Honourable the Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 583, of the 17th ultimo, in which you draw his lordship's attention to the position in which Magistrates and other officers of Government are placed, when actions are brought against them in courts of law for acts done in the discharge of their official duties in consequence of the system at present pursued of leaving them to defend themselves at their own expense in every case; and only reimbursing them after the conclusion of the trial, if from the facts then developed it should appear that they had conducted themselves legally and properly in the matters which occasioned the action.—Letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Superintendent of Police, Lower Provinces, 12th April 1848, par. 1.

Those officers will in future be relieved from the necessity of advancing the funds required for their defence.

11c. After carefully considering the subject, his lordship has come to the conclusion, that it will be right that the officers of Government so situated should be relieved from the necessity, which must often press heavily upon their means, of advancing the funds required for defending themselves against actions which may often be prompted by malice or litigiousness.—Ibid, par. 2.

When thus subject to a prosecution, the fact, with particulars, will be communicated to govt. who will advance the funds if the officer appears to have acted rightly.

11d. With this view his lordship has determined, as the course to be pursued in such cases in future, that on the institution of any action against an officer of the Government for acts done in the discharge of his public duty, he should communicate the fact through the usual official channel, reporting all circumstances which may be necessary to enable the Government to arrive at a decision on the real merits of the case. If, on full examination into the case, and on a fair and reasonable interpretation of his proceedings, the officer shall appear to have acted rightly, he will be directed to take the necessary steps to defend himself, the Government advancing the funds necessary for that purpose, to be refunded after the issue of the action is known, in case the circumstances then brought to light should prove the officer to have acted improperly. If on the other hand, upon examination of his case by the Government his conduct shall appear to have been clearly wrong, he will be informed that the Government will not interfere, and that he must defend himself at his own charge.—Ibid, par. 3.

Advantages of this arrangement.

11e. Under such a rule as this, his lordship conceives that public officers will not be led to feel that they can fall back on the Government for defence in every case, whether their conduct may have been right or wrong. They will be sensible that they can look for assistance only when they may appear to have entirely deserved it, and therefore their sense of responsibility will remain as keen as heretofore.—Letter from the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Superintendent of Police, Lower Provinces, 12th April 1848, par. 4.

11f. Regarding the case, which gave rise to your communication his lordship has been informed that the action against that officer has been nonsuited.—Ibid, par. 5.

* Para. 115.

† Para. 2, in part.

Collectors forbidden to realize the fees of the nazir's peons in pauper suits.

207b. I have remarked in my letter to the Accountant General, that "the only pauper suits in which any legal expences are recoverable on account of Government over and above the stamp duty are those to which Government itself is a party." I am aware, I have said "that the Collectors are in the habit of realizing the fees of the nazir's peons in all cases ; but it may be doubted, first, whether the practice is not opposed to Section 7, Regulation 28 of 1814, which declares that all processes shall be served through the chuprassies of the court without any expence to the pauper, and secondly, whether sums due or realized on this account should be included in a statement intended to show only the amount leviable on account of Government." Since writing this, I have learned that these fees though realized under the heads of costs of process, do not go to the nazir of the Civil court, but are credited to Government.* As Government are at no expence on account of the issue of processes in those cases in which they are not themselves concerned, I conceive the practice only requires to be known to ensure an order for its abandonment.—Extract from the Report by the Supt. and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs, par. 115.

* The practice with regard to the realization and crediting of these fees appears to vary considerably in different Collectorates, but this I understand to be the general rule.

It being unnecessary to file with an appeal to a zillah Judge, from a decision of a Collector under Section 30, Regulation 2 of 1819, copy of the decision appealed against, any deduction of time for such purpose, in calculating the period of appeal, is illegal.—Rep. Sum. Cases, 20th Jan. 1848.

It is illegal for zemindars to delegate to commissioners appointed under Act I. of 1839, the powers, and duties which they themselves should perform under sect. 2 and 3, Reg. 7, 1799, and sect. 13, reg. 5, 1812.

6a. The Commissioner of Bhaugulpore having attracted the attention of the Sudder Board of Revenue to some irregular practices of the zemindars of his division in connection with the provisions of Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 7 of 1799, and Section 13, Regulation 5 of 1812. have directed me to forward to you herewith a copy of that officer's communication (No. 518 of the 17th ultimo,) upon the subject, and of their reply thereto of this date, in order that the practices therein alluded to, if existing in your division, may be put a stop to.—From the Commissioner of the 12th or Bhaugulpore Division to the Secretary to the Sudder Board of Revenue.—I have the honour to report for the information and orders of the Sudder Board of Revenue that it appears to be generally the practice in this division for zemindars and other landholders to delegate to the Commissioner appointed under Act I. of 1839, the duties and powers which pertain to themselves under Sections 2 and 3, Regulation 7 of 1799, and Section 13, Regulation 5 of 1812, that is, instead of serving defaulting tenants with the written demand prescribed by the last mentioned Regulation, and afterwards distraining the defaulting tenant's property through their own agents, they make formal application on eight anna stamped paper to the Commissioner appointed under Act I. of 1839, who thereupon deputes a peon on two annas a day to serve the demand and make the attachment, and when this is done another peon on two annas a day is appointed to give notice of the sale. In some instances the application is presented through a mookhtar, whose power of attorney is also written on an eight anna stamp. It appears to me that by this practice the tenants are burdened with an unnecessary and illegal charge; the aggregate of which in not a few instances may exceed the amount of the arrear, and thereby put it out of the defaulter's power to discharge the demand or furnish adequate security to contest its justness. I therefore solicit the instruction of the board regarding the prohibition of all such unauthorized charges in future.—Reply of the Board.—Having placed your letter, No. 518 of the 17th ultimo, before the Sudder Board of Revenue, I am directed to communicate, in reply, that the practices pointed out therein being clearly illegal, and open to the objection you notice, must at once be prohibited; and you are accordingly requested to take the necessary measures for putting a stop to them in your division which you might have done without referring to the board.—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 3d April 1846.

36a. To obviate the risk of misapprehension I am desired by the Sudder Board of Revenue to instruct you, with reference to their Circular, No. 8, dated the 20th of March last, that zemindars and other persons vested with the power of distraining for rent are not authorized themselves to sell distrained property or to employ any agency for that purpose excepting a person duly appointed under Act No. I. of 1839, and further, that the only real property which can be brought to sale in satisfaction of a summary decree for arrears of rent is the talook or other tenure from which the arrear is due; provided by the title deeds or established usage such tenure be transferable by sale or otherwise.*—*Cir. To Nuzzur Ali, Nazir of the Collector's Office for the District of Nuddeah.

Whereas Baboo Kalachand, of Santipore, has instituted a suit in this court against Sheik Goomance, of Durruntollah, in the town of Calcutta, under the provisions of Regulation 7 of 1799, for the recovery of arrears of rent, to the amount of rupees 100, you are hereby authorized and commanded to arrest the said defendant, and unless he pay the above demand, together with all the costs of this process, within twenty-four hours from the service of the same, you will convey him to this court. Provided, however, that if the defendant shall, by a written application, request a longer period than twenty-four hours to adjust the demand against him and the plaintiff shall, by a written superscription or endorsement on such application, acquiesce therein, you will delay execution of this warrant accordingly, and whenever the plaintiff shall in writing, declare himself satisfied and desire the warrant to be withdrawn, you will immediately withdraw the same on payment by the defendant of all costs of the process. In this fail not. Dated this 10th day of August, 1846.

Arrangements by proprietors of land attached by reg. 5, 1812, and reg. 5, 1827, not binding.

305a. The Sudder Board of Revenue having reason to believe that Collectors hold portions of estates in attachment under Section 26, Regulation 5 of 1812, I am directed to instruct you that that law does not authorize, and Construction No. 717 of the Sudder Court is opposed to, such attachments.—Cir. Ord. S. Bd. Rev. 3d Aug. 1846, par. 1.

Portions of estates not to be attached under reg. 5, 1812.

Such attachments illegal and to be withdrawn.

305c. You will observe that in all cases of this description, where the Collector acts as the executive officer of the court, and is not a party concerned in the case, if he sees reason to object to any order of the judicial authorities, his proper course is, not to move the court by petition or through the Government Pleader as appears to be the present practice, but to address it by letter or proceeding, and if dissatisfied with the views held by the local courts, to refer the question, through the Judge, to the Sudder dewanny adawlut for decision.—Ibid, par. 3.

How the collector will act when he has reason to object to an order of the civil courts.

305d. The Civil courts are, however, competent to order the revenue authorities to attach a portion of an estate under the provisions of Clause 2, Section 5, Regulation 2 of 1806. This has been ruled (and the Board have no doubt correctly ruled) in a letter, No. 1138, dated the 11th July, 1845, from the Register of the Sudder dewanny adawlut to the Judge of Cuttack, and in such cases of attachment the entire estate is exempted, under Section 10, Act I. of 1845, from sale for arrears of revenue until after the close of the year.—Ibid, par. 4.

But the civil courts may order a collector to attach a portion of an estate under reg. 2, 1806, sect. 5, cl. 2.

Registration by persons who have had charge of the office of register, without being duly appointed to it, are valid in law.

Whereas instances have occurred of persons exercising the office of Register of Deeds who have not been duly appointed, and whereas in some cases registration of deeds has been made on other than court days, that is, on days other than those on which the Zillah or City court has been open for business, and doubts may therefore arise as to whether the registration of any deed registered by such persons not duly appointed, or registered on other than a court day, is valid in law:—It is, therefore, hereby enacted, that acts which may have been done in that capacity in any zillah, subject to the Presidency of Bengal, by persons who have had charge of the office of Register of Deeds without being duly appointed to the said office, shall be and shall be taken to have always been as valid in law as such acts would have been if the said persons had been duly appointed to have charge of the said office.—Act XVIII. 1847, Sect. 1.

Remarks by the Court of D. on the rules for registration, more especially upon the operation of Act 19, 1843, and Act 4, 1845.

476a. I am directed by the Court to transmit to you extracts from two despatches of the Honourable the Court of Directors, and to request a report on the measures which have been taken for making known the provisions of Act XIX. 1843, the system which has been adopted for keeping the registry books of deeds and making them available for reference by the people, and the effect, generally, with which the operation of that law, and of Act IV. 1845, has been attended.—Cir. Ord. 8th May 1846, par. 1.

Idem.

"It appears from the voluminous correspondence here referred to* that the subject of the registration of deeds affecting the title of real property, has for several years past been under your consideration."—Extract of a despatch from the Hon. the Court of Directors regarding various provisions for Registration.—Ibid, par. 2.

Idem.

476c. "A system of registry had prevailed throughout the provinces of the three Presidencies, but registered deeds did not take precedence of those of earlier date which were unregistered when the party registering had knowledge of the existence of such unregistered deeds; this had led to much perjury, forgery, and fraudulent concealment, and had materially affected the security of transactions connected with real property. At the Presidencies there had never been any registration of deeds."—Ibid, par. 3.

Ord. 8th May 1846, par. 4.*

Remarks by the Court of D. on the rules for registration, more especially upon the operation of act 19, 1843, and act 4, 1845.

476e. "On further consideration it was judged advisable that, for the present, the system of registration should not be extended to the Presidency towns and, also, that it should be confined to deeds of sale or gift and to mortgages ; excluding from its operation decrees of court, and deeds for the temporary transfer of real property, wills and written authorities from husbands to their wives to adopt a son after the husband's decease. Act I. 1843 was passed accordingly."—Ibid, par. 5.

Idem.

476f. "It was discovered however, that the intended limitations had not been observed in the terms in which that Act was framed, and that its provisions would have been applicable to other conveyances and instruments than those for the sale or gift of real property, or for mortgages on security of that nature. Act XIX. of 1843 has, therefore, been passed with provisions restricted to the objects you had in view."—Ibid, par. 6.

Idem.

476g. "We trust that the utmost pains have been taken that the new law shall be fully known and understood by all parties liable to be affected by it. Deeds of sale, gift or mortgage, are seldom, we believe, drawn up in India, as in England, by professional persons who make it their business to be correctly informed what is required by law to render them effectual, and it would obviously be a great hardship to annul the titles by which property is held by parties, who, in acquiring it, acted with entire good faith and according to long and well established practice. In introducing an improved practice such a hardship may in some degree be inevitable ; but the degree will greatly depend upon the means adopted for the purpose of guarding against it."—Ibid, par. 7.

Idem.

476h. "We trust also that enquiries have been set on foot with respect to the best and safest mode of keeping the registry of deeds, and of making it easily available for reference by persons having occasion to examine it. A distinct and accurate index will be indispensable. Each page of the register, as well as every erasure and interlineation, must be duly authenticated. The custody of such a record will need to be carefully provided for, so as to protect it both from fraud and from accident. We do not think that precautions of such a nature can be left to the judgment and experience of the several individuals composing a numerous body of public officers, spread all over India, and, unless they are well devised, uniform, and correctly observed, the new law may be attended with the greatest confusion and injustice."—Ibid, par. 8.

Idem.

476i. "We desire that we may be apprized of the measures which have been adopted on both the points above explained, and also of the effect with which the operation of the new law may have been attended."—Ibid, par. 9.

Idem.

476j. "We are by no means satisfied that the provisions of law recently introduced on this subject are not liable to produce the greatest confusion and injustice. Prior to the passing of Act I. of 1843, registered deeds took no precedence of unregistered deeds of earlier date, when the party registering was aware of the existence of such unregistered deeds. That Act gave them precedence in all cases. Owing to some error in framing the Act, it was amended by Act XIX. of 1843, with respect to which we took occasion to point out the necessity of making its provisions fully known to those liable to be affected by it. We observed that deeds are seldom drawn up in India as they are in England by professional persons, and that it would be a great hardship to annul the titles by which property may have been transferred in perfect good faith and according to long and well established usage. We also remarked that the utmost pains would be requisite as to the mode of keeping the registry of deeds, and making it easily available for reference, and protecting it both from fraud and from accident. These precautions could not in our judgment, be safely left to the discretion and experience of the several individuals composing a numerous body of public officers spread all over India."—*Extract from Despatch, under date the 14th Jan. 1846.—Cir. 476*l*. "By Act IV. of 1845, the passing of which is reported in your present letter, it is further enacted that deeds may be registered, in any 'registry office within the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, whether such office be in the district where the property or any part thereof to which such deeds relate is situated or not.' This new provision will increase the liability of a fair title to property becoming void through some undiscovered act of registration, and makes it still more indispensably necessary that the registers should be easy of access to parties requiring to examine them, and should be effectually protected against fraud and accident. The subject so universally and essentially concerns the interests of the community, that we must again desire that the various points affecting it, which were stated in our letter of the 24th July, 1844, No. 17, above referred to, may be fully enquired into, and may receive your deliberate consideration."—Ibid, par. 12.

Claim by a purchaser, for possession of property sold on a judgment of the supreme court dismissed.

163a. It is believed that Construction 630, dated 11th March, 1831, has been generally considered to prohibit a Judge, from calling on the mortgagee to produce his deed of mortgage in the course of the miscellaneous proceedings, required by Section 8, Regulation 17 of 1806, to be held on an application for foreclosure. The Court, having been in communication with the Western Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut on the subject, deem it proper to notify that the majority of the two Courts have held, that under the terms of the enactment cited, a Judge is not precluded from satisfying himself, by requiring the production of the document, that the applicant for foreclosure is the receiver or holder of a deed of mortgage, and this view of the law is not at variance with the opinion expressed in Construction 630, which explains only "that it is not required by the Regulation that a copy of the deed of mortgage should be served on the mortgagor," but does not say, that the Judge is not at liberty to call for it in order to satisfy himself that the applicant is what he represents himself to be.—*Cir. But in the event of the petition being rejected, owing to the insufficiency of the grounds so selected and specified, no review of the order, rejecting such petition, shall be claimable or permissible on the plea that other grounds than those specified are alleged in the petition, and are in themselves sufficient to justify the admission of a special appeal.—Ibid, 20th Nov. 1846.

Summary decision of a lower appellate court on a question of fact not open to special appeal.

214b. The court are pleased to adopt the following constructive rules of practice : A plea urged upon the ground of mere informality or departure from the law of procedure in the lower courts, such informality or irregularity not affecting the decretal order is not a sufficient ground for the admission of a special appeal.—Resolution S. D. A. 24th Dec. 1847, par. 1.

Informality or departure from the law of procedure, not affecting the decretal order, no ground for special appeal.

214c. A plea on the ground of departure from law, usage or practice, affecting the decretal order, set forth in the petition applying for permission to prefer a special appeal, may be a good ground for the admission of such appeal, though the plea may not have been urged in the lower courts.—Ibid, par. 2.

Rescinded resolutions.

Special appeal in formâ pauperis.

214f. A special appeal in formâ pauperis, having been admitted, contrary to Section 17, Regulation 28, 1814, by two Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut [Goad and Dorin] was quashed, on the proposition of one of them [Dorin] before whom the trial came on, adopted by a third Judge [J. Shakespear] in opposition to the opinion of the first admitting Judge [Goad.] A subsequent application to be permitted to appeal in the usual mode, was overruled, but not on its merits. Held, that on the enactment of Regulation 9, 1828, his special appeal in formâ pauperis is re-admissible on renewed oath of poverty, such rejection notwithstanding.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 3d April 1832, vol. 5, p. 179.

Particular case of special appeal.

214g. On the admission of a special appeal against a judgment of the Provincial court, for certain lands in favor of A. against B., a claim is set up by C., as a third party, founded in the absence of all original right on either side : the court did not judge it necessary to enter into the further claim, but contenting itself with deciding between the former parties, left C. the option of proceeding by a regular suit.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 30th Dec. 1816, vol. 2, p. 219.

Special reasons for upholding the judgment of the lower court in a case of special appeal.

214h. A judgment of the lower court founded on four distinct reasons, the last based on the facts of the case, will stand in special appeal irrespective of any opinion formed as to the first three reasons, such reasons not being in themselves sufficient to overrule the judgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 1st Sept. 1847, vol. 7, p. 388.

Particular grounds on which the S. D. A. admitted a special appeal, annulled the judgment of the lower court, and remanded the case for re-trial.

214i. The parties in a suit for real property having joined issue upon the question of right under the law and facts of the case, and the court of first instance having decided thereon, the appellate court reversed the judgment upon a point irrelevant to the issue. The Sudder dewanny adawlut admitted a special appeal, and, annulling the judgment of the appellate court, remanded the case for re-trial on its merits.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th June 1847, vol. 7, p. 338.

Special appeal dismissed, as all defects in the proceedings of the lower court were held to be cured.

214j. On retrial and dismissal on its merits, upon an appeal irregularly admitted, of a case at first decided ex-parte in favour of plaintiff, the course adopted by him was held to have cured all defects in the proceedings of the lower court ; special appeal dismissed.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 4th April 1848.

On what stamp a second application for special appeal must be written.

219a. After a petition for a special appeal has been rejected, any second application for the same purpose must be written on stamped paper of the same value as the original petition.—Resolution S. D. A. 4th March 1831.

Rule regarding those who may personally present an application for special appeal.

219b. A person who may personally present an application for a special appeal, may appoint a vakeel after the period for appealing : but such vakeel cannot endorse any opinion on the petition, nor argue any matter not stated therein.—Ibid, 23d May 1845.

Page 832.

Costs in special appeal charged against a defendant, though costs in the lower court remitted to him.

222a. Costs in the lower courts remitted to a defendant, who had been charged with them there, although exonerated from plaintiff's claim : but costs of special appeal charged against him, as, under the circumstances, he should have applied to the lower appellate court for review of judgment.—S. D. A. Sel. Rep. 12th Feb. 1848.

Stamped paper must be examined by the superintendent of stamps before the amount of stamp remitted is paid.

222b. Whenever the court shall, on the rejection of a petition of special appeal or review of judgment, or on sending a suit back to a Zillah or City court for further investigation direct a portion or the whole of the value of the stamped paper on which the petition was written, to be refunded to the party, the amount shall not be paid until the stamped paper has been examined by the Superintendent of Stamps.—Resolution S. D. A. 30th May 1834.

222c. As soon as practicable after an order for the refund of the value of stamped paper shall be passed, the Register shall forward the paper to the Superintendent for examination, with a certificate in the form annexed.*—Resolution S. D. A. 30th May 1834. The register will forward the paper to the superintendent.

222d. On the return of the certificate by the Superintendent, provided no exception be taken to the stamped paper, the amount shall be paid to the party entitled to receive it from the treasury of the court.—Ibid, 30th May 1834. The amount will be paid on the return of the paper by the superintendent.

222e. In cases adjusted on razeenamah, certificates will be granted to the party entitled to the refund, as required by Article 10, Schedule B, Regulation 10 of 1829.—Ibid. Refund in cases of razeenamah.

222f. In the event of its coming to the knowledge of the court that the plaint in any suit has not been written on paper of the proper value, the court shall proceed, under Clause 1, Section 7, Regulation 26 of 1814, either nonsuiting the plaintiff should fraud be apparent, or permitting him to file a duplicate of the plaint, through the Judge or Principal Sudder Ameen, should no fraudulent intent be presumable.—Ibid, 20th Aug. 1841. Course to be pursued when the S. D. A. discovers the plaint to have been written on an improper stamp.

222g. If the latter course is determined on, the court shall return the plaint and the decree, retaining the case on the file, to the lower tribunal, for the purpose of having a duplicate plaint filed, and the necessary alteration made in the costs ; and, on the return of the document, shall then proceed to dispose of the appeal on its merits.—Ibid. Idem.

222h. In suits of the nature described in Clause 4 of the note to Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, the objections of the defendant to the plaintiff's valuation of the property sued for, as well as any other objections relative to the value of the stamped paper on which the plaint is written, must be brought forward in his answer to the plaint, and no such objections can be urged as a matter of right by the defendant at a subsequent stage of the case, either in the court of original jurisdiction or in this Court ; nor shall the question of inferior valuation of the property sued for, be triable by the court, except upon summary or regular appeal from the order of the inferior court on that particular point, in which case the court shall proceed agreeably to Clause 2, Section 7, Regulation 26, 1814, should no fraudulent intent be apparent.—Ibid. Objections to the valuation of the property must be brought forward in answer to the plaint.

The question of inferior valuation not triable by the S. D. A. except upon a summary or regular appeal.

What papers must accompany the petition for review of judgment.

244b. All petitions for review of judgment to be accompanied by a copy of the order of which a review is applied for, or, if the prayer of the petitioner have before been rejected, with copies (in addition to the original order) of the order or orders rejecting the review.—Resolution S. D. A. 13th Feb. 1835.

Documents filed with the petition liable to stamp duty.

244c. Documents filed with applications for a review of judgment, under the provisions of Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, to be considered as exhibits, and made liable, as such, to the rule contained in article 5, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, in the same manner as if they had been entered or filed on the proceedings of the original suit, or when it was before the Court in appeal, whether regular or special.—Con. 1058, 18th Nov. 1836.

The grounds on which the petition is considered admissible must be endorsed on the petition.

244d. No petition of review shall be read unless there be endorsed thereon and signed by the party, or his vakeel, (*or mooktar, duly authorized, under the provisions of Regulation 12 of 1833,) in the most concise terms, a statement of the grounds on which the review is considered to be admissible.—Resolution S. D. A. 27th May 1836.

The reasons will be numbered. Terms in which the endorsement should be expressed.

244e. The reasons shall be numbered and the endorsement expressed nearly in the following terms :—

I, A. B., appellant (or vakeel on the part of the appellant) or respondent, consider this petition for a revision of the judgment passed by Mr. C. D., Judge of this Court, to be admissible for the following reasons :—

1st. Because the said Judge refused to admit upon the file a certain document, which I maintain to be good and legal evidence.

2d. Because since the date of the decision passed by the said Judge, a deed of sale appended to this petition has been recovered by appellant, or respondent, as the case may be, from E. F., in whose hands it had been deposited, but who had evaded the process issued to enforce his attendance.—Ibid.

Petitions for review of orders, rejecting applications for a review of judgment.

244f. Petitions for review of orders rejecting applications for a review of judgment, provided they are presented within three calendar months from the delivery or tender of the decree appealed against, may be written on stamped paper of the value of two rupees ; but if preferred after the expiration of that period, all such petitions must be written on stamped paper prescribed in Article 8, Schedule B, Regulation 10, 1829, with reference to the amount or value of the property adjudged against the party desiring the review, in like manner as if a regular appeal were preferred from such judgment, as required by Clause 1, Section 2, Regulation 2, 1825.—Con. 842, 1st Nov. 1833.

The rejection of a petition for a review of judgment by the judge, who tried the case, is final.

244g. When in a case decided by a single Judge, the deciding Judge shall have rejected an application for a review of the judgment, his rejection is, to all intents and purposes, final ; unless he himself shall see grounds, on a subsequent application, to admit a review, and it is not competent to any other Judge or Judges of the Court at any subsequent period to admit a review of the order rejecting the review.—Con. 982, 16th Oct. 1835.

Two concurring voices required to admit a review of judgment passed by a judge no longer attached to the court, or unable to hear it.

244h. Review of a judgment passed by a Judge or Judges who are no longer attached to the Court, or who are otherwise prevented by absence or other cause from hearing the application, not to be admitted, except by two concurring voices.—Resolution S. D. A. 23d July 1841.

Mode in which the 244i. The decision of former, or absent, Judges cannot be overruled, but by the concurring voices of a greater number of Judges.—Fuqueer Chund Mitr versus Sumbho Chunder Ghose, 15th August 1834.

decision of former or absent judges can be overruled.

244j. The opinions of former, or absent, Judges recorded on the first decision, shall be taken into account in the final disposal of suit after admission of review of judgment. In the event of a Judge altering his own former judgment, such former judgment shall not be taken into calculation in the disposal of the case on the review.—Resolution S. D. A. 31st Dec. 1841.

The opinions of former, or absent judges to be taken into account in disposing of the case.

244k. In a case in which the Court of Sudder dewanny adawlut has rejected an application for a special appeal from the decision of a zillah Judge in appeal from the decision of a Principal Sudder Ameen, the Sudder dewanny adawlut may entertain an application from the zillah Judge under the circumstances stated in clause 2, Section 4, Regulation 26, 1814, for permission to review his judgment.—Con. 1057, 11th Nov. 1837.

When the S. D. A. has rejected a special appeal, it may, under particular circumstances, entertain an application from the zillah judge to review his judgment.

244l. The foregoing rules will not of course affect the power of the court, under the provisions of Section 3, Regulation 2, 1825, in cases in which, with reference to the powers of a Judge of the court, the decree may appear on the face of it to be imperfect and irregular.—Resolution S. D. A. 15th April 1842.

These rules will not apply when the decree appears imperfect or irregular.

244m. The order of a single Judge on an application for a review of the judgment of a former Judge or Judges, (no application for review having been preferred, while such deciding Judge or Judges were attached to the Court,) rejecting the application, shall be final, and it shall not be competent to any other Judge or Judges of the court at any time to admit such review.—Ibid.

The order of a single judge rejecting an application to review the judgment of a former judge is final.

D. A. 3d Jan. 1840.*

The decree, on being copied, is to be immediately forwarded to the khurcha-nuvees or costs accountant; and the mohurrir mohafiz of the Judge is to send the papers of the case to the khurcha-nuvees at the same time.—Ibid, 20th Nov. 1840.

Decrees of which copies must be transmitted to the S. B. of Revenue.

253d. Two Judges of the Sudder dewanny adawlut having passed a decision in an appeal suit, one of the two quits the court; it is afterwards discovered that in adjudging interest, the rules laid down in Circular order, No. 171, of the 4th March, 1836, have not been observed, the remaining Judge is not competent of himself to correct the error in the decree, but must send on the case for another voice.—Ibid, 26th April 1839.

Amendment of an imperfect decree passed by two judges of the S. D. A.

253e. On the discovery of an evident mistake on the part of the roobukaree-nuvees (or officer entrusted with the duty of drawing up the decrees)* in recording a proceeding of two Judges, one of whom has quitted the Court, the remaining Judge cannot singly correct such mistake unless it be a mere clerical error, and the case must be submitted to another Judge.—Ibid.
